ARE YOU LOOKING

for birds of tip-top quality at rock bottom prices? Birds that are thoroughly healthy, well on hard seed, and really worth keeping in a cage? If so, just give me one small trial order, and I venture to think that no matter how hard you are to please, the result will be entirely satisfactory to you. In the unlikely event of the birds not realising your every expectation, you cannot lose one penny, as I send all birds on approval at my risk, and unless perfectly satisfactory, they have only to be returned, and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. I am the originator of approval system in connection with field birds, and during whole 22 years of my business career, have never traded on any other terms. I now have an enormous stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, all netted birds, in pink of health and feather, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/-; specially selected larger cock Goldfinches, to moult for show, muling or singing, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 16/-; few clean-moulted exhibition specimens, in superb condition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, every bird clean moulted, with nut brown backs, and rose-red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; large picked birds, guaranteed in song for muling, or contest singing, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; handsome lot cock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; picked yellows, for muling, 1/- each; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock or hen Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; cock Bullfinches, 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hens, 1/-, and 1/6 each; splendid lot of plump, healthy cock Larks, every bird warranted a cock, not half hens or skeletons, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked, steady young cocks for singing, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/- each. Special travelling cages, 3d. per 3 birds extra. Please note, although my advertisements are extensively copied, I have no connection whatever with any other man in the trade, and I claim to have more Worcestershire birds through my hands than all other advertisers together. No birds are sent out until feeding thoroughly well on the usual hard seed mixture, and sex is guaranteed in every instance. If you can not sex birds yourself, it would please me for you to have my birds examined by a competent judge, so that you would know you are having what you pay for, as what is more annoying to a man, after he has been keeping a bird for months, waiting for it to sing, to find it turns out a hen. I have 22 years' reputation in the bird trade, and that reputation is behind every bird sent out.

£100 REWARD.

GOLDFINCHES, BULLFINCHES, LINNETS, REDPOLLS, &c.

We are patronised, and have been for 40 years, by every leading Crystal Palace judge and exhibitor, so our reputation stands second to none. We give above reward if it can be proved we send out unhealthy birds or hens for cocks. Editor of this journal has seen scores of original testimonials for birds we have supplied, which have bred hundreds of winning Mules. So if you intend buying British birds, buy from us, who have hundreds each week to pick from. We don't send out birds straight from the field; all are well on seed; guaranteed. Real English 1913 cock Goldfinches, 1/6, 2/- each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; hens, 8d. and 10d.; extra picked, for muling, 2/6, 3/- each, three 5/-; six 8/6; cock Bullfinches, 1/6, 2/-; hens, 10d. and 1/-; Lancashire cock Linnets, 8d., 10d. and 1/-, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; Redpolls, 6d., six 1/6, twelve 2/6; cock Larks, 6d., 8d., 10d., 1/- each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/3, cages for any of above, from 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/3, 1/6, and 2/-. Seed grinding mills 1/6. Send for catalogue of everything.

Established 50 years.

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL LINNET KING NOW YOU EXHIBITORS, SEND TO ME

for real prize-winners. If you want a first-class team of British, I am the man. I know exactly what is wanted. Please read what others say. "148 Old st., London, E.C. Dear Sir,—Linnets to hand safe, and in fine form. They are a clinking team, and should be heard of on the bench. I am very pleased indeed.—Yours faithfully, Edward Stephens, to Harry Allen, Linnet expert." "16, Mount Pleasant, Armadale, M.L. Dear Sir,—The bird all right, and was very highly pleased with it. Enclosed P.O. for Goldfinch and Bullfinch, and I will get you some more orders.—David Bryce, to H. Allen." "10, Marine-st., Llanelly. Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe, in good condition; many thanks. —Mr. Lenamore to H. Allen." I have also received £2 1s. 6d. for 12 birds, Goldfinches, Linnets and Canaries, 12/6 for a Linnet, 7/6 for a Canary. The above sum I have received with thanks from the Editor of CAGE BIRDS. Now with all the money that has been deposited with CAGE BIRDS for two years and six months, not one single bird has returned to me. I have sent hundreds out in this time. I hold all records. It wants a bit of doing, but Harry did it. THE most up-to-date manual on this popular breed is "Norwich Canaries: How to Breed, Manage, and Exhibit," by C. A. House. It contains a beautiful coloured plate, and many black and white illustrations. In it will be found fullest hints and instructions on all the various points which go to make up a champion Norwich. It deals in a most practical manner with all the various stages of the life of a Norwich from the egg to the show bench, explains fully how to pair up the stock birds, how to feed the young, the art of colour feeding, and the way to wash and prepare birds for show. Do not be without it, post free 1/1½, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

JUST ARRIVED

The first consignment for this season of the genuine Weber's Leipzig Rollers as imported solely by myself. I have a superb lot of cocks, guaranteed picked from first round of young ones, all are over moult and in free song day and gas light, with splendid hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, water-bubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, gong and flute notes, etc., and warranted entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes whatever, price 6/6 and 7/6 each. Hen, guaranteed exactly same strain, 3/- couple. The supremacy of the Leipzig Roller over that of ordinary Rollers lies in the fact that their song is made up of a splendid variety of musical changes instead of the one or two long drawn out railway whistle rolls of the ordinary Roller's song. All are sent on full week's trial, either on receipt of cash or deposit system of "Cage Birds." I take all risk during whole time and refund money in full if birds fail to prove perfectly satisfactory. All cocks are stamped on wing, "Hans Weber, Leipzig," and I am the only importer of this strain.

Club Reports.

BRADFORD WEST C.B.A.

There is to be a pie supper at headquarters, Shoulder of Mutton, on Oct. 11. Supper to be served at 8.30. Charge, 1s. per head; it is hoped that there will be a good turn-up of members. After supper the general monthly meeting will be held. Agenda: Voting on judges for 1914-5, and other important business.—A. Cooper, Sec.

MARKINCH P.P. AND C.B.S.

Meeting held, Lister's Rooms, Mr. Thomson (chairman) presiding. Arrangements were made for forthcoming show; subs. sheets were handed in, and proved to exceed previous years. A good supply of specials were handed in. Committee are doing their utmost to make the show a great success. Meeting closed in the usual manner.—J. Lindsay, Sec.

NORTH WALES C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 6, at Assembly Rooms. Present: Mr. J. Jones (chair), Mr. G. Jones (vice); Mr. J. W. Jones, Mr. J. Wynne Parry, Mr. E. Jones, Mr. R. E. Griffith, hon. sec. Committee has fixed Dec. 26 for open show for cage birds only, and have sent for fees to judges. Intending members please send me P.O. for 1/-, and I will enrol them, so that they may compete for our cups, medals, and cash specials. If any member wishes to give a cash special, kindly send same on at once. Next meeting, Oct. 14, at 8. I hope to see some new faces, as we are going to draft out classes, etc.—R. E. Griffith, Hon. Sec., 5, Balaclava Rd., Carnarvon.

NEW CROSS C.B.S.

Meeting held Headquarters, Oct. 2, Mr. Pope chair, and a good number present. The most important business of the evening was the selection of the poines cups, and this proved to be no easy task, owing to the good selection sent for approval. Final arrangements were made for annual shown, Thurs., Nov. 6, and stands were appointed. Our special list is creeping up, and we hope that by the show day every member will have given a trifle. Next committee meeting, Oct. 16; important business. Intending members should note that this is the last date for election of members before the show, so send in your names to—Burton Bros., Hon. Secs., 121, Lee Rd., Lee Green, S.E.

LARKHALL C.B.A.

Meeting held in Y.M. Halls, president in chair. Forthcoming show made principal business. Schedules are now ready. 16 classes Canary, and 10 British. Entries next meeting, Oct. 18, closing date 22nd. To enable committee to allocate specials next meeting, members are requested to have subscription sheets in on that date; sheets at meeting totalled well over £10 in donations and specials, which reflects great credit on the hard working committee. Besides new cup for Borders, there are valuable specials for every class, extra specials over classes, and for most points in classes. It would be very gratifying and encouraging to the committee to see all of last year's members, who have not yet put in an appearance, turning out at next meeting with a large entry. Cups and medals are on view now, in Morley's (Hairdresser) window.—A. Thomson, Sec.

PARTICK C.B.C.

Meeting held Foresters' Hall, Oct. 3, Mr. Fraser presiding. Agreed to advertise show in Fancy papers. Decided that entries close Oct. 23, and no entries be taken after that date in confined section. An amendment that entries be taken up till Nov. 1 being defeated, agreed to get posters same as last year and distribute same. Entries will be taken in secretary's house. The following members gave notice of birds for gift class: Messrs. Park, Carne, Dow, Crummond, and Maxwell. Following specials were received: Messrs McMillan 2, Fraser, 1 confined, 1 open; Anderson, 1 confined, 2 open. Next meeting will be held in Subway Hall, Partick Cross, Oct. 31. Meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to chair. The annual show will be held in Subway Halls, Nov. 1, 58 confined classes, 9 open Yorks. (under Y.C.C. of Scotland patronage). Judges, Messrs. A. Sloan, R. Thomson, Dr. Syson, T. Penman, J. H. Adams.—W. Priest, Sec.

READING C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 1st, before a real good attendance. Mr. Rydal, the Arcade, was elected a member. Correspondence was read in connection with our show. Two suggestions were received in answer to my appeal in CAGE BIRDS, which are now under consideration. Hon. Sec. brought forward a scheme of advertisements, which was agreed to. Prizes were arranged for children's pet bird class. Limit class came up again for discussion, as it was felt that £1 was not enough for a novice, considering that commission and cage were included in that amount. Mr. Munday proposed that the limit be raised 5s., to allow for this. Mr. Avis moved an ameudment that the limit for all classes be the same as last year. A splendid discussion ensued, and Mr. Munday's proposition was carried, so the limit will be champion £3, amateur £2, novice £1 5s. Several more good specials have been promised, including one which caused a smile, being a pair of rabbits for the worst bird in show. I shall be glad of a few more specials for schedule. We were delighted to welcome our old friend, Mr. Giles, from Sonning Common. He had walked 5 miles on purpose to attend, and was going to walk back after the meeting. He is over 70 years old, and as active as ever. Judging by his happy smile all the evening, he was evidently glad he had come. It is an honour to have such a member, and we are proud of him. Hurry up, new members, to be in time for show.—W. H. Pike, Hon. Sec.

CLUB REPORTS—(Continued from overleaf).

DERWENT VALLEY C.B.S.

Meeting held Sep. 27, Church Hall, Hamsterley, Mr. G. Barkess chair. Will members try and get as many specials as possible, and let us have them at next meeting, Oct. 11, instead of 18th, to allow fanciers their liberty on Newcastle show day.—Jamieson and Johnson.

NORTH LIVERPOOL C.B.S.

Monthly meeting held Oct. 1. Final arrangements were made for next members' show at headquarters, the Hall, Royal Street, Oct. 22. Birds staged 6.45.; fourteen very useful specials; Messrs. J. Walker and J. Lobb judges. A cordial welcome to all fanciers; admission free.—E. S. Broadbent, Hon. Sec.

CROYDON F.A.

General meeting, held Oct. 1, to approve schedule of fourth annual members' show, Nov. 5. The two public halls, George Street, have been engaged. Mr. Miles judges cage birds. For particulars as to membership please apply to F. W. Capell, 121, Brighton Road, S. Croydon.

DUBLIN (South County) C.B.A.

Members' show will be held Oct. 11, and it is expected a fairly large number of birds will be brought down. Judging at 3.30; fee 2d. per cage, payable at door. Meeting will be held Oct. 13 at Court House, when schedule for annual show will be prepared. Any fancier wishing to subscribe a special is requested to communicate before Monday with—D. Smith, Hon. Sec., 14, Tivoli Terrace.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE C.B.S.

General monthly meeting, held Oct. 2. Final arrangements made for open show in Cambridge Hall, Northumberland Road, Oct. 17-18. Will those fanciers who have not received schedule, send at once? Will members do their best to sell the tickets; also note that we have 8 specials in gilt class? I have received another since the schedules were sent out. This class is open to anyone, so send your birds along; the birds will be sold for the benefit of the society in the show on Saturday, at 3.—J. W. Reed, Sec.

GATESHEAD C.B.S.

Meeting held Sept. 10. Mr. Holden presided over a good attendance. Rules for schedule gone into; they are same as last year, with one or two alterations, one being that all birds with more than one claimant will be put up for auction, highest bidder to get bird. Decided to add another unlighted hen class for Norwich in the open, making a yellow and buff. Three members present guaranteed these two classes. Also decided to add two Cinnamon Borders (Yellow and Buff), and a class for Brit. Hard, F.M., except Linnet, which have already a class. Decided that smoking be not allowed at annual show. Subs are now overdue.—W. Curry, Sec. (The above only came to hand in time for this issue.—Ed.)

GREEN CANARY ASSOCIATION.

Monthly meeting in Oldham Hall, Sept. 25, Mr. G. Green in the chair. Seven new members elected and one proposed. Syllabus for 1913-14 drawn up; a number of night shows and competitions were formed for the novices and it is up to the novices to make these a success. Following specials were allotted: Champions (open competitions), 3 cups, 3 gold medals, 3 10s. specials; Novices (open competition), 1st gold medal, 2nd 10s., 3rd 6s., 4th 4s. Local Novices Competition: 1st, most points, silver cup; 2nd, gold medal; 3rd, 10/-; 4th, 5/-. We hope the list of specials provided will make it a record year, especially in the novice section. Members' subscriptions must be paid or points will not count for specials. First novice show, Everton and Anfield, Oct. 19; 6 classes; champions Newcastle Borders, Halifax, Yorkshire.—F. Handley, Sec.

YARM, EAGLESCLIFFE, C.B.S.

Meeting held Crown Hotel, September 26, 28 present. Mr. Geo. Ramsey, chair. Decided to hold annual show January 17. We have been fortunate in securing the services of two very popular judges in Messrs. C. Houlton, and W. A. Cowgill, and we sincerely hope fanciers will show their appreciation by giving us a record entry. The success of this society has been very marked. Three years ago the entries at our annual show numbered 280, next year 387, and last year they reached the respectable total of 560. We also succeeded in establishing a record by posting the prize-money within a quarter of an hour of the judges' decisions. We want the society to become the most successful in the North of England, and to that end make a further appeal to all fanciers to help us by sending as many entries as possible at our next show.—T. F. Wilson, Sec.

NATIONAL BRITISH BIRD & M.C.

(held in conjunction with the L.C.B.A.), 3 gold, 3 silver, 3 bronze, Nov. 27-29; Bradford National C.B. show, 3 silver and bronze, Dec. 5-8; Luton C.B.S., silver, Dec. 10; Gateshead and District C.B.S., silver and bronze, Dec. 12-13; Scottish National, gold, silver and bronze, Dec. 31, Jan. 1; Doncaster C.B.S., silver, Jan. 10, and such shows as may be subsequently announced.

Mr. Longden presents a gold medal for most points gained in the hardbill section at Swansea, Cardiff and L.C.B.A. Shows, to a member who has not previously won a gold medal. Mr. P. Walsh, gold medal for most points at Sheffield Show. Mr. Archer, silver medal for most points gained by a member who has not previously won a medal, at Bradford show. At the Club Show, to be held in conjunction with the L.C.B.A., the £5 5s. Hybrid Cup will be offered for competition. The following additional medals have been presented for competition: Two silver, by Mr. Trower, for most points gained by a member who has not previously won a medal in the seedeaters' and insectivorous classes respectively. A silver, by Mr. Puck, for best cage mounted insectivorous smaller than a Wheatear, Dartford Warbler debarred. A silver, by Mr. Weston, for best bird in the Hybrid, seedeaters', or insectivorous classes, shown by a member who has not previously won a medal. The conditions under which medals are allotted to above shows will be found in the respective societies' schedules.—J. P. Carr, Hon. Sec., 45, Overdale Road, South Ealing, W.

BLAYDON-ON-TYNE C.B.S.

At the monthly meeting there was a fair turn-out of members, who were very busy getting ready for annual show. Decided to add two more Yorkshire classes, also to hold special meeting, Oct. 18, to elect stewards, and make final arrangements for annual show.—Geo. Hayver, Sec.

GRANGEMOUTH C.B.S.

Meeting held on Sept. 10 at Rechabite Hall, Mr. Pagan chair. Sheets were handed out to collectors, Mr. J. M. Aitken was elected president in place of Mr. Smart, resigned. We have patronage of B.S.C.C. also Sandiford's medal. Members kindly send on subs.—T. Woodhouse, Sec., 83, Marshall St., Grangemouth.

EDINBURGH O.S.

Meeting held in Buchanan's Hotel, Oct. 4, Mr. W. Allan presiding. The chairman made reference to the death of one of the members, the late Mr. Tait, who was a very prominent Scotch Fancy breeder. After the general business it was agreed to have all the late member's stock at the club show, Oct. 25, to be sold for the benefit of his widow.—A. Weston, Sec.

BUGLE F.A.

Meeting held Sep. 29, at Burgh Institute, Sir William Serjeant, C.B., president, in chair. Mr. E. H. Richards (treasurer), gave the financial statement; receipts £140 8s. 6d., expenditure £122 8s. 6d., leaving a balance in hand of £18. All the officials were thanked for their efforts in making the first show a success. Annual general meeting for election of officers will be held in January, 1914.—A. L. Pearce and A. C. Gregor, Hon. Secs.

BURNLEY O.S.

Meeting held Sept. 25, at Star Inn, with a good attendance; Mr. Spencer chair, in the absence of Chairman Mr. Barwise, who could not attend through illness. Decided to have a cup show Dec. 20, also that the cup goes to best bird. Mr. J. Baker, one of our oldest fanciers, has promised to give us a washing exhibition, date to be fixed. Fanciers wishing to join can do so by applying to the sec, G. Whittaker, 18, Sandhurst St., Burnley.

CARDIFF C.B.S.

Special meeting held Oct. 2, to finish cup business. Resolved to have cups open to all for Nor., Yorks., Bord., and British, also a gold medal for novice section. Mr. Stockin, Mr. Merritt, and Mr. Gooding each promised a bird for the drawing in connection with open show. Letter read from president, Mr. Claude Williams, enclosing a cheque for five guineas. Will members let me have specials they have collected as soon as possible. Mr. A. Deere was elected a member.—T. Thomas, Sec.

WELSH CAGE BIRD CLUB.

I omitted in last report that Mr. Sandiford again offers a case of dessert cutlery for most points gained during the season by the three highest birds fed upon his Royal Red Feed; also that Pentrebach show, Nov. 27, will be held under the patronage, with Mr. J. R. Houghton (Gloucester) as judge. Several members have not yet paid their subs. I should like to remind them that our first show is Llandrindod, but their points cannot count until their names have been brought before the committee as new members. Please pay up, and so give me plenty of time to write each of the committee. Balance sheets I hope to send out this week. Shall be glad to hear from any fancier wishing to join; sub. 3s. per annum.—A. E. Brown, Hon. Sec.

HIGHGATE & HAMPSTEAD C.B.S.

Meeting held Sep. 29, when there was a good muster of members and friends present to see Mr. W. Shakespeare give a grand exhibition of washing; the way he handled the birds proved that he has had a great deal of experience in washing birds, for in a few minutes they were hopping the perches again as lively as before their bath. This was very instructive, and was much appreciated by all, the novices being specially interested, no doubt having their minds fixed on winning the cup again at our annual show, Nov. 21, 22. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Shakespeare, proposed by Mr. R. T. Dann (chair) seconded Mr. E. T. Bush, brought a very successful meeting to a close.—J. Hyde, Hon. Sec.

EDINBURGH C.B.S.

Meeting held (date and place omitted, Ed.), Mr. A. W. Watson, chair, and a fair turnout of members. Correspondence was read and secretary gave report, re F.F. Show. The total income was £1 1s. 6d.; after deducting expenses, there would be a balance of about 18s. to the funds of the society. Secretary was instructed to write Sec. of Edinburgh, Western O.S., for use of staging, etc., at annual show, also to ascertain price of hire. It was moved that we get 100 posters from Leith Printing Co., also prize cards from same firm. Admission tickets to be bought from Hydes. Quotations were asked from Leith Printing Co., also Mr. Aitken, Dalkeith, for classification sheets and catalogues. Pres. then called upon Mr. Steel, of Dalkeith, who had kindly come forward to give a lecture on "Wild Seeds," which proved a very interesting lecture indeed. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Steel brought a very pleasant meeting to a close. Novice members, table show of Canaries, Mules, and Hybrids, at October meeting.—J. C. Charlton.

OBITUARY.

We hear with great regret from Mr. G. Goulden, of Carlisle, of the loss of his wife, Mrs. Goulden, who died on Oct. 5, after a lingering illness. My heart is too full, writes Mr. Golden, to say much; I can hardly realise that she has gone. As I have had several letters while she was lying so ill, please ask indulgence for my not answering them, and accept this as an excuse.

Mr. R. W. Sutcliffe, Halifax.

It is with regret, writes Mr. Harry Clegg, Sec. Halifax O.S., that I have to announce the death of one of our members, Mr. R. W. Sutcliffe, of Halifax, which occurred suddenly on Sept. 27, while attending the football match at Halifax. His death came as a surprise to his fellow-fanciers, some of whom attended his funeral on Sept. 30. He was one of the oldest members of the society and was much respected. Our sincere sympathy is with his daughter in her sad bereavement.

We have added some extra classes for our show on Nov. 19, writes Mr. E. Harcombe, Inverness O.S., making 103 in all. We are offering three cups, 35 gold and silver medals, and 110 specials. Our committee are working hard to make this year's show a record one.

A bottle of Dowling's Nerve Tonic Wine is given at Halifax show for most points in British classes gained by a member of the Y. and L.B.B. and M.C. Mr. Inman only let me know about it after our schedules had been printed, writes Mr. H. Clegg, the sec. (P.S.—I think I could do with this wine).

In addition to guaranteeing the Bullfinch class at Abertillery show, Mr. R. Cleaves is giving a 5s. cash special, so the winner will receive 15s. I hope that we shall get a good class. Schedules have been sent out; will anyone who has not received one please write me.—G. Broome, hon. sec. (30, Powell Street, Abertillery).

Schedules of Stamford C.B.S. show are now ready, writes Mr. G. Grimes, hon sec. Our chairman, Mr. Ludlow, has given a cash prize of £1 for most entries, and there are two solid silver cups to be won outright, one each for Canary and British. Mr. H. W. Battye will judge Canaries, and Mr. A. Silver British and Foreign.

All entries for Edinburgh Western O.S. must be sent to me at 54, Eyre Place, on or before 18th Oct., writes Mr. C. Grant, sec.

Schedules are now ready for Great Horton Good Intent O.S. open show, Nov. 1, writes Mr. W. A. Brown (414, Harewood St., Bradford) and can be had on application.

Mr. W. D. Eley, the hon. sec. of Mumbles show, writes:—"By a mistake on the part of our printer, it reads as if Mr. Camden presented all the Federation cups, whereas it should be the £3 3s. cup.

We have sent out 1,000 schedules for Sheffield C.B.S. open show; will anyone overlooked kindly apply to Mr. A. Hobson, sec., 66, Langsett Avenue, Sheffield. Mr. J. Thorpe is giving a double stock cage to member making most entries. We are having screens put to the door to prevent any possibility of draughts reaching the birds. Messrs. Richards, C. W. and H. Hobson will see that birds for special trains are got off in time. Finally, we appeal to fanciers to give us a record entry.—J. Woolhouse, assist. sec.

In Halifax Show schedule, writes Secretary Clegg, class 35 should read "Selling A.V. Canary hen, 12s. 6d."

Class 24 in the Portsmouth and S. Counties schedule, writes Mr. F. G. Joiner, joint hon. sec., should read "or hen" instead of "and hen." This is one of the several printer's errors.

Entries for Bedford show are very short, writes Mr. Wiggins, sec. (83, Stanley St.); will accept up to Monday, Oct. 13. Schedule in Cage Birds, Sept. 27. Send on; we will classify. Grand specials.

We are looking forward to a record show, writes Mr. J. A. Crawshaw, sec. Bournemouth C.B.A. We have plenty of cash and other grand specials, good judges, and Cage Birds Coupon patronage. I trust exhibitors from far and near will send plenty of entries, as the train service is good, birds well looked after, and promptly returned. Prize-money guaranteed (see advt. in present issue).

An admirably produced new price list has just reached us from Mr. Joe Thomas, the well-known bird specialist, of Ambler Thorn, Halifax. It is finely illustrated and a feature is made of giving excellent advice to breeders on how to obtain success in the hobby, in breeding, colour-feeding, etc. Mr. Thomas supplies every kind of bird and everything the fancier can require in the way of foods, cages, and appliances; further, he has built up his big business by always offering the best possible value for money and giving fair and courteous treatment to his customers. We anticipate there will be a big demand for Mr. Thomas's new price list, a copy of which can be obtained by applying direct to him.

Quick Work at Great Horton.

Mr. J. Holroyd, hon. sec. Gt. Horton O.S., writes that all prize-money won at the show held last Saturday, Oct. 4, has been paid.

An Error in Oxford C.B.S. Entry Forms.

Will exhibitors please note, writes Mr. A. F. Fifield, Press Cor., that the date of the Oxford C.B.S. show is Oct. 16, and not 13, as printed on the entry forms.

Lewes F. A. Show Date Altered.

With reference to the date of our show which is in your Show Date List, writes Mr. J. Martin, hon. sec., Lewes F.A., we have been compelled to alter the date from October 22 and 23 to December 3 and 4.

Changes of Address.

We are asked to announce the following changes of address:—Mr. Geo. Bennett, from Wenlock St. to 168, High Town Rd., Luton; Mr. W. Hopwood, sec. Denton C.B.S., to 51, Booth St., Denton.

Entries Extended.

Torquay F. and F. to first post Oct. 11, A. Walker, "Crendon," Innerbrook Rd.; Plymouth to Oct. 11, T. Pope, 98, Embankment Rd.; Bedford and Beds. to Oct. 13, E. T. F. Wiggins, 83, Stanley St., Bedford.

A Veteran Sets a Worthy Example.

Reading C.B.S. has the pleasure of numbering among its members at least one enthusiastic fancier. Mr. Giles, of Sonning, although seventy years of age, walked five miles each way to attend the meeting held Oct. 1. Truly an example for some younger men who find it too much trouble to get to their society meetings.

Boscombe's New Show Date.

Owing to committee being unable to get the hall for dates as advertised in Show Dates Fixed, writes Mr. M. Cook, hon. sec., Boscombe C.B.A., we have engaged St. John's Hall, Boscombe, for Jan. 20 and 21 for our show. We have two cups, one champion, one amateur; and one promised for novices. We wish your Coupon Scheme the success it richly deserves.

Two Noted Studs for Sale.

That well-known Liverpool fancier and dealer, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe (68, Brunswick Rd.), has just concluded two notable purchases, viz., the celebrated stock of Green Canaries belonging to Mr. Tom Rowlands, and the Cinnamons so successfully bred and shown by Mrs. Deacon. All these birds are for sale, and can be viewed after Oct. 14th (Mr. Metcalfe will be in Bradford from Oct. 11 to 14).

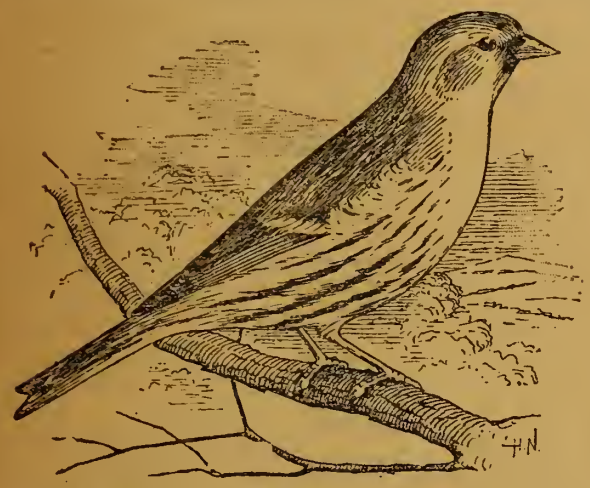
Harrogate Out for a Record.

We have secured a beautiful room for Harrogate show, on October 18th, writes Mr. G. H. Barnwell, the sec., well lighted, warm, and comfortable (no draughts) and we hope exhibitors will give us a record entry. We have made arrangements with Leeds show sec., to have a table in their show room (October 11th) with a view of receiving entries for Harrogate show. We trust this venture will prove a success.

Have you bought your coupons for next week's shows? Read page 229, and don't miss your chance.

Redpolls: Their Management, Training, and Exhibition

A practical article by J. Steel (Dalkeith) which tells you all you can wish to know about these desirable little pets.



THE Redpolls form a group which has proved troublesome to ornithologists of the past, and to aviculturists of the present time. Many of the former deal with the Redpoll, or, as they mistakenly term the bird, the Lesser Linnet, in a manner which leaves us to presume that they regard all Redpolls as being of one species. And even yet, judging by the tone of some recent writers, a doubt as to this seems to exist.

That breeders are puzzled to find a reliable method of sexing the Redpoll has often been impressed on me by the many instances I have witnessed of hybrid "pairs" put up in which the Redpoll has been of the same sex as the bird with which it was intended to breed. I propose, therefore, to tell novice readers a little of what I know about Redpolls, as many will now be coming into their possession.

Relatives From Over-Seas.

The Lesser Redpoll, though a resident species, i.e., remaining with us throughout the year, has its numbers largely augmented by a winter migration from overseas. No doubt many are driven to the lower from the higher altitudes amid the fir forests of which they breed, and in which the insect pests, combined with the wild seeds common to unreclaimed land, provide them with a plenteous fare. But the early autumnal appearance—(long before weather conditions or lack of food could be assigned as a reason)—of flocks in districts where during summer even a solitary specimen would be sought for in vain, makes it tolerably certain that this species shares with the Siskin the peculiarity of being both a resident and migratory species. Further, this autumnal arrival is annually looked for by catchers.

That the Redpolls are increasing in number and extending their range is evident from the fact that they are now fairly plentiful as a breeding species in many districts in which they were till within very recently quite unknown as such.

The Mealy Redpoll is a larger bird than the Lesser, and usually not quite so chubby in build, while in colour it is very light, white to greyish-white underneath. The adult cock shows crimson on head and breast during the breeding season.

Charming, but not a Caruso.

As a songster the Redpoll has little to recommend him, at the most his song can only be described as a cheery little jingle, so we may class him among the rag-timers. For my part I think the old Scotsman whose wife had a notion that she might be interred prematurely, and who assured her he would make certain by jingling a handful of sixpences at her lug (ear), might have substituted a good going Redpoll, and have saved his saxpences (mine is "Scotch"). However, Mr. Redpoll has apparently a good conceit of his powers, and, like many humans, makes up in quantity what he lacks in quality.

As a pet he is excelled only by the Bullfinch, and he has an additional merit of being easily trained to perform certain tricks, the most common being that of pulling his food up an inclined plane by means of a light chain attached to a miniature waggon. The ability to do this is due to a habit, common to this and the Siskin, of holding in position with his foot the pliant stems of those plants whereon he feeds, and he soon learns that such action only requires repetition with each pull on the chain to bring up the waggon.

How to Make "Joey" Accomplished.

To teach him, it is only necessary to block up the waggon for a few days till he has learned that it contains either his sole, or a supply of his favourite seed, and then to let a link or two of the chain out daily. The trick of hoisting his water in a miniature bucket (thimble) from a well is taught by a similar method. To teach him to open a closed lid it is only necessary that such a lid shall slightly project in order to provide him with a leverage, and, beginning with the lid open, to lower it a little each day, until, finally, it closes the box. The graduating of such descent may be accomplished either by links of a chain or a piece of cage-wire tightly inserted in the side of lid and resting on side of seed box. Ringing bells, hoisting signals, looping the loop, etc., are other accomplishments some of which are brought about by a simple mechanism operated by the bird, the food and water signals having a check attachment which prevents their being manipulated except when the bird is drawing up his supplies.

It is now many years since I myself ceased to find pleasure in such experiments, but I have a very distinct recollection of imparting some real joy to the life of a little incurable boy by presenting him with a pet Redpoll which bravely hauled forth a fearful looking tin crocodile from his den, opened his jaws, and got some fine pickings from his innards. That there is not the slightest cruelty attached to such training I am convinced, as the birds will continue the performance when once taught, notwithstanding that such may cease to provide anything appealing to their "little marys," but I confess to an abhorrence of those revolving squirrel wheel arrangements in which the occupants have no choice but to climb an everlasting stair.

Why not Light-Redpoll Mules?

The Lesser Redpoll is not much of a success as a producer of exhibition hybrids, though he will readily pair with Canary, Siskin, or Greenfinch, and will act the part of a model husband. With the exception of that much desired (probably because difficult) cross, the Redpoll-Bully, the results remind one of the parson's pony, the capture of which was always a problematic affair, but which, when caught, was a rather tame individual, and fit only for funeral functions.

The fact that we seldom, if ever, see a light Redpoll-Canary hybrid figuring among the mules at our shows is largely due to a disinclination which exists among possessors of Canaries which have a tendency to throw light, to bother trying for such. Yet it seems passing strange that those novices who so often pair up the Redpoll with a Canary do not occasionally produce a good light specimen of this cross, as they have so often done with others.

The Points of the Exhibition Redpoll.

The Lesser Redpoll exemplifies the truth of a statement I have often made, viz., that the qualities necessary to merit the term excellent are in inverse ratio to the plentitude of a species. We have here a species which is plentiful to the degree of being considered a nuisance by many bird-catchers, yet it is extremely difficult to obtain a specimen which is outstanding in those features required in a front rank exhibition bird.

Depth of colour does not constitute the difficulty, as this can be overcome by legitimate means, but size, a broad skull on which to display an expansive cap, the distinct and plentiful lacing on flanks, the prominent wing-bars, and depth and expanse of bib, are rarely found in combination.

CAN IT BE INFLUENCED BY BREEDERS?

Interesting suggestions thrown out and discussed in a lecture by Miss F. M. Durham before the Wimbledon C.B.S.

THE Wimbledon C.B.S. has most excellent headquarters at 6, The Broadway, and the very cosy room there was well filled on Monday last, Oct. 6, when Miss F. M. Durham entertained the members with a lecture concerning the influence the age of the parent birds, and other matters, may have upon the sex of the young. We were pleased to note the presence of a goodly number of the fair sex, the society being particularly strong in lady members.

Not a Breeder of Show Birds.

This lecture was the "trump card" in the programme of events for the season arranged by the popular and efficient hon. secretary, Mr. H. Smith. Miss Durham is a lady who has earned considerable distinction in the scientific world, and has interested herself in the stupendous problems that surround the Beginning of Life, the mystery of sex, and the study of heredity. She is at present associated with Professor Bateson, probably our leading authority on Mendelism and plant-breeding. That this lady should have brought her trained mind to bear upon the breeding of Canaries is a matter upon which we fanciers can indulge in self-congratulation. Mr. W. H. Stoakley, the chairman of the society, presided, and in a neat little speech introduced the lecturer to her audience.

Miss Durham commenced by saying that she feared her audience would be somewhat disappointed, by reason of the fact that the conclusions she had been able to draw from her experiments had been only negative ones. They would all very much like to be able to predict the sex of the birds they were breeding, and to control the proportion of males and females, if possible. It was because she recognised the importance and interest attaching to the problem of sex that she ventured to put before them the results she had herself obtained since she took up Canary breeding, and to analyse the figures, showing the varying percentages of males and females resulting from the different matings. She was quite certain as to the ages of the birds mentioned, as she had not used bought birds, but only such as she herself bred. In all she had had 76 matings where the hen was older than the cock bird, and the result was a total of 86 cocks and 114 hens:—

Hen 2 years, cock 1 yr.	54 cks.	&	63 hens
Hen 3 years, cock 1 yr.	23 ,,		29 ,,
Hen over 3 yrs., cock 1 yr. ...	1 ,,		9 ,,
Hen 3 years, cock 3 yrs.	5 ,,		4 ,,
Hen over 3 yrs., cock 2 yrs....	3 ,,		8 ,,
Hen over 3 years, cock 3 yrs.	0 ,,		1 ,,

Miss Durham explained that the disproportionate number of young from some of the matings was due to the fact that she had very few pairs (in certain cases only one) up at certain of the ages. She also said that her method of breeding was to run one cock with 4 or 5 hens.

She had had 114 matings where the cock was older than the hen; result 141 cocks and 199 hens.

Hen 1 year, cock 2 years ...	61 cks.	&	84 hens.
Hen 1 year, cock 3 years ...	23 ,,		24 ,,
Hen 1 year, cock over 3 years	37 ,,		40 ,,
Hen 2 years, cock 3 years ...	3 ,,		13 ,,
Hen 2 years, cock over 3 years	15 ,,		34 ,,
Hen 3 years, cock over 3 years	2 ,,		4 ,,

Where the birds were of the same age the lecturer had a record of 115 matings; result 145 cocks and 181 hens.

Cock 1 year, hen 1 year	98 cks.	&	128 hens.
Cock 2 years, hen 2 years.....	41 ,,		46 ,,
Cock 3 years, hen 3 years.....	6 ,,		7 ,,

The Effect of the Parent's Age.

These figures, Miss Durham said, did not show very much; there was not enough in them to prove anything one way or the other. It was not possible to argue from them that the age of the parent had any effect on the offspring. In any theory advanced as to the inheritance of sex, one had to be very cautious in dealing with figures; there would need to to be a very large percentage on one side or the other before one could build up a theory. Then, too, they were hampered by the fact that, both in animals and plants, breeders often got "long runs," as they might be termed; thus different broods might be found to consist of all cocks or all hens (or practically so). If any lengthy series of results was secured, however, it would be seen that the proportion of the sexes approached equality. It obtained generally throughout the animal world that the sexes were practically equal; and this applied to the human race. There was a slight excess of males born over females, but the male infant (or animal) was always the more difficult to rear to maturity, and the greater mortality amongst the young males reduced the proportions to about equality, or rather in favour of the females.

Miss Durham said that she had considered her figures from another point of view, i.e., as to whether the age of the hen, irrespective of the age of the cock, had seemed to have any influence on the proportion of the sexes. The analysis was:—

Hen, 1 year old	219 cocks,	276 hens.
Hen, 2 years old	105 ,,	156 ,,
Hen, 3 years old	36 ,,	44 ,,
Hen, over 3 years old	4 ,,	18 ,,

It would be seen that the excess clearly favoured the female side. The same thing happened, too, when only the age of the cock was considered. Here the figures were:

Cock, 1 year old	176 cocks,	229 hens.
Cock, 2 years old	110 ,,	142 ,,
Cock, 3 years old	32 ,,	45 ,,
Cock, over 3 years old	54 ,,	78 ,,

These results were, of course, both negative, as in each case an excess of females was established (To be continued.)

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper, and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who desire letters of complaint written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Childrens' Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed to the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

WHAT BREED? (Beginner).—It is not possible to say definitely to what breed your Canary belongs from your description, but the probability is that your informant was correct, and the bird is an ordinary type of Roller, as this breed is by far the most popular and commonly kept songster. The ordinary German country Canary is more generally known nowadays by the name of Roller, with a multitude of more or less meaningless adjectives. These birds are decidedly smaller in stature, and more washy or pale in colour, than the Yorkshire.

AN ATTIC FAILURE (P. J. J.).—Extremes of heat and cold such as may occur in some attics are certainly not good for strains of birds not hitherto accustomed to normal conditions of temperature, but it is nevertheless a solid fact that hundreds of attics are regularly used as breeding rooms for high-class Canaries with the greatest success. I have no doubt whatever that your second surmise as to your change of food being the cause of the young dying is correct. Plain chopped egg, without any biscuit or other admixture, may not be "too strong" a food, as you put it, but it is certainly too fertile a breeding ground for dangerous bacteria to be safe as a sole soft food supply. It strikes me as peculiar that you should adopt this principle to save expense of biscuits, as it appears to me eggs are the really expensive item. And you might have used ordinary household bread crumbs. Well clean and disinfect cages in which birds have died, and next season go back to a rational system of feeding as given in "Canary Breeding for Beginners," which our manager would send you for 7d. post free, and you will meet with more success.

CAN'T OR WON'T (Castrian).—I should regard it as a case of will not rather than cannot when a Crestbred 13 weeks old with no apparent defect in the beak refuses to crack seed and subsists solely upon soft food. The only way in which you can deal with such a case is to gradually and judiciously withdraw the soft food. Begin by making the soft food tolerably dry, and gradually increase the proportion of crushed biscuit, until in the course of a week or so the soft food consists entirely of dry crushed biscuit. Then begin to decrease the quantity slowly until you see the bird is compelled by hunger to try, at least, to crack seed. If it tries it will certainly be quite able to do so with ease, assuming its beak is really in a normal condition. As soon as it eats a fair amount of seed, omit the biscuit altogether for a day now and again, and eventually reduce it to once or twice a week. Whilst above process is going on, keep a supply of canary seed in hopper and place a pinch of rape on top of it daily. Offer a little scalded rape in the morning, and in the afternoon a pinch of a mixture of cracked hemp, rape, niger, teazle, and broken groats in equal parts. Keep cage strewn with clean gritty sand.

TOO MUCH OF HER (Lancashire).—The correct treatment for a hen that is too fat is obviously to limit the quality and if necessary the quantity also of the diet, and to induce the bird to take as much exercise as possible. Place the hen in a good-sized cage, keep the floor clean and tolerably free from husk and strewn with gritty sand. Give a teaspoonful only of plain canary seed daily. Twice in each week reduce this quantity one-half, and add half a teaspoonful of summer rape to make up the bulk. Give a liberal supply of half-ripe plantain stalks, watercress, groundsel, or chickweed. Limit the diet to this for a fortnight and during the first week add ten drops of syrup of buckthorn to the water every second day. In the next week, instead of the buckthorn, give six drops of tincture of gentian and four of dilute sulphuric acid every second day.

CREST-BRED SHELLING SEED (Avis).—It is usually due to digestive derangement, but is apt to develop occasionally into a bad habit. If not purely a habit, the following treatment will set matters right:—Keep cage floor strewn with clean gritty sand and stick a small cube of hard common salt in the wires for bird to peck at for a week or two. Keep a supply of a mixture of two parts canary to one part summer rape in seed box. In addition to this, give a piece of bread the size of a large hazel nut soaked in cold milk, drained, and sprinkled with soft sugar every second day, and on the alternate days give a morsel of banana and half a teaspoonful of scalded rape. Give a spray of green food three times a week. Continue this dietary for a month. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence every second day for a week, and after this give four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a fortnight.

THE PROHIBITED DEGREE (W. T. P.).—Really, I fail to see why the arrangements you propose for mating your stock next year should be against your code of morals seeing that you have this year adopted the very acme of close inbreeding by mating brother and sister, which is much closer than anything you propose for next season. You cannot go on indefinitely with your present stock without either introducing fresh blood or having the stock deteriorate, but as the original stock in 1912 were all unrelated, you may with safety go on another season before doing so. Next season select only the most strong, healthy, and robust youngsters for breeding, and mate cocks descended from the one 1912 hen with hens from the other 1912 hen, and vice versa, of course matching them together for typical qualities to compensate each other's faults in the usual way. Then you may mate a young cock descended from the one 1912 hen with the other 1912 hen—its grandmother—and vice versa, and the old original 1912 cock may with great advantage be mated next season to a young hen descended from each of the old 1912 hens. This will help to thoroughly "set the type" of your stock and make it more dominant when you find fresh blood necessary. When fresh blood is essential, you should try to introduce it by lineal descendants of the 1912 cock or hens, whichever strain it is of these birds that shows the best type.

A SCREECHY NOISE (Roller).—As the noise occurs only among the young birds of this season and only when they are disturbed, it is not unlikely it may be due to simple nervousness. Still, you should make yourself certain the birds are not exposed to cold draughts from the window. I would advise you to cease opening the lower sash now, except on quite mild and calm days, and temporarily for airing room during favourable intervals. For ordinary ventilation it will suffice to lower the top sash a little, more or less according to prevailing weather, as the space between the sashes across the middle will form an inlet for fresh air. Give each of the birds a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar, daily for a week, and in the drinking water add six drops of syrup of buckthorn to each tablespoonful for two days, and afterwards, for a week daily, ten drops of whisky, two each of oxymel of squills and ipecac. wine, and one eucalyptus oil, in same quantity of water, well shaken together. Your feeding is most unsuitable. Give a staple of two parts canary to one part summer rape. In addition, give separately a little egg food once or twice a week; a small teaspoonful of mixed seed on two other days, and a morsel of green food or fruit three times a week in winter and daily in summer.

A TRIPLET (Cunningham).—(1) It is certainly rather unusual for hen to be such accomplished singers as to lead one to suppose they are of the sterner sex for so long, but it is by no means rare. Whether such a hen would breed youngsters above the average run of songsters is very much open to doubt. I should say certainly not, unless she had an exceptionally large proportion of blood of a good strain of songsters in her veins. In that case there is a possibility of her transmitting some of her singing abilities to her progeny. It is quite possible for such a hen to breed successfully. (2) When hemp is mixed with the staple seed supply, it almost invariably causes great waste. It is neither necessary nor advisable to use it in this way. Stop doing so, and give a pinch in the egg-drawer, or on a clean part of the floor once or twice a week, as may be required, when the waste will doubtless cease. (3) From March to July is the best and proper season of the year for breeding. Your hen should be mated next March to April, with a cock bred this year.

ACCOMMODATION (Crest).—I'm afraid I cannot tell you the smallest size aviary in which you can safely keep 15 Canaries, one Cardinal, and a Budgerigar. It depends very largely upon the individual temperament of the Cardinal, and Budgie. Some of these birds can be trusted with Canaries in a moderate-sized aviary, but they are never to be relied upon as quite safe companions. I would advise you to cage these two birds separately, either singly in ordinary sized cages, or the two together in a rather larger cage. Then you could manage nicely with an aviary 5ft. long, 2ft. wide, and any height you choose for the 15 Canaries. If the floor was well sanded, it need be cleaned out only once a week, or, better still, three times a fortnight, and you would be safe enough from a hygienic standpoint. The smaller cages would do nicely cleaned out twice a week. In this way you could reduce the attention required to a minimum, and yet keep on the safe side.

SWELLING AT VENT (A. B.).—You ought to have described the size and appearance of the swelling as nearly as you could. Try the following treatment, and if bird is not well in a fortnight, write again. Keep cage and perches as clean as possible, and see that all foods and vessels used are pure and sweet. In addition to staple diet, give half-a-teaspoonful of scalded rape every second day, and on the alternate days a morsel of banana. Give a pinch of hemp three times a week, but see that it is sound and sweet. Do not give any linseed, or crushed linseed in the soft food, nor any succulent green food for the present. As the moult is nearly over, reduce the strength of your colour food, and omit it altogether every third day. In the drinking water add six drops of syrup of rhubarb, and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence for one day only, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and dilute sulphuric acid every second day for a week or fortnight, as may seem necessary. You may also place one drop of castor oil on the vent, and allow it to work in to relieve the irritation, but do not interfere further with the swelling.

INSTRUMENT FOR TRAINING ROLLERS (T. W. W.).—The best, if not the only, really practically useful instrument for this purpose on the English market is a Quereh organ. annot give addresses in this column, but if you watch our advertisement columns you will see it advertised frequently in season. Also, most large dealers either stock it, or can get it to order. But the best of all tutors is the natural kind, in the shape of one or two really good singing cocks. A bird organ should only be relied upon as an auxilliary form of tuition, not as a sole one.

SAMPLES OF RAPE SEED (Mac.).—Both samples of seeds sent are what is known in the trade as German summer rape. Both are of very good quality, and there is practically nothing to choose between them, except that No. 2 appears to be a trifle more matured than No. 1. Therefore, as both are the same price, I should advise you to use No. 2, though either is quite good enough for Rollers or any other breed of Canary, and they are cheap at the price named.

PROLONGED MOULT (E. E. E.).—Considering the age of your bird, there is really nothing to worry about, especially if it appears to be nearing the end of the moult, as its efforts to resume singing would seem to signify. All birds do not moult with equal speed, and there are many younger birds than yours which commenced to moult in July, which are not quite through with it yet. Beyond keeping it in a fairly cosy and equable temperature, well protected from direct cold draughts, you will be well advised to let things run on in their own course. In addition to the usual seed diet, you may give a morsel of bread and milk, with three drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar twice a week for a month or so, and during the same time add 20 drops of Chemical Food to its drinking water every second day. See the No. 10 Nutshell booklet of information on the general management and care of the Roller.

MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by H. NORMAN.

WILL MULES BREED? (J. F. Charlton).—Although the cross between Finches and hen Canaries have been known to breed, they are as a rule looked upon as unfertile. The cases of fertility have occurred where the Hybrid has been paired with one of the parent stock, and even in this breeding there is no certainty; fertile eggs from such pairing would be the exception rather than the rule. I have never yet known of a properly authenticated case of Mules breeding with Mules. The process is one quite contrary to natural laws. Nature does not require new species, and if Mules would breed, new species would soon be formed. In the animal kingdom Mules will breed with the parent stock, but not among themselves. I have known hen Mules to be good mothers, and you may possibly find a use for your birds in that way.

HEN CANARY FOR HYBRID-BREEDING (J. A. F. Jones).—The chubby Norwich hen finds more favour among Hybrid breeders than any other variety. The reason is, the bird has the excellence that is required in hybrids, size, colour, and quality of feather, together with a bold yet graceful shape. I would advise you to try and breed good dark Hybrids, and for that purpose you will need to get some yellow green or heavily variegated hens, as they are more certain to breed quite dark birds of some colour than clear hens. Good dark Hybrids, either from the Linnet or Goldfinch, are valuable birds, and those of less merit are always saleable as songsters. If you can manage it, put your Linnets and hen Canaries in a light or large cage by themselves, and the Goldfinches and Canaries in other cages. Feed the Linnets and their partners on two parts canary seed to one of rape, with a spoonful of mixed seeds every third day; give green food and any wild seeds you can collect, particularly plantain and shepherd's purse, both of which would be seeding now. The Goldfinches and their partners would require the same treatment, but must have an extra allowance of hemp and sunflower seed; give more of the latter than the former, as although it is somewhat fattening, it is not so stimulating as the hemp, and the hen Canaries could take it more freely. If you find your hens become too forward in condition in consequence of their taking the same kind of food as the Finches, you must part them for a time, and give them a less stimulating diet. During the next few weeks would be a good time to purchase your young hens; there is sure to be some advertised in "C.B." (2) You can use sea sand in the bottom of your cages. It is not harmful to birds, but you must watch them when they first have it, as in some cases it causes an extreme looseness of the bowels. If you collect it yourself do not get it down near the tide, but take it some distance up the shore. This will be cleaner and purer, and yet contain quite sufficient saline properties to be beneficial to the birds. If you are obliged to take it near the tide, put a quantity of it in a sieve, place it in a pail of tap water, give it a sharp twirl round, and take out to drain, dry, and it is ready for use.

BRITISH BIRDS.

Answered by H. J. FULLJAMES.

IDENTITY OF BUNTING (Laurence).—Your bird is certainly not a Corn Bunting, but I am unable to decide from the description sent whether it is a Yellowhammer in autumn plumage or a Cirl Bunting. The length rather points to it being a Cirl, for this Bunting is shorter than a Yellow Bunting. The Cirl is also darker in the browns of the plumage than the Yellow, and as you describe the bird as "rich brown and black," I am inclined to think it is a Cirl. Could you not go to a good London show during the season? If you could do this, you could decide for yourself to a certainty.

FEEDING A CUCKOO (R. Hardacre).—You have undertaken an exacting task in thinking to keep a Cuckoo. The trouble with these birds is that they scarcely ever take to feeding themselves; some would rather starve than take the trouble to pick up even live food, and it is practically a certainty that they will never take for themselves a sufficiency of food to keep themselves in proper condition. A good kind of insectile food as advertised in our columns, will suffice as stock food if you add to it an extra portion of ants' cocoons and dried flies, but, as I have hinted, you will most likely have to "hand-feed" the bird with this as long as you keep it. It will require also plenty of mealworms, smooth caterpillars, and any kind of grub or insect you may be able to capture, and you will be surprised to find what a lot of these your bird will put away—that is, so long as you are content to keep on offering them to such a lazy creature.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

CAPE CANARY (V. A. G.).—The Cape Canary or Grey-necked Serin (Serinus canicollis) is about the size of a small Green Canary or a little larger than the Green Singing Finch, if you know the latter bird. It may be sketchily described as olive green above, with the nape and back of neck grey, the feathers of the mantle and wings are variegated with dark shaft streaks; below it is mostly yellow, and the facial markings and fore crown are yellowish. You can distinguish this bird from the Green Singing Finch by the richer green patches of the upper surface, and the distinct grey patch at the base of the crown. I have found this bird a really good songster, especially during the period of the breeding season, though he was a bachelor in my aviary, where he lived happily for several years, dying from senile decay in the end. He was an aged bird when I gave him a home, but never lost his vigour or cheeriness till the last month of his life.

MOCKING BIRD (W. Uphill).—Get some good ants' eggs (the preserved ones); you can get a good sample at 2s. per pound from our advertisers, and take one part of these to two parts of the Thrush mixture you are using, moisten and stir well together. It can have any kind of fruit it will take, and as much as it cares to eat. It should also have half a dozen mealworms per day, as well as any spiders, smooth caterpillars, beetles, etc., you can capture for it. The cage should be 2ft. long, 12 to 15 inches deep, by 15 to 18 inches high. A small twiggy branch fixed at each end of the cage, which should be of the box type, is far better than straight perches, and will go a long way towards keeping its feet clean and fit.

ABNORMAL MOULT (Frills).—This bird evidently got a bad check in the moult from some cause, and the frilled parts are not likely to become normal till another moult. Evidently he is a little bit out of order, and for a time you should try the aid of a mild laxative (Dinneford's Magnesia); keep its bowels moving quite freely, and also give it a tonic, Byno-phosphates is as good as any. A little bread and milk will do no harm if taken. Examine its legs and feet, and if these are either swollen or have sores, bathe with hot water (not hot enough for discomfort), dry and paint with whisky. I do not advise forcing another moult, as probably at this juncture the abnormality would be repeated.

BALCONY AVIARY (E. E. E.).—If there is sufficient light in the aviary when the wire netting is covered up I should tack roofing felt outside the netting, and not remove it till the warm spring days come round again. This is easily fixed; lightly tack the felt in place, then take some thin laths, place them outside the felt and screw through both to the aviary framing; by this method the felt is as easily removed as fixed. All the birds in your list should pass the winter safely in your aviary, and they certainly ought to breed next spring. Save up the shells and husks you have already provided, but put up at least half-a-dozen rush nests (vide advert. columns). The Hartz cages, after the perches and other fittings have been removed and a couple of bars cut away to allow the birds to get in and out, can be put up in the spring. Do not stand them on the shelf, they are easily hung against any flat wall by driving in two nails about two inches apart, and hanging the cage on these. Leafy branches of rose, fruit trees, privet, fir and willow can be put in the aviary. Spice Birds belong to the group called Mannikins, and unless they are in large aviaries this group is quite lethargic in demeanour.

QUAILS FOR SMALL GARDEN AVIARY (J. M. junr.).—You do not state whether your aviary contains any growing plants: if so, they would be almost sure to breed. The general treatment is given in the book, "Foreign Birds for Beginners." When they are feeding young they ought to have some live ants' eggs and maggots, and soft food; failing to get the former, supply preserved ants' eggs freely. The young run about like ordinary chickens as soon as hatched, and are brooded by their parent for a month or more. If you have no sticks, put a heap of brushwood in a dry, retired corner on a bed of sand, though they will not settle to nesting as quickly as in more natural quarters. When chicks are about, you should put in a few sods of turf, renewing them as required. For a small aviary there is nothing to beat the Chinese Painted Quail, small and beautiful, but these have been scarce on the market for some time, and you may not be able to get them. As a start try a pair of Common Quail, these are of moderate size and cheap, but not so beautiful as the Chinese. Cut the flight feathers of one wing before you put them in the aviary; as soon as they become tame the flights can be allowed to grow full again.

BLUE TANAGERS (Tobacco).—A mixture of sponge cake, biscuit, ants' eggs and dried flies in equal parts would be better than what you are giving—it will keep dry for any length of time; it requires to be made crumbly moist with boiling water for use, also supply fruit ad lib, and several live insects per diem. The Blue Tanager has no sensonal change of plumage, the sexes are alike in plumage—but in choosing a pair pick one with a broad, flat crown, and for the other choose one having rather a snaky head and neck. Sugarbirds need rather careful nursing at first. You would do best to try the Yellow-winged species first; the diet consists of sloppy milk sop and ripe fruit. You give no size of your indoor aviary; is it an aviary, or merely a roomy cage? All the Tanagers are beautiful, most of them really gorgeous—the Superb, Tricolour, Black-breasted, Scarlet, Maroon, Necklace, All Green, etc.—any of these would meet your case.

TO KEEP OUT RATS (A. L. T.).—There is only one way to do this, and that is either to carry a concrete wall eighteen inches below ground level, or to carry wire netting down the same depth. If wire netting is used it should be of half-inch mesh and be carried 18in. below ground and then turned outwards for another 6in., say. Such an arrangement will keep them out, but it must be carried all round, and properly connected together at the corners; for wherever rats are, bird seed is like a magnet, and they are persevering. If they fail to get in in one part they burrow in another, so there is no other course but to do the thing thoroughly. Putting a little tar down their holes stops them coming that way again for some time, but this is not satisfactory, as you've got to be continually on the alert, and then come down one morning and find the rat has scored! Of course, if there are not many you can poison them off with rat virus, but others usually turn up from elsewhere a little later, and the only safe way is to make the aviary rat-proof, as above.

OUTDOOR AVIARY (Bird Lover).—In so narrow an aviary as yours I should advise two thirds of the roof and one end to be boarded in, and a portion at one end must be boarded up as a shelter shed; it must have a window (glass must be covered with wire netting on the inside) as birds will not use a dark place. You can either give the place up to three pairs of Budgerigars and one pair of Cockatiels, or put in pairs of Zebra Finches, Silverbills, Magpie Mannikins, Ribbon Finches, Cut-throats, Avadavats, Bib Finches, and White Java Sparrows. "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1s. 1½d. post free, from our Manager, would tell you how to treat and keep the above. Unless you buy birds direct from some outdoor aviary you must not stock the aviary until next spring. Put the aviary up carefully, joints must be close, for cracks through which the wind can blow ever so slightly will cost you many birds. So get your aviary finished and the work done well before getting in stock. The above book has a sketch of a suitable aviary.

WILL THEY REAR? (Undulatus).—It is very probable that they will unless the weather should turn out really cold all at once; if it keeps fairly open, as at present, for another few weeks, there is a reasonable chance of success, always providing, of course, that the eggs are fertile and hatch out. In your query you name three species of Finches, and do not say which of them it is that has nested! However, the following should suit the needs of all three—the usual seeds and green food, ad lib; a saucer of soft food, any good standard make will do, or the following will meet the case—crumbled sponge cake, crushed biscuit, ants' eggs and dried flies in equal parts—make the daily portion crumbly moist with boiling water. Keep a small tin of ants' eggs in the aviary, also scatter a few on the ground, it will keep the parents active foraging for them. I have had Zebra Finches, Ribbon Finches and Java Sparrows leave the nest (out of doors) in December, and the young birds do well.

WHAT SPECIES? (W.P.C.).—If your bird is a Double-fronted, its plumage is not typical. I am of opinion that it is a Red-fronted Amazon (Chrysotis rittata), if so, it is quite uncommon. Before giving you definite advice about the "nibbling" of its feathers I should like to know how you are feeding and treating it. In the meantime it will do no harm to put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water twice a week, so long as the voidings are watery loose. Do not give it tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, nor any kind of animal food whatever. Carefully examine its plumage, and if there are any parasites (I think there may be from feather sent), rub in an insecticide or spray with quassia solution.

OUT OF SORTS (Solway Lad).—It is largely a matter of getting it on to a wholesome and varied diet. The staple dietary of a Grey Parrot should consist of seed mixture and ripe fruit, with continuous supplies of grit, cuttlebone and water. Plain biscuit, stale crusts of household bread, shelled nuts (various), also unshelled nuts, may be offered, and green food (almost any salad that is going at this season will do). You must not give tea, coffee or milk sops, nor any kind of animal food whatever. So long as the voidings are not watery loose, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water every fourth day, and on the intervening days just colour the water with the chemical food. If you can get the bird to take it, give it daily a piece of biscuit or stale crust that has been first lightly moistened with warm water and then dusted with flowers of sulphur. The following will be the best seed mixture for you to use at present: one quart each canary, white millet, and oats; one pint each hemp and dari; half-a-pint each sunflower seed, wheat and small maize; well mix the whole and keep a supply in the cage. Keep the bird in some light and airy position, yet not in a draught. As soon as the bird becomes thoroughly fit it should commence to talk, and then go on increasing its vocabulary. You must persevere with above treatment—do not use metal drinkers while giving drugs. Shall be pleased to hear how the bird progresses.

FOREIGN BIRD QUERISTS

should consult Page's "Foreign Birds for Beginners" (1/1½); Arthur's "Budgerigars and Cockatiels" (6d.); Arthur's "Parrots for Pleasure and Profit" (7d.); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods and Wild Plants" (1/2); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-Keeping" (1/1); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each); No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 14 "Gouldian Finches," No. 16 "Avadavats," No. 17 "The Grey Parrot," No. 18 "Budgerigars," No. 19 "The Pekin Robin," No. 20 "Waxbills." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet St., London, E.C.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

W. Liddle.—Bird received was not in a very good condition for examination, but there was no evidence of septic liver. It was certainly very thin, and the bowels were in a state of inflammation. I believe your losses have occurred from some impurity or irritant partaken of with the food.

W. W. Despard.—Acute enteritis, or inflammation of the bowels, caused by powerful irritant poisons.

E. Melton.—Infectious pneumonia. This disease is characterised by high fever, with resulting wasting as in this case. Both lungs become affected, and on post mortem examination appear quite black, whilst the spleen becomes much enlarged. I should advise thorough disinfection and isolation of affected birds.

Gardiner (Dursley).—Roller Canary died as the result of impaction of the bowels, this condition predisposing to fits. It is evidently due to errors in feeding. Try a change of seed and watch results.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

R.M.A.—The show cage recommended by the N.B.B. and M.C. for the Hawfinch is 14 inches long by 12 by 9 inches, with ¾in. mesh wires. The Norwich Plainhead Club pattern show-cage is 12 inches long by 11½ by 4½. The "British Bird Manual" (post free 1s. 1d.), will tell you all about the Hawfinch.

J. W. Jacobs.—We are very much obliged to you for your letter. The information therein has been duly noted by the sec. of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE.

Covering an Aviary Roof.

Sir,—Would any reader please tell me how to cover an aviary roof without much nailing. I read a good idea in Cage Birds about 18 months ago, I think, but I have misplaced it.

How Fanciers are Made.

Sir,—A friend of mine who is a member of Cage Birds League seeing my two birds asked me why I did not take the hobby in hand and make better of it. I paired up my birds, and, thanks to Cage Birds for its good help, I have now nine young, five cocks and four hens, in fine trim and beauties too. I sold one to this friend of mine for 12s., so you can tell what sort they are for next season.

The Late Mr. J. Driver (Normanton).

Sir,—At a committee meeting of the Sheffield O.S. a vote of condolence was accorded the widow of the late Mr. Driver in the very great loss she has sustained. We trust that she will have strength given her to overcome the great trouble which has so suddenly overtaken her. It was a very great shock to our members, as Mr. Driver was always found one of the keenest of fanciers, and a hail fellow-well-met genial Englishman.

A Lady's Success in the Hobby.

Sir,—I was very agreeably surprised to see the front page of Cage Birds last week. A friend took the photograph, but I had no idea that it was intended for your paper. I have only been about four years in the Fancy, and during that time I have very rarely found my birds out of the "money." I have had a very successful season this year, having reared about 70 young birds, many of which I hope will catch the judge's eye. I sold all the birds I wanted to dispose of last year, and could have sold many more, if I had had them, a fact which I must attribute to advertising in Cage Birds. I wish your paper every success.

(Miss) A. Scott.

Why Are Some Welsh Shows Failures?

Sir,—I think the following reasons may account for the failure of so many Welsh shows:—(1) General decline of the Fancy; (2) local judges with a certain following; (3) clashing of dates; (4) too high entrance fee for the possible prize-money. Around this district (Pembrokeshire) there are now very few fanciers, and shows have ceased to exist in Carmarthen, Narberth, and Haverfordwest, which, years ago, used to be veritable hotbeds. Take this month alone: In S. Wales on Oct. 16 there are two shows, and on the 29th there are three shows. Other shows, too, on the 22nd, 23rd, and the 30th. Too many by far, and too close to one another. I would like to support them all, but I cannot possibly; no more can other exhibitors. Then, again, at Llandilo, an entrance fee of 2s. is too high, and at Mumbles, Pontardawe, and Treorchy I find I pay 1s. 6d. to win, perhaps 1s. 3d. To this must be added at least 1s. 6d. railway carriage, and I actually spend 3s. to (possibly) win 1s. 3d.! A consideration to the working man, who is the chief supporter of these shows, and naturally he makes no entries. Shows in October are too early for the majority of birds—I am writing from a British bird exhibitor's view—and birds not being ready are consequently not shown. If a few Welsh shows were held later on in the year—after the Palace, for instance, in Feb. and Mar.—I am sure they would have bumping entries, and would be gladly welcomed by all.

W. F. Lloyd James.

Sir,—Having had considerable experience in the general management of and the ordinary routine at cage-bird shows, and having the interest and welfare of the Fancy at heart, I regard it practically as a duty to reply to the letter of "Swansea Boy," which appears in the current issue of Cage Birds. I must candidly admit that Welsh cage-bird shows in general are undoubtedly failures, but nevertheless "Swansea Boy" expresses but a partial truth when he attributes this to the inefficiency of judges, which may easily be authenticated by even a mere casual observance of the show dates, as advertised in our valuable Cage Birds: Llandilo, Oct. 15; Swansea, Oct. 16th; Abertillery, Oct. 22; Mumbles, Oct. 23; Kidwelly, Oct. 29; Upper Rhondda, Oct. 29; Llandrindod Wells, Oct. 29; Abersychan, Oct. 30. It bodes ill for Welsh shows if this state of affairs continues, as it is an utter impossibility for even the most optimistic to predict success if two or three shows occur simultaneously. Even if the number of judges be increased, it will avail us nothing. Let me appeal to the Welsh Cage-bird Club to apply the only effective remedy by acquainting bird fanciers of Wales of the advisability of forming a real live W.C.B.C. As the South Wales Federation comprises fur and feather, I advise, nay urge, cage-bird fanciers to give preference to the Welsh C.B.C., which specialises in cage birds only, and would thus tend to advance cage bird shows immediately, without waiting for the slower success which would accrue if benefits are divided between fur and feather.

How to Make Bird Lime.

Sir,—I should be very glad if any reader would tell me the best way to make bird-lime. I have been a reader of your famous paper, Cage Birds, for over ten years, and I would not like to be without it.

The Silver Tea Service at Sheffield O.S. Show.

Sir,—In reply to Mr. J. Naden, I have pleasure in informing him that the novice Norwich section will be equally well catered for at Sheffield show, Nov. 7 and 8, as follows: For most points in open novice, a handsome electro-plated teapot; 2nd, most points, and 3rd, also have good specials, in addition to 5s. for the best novice Norwich shown. We hope all novices will patronise us.

A. T. Woodall (Vice-Chairman).

The Catching of Redpolls.

Sir,—Mr. Frank Abbott asked on Sept. 20 the best way to catch Redpolls. Undoubtedly by clapnets. But we will suppose one cannot use them or does not care to go to the expense. Then this is the best way to go to work. First select your place (in Mr. Abbott's case there are plenty) which should be near a fence, as per illustration. Drive about four three inch nails in the top of the fence. Then smear a stout piece of string, about four yards long, with bird-lime. Pass the string once round each nail, say two inches above the fence. Have two or three Redpolls as "callers." Get some distance away, and it won't be long before some Redpolls drop on the line. The sooner you get them off, the better. To clean off the bird-lime, I use either lard or paraffin oil. If one is quick, however, as one ought to be, it is surprising how little of the lime gets on the birds; further, only a small quantity is required on the string.

"A" is the limed string, stretched between and twisted round the nails "B." The call birds are seen at "C."

Can Birds Cause Railway Accidents?

Sir,—With reference to my letter published last week, another correspondent of the "Westminster Gazette," signing himself "Operator," has answered the above question by saying: "Certainly not. Any signal linesman or electrician would soon satisfy 'Traveller,' that such a contact as he describes would fail to give the required number of beats upon bells, and unless an extra bird (trained to such work) could simultaneously reverse the switch at the signalbox at the other end of the section a signalman would never be justified in observing bells only. His indicator, 'Line blocked,' cannot be reversed to Line clear' on receipt of bells, a mechanical movement on the instrument being also necessary from the opposite end of section. Bell signals in such a case simply draw a signalman's attention to his indicator. I fear the signalman referred to was simply pulling the leg of 'Traveller.'"

Destructive Birds Cause Loss Totalling Several Millions of Pounds Sterling!

A Scathing Indictment of the Folly of Over-protection.

In a September issue of the "Farmer and Stock Breeder," appears a remarkable article showing the appalling damage caused by certain birds (referred to as "our winged foes") to the farmers and fruit-growers of the United Kingdom. This very serious state of affairs has been brought about (says this authority) solely by the over-protection afforded by the Wild Bird Acts to the species complained of. We reproduce our contemporary's article herewith.

Over-Protection for Winged Foes.

A correspondent writes complaining of the enormous damage that is done to his crops by Sparrows and other birds, and asks if it would be possible by sowing an awned wheat, such as Rovitts wheat, to stop the loss that he thus sustains. His case is, I am sure, only one of thousands. The damage becomes more serious year by year, and must in the total throughout the country amount to a matter of several million pounds sterling. This increase in the amount of damage caused by birds is directly and entirely due to the various Wild Birds' Protection Acts, which by the protection afforded to birds during the breeding season have caused such an enormous increase in the numbers that their ordinary and natural food ceases to be sufficient to support them.

This is particularly true with regard to such birds as Starlings and Blackbirds. Thirty years ago, or even less, Starlings never under any circumstances took grain, but now they not only dig up the seed at sowing time, but can be seen any day in hundreds eating wheat from the shocks. The Blackbirds and Thrushes have made it almost impossible to grow fruit of any kind whatever, for they not only take every strawberry, currant, raspberry and gooseberry as soon as it begins to change colour, but they completely strip the trees of even the greenest of apples. No crop that the farmer grows is quite free from the ravages of these pests.

The Increase in Destructive Birds.

A few years ago the Rook was the only real enemy of the bird kind that the farmer had to contend with, but now the Sparrows, Linnets and Finches of various kinds bite off his young mangel plants, pull up the germinating turnips, and devour his ripening corn. It is quite possible that most of these birds, perhaps all of them, do some good for some part of the year, because nearly all wild birds, except Pigeons and Doves, feed their young upon insects, but as things are at present the damage they do more than counterbalances the good. No one would object to a reasonable number of wild birds, but the enormous increase in the number of hard-billed birds of the Finch tribe is beyond all reason. It is, as a matter of fact, crowding out the useful soft-billed birds such as the Robin, the Whitethroat, the various Warblers, and others which exist entirely upon an insectivorous diet, and are really the farmers' friends.

For the state of affairs that at present exists the farmers are themselves to a considerable extent to blame. The various Wild Birds Protection Acts, of which I believe no fewer than five have been passed between 1880 and 1904, have been allowed to become law entirely in the interests of townspeople who like to see the "pretty dears," and without any vigorous or concerted protest on the part of the farmers. It would, of course, require a fairly vigorous protest now. We should, I know, be told that the birds were doing us untold good, and that if it were not for them we should be eaten up by caterpillars like the Egyptians of old, but I for one would be prepared to risk the caterpillars if the plague of birds could be reduced.

The Farmers Blameworthy.

This question of the birds fits in fairly aptly with the interesting article on "Legislation Adverse to Good Farming," by "Leics," in "The Farmer and Stockbreeder" of the 11th August, where he points out some of the effects of over-legislation with regard to farming. It is quite true, as he says, that there should be some farmers in Parliament, and that they can only be put there by a combination on the part of the farmers themselves.

I doubt, however, if many farmers realise what it means for a farmer to get into Parliament. In the first place, it means that he must be possessed of from £1,200 to £1,500 to pay his election expenses, and he must be prepared to live in London for at least eight months in the year, during all the busiest time on the farm. Further, he will have to persuade the political organisation in some district to accept him as their candidate, and even if he should manage all this and be fortunate enough to be elected, he will stand a very poor chance in the House of Commons itself unless he allies himself to one of the recognised political parties.

However, it is time something was done, but farmers may be quite sure that they will never see a tenant farmer in Parliament until they are prepared to put their hands in their pockets to pay the expenses of suitable men.

Albino Linnet Caught in the Isle of Man.

Sir,—I have been successful in catching a good Albino Linnet, almost perfect, with the exception of a small tick about the size of a pea on top of the rump. The capture of this bird is reported to have occurred near the Wye works, Tromode, but this is not correct; it was at a different place altogether. I am very pleased to say it is doing well. It is Norwich type, good feather and very steady. I should like to know the views of my fellow-fanciers, whether these kind of freaks are any use for the bench, as a well-known bird-dealer informed me they are not.

Wm. Forster.

[Albinos can only be exhibited where a special class is provided for such freaks; they are not allowed to compete amongst normal-coloured birds. Pure white Linnets are fairly good exhibits; rarer albinos, however, invariably beat them.—Editor.]

Gramophone Records of the Song of Birds.

Sir,—Apropos the letters which have already appeared upon this subject, I venture to say, after giving the matter careful thought, that, personally I regard it as a fortunate circumstance that the public demand for such records as these is not likely to prove sufficient to tempt manufacturers to undertake to supply it. I say this because, in my opinion, the distinctly audible scrape of the needle which occurs more or less under the most favourable circumstances, would, even when reduced to the minimum, be quite sufficient to distort the song, and probably utterly ruin the most delicate passages, and thereby convey a very false impression of the real performance of the bird to the hearer. A record of the song of the Sprosser Nightingale exists, though I have not heard it. I believe this is said to have been taken from the living bird, so it would be interesting if some fancier who has heard it and is familiar with the song of the Sprosser, would compare the two, and say how the "needle-scrape" affects it. In record-making I fancy all animal sounds are merely imitations produced by mechanical means.

The Colour of Show Cages for Greenfinches.

Sir,—In his able contribution on staging, Mr. Norman mentions the Greenfinch as being a difficult subject to cater for, in the matter of getting effect from the colour of his show-cage. No doubt he is a difficult subject; but I once saw one exhibited which took my eye, and which seemed to stand out for colour, in a cage which was of a dull dead black inside, with perches white, almost as snow. I remember, though, once having a walk in the country during the late summer, when the leaves were beginning to take on that colour which reminds us of the near approach of autumn, when I noticed a Greenfinch perched on a hedge close beside a bunch of seed-heads of the wild dog-rose. As most fanciers with any knowledge of country life know, the dog-rose seed is of a bright orange scarlet, and I thought at the time that the two colours blended so well that I would on some future occasion exhibit a Greenie with a cage of that colour. However, I never had the courage to stage one; but I venture to suggest that were one exhibited in a cage of that colour, he would look well, and would no doubt cause a bit of a sensation.

ANOTHER LURID PICTURE!

Shall Sentiment Prevail Over Common-sense?

Notes by the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE.

The writer of the "Out of Doors" column in the "Hampshire Chronicle" seems to have been reading some of the literature distributed by the professional humanitarians, for in a recent issue he writes :—

"The coming of the 1st of August means the letting loose of the professional bird-catcher; it means also the utter destruction of the pleasure and peace of mind of every tender-hearted, every observant and moderately sensitive, individual who is in the habit of walking on the downs and through the country fields and lanes. Limed twigs and plantain stalks are laid down all round the edges of the upland ponds where birds are forced to alight and drink if they are not to go waterless, and twigs and nets both claim their captives by the hundred. When night falls, the living palpitating bodies that in the morning were flitting over the down-flowers and breaking into happy song, are shut up in dark airless cells, sentenced to perpetual imprisonment until kind death releases them."

What a picture! But to the fancy of "Bird Notes and News," the official organ of the society for the protection of birds, it requires a finishing touch, and, in reprinting the same paragraph, that journal says :—

"It may be added that to the town-dweller this same season brings the misery of seeing the panting, terrified wild birds in their frantic misery in 5in. cages, in the close bird-shop and on the wall of the public- house and the tenement, and on the barrows of the coster's cart in Whitechapel. What is the bird-lover of town or country to do? Keep the question to the fore, push it on public opinion; destroy the limed twigs; find out from the local Protection Order what birds are protected at this season and see to it that these are not caught or found, newly-caught, in cages; worry the County Council into getting an amended Order if needed."

The point of the comment of "Bird Notes and News" lies in the last phrase "worry the County Council into getting an amended Order if needed." Of course, any particular County Council can be worried into anything, if only the heckler be a person of local importance. No matter that he is ignorant of everything relating to the economic questions arising out of the over protection of birds, and equally ignorant of the fact that birds may be kept, and are kept, in captivity in such a manner that they are infinitely better off than when they have to contend with one another for the means of existence, with their "natural" foes, and with the other horrible cruelties of Nature. He (or she) will have to deal only with those the majority of whom are equally ignorant, and with the blind leading the blind nothing is too absurd for a local extension of the existing Acts of Parliament.

But what about the "if needed"? Who needs any extension of the existing Acts of Parliament? Only one answer is possible—The professional humanitarians, and those people only. On another page there is reprinted this week an article which recently appeared in the "Farmer and Stockholder," and a perusal of this will convince any right minded person not only that no extension is needed, but that if disaster beyond calculation is not to fall upon agriculturists and fruit-growers the Acts must either be suspended or must be amended by someone who has at least an elementary knowledge as to what birds are harmful and what birds beneficial.

As things are now the one thing only which prevents the birds of our country increasing in number until they become a veritable plague is the enormous natural mortality. A bird in a cage will live to be five, ten, or twenty years old. If the average duration of the life of a bird in Nature reached even three years, and bird protection laws were in effective operation, birds would swarm like locusts.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of CAGE BIRDS have written to say that they would like to join CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the LEAGUE, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is either to sign the coupon herewith, and send the same, together with sevenpence, or to get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the LEAGUE. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

A TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS.

OUR COUPON SCHEME SPLENDIDLY SUPPORTED.

A charming Diploma of Honour awaits all winners and everybody has a fair chance of a cash special.

IT is with considerable gratification that we note the excellent support accorded our Championship Competition at the opening fixtures of the season. The results at Longton, Clapham, and Great Horton seem to establish the fact that our ardent wish to provide a means of infusing special interest in this season's shows will be achieved by our Coupon Prize Scheme. That it is commending itself to exhibitors there is no room for doubt, and, this being so, it must prove a great help to all fixtures at which it is in progress by reason of the entries it will surely attract from those anxious to secure one of CAGE BIRDS' Diplomas of Honour, and thus win their "heat," as it may be termed, which lands them into the final at the Palace with its splendid special prizes (£100 in solid cash alone) solely for coupon birds.

Competitors are put to no extra expense; it costs them only sixpence over and above their ordinary expenses to compete for our prizes. Further, both champion and novice diplomas are allotted to every section, and no exhibitor can take more than one, which provides everybody with a fair opportunity of winning.

The Preston O.S. have added their show to our Coupon fixtures. It is due to be held on Nov. 21 and 22.

A Charming Diploma Being Prepared.

Our artists have designed for us a Diploma of Honour which we think will be universally admitted to be a charming little production, well worthy of the honour of a place on the walls of any fancier's home. The diploma is being very carefully reproduced and printed, and a copy will be despatched early next week (this week-end, if possible) to all who have been fortunate enough to win one at the opening Coupon Shows.

Diplomas Won in A.O.V. Classes.

A correspondent writes: If a bird (say a Belgian) is entered in the A.O.V. class at a show and wins a diploma, must the owner then show in the A.O.V. section at the Crystal Palace, or will he be entitled to compete in the Belgian section?—All birds at the Palace must be entered according to the classification, i.e., if a diploma is won in an A.O.V. class by a bird of a variety which has a special section at the Palace, the winner of the diploma must show in that section.

Coupons in Cancelled Classes.

Another correspondent writes: If I enter a coupon bird in a class which is afterwards cancelled by the show authorities, am I entitled to ask for my coupon back, or must I lose it?—We certainly do not wish exhibitors to suffer the loss of coupons because of cancelled classes. They must write us, and name the class and the show, when we will send them a fresh coupon (or coupons) to replace those used in the cancelled class.

A Few from Our Post Bag.

Please send me 50 coupons for use at Clapham show. There is a big demand for them. —A. C. Askew, show manager.

Send me by return another two dozen coupons for use at Morpeth show.—E. Cowling, sec.

I shall want a further supply of coupons for our show. — G. Broome, sec., Abertillery C.B.S.

Send me some more coupons for use at our show. I have already got rid of all I sent for.—H. Clegg, sec., Halifax O.S.

Please send by return three dozen coupons. I have sold all the five dozen I had. I find many people writing me for coupons when they are entering their birds at our show. I think the competition will be very popular. — T. Pope, hon. sec., Plymouth show

Enclosed please find order for more coupons.—J. D. Horrill, hon. sec., Barnstaple C.B.S.

Coupon Competitors' Next Chances.

The coupon shows due next week-end afford Scottish readers their first chances of entering our championship competition across the Border.

At the City of Glasgow show, Oct. 17 and 18, there is a truly magnificent classification, with very liberal prize money (36s. per class; entry fee 2s.), and a fine special prize-list. Scots Fancies, Belgians, Norwich (2 novice classes), Crests, Yorks., Borders, Mules, British and Foreign are liberally catered for. Entries should be sent on at once; Scots and Belgs. to Mr. J. Young, 76, Burn Road, Rutherglen; all other sections to Mr. R. Heggie, 27, McLenuan Street, Mount Florida, Glasgow.

Broughty Ferry, Oct. 18, has also a really excellent classification, covering Scots Fcy., Crests, Nor., Bord., Mules, Brit. and For., with good prize money and specials, and we hope will be well supported. Entries close Monday next to Mr. J. F. Langlands, Victoria Cottage, Broughty Ferry.

Some splendid opportunities for competition occur at the shows in England. At Newcastle, Oct. 17 and 18, needless to say, the classification is very extensive, with special novice sections in Nor., Yorks., Bord. and Brit. The prize-money is 20s. per class; entry fee 1s. 6d., and there is a fine lot of specials. Entries should be made at once to Mr. J. W. Reed, 218, Ladykirk Road, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

At Sheffield, Oct. 18, there are four novice classes in Nor. and Yorks., and one in Brit., while the open sections are likely catered for. Here the prize money is 22s. for a 1s. 6d. fee, and there should be a good response. Entries close on the 13th (Mon.) to Mr. A. Hobson, 66, Langsett Avenue, Sheffield.

Halifax, Oct. 17 and 18, has a splendid classification for Yorks., and caters well for Nor., also Brit. and Mules. There are special novice Yorks. and Nor. classes. The prize-money is liberal here also, 22s. for a 1s. 6d. fee. Entries close Tuesday morning certain, Oct. 14, to Mr. H. Clegg 15, Melrose Street, Lee Mount, Halifax.

Harrogate Oct. 18, has 12 open Yorks. classes, price limit £5 5s., and 6 novice, limit £3 3s. Other sections are also catered for, and the prize money is 22s. for 1s. 6d. fee, while there are good specials Entries close Oct. 14 (Tues.) to Mr. G. H. Barnwell, 20, College Road, Harrogate.

At Burton-on-Trent, Oct. 18, there is a good all-round classification for Nor., Yorks, Hyb., Brit. and For., with 3 novice Nor. classes, and 5 classes for Cinnamons (1 novice), with 17s. 6d. prize money and good specials for 1s. 6d. fee. Entries close Oct. 14 to Mr. A. Wood, 10, South Oak Street, Burton-on-Trent.

Mid-week shows which should be supported by coupon competitors are Abertillery (Oct. 22), and Portsmouth (Oct. 22 and 23).

A full list of the Coupon Shows appeared in our issue of Sept. 27, on page 187.

How Exhibitors May Enter,

All who intend entering Coupon birds at these shows must do so under these conditions:—CAGE BIRDS offers the following Championship Competition prizes:—

10s. cash for best champion coupon bird.
10s. cash for best novice coupon bird.

Diplomas of honour for the best champion and the best novice coupon birds in each of the following sections; or in as many of these sections as are included in the classification:—

(1) Yorkshire Canaries.
(2) Norwich.
(3) Crests & Crestbreds.
(4) Border Fancies.
(5) Scotch Fancies and Belgians.
(6) Greens.
(7) Lancs. and Lizards.
(8) Any Other Variety Canary.
(9) Mules & Hybrids.
(10) British, Hardbilled.
(11) British, Softb.Fed.
(12) Foreign.

All the exhibitor has to do is to stick one of CAGE BIRDS Coupons on his entry form and write "C.B." opposite each bird he wishes to compete; except if a novice, when he must write "C.B. Novice."

Coupons, price 6d. each, may be purchased from the offices of CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., or, if the time is short, enclose the necessary extra cash with your entry fees to the secretary of the show, and he will affix coupons opposite whichever birds you have marked on your entry form. Every coupon is numbered and a record of it kept at CAGE BIRDS offices.

NOTE CAREFULLY.—A coupon must be affixed to the entry form opposite every bird intended to compete in this Championship Competition. Any number of coupon birds may be entered by any exhibitor, either in one section or in several, as may be desired, so long as a coupon is used for each bird. For every coupon bird, of course, the usual entry fee must be paid to the show officials. Entries in CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition are accepted only on the understanding that the governing rules as published in CAGE BIRDS are to be absolutely final and legally binding.

The above, we may say, are the conditions which will appear in the schedules of all shows at which our Championship Scheme is in operation, and under which entries will be accepted by the various secretaries.

Anyone in doubt upon any point concerning the scheme should write at once.—The Editor, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

A Brief Outline of the Scheme.

The main idea of CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition is to discover which are the Twelve Best Champion Birds and the Twelve best Novice Birds of the Season. The Competition is in progress at over 80 shows (see list of Sept. 27), which cover every quarter of the United Kingdom.

TWO PRIZES OF 10S. EACH, one for novices and one for champion (under certain stipulations), at each accepted Coupon Show.

TWENTY-FOUR DIPLOMAS OF HONOUR, in addition, at each Coupon Show, 12 for Champion exhibitors, and 12 for Novice exhibitors, for the best Champion Coupon Bird and best Novice Coupon Bird in each of the 12 sections mentioned above.

The winner of any one of the foregoing diplomas will have the right to compete with not more than four birds, on payment to the Palace Show Authorities of the usual entry fee, in our final championship competition at the Crystal Palace Show of 1914.

FIRST PRIZE, £3;
SECOND PRIZE, £2;

CLAPHAM AGAIN SMASHES RECORD

A Wonderful Run of Success: Great Display in all Sections: Keen Interest Taken in "Cage Birds" Coupon Competition.

Mr. A. C. Askew, one of the able managers of Clapham Show.

The first of the big London shows was held in the St. Anne's Hall, Clapham, on Oct. 8th and 9th, by the Clapham C.B.A. This Association has made extraordinary progress in the running of successful shows, and once again this year the entry was a record one. Norwich, Yorkshires and Borders, in the Canary section, were all well represented, the Borders in particular making a wonderful show, due, no doubt, to its being the opening venture of the Southern Border Fancy Club. Extra classes were provided, and these all filled well. The much coveted silver spoon for best bird in this section was won by Mr. G. H. Pratt, of Exmouth, with a lovely buff cock, very much admired. The birds were staged in a room by themselves, and made quite an imposing show. Fanciers of the "wee gems" should be well pleased with this opening venture, and support their club loyally.

A grand lot of "Straight 'Uns."

Yorkshires made a grand display, some of the classes were not only well filled, but had quality of the very highest merit. The unlighted buff cock class was a topper, twenty-one birds facing the judge. Many birds were hardly lit, and the winners may have the tables turned on them later on. Messrs. Easterling and Carson led off with a grand bird. The buff hens numbered twenty-two, and were a charming lot, a wonderfully even collection, Mr. C. Lockett staging the winner.

In the Norwich Plainhead section, there were 145 entries in 13 classes, an average of 11 per class—not at all a bad result for what is practically the initial event of the season. Many of the birds were shown in wonderfully good trim, though some beaten to-day will, when fully wound up, be points better. There was decided evidence of the predominance of type and quality. Crests and Crestbreds again were few in number, but the quality was good. The most remarkable display, however, was that of the Border Fancy section.

The Hybrids were a lovely lot. Light Hybrids were led by a nearly clear Goldie-Canary Mule. Dark Goldie or Linnet Mules made a class of 17. A lustrous jonque Goldie-Canary led. The Canary-Bullie Hybrids were grand, particularly that of Mr. Howick. As a whole, the collection was highly interesting.

Two Ssetions that Excelled.

The entries in the British section were good, considering the early date of the show; twenty Linnets, twenty Siskins, etc., and twenty-two Lesser Redpolls made grand classes. The winners in these were very fine specimens. Mr. Pitchford won with a lovely Linnet of grand quality. The Lesser Redpolls were a wonderfully even lot, very little to choose between the first half-dozen. The special for best Hardbill went to Mr. Oliver, of East Ham, with his well-known Hawfinch, staged in grand fettle.

The smaller insectivorous birds made a splendid display. The class for all species smaller than Wheatear was worth going a long journey to see, containing no less than 14 entries of eleven different kinds, all in the pink of condition, quite an education in itself, and reflecting great credit on the exhibitors who are able to turn out such delicate "wee mites" to perfection. The Dartford Warbler belonging to Mr. Evans, took special for the best in its section, while Mr. Hose's beautiful Yellow Wagtail obtained CAGE BIRDS' special for best British Softbill. The larger Softbil's were not well up in numbers, owing probably to being backward in the moult.

The Foreign a Special Attraction.

Foreign birds were a great feature of the show, and the fact that 209 African Finches and Sunbirds, etc., many new to aviculture, were to be on view, specially consigned to Clapham Show, for sale purposes, undoubtedly attracted a large and fashionable crowd of sight-seers and buyers. Very many of the birds quickly found purchasers. Parrots were rather disappointing in numbers, as was also the special class for Green Budgerigars, but the Finches and Waxbills turned up strong, the class for the common species with 20 entries wanting a lot of sorting, and the wonderful performance of Mr. R. J. Watts, in securing 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and, vhc, with his noted team, was a feat to be proud of. Mr. C. T. Maxwell and Mr. Ezra accounted for the greater part of the other prizes, with their magnificent and unique specimens, many being seen for the first time on the show bench.

There were many entries in CAGE BIRDS coupon competition. The diplomas for best Softbill went to Mr. Hose, with a grand Yellow Wagtail, and the Hardbill to Mr. Francis with his Hawfinch. The remainder of the diploma winners are not to hand as we went to press.

The show management was in the very capable hands of Messrs. A. C. Askew and W. J. Silverthorne, who worked hard and effectively, as did Mr. T. J. Hose in the secretarial department. Mr. W. H. Vale, the popular chairman, also lent great assistance. These gentlemen were ably assisted by Messrs. Brighty, F. Clark, C. Cooper, A. Emms, C. T. Maxwell, H. Yeoman A. G. Snook, G. J. Warley, W. Francis, and others. The show was opened by the Mayoress of Wandsworth, accompanied by the Mayor, who made a few pithy remarks regarding the keeping of cage birds.

The judges were Messrs. Robson, Norman, Pattrick and Frostick, who got through a still day's work in good time for the openlug.

Mr. J. Robson's Classes.

NOR. CL. ETC. YELL. CK. (6): 1, Taylor, very full chest, rather wide and flat skull, grand wing carr., level back, good col. and feather; 2, Collicott, stylish, very nice quality, little too much behind the leg, not so compact as winner; 3, Baker, not yet quite wound up in cond.; vhc, Rippon; hc, Silk; c, Ella. BUFF (11): 1, 2, Rippon, both bonny bulls, former perhaps the stoutest and most fiery in undercol.; 2nd lovely feather, head and finish, two good birds, and will be better yet; 3, Hodder, not quite so large, well moulded, but has a habit of lifting Yorkie fashion, grand feather, nice head; vhc, Ellis; hc, Withers; c, Taylor. TKD. ETC. YELL. (8): 1, Rippon, grizzled head and wing, bonny yell. of lovely feather, stands well across the perch, and is not overloaded with tail, just a wee bit slacked rump; 2, Saunders, rich col., tkd. wing, even better quality than winner, trifle heavier in skull and little more rudder; 3, Bell, grand feather and col., not quite subs. of leaders; vhc, Baker; he, Withers; c, Richardson. BUFF (9): 1, 2, Baker, two bonny birds, the leader richer in undercolour and grand body, bouncing body and fine head; 3, Richardson, sweet bird, scarcely so dense under, good type, rare head, might have a little more bloom; vhc, Johnson; hc, Rippon; c, Bell. YELL. HEN (10): 1, 2, Rippon, clears, 2nd perhaps softer in feather and best qual., grand type and col., we liked much; 3, Silk, grand body, hardly the qual. of first two, neat head and typical; vhc, Baker; hc, Gunnell. BUFF (11): 1, Ellis, cl., very typical, grand rump, level back, but for drooping tail a bit a sweet bird, will be better yet; 2, Rippon, not quite so stout, lovely qual., hardly so full of undercolour, fine and bloomy feather, mealing showing thus early; 3, Baker, var., rare body, short and compact, good front, a nice one; vhc, Rippon; hc, c, Hodder. UNFLIG. YELL. (9): 1, Richardson, good shape, rare head, lovely silvery feather, level col., grand head; 2, 3, Rippon, 2nd heavier in col., tkd. eye, crosses wings a trifle at tips; 3rd trifle smaller, beautiful balance, charming feather; vhc, Collicott; hc, Taylor; c, Allsopp. BUFF (18): 1, Richardson, var., full of col., feathery at thighs, good size and type, nice tone of feather; 2, Allsopp, hardly body enough for a buff, but very full of col. and rare qual.: 3, Saunders, tkd. wing, grand body, short flights and tail, bold chest, grand meal and undercol., fine head, topping bird; vhc, Saunders; hc, Rippon; c, Ellis. NOR. CL. ETC. YELL. CK. (9): 1, Fox, rich col. and qual., nicely modelled, might be a trifle stouter; 2, Mrs. Williams, shorter in body, trifle slack yet, when wound up, should be a nice one; 3, Fleet, shapely, bit open at chest, else nice col. and qual.; vhc, Hoperaft; hc, Simmonds; c, Teasdale. BUFF (10): 1, Teasdale, very nice bird, well shown, might have a wee bit less rudder; 2, 3, Fleet, leader best col. and shape, rare qual.; vhc, Walmsley, Woodcock; c, Tomsett. TKD. ETC. YELL. CK. (5): 1, Evans, var., deep col., rather spare, but grand qual.; 2, Cole, capped and wing mkd., full of qual., and nice in col., nice body; 3, Selby, var., hardly the depth of col. of the other two, but very soft rich bloom, feather of the right texture, just a trifle thin in body; vhc, Coombs. BUFF (6): 1, Cole, heavily var., trifle loose at thighs and open in flights, deep undercolour, fine shapely bird; 2, Tomsett, not so heavily mkd., but closer in feather and neater head, good type; 3, Silom, full body, fails a trifle rump and drops tail; vhc, Teasdale; hc, Woodcock; c, Beavington. HENS (14): 1, Fox, buff, sweet little lady, short and compact, dainty carr., good one; 2, Leech, tkd. buff, not quite so level in model, silky in feather and the right stamp; 3, Silom, cl. buff, larger, full of meal over rich undereol.; vhc, Teasdale, yell., we liked much; hc, Tomsett; c, Evans. UNFLIG. (17): 1, Fox, buff, stout body, good chest, neat head, promising; 2, Leech, buff, smaller, good type, grand feather; 3, Williams, tkd. buff, hardly so stout as leader, but beautiful feather, grand head, rich and lustrous undercolour, a bird we liked much; vhc, Miss Edward; hc, Walmsley; c, Weeks.

CRESTS (8): 1, 3, vhc, Slade, the winner a good green, nice round drooping crest, good length of frontal; 3, var., not quite so good in crest; 2, Day, grizzle, great deal of crest feather in pen; vhc, Lilley; c, Nichols. C.B. (12): 1, Gilbert, var., rare back skull, nice dome and entrance, good length of turn back; 2, Day, nicely cushioned, not quite the quantity of leader; 3, Lilley, green, loses to others in length and density of skull feather; vhc, hc, c, Slade.

A.O.V. (5): 1, 3, Andrews Bros., buff and yellow Cinns., the latter rare body, richly burnished; 2, Cooper, very typical green Yorks, just a trifle weak in neck, else full of "go"; vhc, hc, Mrs. Ballard. LOCAL: 1, Beal; 2, vhc, Mrs. Booth; 3, Miss Brown; hc, Miss Booth; c, Walters Bros.

BORD. CL. OR TKD. YELL. (19): 1, 2, Pratt, two lovely clears, hardly a hair's-breadth between them, lovely finish, delightful feather, as dainty and sleek as Borders should be; 3, Jenkins, almost equal, except perhaps in head, but sweet stamp, perhaps a shade richer in col.; vhc, c, Burton Bros.; hc, Roberts. BUFF (23): 1, 2, Pratt, again two gems, about on a par with the yellows from the same stable, lovely carr., full of qual., daintiest of the dainty; 3, Madagan, very sweet, quite as good in carr., hardly so compact and well folded; ex 3, Jenkins, real Border, bit closer in feather than 3rd, grand carr. and sweet head; vhc, Pratt; hc, Mrs. Salter; c, Bennet. HENS (17): 1, Jenkins, a real Swansea buff, delightfully elegant in deportment, and with dress of the softest silk; 2, 3, Pratt, former a lady in golden dress, sweet in the extreme; vhc, Allen; hc, Madagan; c, Pratt. A.O.V. (13): 1, Jenkins, Cinn., tkd. yell., grand feather, jaunty carr., very clean cut, nice head, a gem; 2, Pratt, four-pointed buff scarcely the outline of the winner, yet lovely feather and nice carr.; 3, Bacon, yell. gr., a gem, feather like glass, rich in col., jaunty in carr., and good outline; vhc, Middleton; hc, Burton Bros.; c, Mrs. Salter. NOV. BUFF (28): 1, Kybert, clear, in point of merit well on the track of the champions, full of Border properties; 2, Jones, var., very rich qual. of feather, not quite so finished in outline; 3, Hobden, cl., lovely feather, grand carr., neat head, well cleaned off, just a trifle weak on head; ex 3, Martin, not quite so clean cut, but a sweet Border; vhc, Harrison; hc, Martin; c, Onslow. YELL. (23): 1, Claydon, rich col., nice carr., not so full of qual. as some; 2, Jones, rather on the stout side, not quite the outline; 3, Snook, very neat one; ex 3, Pegg, very jaunty and quite the equal of some above it; vhc, Green; hc, Marriott; c, Hewett.

LIGHT CAN. HYB. (8): 1, Lawrence, Goldie-Can., as tight as a Java, cl. buff except a wee tk. on centre of head, grand specimen; 2, Lamb, Goldie-Can., mkd. eyes and both sides of tail, stouter in body than winner, rich flush and very compact in feather; 3, Archer, Greenie-Can., grizzled on neck and wings, large, good shape, and very close in feather, good one—hot lot these three; vhc, Gilbert; hc, Gunnell; c, Tams and Son. DK. GOLDF. OR LINNET-CAN. (17): 1, Parlett, romping yell. Goldie-Can., rich flush face, well burnished, a gem; 2, Lawrence, Cinn. Successful start of The Yorkshire Union Season.

Good and Splendidly Managed Show at Great Horton.

The Great Horton O.S. on Oct. 4 held their annual open exhibition of Canaries in the Congregational School, High Street, Great Horton. The entries totalled 365 in 26 classes—a good entry for the opening show of the season. The majority of the show birds are not quite through the moult, therefore we think this was a good start. Mr. John Greaves awarded the prizes and gave general satisfaction. Officials: President, Mr. Fred Self; secretary, Mr. J. Holroyd; treasurers, Messrs. A. Morley and F. Crabtree; assistant secretary, Mr. B. Hainsworth; stewards, Messrs. H. Jennings, W. Ormonroyd, A. Sykes, and A. Jowett. Mr. Fred Self, the president, took charge of all the claims. Other officials were Messrs. A. Hunter, Ellis Self, J. W. Hainsworth, Joe Hainsworth, F. Peace, W. Firth, A. Lister, F. Hodgson, and J. Fieldhouse. Through the good work of these gentlemen the show work was got through in a manner satisfactory to everyone. All the birds were sent away in good time on Saturday, so as to get home the same night. There was great interest taken amongst the fanciers in the winners of the specials and diplomas in CAGE BIRDS Coupon scheme. The winner of the Diploma in the Champion classes, a grand even-mark shown by Mr. A. Lister, changed hands after the show for a large price. The novice diploma went to a fine clear yellow hen exhibited by Mr. W. H. Haulyn. Several other birds were claimed at the show, which evidences how keen are fanciers to own the birds which get the coveted prize tickets. The officials deserve every credit for the excellent arrangements made and the quiet and thorough way in which everything was done that could help forward the success of the fixture or tend to the comfort of the birds.

CRAMLINGTON C.B.S.

Table show held Oct. 1; 18 exhibits were tabled. Messrs. Thurston and Ellison judged. Members gaining most points were S. Wilson, W. Moore, W. Archbold. Another table show next meeting, Nov. 5 We cordially invite new members.—J. R. Chesney Sec., Quarry Lodge.

This grand specimen of the rare even-marked Yorkshire Canary won "Cage Birds" 10/- special for best champion coupon bird at Great Horton Show, also the Diploma of Honour. It was exhibited by Mr. A. Lister, and we understand that after the show it changed hands at a large price.

BARGOED C.B.S.

Meeting held at Parker's Temperance Hotel, Sept 30. Mr. H. Bye chair. Decided to get an able man to give us a lesson on washing and staging as soon as possible, also to make application to join the Welsh C.B.C. Show business held over until next meeting, to give all members a chance to express their opinion. I hope they will all make an effort to attend and bring other fanciers with them, as it is important, and must not be further delayed. Next meeting Oct. 14, 7.30. We shall be pleased to meet all the fanciers in the Rhymney Valley.—E. J. Chisholm.

HORNSEY, WOOD GREEN, C.B.S.

Table show held at headquarters Oct. 1. The Yorks class numbered 24 entries, and there was a grand display of Norwich, Crests, and Borders. The society is forging ahead, both in regard to membership and in quality of stock, and there is prospect of a bumper entry at the annual autumn show. Mr. P. Brooks, the hon. sec., makes a splendid organiser, and he is heartily supported in his efforts by a thoroughly practical committee, the chairman being as enthusiastic as ever. There was a large attendance. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged and made a few congratulatory observations on the show afterwards. Special best in show was won by Mr. Huggins with a topping Yorkshire; and 2nd best by Mr. Griffin with a rare yell. Nor.

YORKS (24): 1, sp, Huggins; 2, hc, Tolfree; 3, c, Jones; vhc, Day. NOR. (8): 1, sp, 3, Griffin; 2, bc, Titchner; vhc, c, Pettitt. CREST AND C.-B.: 1, 2, Jones. BORD. (7): 1, 3, Jones; 2, vhc, hc, c, Warner. BRIT.: 1, 2, 3, Parrish. MULES: 1, Griffin; 2, Titchner.

ISLINGTON F.A.

The 23rd young stock show, held Oct. 4, was a very pleasing success, the excellent room at headquarters being well filled with good-class exhibits. We were glad to hear that the society is going ahead in fine style, with an ever-increasing membership. The cage bird section is a new one, and was, under the circumstances, well supported. The society is anxious to attract cage bird men into the fold and cater well for them. Either the popular sec., Mr. G. Wainwright, or the able assist. sec., Mr. H. A. Brown (74, Effingham Road, Harringay, N.), will be pleased to hear from anyone desirous of joining. Mr. Laceobee won spl for best Canary with a fine Nor.; Mr. Payne spl best Crest; Mr. Bibb spl best Brit. The judge was Mr. F. J. S. Chatterton, and no fault could be found with his awards.

YORKS CL.: 1, 3, Young, very nice buff; 2, res, Dillingham. VAR., ETC.: 1, Young; 2, Dillingham. NOR. CL.: 1, spl, 2, 3, Laceobee. VAR., ETC.: 1, 2, Laceobee; 3, res, vhc, hc, Baker. CREST, ETC.: 1, spl, 2, 3 res, Payne. ROLLER: 1, 2, Baker. GOLDF.: 1, Bibb; 2, Richards. LINNET: 1, spl, 2, Bibb.

GREAT ENTRY OF COUPON BIRDS AT LONGTON.

Keen struggle for the Cash Specials and Diplomas: How a Novice Unluckily Lost: Our Representative has nothing but the highest praise for the Officials and Management.

Sixth annual show held in Town Hall, Oct. 4. The auteroom was originally engaged, but the entry being large, the committee very wisely secured the large room, a course which was very much appreciated by the exhibitors. It is unquestionably a very fine room, large enough to hold a show of treble the size, about the finest we have seen, well lighted in the daytime, while at night it is profusely illuminated with electric light. With so much space at their disposal, the officials were able to stage every bird in a good light, and leave yards of space between the aisles.

The entry was a capital one, nearly reaching 500, which must have been very gratifying to the executive. Of the 48 classes provided, five were cancelled, viz., Yorks. tkd. Bull, A.O.V. Mule, Greenfinch, British Sottbill, and tkd. Yell. Norwich in the Novice Section. Champion Norwich turned up in strong force, 111 in the seven classes, a splendid entry for the first important show of the season, and a grand lot they were. A well-known judge who was present expressed himself to our representative: "They get bigger every year," but while size was so pronounced, quality was well maintained. The outstanding bird in this section was Mr. Victor Williams' clear yell, a bird that did so well as an nullichted last year, he has moulted out a stormer and was awarded spl for best yell. Nor., also CAGE BIRDS Diploma, and was the runner-up for the 10s. cash special for the best Champion Coupon bird. Spl for best Buff went to Mr. Beswick's clear, a very fine specimen indeed.

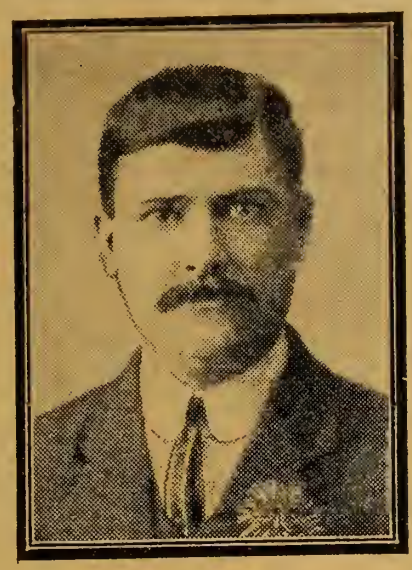
A Disastrous Change of Mind.

The Yorks Section, for some reason or other, was very badly supported, only totalling 41, an average of less than seven per class, one class being cancelled. This seemed quite unaccountable, as the "straight ups" have always been well represented in past years; maybe they are not so well through the moult as the Norwich. Many of those staged showed signs of wanting a little more time. Spl for best Yell. went to the clear of Mr. McDade, a bird of fine length and shape, while spl for best Buff fell to Mr. Ratcliffe's hen in the novice class, a very creditable performance, especially as the exhibitor is a first-year novice, every credit is due to him in beating the old hands. An unfortunate incident happened to this exhibit; it was the owner's original intention to nominate her for the Coupon Competition, but he changed his mind and turned his affection to his other exhibit in the same class (which was cardless), a mistake which probably lost him the Yorks Diploma. Better luck next time, Mr. R.!

Mules, although not very numerous, were certainly a very choice lot, four classes being provided—one being cancelled—the three classes standing averaging eight per class. Several well-known champions toed the mark, and notched another first to their already long list of wins. It was in this section that the winner of the 10s. cash special for the champion bird in connection with CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme was found, Messrs. Tams and Son's well-known lightly marked Greenie-Canary doing the needful.

British were a very fine collection both in number and quality, producing an average of thirteen per class. Goldies were hardly up to high water mark, it being a little too early for them to assume their holiday garb. Linnets made a fine class of 22, the majority being well through the moult. Spl for best British in show went to Mr. Brotherhood's well-known Bramble, which also secured CAGE BIRDS Hard-billed Diploma in the Champion Section.

A Good Response from the Novices.



The open novice section was a fine one; as usual, the novices responded right well to the liberal classification provided for them annually at this fixture, having the same number of classes as the Champion Section. Of the seven Norwich classes scheduled, the ticked yell. was cancelled; the six standing classes produced an average entry of 14, and a splendid collection they were, many being quite capable of holding their own among the "upper ten," although being restricted to a £3 3s Yorks, were better in point of numbers than in the Champion Section, yet did not quite come up to the Norwich, averaging nearly ten per class, while the quality was well maintained.

CAGE BIRDS great Coupon Scheme was in evidence at this fixture, and judging from the way exhibitors have taken it up, there can be no room for doubt as to the immense popularity of this innovation; indeed, no further proof is needed of the manner in which it has "taken on" than the fact that nearly 100 birds were nominated. We had many opportunities for discussing the matter with exhibitors during our stay at the show, and all seemed very eager to pick up one of the cash specials or to win their "heat"—as we heard one competitor express himself—by gaining a diploma to enable them to compete in the grand final at the Palace. The following were the winners of specials and diplomas:—Champion—10s. cash spl. and Mule Diploma, Tams and Son; Green Yorks, G. Elkins; Nor. Victor Williams; Yorks, L. Dykes; Lizard, W. P. Barnes; Brit. Hardbill, A. C. Brotherhood; For., Miss J. W. Blagg. Nov.—Nor., W. Mollard; Yorks. and 10s. spl., F.W. Alcock; Brit. Hardbill, J. Lockett.

Of the management we have nothing but the highest praise, a hard-working committee—which consisted of the following: Messrs. E. Tams, Lovatt, Davies, Barker, Leese, Filkin, Perrins, George, Bagshaw, McMurtrie, Clay, Ratcliffe, Hickman, Peake, Forrest, Roberts, Salt, Dale, Cooper, Wild, Lockett, Walker, James, Degg, Smith and Royles—each doing his best in attending to the comfort of the exhibits, and making things go with the swing which helps very materially in bringing shows to a successful issue. Mr. P. E. Barker had charge of the reins, and although new to such an important post, did very well. Catalogues with awards printed were on sale quite early in the afternoon. Owing to the large entry and to get judging over in good time, Mr. H. Tams was called in to assist Mr. J. H. Roe, the former taking some of the novice classes.

Birtley's First Venture a Success.

The northern show season was inaugurated Oct 4, one of the opening shows being held at Birtley. The progress of this newly formed society has been very rapid, and the committee showed much courage and enthusiasm in determining to launch out by making their first show an open one. However, the event justified their action, for the show was a complete success right through. Much of the society's progress is doubtless due to the hard work of the energetic sec., Mr. S. Lindsay, who appears to be thoroughly determined to bring the society right to the top. He evidently understands the work right through, getting through his duties with regularity and accuracy, and leaving nothing to chance. This, together with his courteous and obliging manner, marks him to be the right man to control the affairs of the society, and we have no doubt that under his skillful guidance the society will progress by leaps and bounds. The other officials of the society are all thorough workers, too, and render Mr Lindsay all possible help. President, Mr. Lance Morris; chairman, Mr. W. Davidson; vice-chair, Mr. J. J. Hodson, committee, Messrs. E. B. Hooper, W. Evans, A. Macdonald, W. MacNay, J. Redpath, J. Davison, and R. W. Boyd, all keen fanciers and doing their best for the good of the show. A word of praise must be given to Mr. W. McNay, who undertook the duties of show manager, and carried out his work to the satisfaction of everybody. The show was held in the large room above the Station Hotel, an ideal place for size, freedom from draught, etc. The entry was no doubt affected to some extent by the show at Chopwell on the same date, yet the birds came up splendidly, totalling about 200, and for a first venture were very satisfactory indeed. Norwich topped the bill with 65 in five classes. Yorkshire totalled 39 in five classes, while Borders brought out 24 in three classes. Each section contained some grand specimens, the Norwich especially being a very nice lot, although owing to the season being yet early there were some birds in each section that were hardly ready. British made a fine display, both in quality and numbers, and several well-known winners were staged, while foreign birds, though not so numerous, attracted a great deal of attention from visitors. The show was well patronised, Tyneside fanciers being strongly in evidence, while the Stanley district also sent a large contingent. Mr. J. Stanger (Pelton Fell) judged.

MERTHYR TYDVIL.

Open show held Oct. 2. Our section, considering that the fixture was so early, came up remarkably well both in numbers and quality, some really good exhibits being staged. The show was an unqualified success, due largely to the efforts of a hardworking committee, who left no stone unturned to bring about the desired result. Our section was capably attended to by Messrs. W. Evans, W. Davies, B. Lewis and J. Jones. The show manager, Mr. Dan Jones, carried out his duties in a very able manner. Mr. J. Thomas, the Secretary, was also a very obliging official. Special for the best cage bird in show was won by Mr. E. Price with a cl. buff Nor. of beautiful type and qual., a bird that was hard to find fault with. Mr. W. J. Harvey took spl. for best Yorks., and the same owner's Clough spl. best Brit. Mr. Ben Davies judged. The show was opened by J. M. Berry, Esq., J.P., who made an admirable speech in performing the function.

A GOOD DISPLAY AT CHOPWELL.

Second annual show held Oct. 3 and 4. Canary classes were well filled, especially the Borders, which had some real good ones among them, the team shown by Mr. Nicholson coming in for special comment. Yorks and Nor. were fair classes, good all-round specimens, but some were scarcely ready yet, and may alter the positions later on. British and Mules, although a choice selection, were rather few in numbers, many of the birds requiring another fortnight or so to finish. The winning Siskin and Linnet were two good ones, and the Bramblefinch shown by Mr. Tomlinson, the worthy sec., was a hot one, staged in tip-top order, exceptionally well forward in condition. Foreigners were a grand lot, the winner being a choice specimen, especially well put down. The arrangements were A1, the hall being very suitable for a cage bird show—plenty of room and light, and staging well fitted up. Mr. Tomlinson, the sec., had everything in apple-pie order, and was ably assisted by a band of willing helpers. Mr. A. Brown judged Canaries, and Mr. J. W. Bruce the remainder, and their awards were well received.

The Critique.

The Mystic Skeleton.—Latest mystifying conjuring trick; anyone can do it, no skill required. A jointed figure of a skeleton, 14in. in height, will dance to music, lie down, and perform various gyrations and movements, while the operator may be at any distance from it. May be examined by the spectators, and when handed back the operator simply puts it on a chair or table, when it seemingly becomes endowed with life, and begins to move at the command of the operator, who may be in any part of the room. It is similar to the wonderful skeleton used by Prof. Pepper for public exhibitions, parlour and social gatherings, schools, etc. Never fails to create a sensation; last for years. Price 7d., three for 1/1, with full directions. Send for one to-day, and astonish your friends or the public. Large number of testimonials received. —Mr. H. C., near Truro, writes:—"The Mystic Skeletons" are very satisfactory, and cause great amusement." It is posted free, from—F. Young, 5, Misterton, Somerset. (922)

Advt. Manager, "Cage Birds"

ALWAYS USE OUR DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit system should be insisted upon

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which me must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

NOTICE TO BIRD PURCHASERS.

It is advisable that all newly-purchased birds, especially foreign birds, be kept isolated from established stock for a week or ten days, until by their condition they establish the fact that they are thoroughly healthy.

ANOTHER RECORD

During last season I sold nearly 800 pairs of clapnets; all were sent on approval on the distinct understanding that if they were in the slightest degree unsatisfactory I would immediately refund the whole of the purchasers' money. Despite this fact, not one pair were returned, nor was one single complaint received, but on the other hand, I received (and published) more testimonials than all other advertisers put together. This fact alone should prove to you who is the right man to supply really serviceable catching appliances. Clap-nets made from superline thread netting, ¾ inch mesh, 3 yards long, 4/ pair; 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. All guaranteed 5½ feet deep and 4 feet fly. These clap-nets consist of two nets to the pair, and each net is guaranteed exact measurement as above. Price includes all pegs, poles, and lines, ready for immediate use, and are guaranteed the only nets on the market that are properly armed or reinforced all round. Loose netting, as used in above nets, made specially for bird catching, 7 feet deep, ¾-inch mesh, 3d. yard; ditto, 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12 feet deep, 5d. yard; all post free. Extra stout netting, ¾-inch mesh, 10 feet deep, 5d. yard; Sparrow nets, fitted on 19 feet bamboo poles, 6/6; ditto, on 14 feet poles, 5/6 each; self-acting spring net traps, latest and best, 24 inches by 18, 1/2 each; ditto, 18 inches by 14, 10d. each, post free; single trap cages, 6d. each, 5/- dozen; double traps, 1/- each, 9/- dozen; treble traps, 1/3 each, 12/- dozen; all these have separate compartment for call-bird; self-acting and self-setting trap cages (reg. "IT WILL BE OF GREAT SERVICE TO ME."

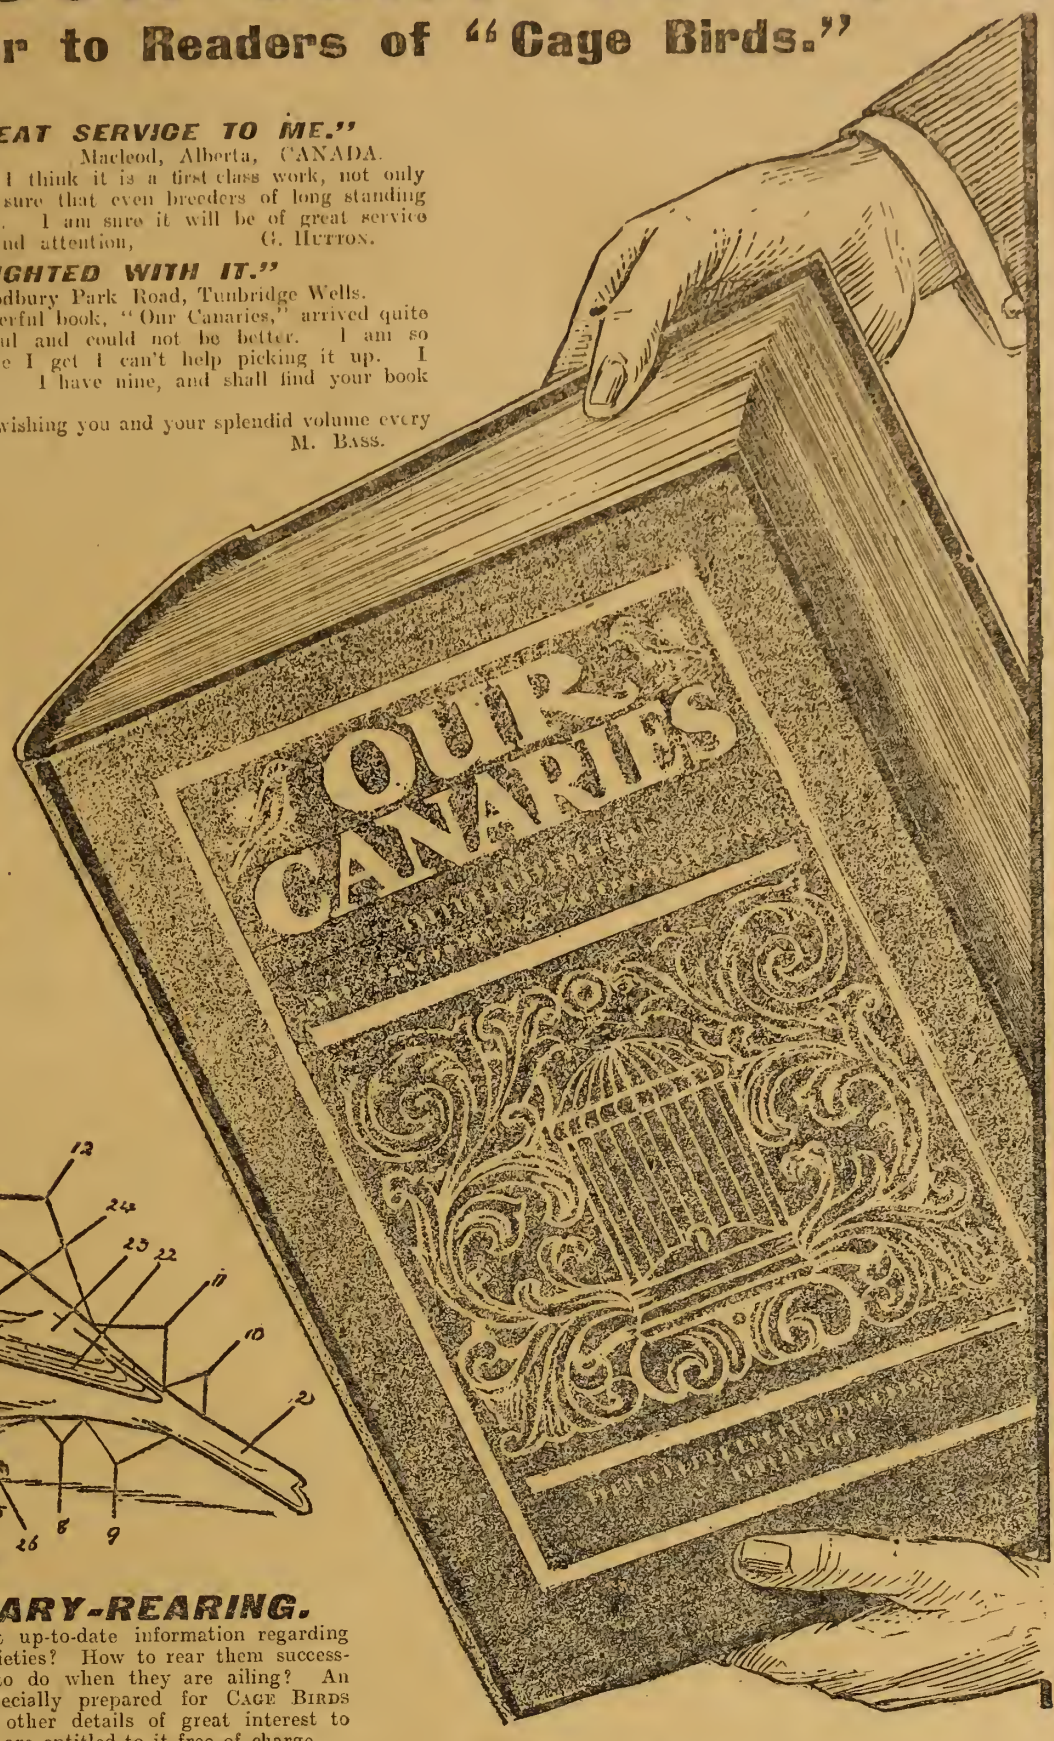
Macleod, Alberta, CANADA.

Dear Sir,—

Book received in good condition. I think it is a first class work, not only for amateurs and beginners, but I am sure that even breeders of long standing will find it of great benefit at all times. I am sure it will be of great service to me. Thanking you for your kind attention, G. Hutton.

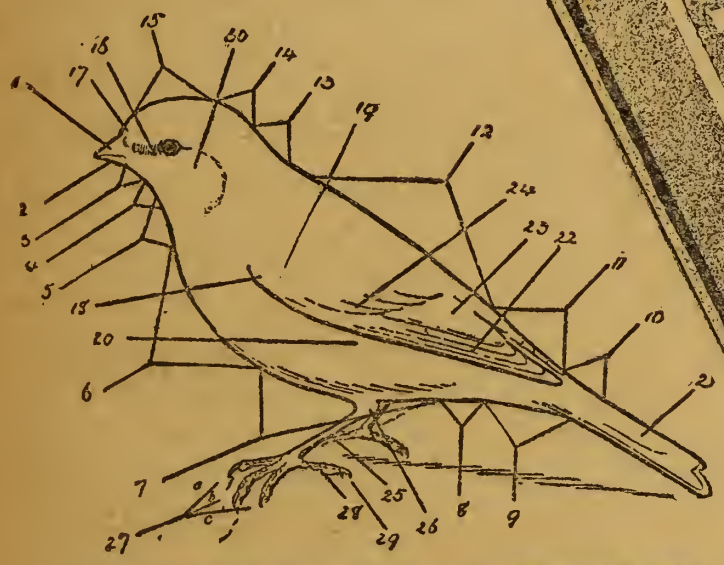
"I AM SO DELIGHTED WITH IT."



54, Woodbury Park Road, Tunbridge Wells.

Dear Sir,—

I am pleased to say that your wonderful book, "Our Canaries," arrived quite safe on Saturday. It is just beautiful and could not be better. I am so delighted with it. Every spare minute I get I can't help picking it up. I keep a few Canaries as pets at present. I have nine, and shall find your book most useful.



Please accept my many thanks, and wishing you and your splendid volume every success.

DO YOU SHOW?

If so, don't miss this special offer. To prove to all fanciers the value of our famous Revivo, a tonic which no fancier should be without, we are giving absolutely free to all purchasers of our medicines to the value of one shilling or over, as advertised below in this column, a bottle of Ditchfield's famous Revivo. There is absolutely nothing to equal Revivo for restoring health and vigour to birds after showing. Fanciers, it is a long-felt want, and we are confident you will be satisfied with the results. It is not a cure-all, nor an ordinary medicine, but as a pick-me-up for birds that are run down, and for weak and delicate birds, this tonic is absolutely unequalled. We have confidence that any fancier using this tonic once will never be without it again. Sold in 7d. and 1/1 bottles, postpaid per return: Frank Ditchfield, Bird Specialist, Oldham. (939)

SOFT MOULT — NOT SINGING

Wanted, a trial; we are confident our medicines will give satisfaction. Ditchfield's Tonic Drops are a guaranteed cure for soft moult, going light, dullness, feather plucking, not singing, diarrhoea, and inflammation of the bowels. For birds that are stuck in the moult and for moulting British birds, this medicine is invaluable; sold in 7d., 1s. 1d., and 2s. bottles. For bronchitis, wheezing, hoarseness, and inflammation of the lungs, get Ditchfield's Special Lung Tonic, also in 7d. and 1s. 1d. bottles. The grandest medicine ever introduced for chest and lung affections in cage birds. As an advertisement, we will send a 7d. bottle of each medicine for 1s., or two 1/1 bottles for 1/9. All medicines post paid at our risk. Also two valuable seed recipes, how to feed Linnets and Rollers for contest singing, given free to all purchasers of our medicines: Frank Ditchfield, Bird Specialist, Oldham.

SOFTBILL keepers, take expert advice before proceeding to buy and keep the larger species of Insectivorous birds. You will then have no trouble in keeping your pets in the best of health. This advice is offered in "Nutshell No. 26," by H. J. Fulljames. It is a wonderful little work, dealing with most varieties in a highly interesting and instructive manner. Foods and their preparation, and the various styles of cages also receive full attention. Can you breed Mealworms? This booklet tells you how. Post free, 2½d., from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. Look at our list of agents; call on the nearest and get it for 2d.

ARE YOU LOOKING

for birds of tip-top quality at rock bottom price? Birds that are thoroughly healthy, well on hard seed, and really worth keeping in a cage? If so, just give me one small trial order, and I venture to think that no matter how hard you are to please, the result will be entirely satisfactory to you. In the unlikely event of the birds not realising your every expectation, you cannot lose one penny, as I send all birds on approval at my risk, and unless perfectly satisfactory, they have only to be returned, and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. I am the originator of approval system in connection with field birds, and during whole 22 years of my business career, have never traded on any other terms. I now have an enormous stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, all netted birds, in pink of health and feather, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/-; specially selected larger cock Goldfinches, to moult for show, muling or singing, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 16/-; few clean moulted exhibition specimens, in superb condition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, every bird clean moulted, with nut brown backs, and rose-red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; large picked birds, guaranteed in song for muling, or contest singing, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; handsome lot cock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; picked yellows, for muling, 1/- each; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock or hen Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; magnificent lot clean moulted healthy Siskins, over 300 in stock, all thoroughly on hard seed, and in superb condition; cocks, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; specially picked exhibition specimens 3/-, 4/- and 5/- each; hens, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/6; splendid lot of plump, healthy, cock Larks, every bird warranted a cock, not half hens or skeletons, 8d each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked, steady young cocks for singing, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/- each. Special travelling cages, 3d. per 3 birds extra. Please note, although my advertisements are extensively copied, I have no connection whatever with any other man in the trade, and I claim to have more Worcestershire birds through my hands than all other advertisers together. No birds are sent out until feeding thoroughly well on the usual hard seed mixture, and sex is guaranteed in every instance. If you cannot sex birds yourself, it would please me for you to have my birds examined by a competent judge, so that you would know you are having what you pay for, as what is more annoying to a man, after he has been keeping a bird for months, waiting for it to sing, to find it turns out a hen. I have 22 years' reputation in the bird trade, and that reputation is behind every bird sent out.

Genuine Trained

Hartz Mountain Rollers, direct from the Hartz Mountains in Germany. 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/- each; also a limited quantity of English bred. Hens, same strains, 2/6, 3/6, 5/-. Hartz Cocks, 4/6, 5/6, 6/6.; Hens, 1/6, 2/-. Pairs, matched for breeding, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6. Cages, 3d. extra. These birds are offered without any sensational "gush" and foolish exaggeration.

For all Cages and German Bird-room Appliances see my catalogue. Beware of the unsexed cocks offered by "land sharks" that are only common hens.

If you desire to know all about these interesting little birds, you should send for "Profitable Canary Breeding as I actised in Germany," by Albert Rettich. This is, in my opinion, the best and most reliable little work ever published on Hartz Mountain Roller. Price, paper cover, 9d.; cloth gilt, 1/3. Can only be purchased from the sole owner of copyright and publisher:

YOU'VE NEVER KNOWN

the real merit of a Roller's song unless you have heard a Weber's Leipzig Roller, as imported by me. Instead of having one or two long drawn-out railway-whistle rolls, same as the ordinary Roller, their soug consists of a splendid variety of musical changes entirely free from harshness and monotony. I have on hand a very large stock of cocks picked from first round of young, all are in free song, day and gaslight, with hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, gong and flute notes, and jug-jug of Nightingale, etc., price 6/6 and 7/6 each; hens, guaranteed same strain, 1/9 each, 3/- couple; singing-box cages, 1/6 each; special Roller singing-cabinets, with loose fronts and folding doors, 2/6 and 4/- each; special travelling cages 3d. All birds are safely and warmly packed with food and water for 48-hour journey, and sent on full week's trial at my risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash, or same is deposited with Editor, and unless bird gives fullest satisfaction and realises your every expectation, the whole of the money is promptly returned. Please note following few unsolicited testimonials: "Jarrow, Oct. 9. Sir,—Received bird all right. He's a beauty, and if he turns out as good as he looks I shall be more than satisfied. Yours, Fred Bell." "Holly Bush, Maxwell Road, Bournemouth. Oct. 10th. Sir,—Birds arrived in splendid condition. I am delighted with them and shall remember you when ordering again. Yours, J. Stead." "7, Church Street, Gowerton, Oct. 10th. Sir,—Please send price list. I was in Gowerton Station on 8th, and there was a Canary in a cage sent from you to Mr. Thomas, of Waunarllwydd. He was singing beautiful, even shut up in the dark. I couldn't see him, but knew it was a Roller.—Yours, W. Lloyd." "188 Rectory Road, Gateshead, Oct. 10th. Sir,—Bird arrived safe on 7th Inst., and gives every satisfaction. Yours, C. Rust." "12, Brockwell Street, Quebec, Co. Durham, Oct. 11th. Sir,—Bird arrived in good health, and I am highly satisfied with him. Thanking you for honest dealing. Yours, G. Johnson." All birds are stamped on wing, "Hans Weber, Leipzig," and I am only importer of this strain so send your orders to the fountain head if you would ensure getting a genuine Leipzig Roller.

Club Reports.

CHESTER C.B.S.

Monthly meeting, held Boot Inn, Eastgate Street, Mr. F. C. Parker presided over a good attendance. Decided to purchase four cups of patterns on view, to be won outright at annual members' show, Nov. 22nd, for most points, with four nominated birds. Cups to be awarded to Yorks., Norwich, Brit. and novice classes. There is still time for fanciers to join and compete, and entry fee 8d. per cage.—R. L. G. Simpson, 35, Clare Avenue, Hoole, Chester.

WINSFORD AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Committee, October 10th. Met to discuss second annual open show. Decided to hold it Wed. 26th Nov. It was also carried that membership radius be thrown open. Members accepted on payment of 2s. 6d. to the sec.; intending members should send on fee as early as possible. It was also moved that we advertise show in CAGE BIRDS the last two weeks. Next meeting Friday, Oct. 18th. We are now in the happy position of having a small balance in band.— S. S. Brooks, Sec.

REDCAR C.B.S.

Meeting held Crown and Anchor, Sept. 27. Mr. Bray presided over a capital attendance. Proposition that we should hold a young stock show was negatived. Annual members' show fixed for New Year's Day in Cleveland Hall, if at liberty. Classes —Yorks Unflig., ditto hen, ditto rung, Nor. Unflig., ditto hen, ditto rung, A.O.V. Can., Mule or Hyb., Linnet, A.V. Brit., Novice Yorks Unflig., ditto hen, Nor. Unflig., ditto hen. Sixpence per cage, prize money on sliding scale. The names of several judges were suggested, and the Sec. was requested to write same.—C. L. Mallory, Hon. Sec.

ANNFIELD PLAIN C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 13, at Mr. Hanninghan's, Mr. S. Foster chair, with a good turn out of members. Messrs. Boyle and Robinson, British bird enthusiasts, were elected members. As next monthly meeting date falls on Stanley open show day, it was decided to meet the Thursday night following. Table show, same night, with good entry, and some good exhibits. Mr. J. Emmerson, Stanley, judged, and gave every satisfaction. NOR. YELL.: 1, 2, Foster; 3, Williams. YORKS., YELL.: 1, Bentick; 2, 3, Foster. BORDER YELL.: 1, Peart. A.O.V.: 1, 2, Knowles. LINNET: 1, Bentick. REDPOLL: 1, Elliot; 2, 3, Foster. A.O. BRIT.: 1, Bentick; 2, Elliott; 3, Humphrey.—R. Peart, Sec.

TREDEGAR C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 9, Silver Grill, The Circle, Tredegar. Mr. E. Powell, chair. Present, Messrs. J. Griffiths, D. Davies, R. F. Griffiths, W. Woodall, G. Thomas, J. Harding, W. R. Lewis, W. Thomas, G. Bennett, E. J. Bevan, T. Harris, W. B. Watkins. Four new members were elected. Schedule was presented before going to press, and special prizes alloted. Sec. reported that members had collected 26 specials in addition to CAGE BIRDS coupon specials. Schedules will be ready in about a fortnight. Admission tickets have been sent to members. Any member overlooked, kindly notify sec. Members who have not paid annual subs. are requested to do so as early as possible.—W. B. Watkins, Sec.

STANLEY VICTORIA CLUB

Meeting held Oct. 13, Mr. G. Lane chair. Schedule for annual show was confirmed. Specials were promised by Messrs. Herron, Davison, and Hall, which brings total up well, and we hope to get more. We were very pleased to have one of our late members, Mr. E. Forsdick, now of Nottingham, amongst us for the week-end, and he is looking as if his change of abode is agreeing very well with him. The East Stanley Workmen's Club have built a grand hall on their club premises, and they are intending holding a show in January. They will invite members of clubs in Stanley to show, to try and make the first show a huge success. It is hoped that the fanciers of Stanley will make a bumping entry to show their appreciation of the kindness extended to them by the club committee.—R. Peart, Sec.

COLINTON AND CURRIE PARISHES O.S.

Meeting held in Drill Hall, Juniper Green, Oct. 4, President, Mr. Begbie, chair. Secretary gave a financial report of the year's working so far, showing a balance in favour of the Society of £19. The report was enthusiastically received. Pres. gave a report of an interview he and Sec. had with Dr. Fowler. Dr. Fowler had consented to give a cup for best Norwich in show. A vote of thanks given to Dr. Fowler. Sec. intimated that he had been successful in securing yet another cup, the donor being Mr. J. J. Yellowlees, Colinton, to go to the best British or Mule, and he also received a very hearty vote of thanks. This now makes 4 cups, and only the 2nd year of the Society. Hope Cup for best Scotch Fancy, Mitchell Cup for best Border, and the two as above. Sec. intimated that Mr. Mitchell had granted a gold badge to go with his cup, and it was decided that Mr. Bruce's prize should consist of two other gold badges, and the Society provide the fourth. Sec. had a good selection of medals for the members to choose from. A goodly number of specials were notified, and with those already intimated we have over 60 specials. After a short discussion regarding the show, an enthusiastic meeting closed with everyone determined to do their best to make the show a great success. At the close entry forms were handed out.—Jas. Napier, Sec.

CITY OF BRADFORD O.S.

Meeting held October 11, at Flying Dutchman Hotel, before a moderate attendance; 20 judges were selected for the Yorkshire Union shows for 1914-15, after all those nominated had received due consideration.—W. Hellwell, Sec.

RUNCORN B.B.A.

Meeting held at headquarters, Coron Room, Mr. Guy in the chair; a good number present. Two new members made, Messrs. Ratcliffe and Tomlinson. Decided that entries close on Monday night, and please will ticket sellers kindly let me know at next meeting, November 7th, how they are going on.—E. Rone, Sec.

LANCASHIRE C.A.

Decided that our patronage be given to Manchester (Belle Vue), and Nottingham. Still open to grant patronage to more shows. The subscription is 2s. 6d., so all intending members must send in their names to me at once. Last season's members may nominate their birds for Manchester, then forward subs. Please see schedule.—J. Hampshire, Sec.

NORTHERN BORDER & S.F.C.C.

Monthly meeting, Oct. 6, Mr. W. Smith in the chair. Mr. G. Chambers, Wallsend, was elected a member. Proposed, that table show be held next meeting, four classes each section. Champion and novice, class 1; cl. or mkd. yell., 2; ditto buff, 3; Green or Cinn., 4, hen. Judges, Messrs. W. Affleck and Potts. A subscription list was opened to buy special for the novice gaining most points over the next three table shows. Seven and six was contributed at meeting; any member wishing to send contribution can do so.—M. C. Potts, Sec.

WEST OF SCOTLAND O.S.

Meeting held in Nelson's Temperance Hotel, Mr. W. Wood, Vice-president, chair, and a large attendance. Chairman called upon Mr. Roberts, Rutherglen, to give his washing exhibition. Mr. Roberts thereupon showed to the members his method of handling the birds when washing, and after answering various questions, he was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. The new cups on view for British, Mules, and Yorkshires were greatly admired, and should give a fillip to next show. Vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the meeting.—W. Hutchison, Sec.

LEYTON C.B.A.

Monthly meeting held at Grange Park Hall, Oct. 8, Mr. Bartlett chair, and a good muster of members and friends to see the washing competition. Business prevented Mr. J. S. Clarke from being present, so Mr. C. H. Bennett was elected to judge in his place. There were three competitors, Mr. Evans being the winner. Afterwards a very interesting discussion on the various methods of washing and drying the birds filled up the rest of the evening, and a vote of thanks to Mr. Bennett brought a most enjoyable meeting to a close.—A. W. Farmer, Hon. Assist. Sec.

CITY OF BIRMINGHAM C.B.S.

Monthly meeting, held at Crown Hotel, Hill Street, October 1, Mr. de Maillet chair. The members' show on Oct. 22 claimed first attention, and Mr. Bastock was elected judge, owing to Mr. Roe being otherwise engaged. A foreign class was added and a collection for specials met with a good response. Entries must be in secretary's hands by 20 inst. Classification for open show, drawn up by the committee, was discussed, and several classes added. Mr. Max Jacquemin was appointed judge for Roller section, and the services of Mr. W. C. Wells retained to assist Mr. Robson in other classes if necessary. Entry fees and prize-moneys had to be left until next meeting, and members are requested to attend.—J. H. Jones, Hon. Sec.

SHEFFIELD O.S.

Monthly meeting, held Rose and Crown Hotel, Oct. 7th. In connection with the great all England show, Nov. 7th and 8th, everything is working towards this being the greatest ever held in Sheffield, or possibly the North. The full prize-money in every class, if only one entry, is going to prove a very great draw. Our treasurer, Dr. Craig, made a splendid offer respecting the members' entries, which should cause them to make a record. Providing the members' entries (outside the committee) average 4 per member, be will make them a very handsome reward. What the doctor says, he means, and I trust members will make a bumping entry, and show their appreciation of his magnificent offer. Decided that all members post their entries in the usual way to the secretary. Any member wishing to have show posters, can do so by applying to Mr. J. Mace, Exchange Street, Sheffield.—J. A. T. Woodall, Press Corres.

NORTHERN BRIT. MULE & F.B.C.

Monthly meeting, September 24th. Chairman, Mr. Pettersson, presided over a good attendance. A letter was read from Mr. Hutchinson, enclosing 4s., our share of balance from annual presentation of prizes in connection with the Northern Specialist Clubs. Decided to have table show at our next meeting. Classes: 1, Linnet; 2, A.O.V. Hardbill, all birds to be field-moulted in these classes; 3, A.O.V. foreign. Decided that all exhibitors judge same, but no member be allowed to judge his own birds. Birds receiving highest number of votes to be declared the winner; the rest in rotation. Prize-money to be paid, three entries or less, 1 prize; under 7, 2 prizes; 7 or more, 3 prizes, at the rate of 3, 2, 1; and that we have six monthly table shows. Specials for same to be left over until next meeting. Messrs. J. Davidson and E. Hooper were elected members.—W. Curry, Sec.

WIMBLEDON C.B.S.

The chief feature of the monthly meeting, held Oct. 6, at Mr. John ton's Rooms, 6, The Broadway, and presided over by Mr. W. H. Stoakley, was a most interesting and carefully prepared lecture on "The effect of age and other conditions on the sex of young birds," by Miss F. M. Durham. There was one nomination for membership; and the sec., Mr. H. Smith, reported on the progress of the arrangements for the annual show to be held at the end of the month, and announced that the Mayor had written to say it would afford him and the Mayoress much pleasure to open the show, and enclosing £1 1s. towards the expenses. Miss Clare, of Hill Road, kindly offered to display the special prizes, and this offer was gratefully accepted. It was decided there should be a judging competition for Yorkshires at the Nov. meeting. Miss Durham then gave her lecture, a report of which appears elsewhere. A very interesting discussion followed, in which many of those present took part, and a very enthusiastic vote of thanks was accorded Miss Durham for the trouble she had taken.

The Clapham and District C.B.A. wishes to thank its numerous supporters for making its show a great success again this year, writes Mr. A. C. Askew. All prize-money in open classes has been paid; will anyone overlooked please write me?

Ilkeston show this year, writes Mr. T. Smith, hon. sec., will be held on Friday and Saturday, instead of Saturday and Monday as hitherto. There is a printer's error in schedule; Class 3 should read Nor. Uneven Mkd. or Variegated.

I have sent out Rotherham show schedules to all last year's exhibitors, writes Mr. B. Bailey, the sec.; any exhibitors overlooked should please send me a postcard, or they can enter from this week's CAGE BIRDS. There is a grand classification.

Old Shildon Workmen's Club C.B.S. has secured the services of Mr. H. W. Battye as judge for the annual show, Nov. 14 and 15, and as we have a good schedule we hope fanciers will give us their support, writes Mr. J. H. Elwell, the sec.

Our schedules, writes Mr. T. Arnott, Sec. Kirkcaldy C.B.S., have been sent to all our usual exhibitors. Several complaints reached us last year after our show that some of our annual competitors had no schedule sent them. Should the like happen this year, will fanciers kindly write me at once.

The two novice Norwich classes are numbered wrongly in our schedule, writes Mr. H. Hill, sec. Bradford East O.S.; they should read Class 32 and Class 33. A valuable special will be given for most points in the Yorks. novice classes, the Bradford East silver rose bowl for the best unflighted Yorks, bred by exhibitor in champion classes, and a few very good specials will be given in addition to the above. The committee of management appeal for a record entry.

Twitterings.

We hear that Mr. A. Wellings (Prescot) will judge Ambleside show, Nov. 27.

All prize-money has been paid out for Gillingham Show, writes Mr. J. Hyde, Sec.

I have severed my connection with the Glasgow and Western Counties C.B.S., writes Mr. Walter Connelly, the late secretary.

We have a letter lying at the office for Mr. C. Martin, of New Southgate. If he will kindly send full address, it shall be forwarded.

We are asked to notify the following change of address: Mr. F. Paling, from Paisley to 5, West Park, Maxweltown, Dumfries.

Mr. J. Webster is giving 2s. 6d. for best bird in class 17, and Mr. J. E. Taylor 2s. 6d. for best in class 38, these being omitted from schedule, writes Mr. B. Bailey, sec., Rotherham C.B.S.

OBITUARY.

It is with regret, writes Mr. G. H. Barnwell, Hon. Sec. Harrogate C.B.S., that I have to announce the death of the mother of our respected chairman, Mr. J. H. Walker. Our sympathy is extended to Mr. Walker and his father and sisters in their sad bereavement.

The Right Hon. G. W. Palmer.

I regret to announce the death of the Right Hon. G. W. Palmer, who for many years has been president of this society, writes Mr. W. H. Pyke, Sec., Reading C.B.S. At our last show both Mr. and Mrs. Palmer spent over an hour in looking over the exhibits, and expressed themselves as very pleased with the show.

Mr. W. Wilkinson (Clitheroe).

It is with the deepest regret that I have to announce the death of the oldest member of our society, Mr. W. Wilkinson, which occurred very suddenly on Oct. 7th, writes J. Southworth, Sec., Clitheroe C.B.S. He was a true fancier and one who was willing to lend a helping hand, or give advice to any young fancier who required it. He will be greatly missed, especially by the members of the Clitheroe and District Society, he having been a show steward for a good number of years, and our deepest sympathy is with his wife and family in their sad bereavement.

Sheffield O.S. is paying full prize-money, irrespective of entries at the show, Nov. 7, and 8; there are 123 specials.

We note that Mr. Pimm, of Birmingham, is in his advertisement of this week making a special offer respecting the packing of wire fronts ordered from him.

Will members of the Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C. kindly note that owing to a printer's error, classes 15-16 should read clear or ticked instead of clear, writes Mr. J. Gibbons, hon. sec. Wolverhampton show.

The first prize Canary-Bullfinch Hybrid at Clapham show should have read Howick (not "Homer") as in report, writes Mr. H. Howick (Midhurst). I am very pleased with your fine report.

Schedules for Dulwich and Peckham show have been posted to all exhibitors at the late L.C.B.A., Crystal Palace, and Clapham shows; copies on application to L. J. Richardson, 91, Union Rd., Rotherhithe.

Please extend our entries till Saturday's post-mark. Our entries are very scarce at present, write Messrs. Hall and Joiner, secs., Portsmouth and S. Counties C.B.S. (See advt. published last week).

In our schedules class 14 should read "Yellow or Buff hen, unflighted, open," and rule 18 has been cancelled, writes Mr. E. Thomas, sec. Upper Rhondda C.B.S. Entries are coming in and we are looking forward to a very successful show. Exhibitors not having received schedules should kindly apply.

Pleased to tell you prospects look rosy, and am hoping we shall beat record at our show, writes Mr. H. Smith, sec. Wimbledon C.B.S. We are obliged to extend entries till Saturday, but I fear this has come to be looked upon as the usual thing now. Up till time of writing we have only 400—long way from the expected 1,000, but am hopeful we shall manage it.

Mr. J. Sheppard (Small Heath) hon. sec. and treasurer of the Midland Counties Yorks. C.C., owing to pressure of business has been compelled to relinquish his post, and I have consented to act in his stead pro tem., writes Mr. Wells (Helmside, Erdington, Birmingham). Being the originator of the club I feel sure that I can rely upon the confidence and support of the members. I take this opportunity of mentioning that subscriptions and donations towards special prize funds will be gladly received.

Entries Extended.

Portsmouth and S. Counties C.B.S. to Oct. 19, Stamford to Oct. 20 last post, Abertillery to Oct. 20 first post, Coventry Godiva. to last post Oct. 25.

Rotherham Show Date.

Rotherham C.B.S. open show is being held this year on Oct. 24 and 25. Will fanciers kindly note this, as by a printer's error it appears in our Show Guide as Oct. 25 and 27.

Like Hot Cakes!

Mr. J. W. Metcalfe (Liverpool) writes: "I have sold all of Mrs. Deacon's Cinnamon Canaries, including the winners, to the Rev. B. Nume, of Harrington, so kindly stop my advertisements concerning them."

Where Old England Scores.

I have been in every state in the Union, and have had every opportunity of seeing the birds they have here, but give me a Lintie or a Mavis to even the Mocking Bird, writes Mr. J. George (Brigham, Utah, U.S.A.).

The Judge at Paignton.

The Judge at Paignton (Torbay O.S.) show on Oct. 29 is Mr. F. Easterling, the well-known and respected metropolitan fancier. We regret that in our show guide, Mr. Ellwood's name was inadvertently given.

Norwich P.C. Annual Meeting.

The annual general meeting of the Norwich Plainhead Club will be held at Manchester show, Belle Vue, Oct. 25. Any member wishing to bring any motion before the meeting kindly forward same to me, so that I can put it on the agenda, writes Mr. F. Cunliffe, sec.

A Search for New Quarters.

Owing to the Drill Hall being in the hands of the painters, we have been forced to look for another hall, and have been successful in securing the United Free Church Hall for our show on Nov. 1 at Juniper Green, writes Mr. Jas. Napier, sec. Colinton and Currie Parishes O.S.

Remembering His Old Friends.

I have just received the sum of £1 from Mr. A. Malcolmson (New Zealand) for special prizes at our annual show, writes Mr. G. Marlin, sec. Hamilton Cadzow Oak C.B.S. This is the third time he has sent since he left Glasgow in January, 1911. We hope to have a fine show this year.

Attractions at Wimbledon.

Miss Durham has promised to exhibit (not for competition) on the first day of Wimbledon show only, writes Mr. H. Smith, the hon. sec., a Mule bred from a Venezuelan Siskin (believed to be Chrysomitris cucullata) and an ordinary Canary. The Mayor and Mayoress have kindly consented to open the show at 4 p.m. on the Tuesday (Oct. 21st).

Bournemouth's Gift to Exhibitors.

The Bournemouth C.B.A. has had prepared a very handsome "Certificate of Merit" in green and gold, size 13 by 9½ inches, a copy of which is to be presented to special prize-winners at the forthcoming show (Nov. 11 and 12). These certificates are well worthy of being framed, and are embellished with pictures of birds; they should prove a great attraction to exhibitors.

Our "Guide" to the Shows.

Will fanciers kindly make the following additions and corrections to the Show Guide published last week: Paignton show, judge Mr. F. Easterling (not Ellwood); Rotherham show, dates Oct. 24 and 25 (not 25 and 27); Vale of Leven show, add to judges, Mr. W. Webster; at Sittingbourne show, Nov. 12-13 there will be 40 classes, judge Mr. G. Gardner. The judges for Hamilton Cadzow Oak, Nov. 8, are Messrs. W. Watson, W. Mossie, and W. Clark; not those whose names are printed in the guide. Judges for Chester-le-Street are Messrs. Dixon and Hands; not Dixon and Holden. Mr. J. Goodfellow will judge at Blairgowrie, Nov. 22.

For Your Surplus Birds.

Fanciers with surplus birds for disposal should note that at the L. and P.O.S. members' show held Oct. 22 and 23, in the Holborn Town Hall, three open selling classes are provided, and the officials are hopeful that plenty of sales will result therefrom. The prizes are 10s., 5s., and 2s. 6d. in each class, the entry fee 1s. 6d. each cage. The classes are (25) Canary or Mule not exceeding in value 25s. (26) ditto 15s. (27) Pairs not exceeding 35s. Entries must be posted at once to Mr. Law, hon. sec., Brimley House, Woodhouse Road, N. Finchley. The show will be open after one o'clock on Wednesday (Oct. 22) and the officials hope to see plenty of visitors.

THE MASTER SINGER OF THE CANARY TRIBE

By J. TOMLINSON.

How to keep the Roller Canary in health, to breed for pleasure and profit, and train or exhibition.

ON the other hand, should the feeding hen lay first, she should be allowed to sit her eggs until a clutch from the others can be substituted. It would be very risky to make the change if she has been sitting for more than a week, as the majority of hens will sit only for three weeks; after this time they begin to get restless, and are liable to desert the nest at any time.

In this method of using feeding hens, three nests of youngsters can be taken from one pair in about the time that it would occupy to take two, were each hen allowed to sit and rear her own youngsters. Another advantage, and one of considerable importance, is, should the mated hen prove to be an indifferent or bad feeder, in the second round. To be more explicit, instead of the second round, I should say when she is allowed to incubate her own second clutch of eggs. There is the consolation of having some of her youngsters being well reared by the foster-mother. It is also advantageous in getting the breeding over, and the old birds back again in the flights to recuperate before the moulting season commences.

The Stimulation of Sunshine.

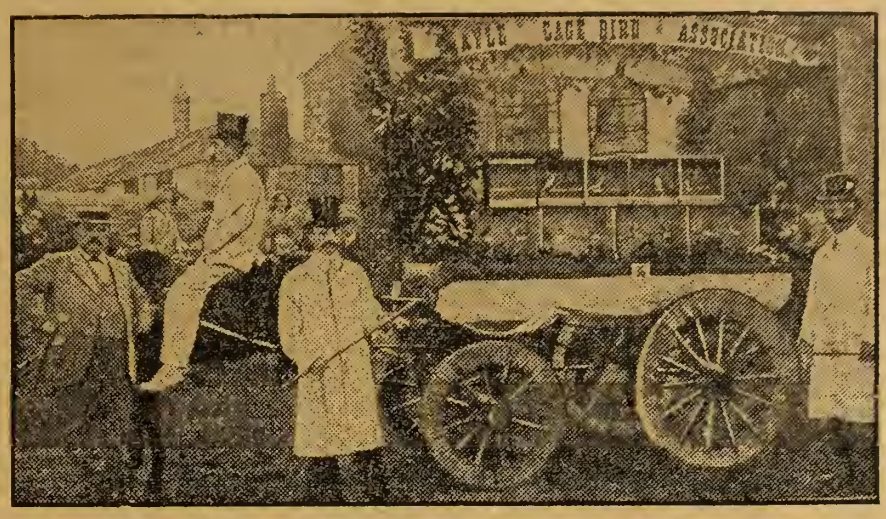
To revert to the conditions under which the birds have been kept during the winter; with regard to those from the cold room, we have to await, to a great extent, congenial weather conditions. One or two weeks of warm sunshine, in addition to the previous good yet judicious feeding the birds will have received, will do wonders into bringing them forward; and they should then be put together for breeding. If necessary, a little artificial heat may be used during the night, and also in the daytime, should a snap of cold weather prevail at the time the cocks are fertilising the eggs. Where birds go to rest very early in the season an artificial light should be provided, either at night or early in the morning, as the youngsters must not go without food through the many hours of darkness which intervene between dusk and dawn.

It will be found generally that the first or second week in April will be a suitable time to commence breeding, for the days will then be getting longer and warmer, and the birds will, as a rule, be in a good condition. It is necessary that they should be so, or nothing will result but an endless round of squabbling. Should any doubt arise as to their condition, they should not be put together until the hen evinces her desire, either by commencing to build a nest, or by her calls for the cock.

Be Careful with the Feeding.

The staple diet when the birds are put together may either be canary and rape seed, or a mixture of seeds; but not the mixture of condition seed as previously recommended, as this would be too nutritious. It is economical to mix one's own seed; further, in some mixtures one can purchase there may be some kinds of seeds that would not be beneficial if the Roller had them every day. A suitable seed mixture to be given to breeding pairs would be 11b. of best Spanish canary, ½lb. German summer rape, ¼lb. white millet, ¼lb. inga, ¼lb. hemp and ¼lb. groats. A pinch of linseed may be added if the birds will eat it, but the majority of Rollers do not care for it. A small teaspoonful of egg food, condition seeds, and a small dandelion leaf may be continued—as previously recommended to be given in March—up to the time the hen begins to sit.

During the afternoon or evening previous to the first egg being laid, most hens will appear to be a little unwell, for they will sit quieter than usual, and the stomach is larger than at other times. A larger quantity of cuttlefish bone and grit is now consumed. About this time some fanciers will put five drops of whiskey or gin in the drinking water, as a preventative against egg-binding, and the result appears to justify its use. Egg-binding is a very serious complaint, because the symptoms develop so rapidly that if assistance is not rendered immediately death will soon ensue.



When a hen lingers in an illness for several days, the complaint is not likely to be egg-binding, as is often surmised to be the case by many inexperienced fanciers. They notice the swollen stomach and jump to the conclusion that it contains an egg that cannot be expelled. With them the red and painful looking skin of the stomach tells nothing, whereas with the experienced fancier it speaks of bowel trouble, and not egg-binding. The stomach of the hen that is eggbound will often become red, but by the time this discoloration has taken place she is helpless, either on the nest or on the cage bottom, whereas the hen that is suffering with bowel trouble is still able to use the perches and take her food, two conditions that are absent in the case of the egg-bound hen.

It is rather a difficult matter to explain to the beginner how to distinguish the first signs of egg-binding. As the symptoms develop and the pain becomes acute, it is an easy matter, for she is either sitting helpless in the nest, often with her wings partly open, or she is squatting prostrated on the cage bottom, but when the conditions have advanced to this stage it is very often too late for the illness to yield to treatment.

How to Distinguish Egg-binding.

I will try to give a rough guide to diagnosing the trouble in its first stages. Where a hen has previously bred for the fancier he will understand all her little peculiarities. It may be that she is a hen which will not build a nest; or, may not build one until the day previous to laying; or, again, she may be one which makes early preparation by constructing a nest several days previously. The keen fancier will notice that the majority of hens whether they construct a nest or not, have a habit of sitting quietly for a few minutes at a time in the nest-pan for one or two days previous to laying. Towards the close of some particular afternoon they will appear quieter than usual, and the stomach will seem distended, causing the feathers between the legs to drop nearer towards the perch. In the evening they stay for longer periods on the nest, and partake of an abnormal quantity of cuttlefish bone, and grit.

The above are the surest signs that a hen will lay the next morning; and after she has laid she will appear bright and cheerful again. On the other hand, where there is no egg, and the hen is more listless and dull than on the previous day, she must be at once taken in hand and treated for egg-binding. This trouble can be caused by a rapid fall in the temperature, especially if accompanied by cutting easterly winds, or it may be the result of some constitutional weakness, or a weakness of the internal organs, conditions that are not always perceivable in birds that have been well cared for. It is often perplexing how to account for egg-binding; still, the fact that the complaint is very rarely met with after the first round of eggs seems to indicate the importance of a reasonably warm atmosphere at the time of laying.

Remedies, Ancient and Modern.

Many fanciers have their own pet remedies for egg-binding, such as wrapping the hens up in a piece of warm flannel and placing them inside a cage before a fire, or even on the hob, or in a warm oven. Another old-fashioned remedy is to give a dose of warm castor oil direct into the beak, also dropping a few drops into the vent, probably with a view of lubricating the passage containing the egg. There may have been good grounds for this idea of the old time fanciers; I have, however, on several occasions removed eggs intact from hens that have died through egg-binding, and have found them enveloped in a firmly adhering thin skin.

Redpolls: Their Management, Training, and Exhibition

A practical article by J. Steel (Dalkeith) which tells you all you can wish to know about these desirable little pets.

ANOTHER disadvantage which the Lesser labours under is having often to compete with his relative, the Mealy or Northern Redpoll, and in a majority of the smaller shows such handicap is further increased by the inclusion of Siskin or Twite. The fancier who has faith in his Lesser Redpoll stopping an equally excellent specimen of either of these is a very Mark Tapley among exhibitors. Indeed I have yet to see such a happening. On the contrary, I have seen the honours of such classes so often divided in a manner suggestive of simple distribution irrespective of comparative merit, that I have been forced to the conclusion that with some judges the Lesser Redpoll is the last to be considered worthy of inclusion.

T'other is Very Like Which.

To decide the sex of an individual Redpoll calls for some discrimination, though there is one feature, the pink breast, which may be accepted as proof positive of the bird being a male. This presents us with two problems, firstly, why such a small minority possess that feature, and why (this being the breeding plumage) we get specimens sporting the full glory of such at all seasons, even in mid-winter?

That an enormous majority of males are quite devoid of such breast colour I have repeatedly proved, and that such pink breast is not in itself any indication of excellence is equally true, as some of the finest exhibition specimens have been from capture quite devoid of pink. I have found that Redpolls of both sexes are sometimes caught in which the crimson cap is replaced by that bronze which generally, but not invariably is consequent upon a cage moult (I refer to adults).

Given a choice, the novice cannot do better when sexing, and failing any signs of pink, than take one which possesses most of the points I have mentioned as desirable in an exhibition specimen, as these are the features in which the hen is invariably inferior. I would caution him against attempting to sex by deportment, as Redpolls will chum up with and feed each other indiscriminately of sex, this being a cause of many same sex "pairs" being put up for hybrid breeding as already referred to.

The Mealy Redpoll is a larger species than the Lesser, as the prefix to the name of the latter indicates, and differs in one important point, viz., that it is a migrant to Britain, not a single instance having been recorded of its breeding here. The variation in size and colour of these has led to some confusion, inasmuch as undoubted Mealies have been caught which were so small as not to exceed in size an exceptionally large Lesser, such as the specimen exhibited with success by Mr. Marley recently.

When a Mealy is a Jonque.

Also, as I have mentioned, the colour and name present us with a paradox, inasmuch as in this, as with every other species, there are Jonques and Mealies. Though the terms Jonque Mealy, or Mealy Mealy may sound silly, yet the difference is very marked, much more so in my opinion than in many other species, some even being so light as to lead to the supposition that they are a distinct species.

The Size goes with the Colour.

The rule that Mealies of a species are generally larger than Jonques holds especially good in this, some of the former being almost up to a British Bullfinch in size, a point which sometimes exalts such a bird in the eye of certain judges to the detriment of warmer and generally more compact competitors. Therefore, in selecting for exhibition, I can only repeat the advice I tendered to the owner of the last Palace winner, find out which the judge prefers, size or quality. The point of this advice has been proved by that bird having been since relegated to a very minor position in a very small class by another judge.

As a breeder the Mealy is quite the opposite of his smaller relative, and though we have occasional instances of his being successful in crossing, such attempts are in the overwhelming majority of cases attended with failure, even when the Canary is used as his partner.

A Problem of Migration.

The visits of the Mealy to our shores are marked by periods which defy all attempts at forecasting. By plying old catchers with questions I find their experiences only corroborate my own observations, viz., that they never come two years in succession, and though they may come in small parties after a lapse of two years the occurrence of such a host as invaded our shores on the memorable occasion of a few years ago is not likely to be repeated for years to come, having only occurred twice within the past twenty years. Perhaps Mr. E. K. Robinson can explain this problem of migration.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS

(For Rules see last weeks "Cage Birds")

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. Mules and Hybrids—H. Norman. British Birds—H. J. Fulljames. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S.. Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

CANARY SEED SAMPLES (Edina).—The sample marked A is the largest and boldest seed, but is decidedly dirtier than B, and has also a slight trace of mustiness, which puts it quite out of consideration. B is of very fair quality, and quite sound and sweet; it is therefore much the better.

SAMPLE OF RAPE (M.P.D.).—The sample of seed sent appears to be a mixture of rape-like seeds known, I believe, in some place, as bird rapes. The sample contains a very large proportion of dirt and extraneous matter, weed seeds, etc., and is altogether of very second-rate quality. I do not advise its use for caged birds, though a little now and again might make a pleasant change for birds in aviaries to pick over.

MUCH BETTER (A. Mee).—Am glad to hear the treatment advised has done the bird so much good. The hoarseness is probably of no importance, and will disappear as the bird resumes its full song. See it is not exposed to cold draughts, and give three times a week for a fortnight, in addition to the staple seed diet, a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar. On the alternate days add to the drinking water ten drops each of glycerine and lemon juice, and as much chlorate of potash as will cover a threepenny-piece.

POTASH SOLUTION (E.A.B.N.).—If you dissolve a drachm of the solid potash in a pint of water, the solution thus obtained will be the proper strength to use either for spraying over the birds or using in the baths as an aid to clearing out insect pests. Your confusion has evidently arisen from my previous use of the convenient terms of a teaspoonful, which, for all practical purposes, is equivalent to one drachm. Thus, if you crushed the solid potash to a coarse powder and took an average teaspoonful to add to a pint of water, this would be equivalent to adding a drachm to a pint.

STARTED DRINKING (F. C. Bird).—The excessive drinking which the hen suddenly acquired was the effect rather than the cause of the watery droppings. Keep cage floor and perches as clear as possible whilst looseness lasts. A good covering of clean dry sawdust will aid in doing so. Give no green food at present. As staple diet give a mixture of three parts canary to one part summer rape. Every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of scalded rape and a morsel of banan, and on the alternate days a similar quantity of a mixture of equal parts hemp, teazle, broken groats, and maw. See that the hemp is sound and sweet. In the drinking water add, to each tablespoonful, three drops of tincture of gentian, and two each of tincture of opium and dilute sulphuric acid, two days in every three until the diarrhoea ceases. If the bird has apparently moulted all its small feathers, and the flights and tail appear dry and worn, carefully extract them a few at a time at intervals of about a week.

LEG GIVES WAY (Mrs. Tyrell).—I really cannot gather from your bare statement of the fact what may be amiss with a bird which cannot get its feet up to its head on account of the leg giving way. Which legs fails him, the one he tries to raise to his head or the one he stands on? Has he met with an accident lately? The leg might possibly be broken, or it may simply be due to weakness. You had better write again and give full particulars about the bird, and also of your method of feeding. Meantime see that the claws are not very much overgrown, and examine cage well for red mites. If any of these are found, thoroughly overhaul the cage and exterminate them. Keep him free from direct cold draughts, and do not expose him to the heated fumes from burning lights in the evenings. In the drinking water add ten drops of syrup of buckthorn for three consecutive days, and after this 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills and ipecac. wine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken in the water, two days in every three for a fortnight.

A VARIETY (Enquirer).—(1) No, it is neither necessary nor advisable to wash a newly moulted bird that is clean and in perfect plumage in order to show it. You should, in fact, avoid washing a bird just as long as its plumage remains spotlessly clean. If you live in a neighbourhood where the air is clean and free from smoke, you should be able to do three shows, and perhaps more, before your bird requires washing. (2) It is quite likely your birds are not adapted for an outdoor aviary. You will do right to keep them indoors in a room without fires, but free from draughts or damp, during the winter. Add twenty drops of whisky and ten each of glycerine and lemon juice to the water for a day or two to remove the slight hoarseness. (3) The Rollers might have been a little upset by a change of diet. Give a morsel of bread and milk well sprinkled with raw every second day, and on the alternate days a morsel of banana in addition to the usual diet. Add 12 drops of syrup of buckthorn to water for one day only, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid for three or four days. (4) A liberal use of bread and milk daily is not advisable. Twice a week is sufficient in normal circumstances. Reduce this item a little, give the above gentian mixture for a day or two, and the droppings will become normal. (5) In the absence of more definite particulars, I can only say that the way to prevent the cocks going into soft moult in the breeding season is to avoid the causes. If they have a full moult at the proper season, and are kept in healthy robust condition through the winter, they should not go into soft moult out of season, unless injudiciously moved about or exposed to draughts, damp, or sudden extremes of heat and cold.

COAL-TARRING BIRD HOUSE (W. L., C. D.).—I assume you mean tarring it on the outside only. If so, you may quite safely do so without fear of injury to the birds. You should choose a breezy drying day for the job, and it would be advisable to remove the birds—I take it they are in cages—for a few hours whilst the tar is applied and drying sets in, to avoid the possibility of any drops leaking through and making a mess inside. The walls inside should be done with limewash, distemper, or paint. For the sake of the little extra cost, I should prefer paint on the outside instead of tar. Sorry your letter arrived too late for reply to appear in last issue.

ARRANGING THE BETROTHAL (J. H. W.).—I'm afraid it is not possible to say definitely from the written description of a tyro whether any given two birds would make a suitably matched pair. I am not clear of the type of your Norwich cock. Is the colour of the "brown back" of a drab or somewhat fawn brown, and are the markings on the head of the same colour? If so, the bird is a Cinnamon-bred one, and in that case you would require Cinnamon blood in the hen if you are to avoid breeding a lot of heavily variegated birds. Then I cannot tell whether the very pale yellow is really yellow or buff. In the latter case you will find on close inspection that the tips of the feathers are white. The hen is evidently a coloured yellow, and a suitable mate for her will be found in a ticked or lightly marked buff cock, which must, of course, compensate as far as possible any weaknesses of the hen in size, shape, and general characteristics by excelling himself in those points. You will find this matter explained in "Canary Breeding for Beginners," which you say you have sent for.

GROWTH ON NECK (M. Geary).—Really, you should have made some little attempt to describe the appearance of the growth. Is it under the skin, or apparently a growth on the surface, and is it soft, solid, or apparently filled with fluid or air? If it appears an abnormal growth of feather material, tie a ligature tightly around the base and leave the rest to nature. If a sac filled with air, prick with a clean needle and press gently to expel the air. If filled with fluid or solid matter, paint it sparingly three times at intervals of a week with tincture of iodine. Upon the whole, perhaps you had better leave it alone until you have written again and described as fully as you can the appearance and nature of the growth, and how long it has been there.

NOT MOULTING (Harbourite).—You may treat both birds the same. First give each a vapour bath as described and illustrated in "Our Canaries," or, if you cannot extemporise a cabinet, a very good substitute is to place the bird in a fair-sized open wire cage on a table, place beside cage a mug of nearly boiling water, and cover all over closely with a woollen shawl or wrap to enclose the steam in cage. Allow to remain fifteen minutes or so. Then keep cage in a fairly warm temperature with a light cover over it for a week or so, and during this time add twenty drops of whisky and five of syrup of saffron to the water two days in every three, and give a morsel of bread and milk slightly dusted with flowers of sulphur every second day. If moult has made a fair start by the end of a week or ten days, allow things to remain as they are, but if the moult has not started, move both the birds back to their original place in the room where no fires are kept and await events. If the latter move does not start the moult, you can only patiently wait the natural course.

BLEEDING AND EXHAUSTION (Anxious).—You did very wrong to allow the bird to remain in a flight with several others when you first noticed its injured condition, as that wonderful thing, Nature, which we are often told is so kind and merciful, would at once prompt all the others to fall upon the unfortunate wretch and slowly but surely worry it to death, as they appear to have well-nigh done. The cause of the bleeding of the probably a damaged or broken feather in the quill stage, and this has doubtless not had a single chance to heal. Cage the bird alone at once in a moderate sized cage, and for the first few days keep a light cover over it to induce bird to remain quiet and not flutter about. Bathe the tail—the sore part, from whence the quills grow—once daily for a few days in a lukewarm solution of wych hazel—a teaspoonful of the extract to a saucerful of warm water. Do not wet the plumage more than is unavoidable. After bathing a few minutes dry gently by absorbing moisture with a bit of soft linen, and paint the sore part with a feather dipped in the strong extract. Hold bird for a short time for any "sting" to pass off, and then prevent bird pecking itself. Give a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar, daily for a fortnight, and in the water add twenty drops of Chemical Food every second day, and on the alternate days twenty drops of whisky and six each of tincture of gentian and dilute sulphuric acid.

MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by H. NORMAN.

FEEDING GREENFINCH-CANARY (T. A. T.).—It is not a difficult matter to get a Greenfinch Mule into show condition; they are naturally healthy subjects, and good feeders. Let his staple food be two parts canary and one of rape, and every other day give him a teaspoonful of the following mixture:—Equal parts of each, hemp, linseed, maw, and teazle, and let him have a dozen good plump sunflower seeds daily. Don't forget green food, such as chickweed, groundsel, plantain, and shepherd's purse. All these you can still find if you live anywhere near the fields or country lanes. The drooping wings you speak of may be due to nervousness or want of condition; if the former, handle him frequently, running him from one cage to another, and gently moving him from perch to perch. If due to want of condition, the feeding will alter it. A fly in a large cage large enough to allow him to use his wings, would also be beneficial. Let him bathe frequently, in filtered rain water if procurable.

BREEDING CANARY MULES (Patrick Foley).—If you are a beginner in the fascinating pastime of breeding Hybrids, I would advise you to start with Greenfinch or Linnet cocks and Canary hens. Procure your birds as soon as possible, getting large Norwich hens. Select big bold Finches, wild caught birds will do, hang them in rather small cages, near the hens, and handle them frequently to get them steady. When one of them will bear looking at without dashing about the cage, you could place it in a fairly large cage with one of the hens—or, better still, turn it in with all of them, and if you see it "chummy" with one of them, keep your eye on it, and cage them off together. Let them be together all the winter until the beginning of March; then part them, hanging the cock bird in a small cage beside the hen. They can be put together for breeding purposes at the end of March or the beginning of April. Write again in the spring if you are in doubt about anything.

CAGE FOR HYBRID (Beginner).—If you are not a member of a Specialist Club, you can exhibit a bird in any cage you choose; there is no restriction, only the unwritten law of custom. Hybrids as a rule are exhibited in box cages, commonly known as Norwich show cages. These vary in size according to the variety exhibited. The size you mention—14 by 12 by 6—would do very well for your jonque Goldfinch-Canary. If you attend the show yourself, compare it with others in the same class, and you will then see if you are near the mark. Paint the inside and the wire front green, about the same tone as that of a laurel leaf; all the rest of the cage enamel black. Do this as soon as possible, so as to allow the paint and enamel to get thoroughly hardened before the show. Be careful how you place the perches; put them the right distance apart, so that he can hop gracefully from one to the other. Train him to the cage, so that he is quite used to it before the show.

PAIRS FOR A BEGINNER (Birdie).—You wish to start Hybrid breeding with six pairs, and would like them to be all Finches and Canaries. The Finches I would advise are as follows, all cock birds:—Greenfinch, Linnet, Redpoll, Siskin, and Goldfinch. These are the five least difficult to deal with, and you could either duplicate one of them or try the Canary-Bullfinch, in which case the Canary would be the cock bird and you would require sitting hen Canaries to hatch the fertile eggs; but I would advise you to have another of the above Finches as less liable to give disappointment, which means much to a beginner. You will, of course, require good big hens (yellow for preference) to pair with them. Some idea of winter management you can glean from the answer to Patrick Foley in this issue, but if in doubt write again. Respecting wild seeds, plantain is a plant growing on waste land; the seed spray is like a rat's tail with little seeds on it. Shepherd's purse has branching thin stalks with a purse of seed at the extremities, and no doubt you know groundsel and chickweed. A book on seeds and wild plants published at "Cage Birds" Office at 1s. 2d. would pay you tenfold in value. You would have no difficulty in collecting suitable wild seeds with its assistance.

BRITISH BIRDS.

Answered by H. J. FULLJAMES

A YOUNG BLACKBIRD (E. Matthews).—You need have no anxiety about the colour of your young Blackbird. It will not really become a black bird until after next year's moult, and its black will improve in density from year to year. The same applies to the colour of its beak; this may not be really clear from black until its third year. Glad to hear you find the Nutshells helpful. Either No. 4, "The Song Thrush and Blackbird," or No. 26, "The Larger Insectivorous Birds," will give you all the information you need, and if you follow the directions as to feeding and keeping that are therein given, your bird should do quite well and improve from year to year.

A WAGTAIL'S BIB (Novice).—The Wagtail lost its bib in the ordinary course of moulting, and it is now not showing because of the bird being in winter plumage. The bib will reappear in due course, but probably not to the extent of that of a wild bird. The colour of the show cage is a matter of choice; personally I like a holly green, but many prefer a deepish blue. A Wagtail is a walking bird, and the show cage should be fitted with five or six perches, so that the bird may step from one to the other easily. The absence of a bib is no detriment to its show chances at this season of the year.

GREYPATES AND GOLDFINCHES (Greypate).—A Greypate is simply a Goldfinch of the year, one which is too young yet to possess the blaze which adorns the adult birds. As soon as the bird gets its blaze, it is no longer a Greypate—that is all the difference. (2) Of course, a Greypate will not "mule," as you put it, with a Border Canary, nor with anything else; it is not old enough to possess any desire for matrimony. It will grow out of this in due course, but it will not then be a Greypate.

ENTERITIS AND ITS CAUSES (W. W. Deepard).—In the ideal circumstances in which you are keeping your birds, I must confess it is a puzzle to me to guess how they may have picked up any of the poisons which could set up this disease, with its fatal consequences. The berries from the growing ivy might possibly be injurious to birds in an aviary, for it seems to be an established fact that many things which are harmless to birds in freedom may be dangerous when their liberty of exercise is restricted. I have even known it to be stated that the berries of the Mountain Ash, which are freely partaken of by many wild birds will kill them if given in a cage. But your birds could not have been poisoned by ivy berries, for there would be none at the season of your losses. The only solution which occurs to me is that the seed is accessible to mice, and that these vermin have poisoned parts of it by their excretions. It may be that the seed is contaminated by mice before you get it. Some corn chandlers' shops are infested by these pests, and the seed is poisoned while in stock. I am sending your letter and this reply to Mr. Yates, who made the post-mortem on your Snow Bunting, and perhaps he may be able kindly to throw more light on the subject.

HIND TOE OUT OF PLACE (Ilda).—If the toe is not broken, and you may easily find out whether this is so, the best plan will be to make a rubber ring by cutting a small piece from a length of feeding bottle tubing. Pass the three front toes through this, hold the hind toe back to the shank, and push the ring upwards so as to confine the toe within the ring. Keep it thus for four or five weeks, and then remove. The bird should by then be able to use the hind toe, but it will be advisable for a time to have perches not thicker than a lead pencil. The sketch of a perch which you send shows one which is too thin for ordinary use, but which will be about right for temporary use as stated. Ordinarily, perches should be about half an inch in width, with the top edges chamfered of; round thin perches are frequently the cause of foot trouble. (2) If the accident of cutting a bird's claw so short as to make it bleed happens again, the end should be touched with Friar's Balsam, holding the bird in the hand until it dries and stops the bleeding. Such an accident should not happen, as it is easily avoided. Before cutting the claw of a bird, it should be held up against the light, and the blood vessel will be plainly seen. It is then easy to avoid cutting into it.

LINNET STUCK IN MOULT (W. H. E.).—Give a vapour bath by placing the bird in a small cage on a table with a jug of very hot water by the side of the cage; cover the whole with a thick wrap of some kind to keep in the vapour. After a quarter of an hour remove the hot water, but keep the cage covered for an hour. Next day put the bird into a cool room where it will be free from draughts, and add to the drinking water daily twenty drops of whisky, five of syrup of saffron, and as much chlorate of potash as will lie on a threepennypiece. When the moult is resumed, stop the drugs and change the bird to a warmer room to complete, being careful that it is not subjected to varying temperatures between day and night. If the bowels are not acting freely, dissolve as much sulphate of soda as will lie on a sixpence in its drinking water for one day before commencing with the above treatment, and repeat this dose after a week. (2) You may pull out the broken tail feathers of your other bird, removing only one or two at a time, until all the damaged feathers are ultimately taken out, and new feathers should grow in about six weeks.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

WHAT TONIC (Hibernia).—The Byno-phosphates was intended as a tonic, and it is one of the best, but half-a-tea-spoonful of cod-liver oil, soaked into a piece of biscuit, crust, or cake, according to the birds, should materially strengthen the bird, and could be given in addition to the phosphates. It will be wise for some little time to keep the bowels well regulated, and I should give the fluid magnesia as required to secure this, but at the same time there must be no condition equivalent to chronic diarrhoea. If there should be any recurrence of the parasites, renew the treatment of your former reply at once.

MYNAH (R. Hunter).—Your bird is a Mynah, but whether a Greater or Lesser Hill Mynah I cannot say, without a fuller description. The former is glossy purplish-black, with orange beak, and legs, and deep yellow wattles. The value of your bird would be 25s. to 30s., according to condition, etc. These birds are almost omnivorous, but must have ripe fruit ad. lib., and some live insects daily; boiled rice, insectile mixture (soft food), table scraps may also be given, also milk sop, if it cares for it. This species is a greedy eater, and its cage needs constant attention to keep it clean and sweet. From its greedy nature, it is liable to become over fat under the conditions of cage life, and as soon as it has become quite tame, it would be benefited by a daily fly round the room. It can easily be got back to its cage by putting therein a live insect or any other item of its general dietary, of which it is specially fond.

BUDGERIGARS, ETC. (P. E. Bedwell). — (1) It is really the particular trend of individual pairs that can settle such a matter. There could be no guarantee that they would not interbreed; as a matter of fact, such has occurred in many aviaries, and the young are nearly all Greens. If the birds were properly paired up first, it is quite probable they would remain true to their respective mates, but the other is just as likely to happen. (2) This is not easy to give owing to your price limit, as to be safe with Budgerigars it must be some form of Parrakeet; again, "breed freely" is another handicap, for there can be no certainty on this point. Among the small Parrakeets, apart from Budgerigars, Cockatiels (10s. 6d. pair), and Black-cheek Lovebirds (30s. to 42s. pair) are the freest breeders, and there is great variability in prolificness with the latter species in different aviaries. Here are a few others which have been bred by several aviculturists: Madagascar Lovebirds (4s. 6d. to 5s. 6d. pair), Blue-wing Lovebirds (10s. to 15s. pair). A pair of Red-crested Cardinals would agree with Budgies, etc., value 10s. to 15s. pair, but they would require fruit and occasional insects, besides seed.

MANNIKINS, ETC. (C. E. Andrews).—(1) Mannikins are in colour all the year round, but nestlings are an even nondescript brown, and till after the moult remain so. I cannot therefore name it for you till this has taken place, and you can describe the plumage. Your bird may be a Weaver, in which case I should say it was a hen, as it ought to be in colour now if a male; again, I can only tell you the species by the description of the cock's plumage, when in colour the hen of various species are so similar that only a very minute description makes identification possible. (2) The large yellow and red mulled is not so freely taken as either white or French (similar to the seeds of spray millet) some of them have to be starved on to it, and there is nothing to be gained by it. (3) Quite a common practice this; the remedy is not too many in a cage, and the cages as roomy as possible. (4) A pair of sharp nail nippers is the best, and you will have to be careful not to cut back into the quick. You can usually distinguish the vein by holding the claw against the light, if it is too dark for you to see this, then you must err in taking off too little rather than the other extreme, but in case you should draw blood, have a little Friar's Balsam handy. This will soon check the bleeding. You must hold the bird firmly, and gently in the hand, while attending to the claws. (5) A little raw, grass, nuctard and lettuce seeds in equal parts may be given as a change, and millet sprays serve the same purpose and give exercise at the same time.

ARE THEY STEEL FINCHES? (C. L.).—There are several races of the Combassou, which range from glossy steel to deep blue-black; to all of them the designation Steel Finch is more or less applied, but they are the more generally known as Combassous on the English market. I believe your birds to be Napoleon Weavers, often called the Black bellied Weaver. Senegal Spotted Doves should breed in an outdoor aviary, but unless they have been out most of the summer they should not be left out for their first winter in this country.

ROCK PARROTS (Mixed).—I fear you are likely to remain so; many of these designations are merely trade names covering the various races of the Indian Ring-necks—the designation "King," tacked on to the ordinary name, is, again, very often merely a trade name, and practically has no significance. There is only one King Parrakeet, and that is an Australian species. All these species make very fair talkers, but there is great variability with individual specimens, some only learning an odd word or two, and others making quite talented birds, but all of them take much more teaching than the African Grey Parrot. Some of these races and species are so similar that only full and rather lengthy descriptions would make them clear, and I do not think the necessary space could be spared in this column. Describe your bird carefully, and I shall be pleased to try and name it for you.

ZEBRA FINCHES, ETC. (A. F. C.).—(1) Canary, white millet and millet sprays, green food, grit, cuttlebone and water. While obtainable there is nothing better than flowering (seeding) grass, at other times chickweed, groundsel, shepherd's purse, and fresh lettuce. When they are feeding young a little soft food may be given—equal parts of ants' eggs, dried flies and sponge cake, slightly moistened with hot water meets the case, but the bulk of Zebra Finches bred in England are reared on seed and green food, together with such flies as their parents capture in the aviary. Your query No. 2 must be repeated to our British Bird specialist.

BLUE-FRONTED AMAZON (W. H.).—Heavy breathing is quite as often caused by digestive troubles as by bronchial trouble, and digestive troubles are not easily removed. Keep the bowels moving freely by a dose of Dinneford's Magnesia as required and also give it a course of the cold mixture given in the Nutshell "Grey Parrot." At the end of this period report progress. I can only diagnose from what you tell me; you should be able to tell whether the trouble is purely respiratory or digestive by carefully observing the bird. Note: While giving the cold mixture use a drinker (not a metal one) holding about one ounce (two tablespoonfuls) and to this add one teaspoonful of the mixture, stirring it up at intervals during the day. The bird should be kept fairly warm, but this does not imply a hothouse temperature, nor yet a vitiated one, 55 to 60 deg. F. being ample.

AILING PARROT (F. Clarke).—You give me no idea as to how you are feeding this bird. It should get seed mixture, ripe fruit, nuts, plain biscuit or dry crusts, green food, grit, cuttlebone, and water. In the first place, you must keep the bowels moving freely, but the voidings must not be allowed to remain watery-loose, by giving an occasional laxative (1 teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water), as often as may be required. When not giving the maghesia, put half a teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates in the drinking water, giving clear water once or twice a week. I should also give the bird half-a-teaspoonful of cod-liver oil daily, soaked into a piece of biscuit, sponge cake, madeira cake, or crust, according to the bird's taste. It will also help matters if the bird will let you handle it, to bathe its legs in hot water (not hot enough to cause discomfort), dry with a soft cloth and paint with neat whiskey. Shall be pleased to hear how the bird progresses.

A FEATHER BITER (T. J. McG.).—You must be careful that the bird does not get a chill; spraying twice weekly with quassia solution should check the habit, but you will have to persevere, as a feather biter or puller seldom entirely gives up the vice once it has become confirmed in it. You might give it an aperient—one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia in the drinking water for one day only; also lightly dust any moistened food you give it with flowers of sulphur. If you send me details as to how you are feeding and treating the bird generally, I will try and help you further. Keep some pieces of wood, cotton reels, etc., in its cage for it to play with and cut to pieces.

FREE BREEDERS (J. S. Bingley).—You do not supply sufficient details for me to give you a satisfactory reply. Size of aviary, and whether an in or outdoor one, should always be stated. Yours may only be roomy all-wire cages, which are often termed aviaries. In the first place, with the exception of a few species, you cannot speak of Foreign birds being free-breeders the same as you do the domestic Canary. Budgerigars, Cockatiels, Zebra Finches, Cut-throats, Silverbills, are all ready breeders, either in cage or aviary, but they are more prolific in the latter. Long-tail Grassfinches, Saffron Finches, Bicheno's Finches, Crimson Finches, and Orange-cheeked Waxbills have all been bred in cages as well as those already named. Avadavats, Cuban and Olive Finches, Jacarini Finches, Gouldian Finches (in some aviaries), Redrumps, Rosella and other Parrakeets, are fairly ready breeders in captivity. Foreign Thrushes, Grey-winged Ouzels, Orange-headed Ground Thrushes and others have shown themselves fairly ready to nest of late years. Foreign birds are not usually such early breeders as Canaries, and the breeding season may be said to run from April to September, or even longer. If you repeat query with some information about the aviaries, I can possibly be more explicit.

WHAT SPECIES IS IT? (D. McF.).—While the plumage would rather point to one of the large Weavers of the Hyphantornine group (these are almost impossible to pick out without seeing them), the bill rather points to some member of the large Hangnest family, again the dietary is that of a Weaver. Have you exaggerated the length of the beak? Will you as carefully as possible measure the bill, and also the length from tip of beak to tip of tail? If you will give me the above information I will try and give you a definite reply next week. I think it must be one of the larger Weavers, nearly all of which are fond of mealworms, and, if so, it could be shown as a seedeater.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Revival of the Accrington C.B.S.

Sir,—An attempt is being made to revive the Accrington and District Cage Bird Society, and for that object there will be a meeting at the Crown Hotel, Blackburn Rd., on Thursday, Oct. 23, at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is given to all bird fanciers to attend.

Birds that Are Well Off, and Know It.

Sir,—I saw a letter in a recent Cage Birds about a Bullfinch which preferred captivity. I may say that I have allowed both Bullfinches and Greenfinches their liberty, but they were too well fed and looked after to ever stay away long. I really believe that once a bird knows you and is kindly treated it will never forsake its cage, unless, perhaps, during the mating season.

E. Harcombe.

How a Bullfinch's Breast-colour was Deepened!

Sir,—Many thanks for your excellent portraiture of my Clapham winning Bullfinch in the current issue of Cage Birds. The bird is a 1912 hand-reared specimen, and made his first appearance on the show bench at the recent Clapham show. For a raw recruit to win his first venture and be at once selected for the place of honour on Cage Birds front page is a good start indeed; and I fancy the double-barrelled honour has already deepened his blush from pink to crimson. Best wishes for your continued success.

A Late Brood of Goldfinches.

"Proud Tailors" Very Plentiful in Devon.

Sir,—How is this for a late brood of Goldfinches? When coming home to breakfast last Thursday, Oct. 9, I saw a brood of babies just out of the nest fly across the street. A friend also saw them in his garden with one of the old ones feeding them. They were on the small yellow sunflower seeds. I consider it is the same brood my brother also saw in the garden at the back of his house last week. Goldies are very plentiful here. A friend saw a flock of 200 where he was at work. The farmer, I may say, thought they were Sparrows.

A Gramophone Record of the Nightingale's Song.

Sir,—I see in Cage Birds of Oct. 11 a letter from Mr. Claude St. John asking if any reader has heard a record of the Sprosser Nightingale. Well, I happened to be at East Grinstead about four years ago. On going up the London Road I saw quite a crowd of people outside a music-shop, and on stopping to see what was on, I heard a gramophone record of the song of a Nightingale. It was for all the world like the song that you hear from them in the woods, but whether it was a Sprosser, or other sort of Nightingale, I don't know. The record was taken from a 'Gale in the possession of a gentleman who I believe was a German. The song was very distinct, but I could not say about the needle "scrape," though I did not notice much at the time.

A. A. Copthorne.

(I happen to have one of the records in question; it was very kindly presented to me by Mr. W. E. Tesehemaker. It is made by the Gramophone Co.; the number of the record is 9439, and its title, "Record made by a captive Nightingale, the property of Herr Carl Reich, of Bremen." Any dealer would obtain it to order. It is very interesting and well worth buying. The music is clearly that of the Sprosser (Continental) Nightingale, and though the quality of the notes is good, the song is a little lacking in variety—possibly that of a hand-reared bird. The record reproduces well; the "needle scrape" resolves itself largely into a question of the quality of the instrument in use.—Editor.)

Thousands of Linnets.

How Will They Fare in the Winter?

Sir,—Evidently the past season has been exceptionally favourable to the breeding of some species of birds. Linnets have done remarkably well. During the Spring and Summer months full broods packed every nest tightly with gaping red mouths that kept the parents busy from morning till night. Over the Surrey downs recently, big flocks of small birds, seen in the distance, and thought at first to be Sparrows, proved to be the tuneful Linnets. Many of the flocks contained from fifty to a hundred birds, and some of them several hundreds. The writer naturally thought that it was an Autumn visit of these cheerful birds to the district, but the same thing can be seen on the Kentish hills, flock after flock can be put up during an hour's ramble. When rising they give the usual Linnet chuckle, and, coming as it does from so many throats, this has quite a musical sound. One flock settled on a tall hedgerow near where the writer was resting; it was a still, sunny morning, and numbers of birds were singing quite strongly and lustily as though it were early Spring instead of late Autumn. During the course of a week the writer thinks he saw more Linnets than he ever saw before in anything like so short a period. A few thousands could easily be spared to gladden the homes of town-dwellers, their chances of a long happy life would be far greater than in the fields. It is impossible for such huge flocks to exist all through the coming winter; many must certainly perish. H. N.

Is this a New Mule?

Sir,—As a delighted reader of Cage Birds, I write to ask if you have ever heard of a fancier who has bred "South African Blackhead" Mules. I have bred three from a Canary, and they are singing, thanks to Cage Birds, which is a great help, and I wish it every success.

Walter Arrowsmith.

[If the bird our correspondent refers to is the Black-headed Siskin, then Mules between it and the Canary have been bred a considerable number of times. Our Mr. Fuljames states that he bought some in Bournemouth over 15 years ago, and that they proved very hardy, one Mule living well and hearty for at least 12 years.—Editor.]

The Late Receipt of Cage Labels.

Sir,—On Sept. 29th I sent P.O. to pay for entry fees at Longton show held Oct. 4th, and only received my class labels at 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 3rd. My last available train to despatch the birds was by 6.25 p.m. You can imagine the hurry and bustle getting birds in cages, labels on, and packed in case. I then had to do a hard 15 minutes' walk to the station, and got there just in time. This kind of thing does not encourage fanciers to get birds ready for a show. Surely the labels could have reached me by Thursday night, at the latest. If I had been unable to get the birds despatched I think I should have been entitled to my entry fees back.

A Good "Kick Off" for the Southern Border F.C.

Sir,—I thank all members who so loyally supported Clapham show. It was certainly a grand "kick off," and proves that the club was wanted, and is doing good work for breeders of the "wee gems." I trust members will support each patronage show as well, for it will help the club to do much bigger things for both champion and novice members next show season. I beg to call members' attention to the marking of entry forms, as I noticed several had overlooked this at Clapham; each entry must be marked S.B.F.C., and only three birds are to be nominated for cup. The word "cup" to be marked against each bird (for Newley's cup "Newley" to be marked against each entry). The above must appear in catalogue; members please note this as points cannot be counted to members omitting to do so.

Birds Caught for Their Own Good.

Assisted Passages for Migrants.

Sir,—I noted in Cage Birds of Sept. 13 a letter anent a Hoopoe being caught at sea. Four years ago, about this time of the year, I caught a Hoopoe at sea, off the North Hender lightship. It was a beautiful specimen, too. We arrived at Rotterdam the same day, and I gave it its liberty at the Hook of Holland. From about now till November lots of birds of all kinds get blown from the land, or are migrating, and many alight on vessels; I have caught a good many myself. They are not much trouble to catch; all you have to do is to make a trap with four sticks and some netting, sweat-rags will do, and put it down on some quiet part of the deck, with some bread crumbs, or rice, or anything they will eat, under it. The birds soon find it, when you pull the twine attached to a bit of stick propping up one edge of the trap, and there you are. As soon as we are close to the land we let them go. I don't see any cruelty in catching them, for if they happen to light on the sea exhausted the Gulls make short work of them. A large number of homer pigeons alight on board; we give them water, and when we get near the land they are off. Sometimes one or two won't leave us till we arrive in port; then we pitch them up. I have had as many as ten on board at once.

Has the Exhibition Yorkshire Deteriorated?

Do Present-day Judges Ignore the Standard?

Our correspondent, that well-known old fancier and Judge, Mr. J. Wilcock, holds that the modern show Yorkshire is fast becoming an Inferior Bird.

Sir,—Kindly give me space in your valuable paper to speak about the Yorkshire show birds. I have been to two shows this season and I am surprised to see the class of Yorkshires winning. I think that it is time someone said something. The Yorkshire standard says 6¾ inches, but the birds that are winning are 7 inches and 7½ inches. I think that we are going in for stock birds instead of a true type of a Yorkshire show bird. We are losing all the beauty of the Yorkshire. It seems to me that if a bird has plenty of colour and length it will do. Colour is all right, but a true Yorkshire has a lot more good properties than colour and length. I do not know what our Yorkshire Canary Club is doing to let birds win when over 7 inches long. I think that we have gone back over 30 years, when we used to win with birds that were bred from half-bred Lancashires. If we go back from about 6 years up to about 25 years, then we had some grand true Yorkshires, full of type and quality, and much more true as types of the Yorkshire bird than those fanciers are winning with to-day. I have measured a few of my own birds, and I find what I call my little birds measure 6¾ inches. I have some that measure over 7 inches. I will tell you how I measured them. I got a piece of wood that just measured 6¾ inches; then I took my bird in my left hand and put one end of the stick to the end of its beak, then ran it down the bird's side to the tail end. This is the way I measure my birds. If you will look at the Yorkshire Club Year Book you will find that a true Yorkshiro is not an extra large bird; he is what I call a medium size. I remember being at the meeting when the length of the Yorkshire was fixed. We had a very strong debate about this, and we came to the conclusion that 6¾ inches was long enough. What has it got to now? Birds are winning at 7 and 7½ inches long. I think that the Yorkshiro standard is a good one, and if we keep to this I think we shall get a lot better birds on the show bench than we have to-day. We have got a length to breed to already fixed; why not keep to it? I think we are getting them too long, and we are losing type and quality. Our judges want to keep more to the Yorkshire Club standard, and not go in for colour and length. The Yorkshiro Club only gives five points for colour. I should very much like to hear what other fanciers say about the matter.

The Border Fancies at Clapham Show.

Sir,—When visiting Clapham show the other day I heard a fancier remark: "I say, Tom, where's the Borders?" "I don't know," replied Tom; "seem to be bunged in a corner somewhere." "Yes," said I, "you'll find them in the lumber room up in the left-hand corner, bunged amongst stacks of chairs and old boxes—they're beautifully staged."

A Pet Roller Lost in Bethnal Green.

Sir,—On Sunday morning last, a small yellow Roller Canary flew out of the window of 29, Bethnal Green Road. Messrs. De Von and Co.'s shop is close by, and I should be much obliged if they would return it to the above address, if they happen to find such a bird; or anyone else who is able to capture it. The bird could be sent to my address, when I will pay all expenses. I trust that it may be found, as it is a great favourite.

How to Make Shows Attractive.

Sir,—I noticed the Reading secretary asking for advice on the above. Some societies, however, seem to find it easy enough to supply "attractions." Take the case of W—— show held next week. They give great prominence on the front page of their schedulo to what they term "the following special features" of the show to attract exhibitors. In the British section the wonderful special attraction is "Half prize-money if less than eight entries." And they put it in big black type! What marvellous generosity, seeing that the prize-money is 21s. per class, and the entry fee 2s. (at Plymouth we get 25s. for 1s. 6d., and at Glasgow 36s. for 2s.—what a difference). So at W—— show they mean to cheerfully pay out 10s. 6d. prize-money if they receive 14s. in entry fees! This ought, indeed, to attract exhibitors of British birds, etc. Why the officials should add "Will you please help," I can't understand. Surely exhibitors will be tickled to death at the prospect, and fall over themselves to "invest" their spare cash in entries. How are we to make shows attractive? What a ridiculously unnecessary question. Any sort of treatment is good enough for the exhibitors.

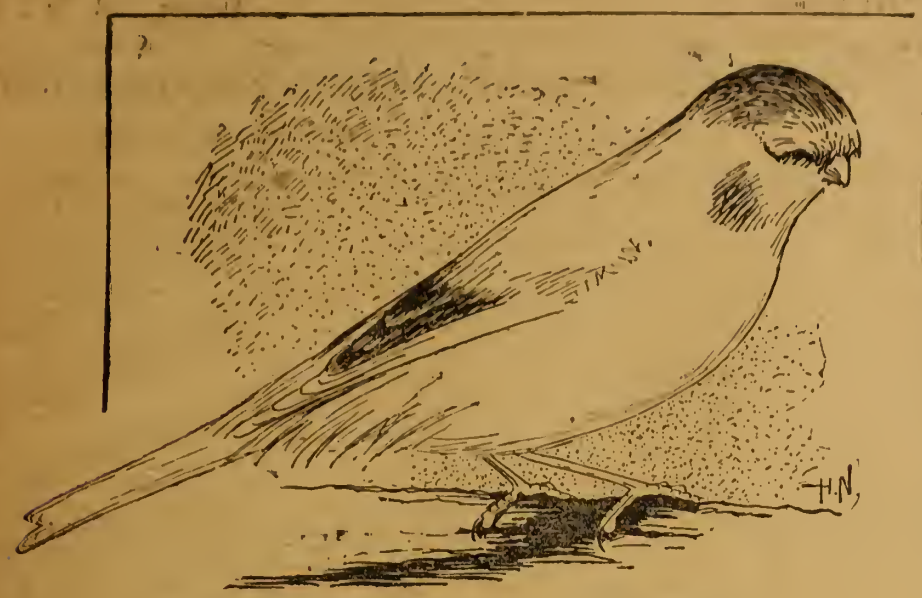
What is the Matter with Members' Shows?

Sir,—Mr. Metcalfe in his last letter seems to me to be making this question a personal one, which I think is a sure sign of defeat. I myself am fighting this question in the interest of the Fancy in general, and surely a man can have the courage of his own convictions. He thinks the amalgamated show held here was a success; well, we are all entitled to our opinions, but if Mr. Metcalfe calls putting down, shall we say 10s., and receiving for it 7s. 6d. in exchange, a success, well I can only say he is very easily pleased. Yet this is a similar way to which the above show paid (although not the correct figures) not to mention other expenses which each society had to bear. Seeing he cannot fathom amalgamation, it has come to his knowledge (of course after discussion at the last meeting at headquarters) that a way out of the difficulty would be to "Co-operate." How he can turn; especially now amalgamation is a failure! Well, sir, regarding co-operation, I am willing to listen to this, and even do my best to forward its interests, although knowing there would be a lot of difficulty before it could be put into operation. Still we cannot put it on the same footing as amalgamation. Mr. Metcalfe seems to think he has "stung" me by saying that his idea would be to do away with members' shows. I should advise him to do away with members' subscriptions also, and make a good job of it. I don't want to go into this question of doing away with members' shows at present, but would like to ask friend Metcalfe "What do members pay their subs. for?" He must bear in mind that all the members are not able to show in the open, as I have said in my previous letters; so what have they to do—look on while others run off with the spoils? As it is at present, far too much is given to outsiders, when open shows are run by societies, than ought to be given. Encourage your own members more, and let them see you have their interests at heart, then we shall see better members' shows. Let me here inform Mr. Metcalfe that I have fought this question of amalgamation from my own personal view, and have not as yet been shown where it would benefit or liven up the Fancy. I shall not answer any more of his letters until he advances some arguments, either for or against this question of amalgamation, as I am one who does not believe in personal squabbles. Seeing Mr. Metcalfe refuses to answer when noms-de-plume are used, I would be pleased if you will sign my name, and not "Forward." R. Booth.



Alleged Theft of a Winner at Merthyr Show.

Common Bird Substituted for a First Prize Bird.

Sir,—I entered four Yorkshire Canaries at Merthyr Tydfil show, Oct. 2. One yellow ticked hen won 1st prize, and she was taken out of her cage and another bird, a common cross-bred, which would not stand on the perches, put in in place of my hen. The bird was missed between 7 and 7.45 p.m. I spoke to one of the cage-bird stewards, and he got very insulting over it. I wrote the secretary three times before getting an answer from him, and the answer he gave me was that the society was not responsible for the loss of the bird. I think it a shame for an exhibitor to have the trouble to get birds up in condition for exhibition, and then lose them at the shows, and get no recompense for the loss. If any exhibitor at the show could give me any information concerning the said hen, I would be very thankful for the same. If this is the way the exhibitor and his birds get treated at the shows, it is very near time that fanciers gave up showing.

A GOOD ONE FROM COVENTRY.

This splendid Crestbred Canary won 1st at Clapham Show and secured for its owner, Mr. T. Gilbert, of Coventry, "Cage Birds" diploma and cash special.

DUBLIN S. COUNTY C.B.A.

Members' show, Town Hall, Kingstown, Oct. 11. A crowd of local fanciers attended. Mr. D. Smyth, Hon. Sec., had everything in apple-pie order, and the Committee proved themselves to be most energetic and courteous officials. The 13 classes were well filled, especially the Yorks., which had some real good ones among them. Nor. were fair classes of good all-round specimens. Brit. and Mules, although a choice selection, were rather few in number, many of these requiring a little more time to finish. The progress of this newly-formed society has been very rapid. This being the first members' show, the entries (about 70) were very satisfactory, and the goodwill and harmony among its members seem to promise that Kingstown will become one of the leading Societies in Ireland. The opn show of the Society, to be held Nov. 26 and 27, is a CAGE BIRDS Coupon show, and it is hoped that it will be well supported. Messrs. McKeone, Carroll, and Watters received the society's diplomas for best birds—in Yorks., Mules and Nor. Mr. W. C. Sholdice judged, and his awards were received with satisfaction.

HENRY J. FULLJAMES,
Secretary CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE.
154, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of CAGE BIRDS have written to say that they would like to join CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the LEAGUE, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is either to sign the coupon herewith, and send the same, together with sevenpence, or to get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the LEAGUE. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

THE BIRD LOVER'S PLEDGE.

I hereby promise to take every care of my feathered pets and to induce others to do the same

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT!

Splendid chances for both Champions and Novices next week.

ANOTHER week of interesting competitions for the diplomas and cash specials in our Championship Competition—splendid entries at Plymouth, Leeds and other Coupon Shows. In short, CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme has, during the second week of the season, achieved a success even greater and more gratifying than that we had the pleasure of announcing in our last issue.

Next week, too, competitors have a choice of many excellent shows at which to secure their diplomas and take their chances for the 10s. specials, and we trust the opportunities will be widely taken advantage of. We note that in one or two sections (particularly the British and Foreign, both novice and champion) good chances have been let slip at Morpeth and some of the other fixtures. Exhibitors should take the hint.

We hope to send out this week-end all the diplomas won up to Oct. 15, also cheques for the 10s. specials to the fortunate winners.

I am a novice exhibitor, and I think your scheme grand.—M. Ogden (Bishop Auckland).

I want a further supply of coupons; please send me two dozen.—J. E. Royce, assist. sec. Nottingham and Notts. O.S.

I enclose cheque for coupons already had; kindly send along another three dozen. I wish your scheme every success.—J. H. Buxton, hon. sec. Matlock F.S.

Kindly send a dozen more coupons per return.—E. Thomas, sec. Upper Rhondda C.B.S.

Please forward a further supply of coupons. I enclose cash for those already sent.—A. Freestone, sec. Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S.

Send me two dozen more coupons, telegraphs Secretary Heggie, City of Glasgow show.

Have you bought your coupons for next week's shows? Exhibitors: Don't miss your chances.

How Exhibitors May Enter.

All who intend entering Coupon birds at these shows must do so under these conditions: CAGE BIRDS offers the following Championship Competition prizes:

10s. cash for best champion coupon bird.
10s. cash for best novice coupon bird.

Diplomas of honour for the best champion and the best novice coupon birds in each of the following sections; or in as many of these sections as are included in the classification:—

(1) Yorkshire Canaries.
(2) Norwich.
(3) Crests & Crestbreds.
(4) Border Fancies.
(5) Scotch Fancies and Belgians.
(6) Greens.
(7) Lancs. and Lizards.
(8) Any Other Variety Canary.
(9) Mules & Hybrids.
(10) British, Hardbilled.
(11) British, Softbilled.
(12) Foreign.

All the exhibitor has to do is to stick one of CAGE BIRDS Coupons on his entry form and write "C.B." opposite each bird he wishes to compete, except if a novice, when he must write "C.B. Novice."

Coupons, price 6d. each, may be purchased from the offices of CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., or, if the time is short, enclose the necessary extra cash with your entry fees to the secretary of the show, and he will affix coupons opposite whichever birds you have marked on your entry form. Every coupon is numbered and a record of it kept at CAGE BIRDS offices.

NOTE CAREFULLY.—A coupon must be affixed to the entry form opposite every bird intended to compete in this Championship Competition. Any number of coupon birds may be entered by any exhibitor, either in one section or in several, as may be desired, so long as a coupon is used for each bird. For every coupon bird, of course, the usual entry fee must be paid to the show officials. Entries in CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition are accepted only on the understanding that the governing rules as published in CAGE BIRDS are to be absolutely final and legally binding.

Anyone in doubt upon any point concerning the scheme should write at once.—The Editor, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

A Brief Outline of the Scheme.

The main idea of CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition is to discover which are the Twelve Best Champion Birds and the Twelve best Novice Birds of the Season. The Competition is in progress at over 80 shows (see list of Sept. 27), which cover every quarter of the United Kingdom.

TWO PRIZES OF 10S. EACH, one for novices and one for champion (under certain stipulations), at each accepted Coupon Show.

TWENTY-FOUR DIPLOMAS OF HONOUR, in addition, at each Coupon Show, 12 for Champion exhibitors, and 12 for Novice exhibitors, for the best Champion Coupon Bird and best Novice Coupon Bird in each of the 12 sections mentioned above.

The winner of any one of the foregoing diplomas will have the right to compete with not more than four birds, on payment to the Palace Show Authorities of the usual entry fee, in our final championship competition at the Crystal Palace Show of 1914.

FIRST PRIZE, £3;
SECOND PRIZE, £2;
THIRD PRIZE, £1.
FOURTH PRIZE, 10s.

The following cash prizes will also be offered for competition at the Crystal Palace Show:—£10 10s. for the best Coupon bird exhibited in the Champion classes in the above twelve sections; £10 10s. for the best Coupon bird shown by a novice other than the winner in the Champion Section. We shall also offer A TEN GUINEA CHALLENGE SHIELD, to be won three times in succession, for the best bird at the Crystal Palace Show entered in our Competition.

For full Rules see issue of Oct. 4th.

There will be a meeting of the West Bromwich C.B.S. on Oct. 21, at headquarters, writes the sec., Mr. Andrews.

Between 1,400 and 1,500 entries at Newcastle show; Mr. Harland will judge in place of Mr. W. Vardy, writes Mr. J. W. Reed, the sec.

For Liverpool open show 1,500 schedules have been sent out; will anyone overlooked kindly apply to Metcalfe and Deacon, 68, Brunswick Road.

Mr. Campbell, our popular President, will give an exhibition of bird-washing, in the Reading Room, on Oct. 22, at 7.45 p.m., writes Mr. T. Cosgrove, hon. sec. Uddingston C.B.S.

Exhibitors in the amateur Norwich section at Manchester show should note that class 57 is for yellow hens (not both yellow and buff) and 57a for buff hens. Visitors should obtain their admission tickets before the show day, by sending 6d. and a stamped envelope to the show manager, Mr. Boothman (10, Parker St., Levenshulme) as by doing this they save sixpence.

Corrections in Show Reports.

In the Yellow Border class at Birtley Mr. R. Watson won 1st, not Pyman, as reported. At Longton Mr. J. Lees, not Leese, won 1st in Norwich Hen class.

KILBARCHAN O.A.

Annual exhibition held in Public School, Oct. 11; the hall is roomy, with good light, and well suited for show purposes. Mr. Wm. Eccles, Johnston, judged. The Association enjoys the patronage of the following ladies and gentlemen: Sir Thomas Glen Coats, Bart., Paisley; Mr. John McNab, Howood; Mrs. Cargill, Torr House, etc., etc. There was a fair turn-out of visitors Pres., A. Deans; Vice-pres., J. Cuthe; Sec., Fred Tre..., Mr. Wm. Fluple, Kilbarchan. The Sec., supported by a hard working committee, had all arrangements well in hand to make the show the success it proved to be. Exhibits were much in excess of last year in all sections and the quality good. Mr. Eccles' awards seemed to give general satisfaction. The handsome silver cup for most points, and silver medal, was won by J. and R. Pirrie.

EXETER & DEVON C.B.S.

21th annual show, held Oct. 10, at the Lower Market, Exeter. Nearly 200 Canaries and Mules were staged in a warm corner of the exhibition room, but the absence of British somewhat spoiled the show. The whole of the British section was cancelled owing to lack of support, this is rather an unusual experience for Exeter, as the district contains several enthusiastic British fanciers. It was the old story, birds not ready, which all early shows have to contend with. Norwich had 68 in seven classes, most of the birds being well forward in condition, the class for non-lighted numbering 21. The winning clear buff of Messrs. Stephens and Gaved we specially noticed as being in very beautiful fettle. Mr. Noyce's pair in the non-flighted class will be heard of again in stronger competition, the 2nd prize buff especially being a topper. Yorkshires had 64 in six classes, these well-known Western fanciers, Messrs. Lashbrook and Boundy, showing good teams and doing well. The winning non-flighted yellow shown by Mr. Hook gives promise of future success, and was quickly claimed at catalogue price, 2 guineas. Crests were not so numerous as the other varieties, being 21 in 3 classes, but quality was there in abundance, which is bound to be the case when such fanciers as Messrs. Evins Bros., Colledge, A. J. Smith, and Brotherton exhibit, Mr. Smith's well-known clear body taking the Crest special and special for best in show. In Mules Mr. Lamb's fine Canary-Bullie won, and looked in the pink of condition, and Mr. Voysey, a novice local fancier, also showed a specimen of the same variety in the 1913 class. We noticed several well-known fanciers at the show, among whom were Messrs. Kidwood and Joyce, Newton Abbot; Messrs. Craven and Lugg, Plymouth; Messrs. Lashbrooke and Son, Sidmouth; and Mr. T. Richards, Barnstaple. The Committee responsible for the welfare of the cage birds were Messrs. Rushmere, Caseley, Rowley and Stiling, whilst Mr. Cornish made an ideal and obliging hon sec. Mr. Thos. Heath judged, and his awards were received with every satisfaction

The Critique.

NOR. CL. YELL. (5): 1, S. T. Jones, good feather and condition, fails in colour; 2, Redwood, rather smaller, very typical; 3 Noyce, well-known bird, not quite at his best; vhc Rowden; hc, Pope. BUFF (8): 1, sp, 2, Stephens and Gaved, leader exceptionally tight in feather for a buff, but fails in head; 2nd, well-known, some preferred for premier honours; 3, Fox, nice size and type; vhc, Rowden; he, West; c, Howard. CL. HEN. (6): 1, vhc, Redwood, yell., good type and feather; 2, Mrs. Scholes, buff, very stylish, close up; 3, Stephens and Gaved, nice buff; hc, Southcombe; c, Lemon. TKD. or VAR. CK. (8): 1, Smith, bull, good type and size; 2, 3, Redwood, two yellows, former a splendid cap mark, close up for first, latter good all-round bird, fails in head; vhc, Pope; he, Rowden; c, Jones. HEN (9): 1, Rowden, cap-marked buff, nice type and feather, on the small side; 2, West, stylish yellow; 3, Caseley, mkd. buff, good size and type; vhc, Stephens and Gaved; he, Redwood; c, Rowley; 868, Redwood, best in class, but soft in condition. NON-FLIGHTED (21): 1, 2, Noyce, winner a yell, grand bloom, fine quality of feather; 2nd, buff, a real good bird, splendid size and tight in feather; 3, Rowley, cl. yell., fails in subs to winners; vhc, Stephens and Gaved; he, Tyler; c, Rowley. NOV. (11): 1, Taylor, fine cl. buff; 2, Howard, cl. yell., fails in head to winner; 3, Jones, cl. yell., good feather, rather small; vhc, Howard; he, Quilter. CRESTS, CL. (14): 1, Hook, yell., a real good bird, will be hard to beat; 2, Boundy, cl. buff, excellent length, rather too heavy; 3, Craven, sweet yell., might be better in col.; vhc, Lovell; hc, Fulford; c, Thomas. NOV. (13): 1, sp, Miss Boundy, thigh tick yell., grand bird, hardly in best condition yet; 2, Bishop, nice exhibit, excellent length, fairly well; 3, Hiscox, good feather and well shown; vhc, he, Isaac; c, Bishop. DARK MULE (8): 1, sp, 2, Lamb, leader wonderful Canary-Bullie, grand size, colour and shape; 2nd, yell. Goldf.-Can., grand col. and size; 3, Stephens and Gaved, buff Goldie-Can., beaten in this company; vhc, Woodgates; he, Franks; c, Porter. 1913 (6): 1, sp, Voysey, good Canary-Bullie, very fine exhibit, might be larger; 2, Evans; 3, Franks, Greenfinch-Can., good size, but fails a bit in col.; vhc, Seed. CLAPHAM.

The competition under CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme attracted a great many entries at the Clapham show. The winners of the cash specials were: Champion classes, Mr. T. Gilbert with a grand Crest-bred, standing first in his class; novice, Mr. C. Hume's buff Yorkshire, also a winner. Diploma for best Norwich, Mr. E. Baker's clear yellow; best Border, Mr. G. H. Pratt's clear yellow, standing second; the owner nominating it in preference to his winner in the same class, and his first in the buff class, this latter bird winning the Club spl. for best Border. A.O.V. diploma was secured by Mr. W. J. Cooper with a capital buff Cinnamon. Mr. Howick's Canary-Bullie took that for best Hybrid, and Mr. Francis' Hawfinch for best Hardbill. Mr. Hose, the popular secretary, was successful in the Softbill section with his charming Wagtail entered in the member class. Mr. Ezra was the winner in the Foreign Bird section. The members' classes filled well, and the following were the awards:—

LOANHEAD C.B.S.

Seventh annual show held Oct. 11 in Masonic Hall and proved to be the best ever held by the society; the entry totalled 270, and some grand birds were to be found in every section, the money taken at the door was a record, and at four o'clock, when ex-Provost Kerr and his lady presented prizes, the hall was well filled. The following were the cup and medal winners:—Scotch Fancy, Mr. W. R. Dunn; Bord. cup and medal, A. and W. Thomson; Nor. cup and medal, W. H. Nelson; Brit. or Mule gold medal, W. B. Smart; and best runner-up medal, J. Skinner with a nice variegs. Buff Nor. hen.—W. B. Smart. (From the catalogue received we gather that the principal winners were:—Scotch Fancy King, Carson, Smart, Dunn, Gilchrist, Steele, Jardine; Bord., Smart, Nelson, Smith, Hamilton, Thomson, Greig, Stirling, Douglas, Pearson, Gilchrist Fisher; Nor., Nelson, Pearson, Dunn, Skinner, Hamilton, Gilchrist, Smart, Fisher; Brit., Smith, Steele, Smart.—Ed.)

SUCCESS AT SELKIRK.

A Border Fancy Disqualified for Being Rung.

Selkirk O.S. held its 25th annual show in the Volunteer Hall, Oct. 11. The shows for many years have been held in the Union Hall, but this year the Committee again engaged one of the finest halls in the district, ample room for everything, nice light and free from draughts. The society has quite a host of patrons, and a capable lot of officers, all pulling the same way to success. In Mr. Jas. Robertson the society possesses a hard working and obliging secretary, managing the reins in satisfactory fashion, always ready to oblige all; he was ably assisted by a lot of hard-working committeemen, and an obliging assistant in Adam Gill, who is also Treasurer. We were pleased to be introduced to the President, Mr. Thomson, an old veteran, now enjoying a well-earned rest, the only survivor, we were told, of the original founders of the present B.F.C.C.; hale and hearty, and as enthusiastic as ever; many happy years yet for you, Mr. Thomson, is our earnest wish. The entry was down slightly from last year, but considering the backward season, and two classes less, it was very satisfactory. Quality was all there in every section. Mr. S. Bennett took the B.F.C.C. medal with a nice yell. cock, a very popular win; D. Henderson secured novice medal with 2nd in same class. Unfortunately a very wet afternoon told against the gate. The only regrettable feature we had to note was the disqualifying of one of the best Buff Greens in show owing to being rung, which is contrary to B.F.C.C. rules. The judge had no alternative. Mr. A. Hay, Berwick, judged.

The Critique.

BORD., CL. or TKD. YELL. CK. (13): 1, B.F.C.C. medal, Bennett, cl., grand type and qual., lovely head and wings, well carried, rich sound col.; 2, Henderson, cl., neat head, nicely moulded body, if anything, hardly so well filled in back, takes nov. B.F.C.C. medal; 3, Miss Hodgson, sweet grizzle back, nice carr., well carried wings, fails a little in back; 4, Potts, head tick, grand head and chest, nicely cut away behind, inclined to cross wings at times; vhc, he, Large; c, Johnstone. HEN (12): 1, 3, Lloyd, grand pair, leader cl., correct type, nicely moulded, grandly cut behind; 3, grizzle neck, similar, if anything not so well cut away behind; 2, Brockie, cl., rich col., best of balanced wings on typical body, not so nicely rounded on head; 4, Large, nice type, gay and jaunty, beaten only in feather; vhc, Gill; hc, Young; c, Peel. BUFF CK. (12): 1, Lloyd, cl., rare type, nicely moulded, grand V wings, nice pipe tail, runner-up for medal; 2, Halliday, cl., sweetly moulded head, nicely cut underneath, just heavy enough in body; 3, Wood, cl., neat stamp, rich col., might be a bit better filled in back; 4, Brockie, cl., close up, little to choose between 3rd; vhc, Philip; he, Johnstone; c, Large. HEN (13): 1, Young, cl., stormer for size and col., grand head and wings, very like a cock; 2, Miss Hodgson, sweet lady, cl., rare head, chest well moulded, beaten in col.; 3, Brockie, grizzle cap, grandly cut, rare wings and tail, hardly so well rounded in body; 4, Halliday, cl., similar to 2nd, grand feather, beaten in back; vhc, Johnstone; he, Bennett; c, Torrie. EVEN MKD. (6): 1, Hyde's sp., Hart, Buff, heavy wing mkd., neat type, nice eye markings, set down in grand condition; 2, 3, vhc, Watson, leading with a grand buff, best mkd. in class, scarcely ready yet; 3rd, also buff, neatly mkd. eyes and wings, correct type, not so finely drawn underneath; 4, Mrs. Hart, also buff, fails in condition, only wants time: absent, Bates. VAR. YELL. (6): 1, 3, Henderson, head and wing mkd. leading, grand depth of col., boxy feather, well put down; 3rd, cap and wings mkd., nicely moulded, well cut away behind, hardly so rich in col.; 2, Philip, cheek and wing mkd., rare head, well rounded, best of wings and tail, scarcely ready yet; 4, Large, eyes and l. wing mkd., like wax, sweet head and neck, well cut away, close up; vhc, Johnstone. BUFF (6): 1, Young, almost even, rare type, very jaunty, sweet body, feathered like velvet; 2, Halliday, cap and thigh mkd., enormous depth of col., grand back end, but just a shade heavy in neck; 3, 4, Henderson, leading with a nice 3-pointed, gaudly rounded head and chest, hardly so well filled in back; 4th, eye and wings mkd., neat one, but on the heavy side; vhc, Govan; absent, Bates. GREEN YELL. (11): 1, Murray, old warrior, looking better than ever, rich grass throughout, well put down; 2, 4, Lambie, grand pair leading with a clinking Cinn., nicely laced, would have won, but hardly ready in eyes yet; 4th, rich col., finely drawn out markings lovely wings and tail; 3, Greenwell, correct type, dense colouring, hardly so neatly pencilled on back as winners; vhc, Johnstone; he, Blaikie; c, Arnott. BUFF (6): 1, Johnstone, typical rich col., rare pencilling, well lashed on sides; 2, 3, Lambie; 2nd, little to choose from winner, as good in col. and pencilling, hardly as distinct on sides; 3rd, rare Cinn., but, like the yell., not ready in cheeks, will be heard of; 4, Murray, grand col and markings, not so sweetly moulded in chest and body; vhc, Peel; disq., Greenwell, best in class, hard lines, not allowed in competition with ring legs at a club show. Take the ring off next time. Mr. G., it will pay you to replace it on arrival home from club shows. SELL. (6): Grand lot of bargains; 1, Gill; 2, Young; 3, Miss Hodgson; 4, Bennet; vhc, Murray; hc, Potts. NOR. CK. (6): 1, Wilson, cl. buff, Bullie chest, nice body, well carried wings, plenty width of skull; 2, 3, Cameron, leader cl. buff, hot col., grand skull and front, just a shade weak in back end; 3rd, neck mkd. buff, fine type, rich col., plenty of subs., beaten in feather; 4th (name omitted.—Ed.), hottest col. in class, cl. yell., rare body, takes spls. for best Nor. and best bird confined; vhc, Reid; c, Govan. HEN (5): 1, 2, Cameron, leader cl. yell., a topper, best in show, lovely Bullie body, grand depth of col., ideal exhibit; 2nd buff, rare broad skull, neat wings, and tail carried well, not so silky in feather; 3, Wilson, cl. buff, nice type, steady, and carries wings well, beaten only in feather; 4, Thomson, neat type, hard lines meeting winners: vhc, Govan. DK. MULE (3): 1, 2, Lawson, neat hot fed Linties, grand size and well put down; 3, Arnott, also Linnet, nat. col., grand size, not so fine in feather. GOLDF., etc. (3): 1, Wilson, enormous sized Bullie, rich salmon chest, grand wing and bars, ebony cap, wins well; 2, Pringle, Goldie, rare size, nicely mooned, rich chestnut col., deep blaze; 3, Dick, Goldie, small, still a nice one. LINNET, etc. (14): Grand class: 1, Bruce, clinking hot fed Siskin, enormous size, wonderful cap, grandly marked; 2, Southern, Lesser Redpoll, rare size, very steady, nicely laced flanks, presses winner hard; 3, c, Laird and Matthew, nice Twite, steady as a rock, grandly pencilled, hardly ready yet; 4, Welsh, Linnet, grand size, steady, grand pencilling, might be a little richer in col.; vhc, Dick; he, Reid. HARDBILL (6): 1, Galbraith, Bramble, grand size, steady, finely spangled, distinct wing bars; 2, Southern, Bramble, similar size, little to choose, if anything, fails a little in flanks; 3, Pringle, Bramble, fine size, beaten in col.; 4, Laidlaw, nice Cirl, company too good to-day; vhc, Laird and Matthew; hc, Currie. SOFTBILL (1): 1, Reid, real good Ring Ouzel, steady as a rock, just a few feathers in tail damaged. SELL. (2): 1, Reid; 2, Bruce; 3, Laird and Matthew; 4, Dagger; vhc, Welsh; c, Laidlaw.

PONTARDAWE.

A very nice schedule had been sent out by the Pontardawe and Swansea Valley F.S. for its annual show in the Public Hall, Pontardawe, Oct. 9th. Mr. House, however, who judged, had nearly eighty classes allotted to him in this and other sections, too much for any man. It would be well if the South Wales and Monmouthshire Federation of F.S. gave their attention to this matter. Many South Wales fixtures err in this respect. The entry was good, and some capital birds were on view, the quality being really excellent, and promising keen competition for the shows yet to come. Special for best in Canary other than Norwich fell to a smart little Border shown by Mr. Jenkinson, Swansea. Norwich, although not a large entry, were of grand quality, and when they have tightened up a bit many of them will do some winning. Mr. E. Lewis won special with a very rich coloured grandly mealed buff. Mr. Russell staged a grand team of Yorkshires. Britishers were hardly up to South Wales form. Not a single entry was present from Swansea, due, we heard, to local jealousy. This seems strange, considering the strength of the Swansea fanciers. Mr. Willie Davies won the special with a grand coloured Linnet. Mr. W. Jenkins, sec., was most indefatigable and courteous in the discharge of his duties, and his efforts were well endorsed by Mr. John Symonds, who acted as show manager. Another excellent officer is Mr. Tom G. Williams, who looks after the exchequer. These three worthies were grandly supported by the following enthusiastic, earnest band of fanciers, who acted as committeemen: Messrs. Geo. Symonds, W. Palmer, H. Poll, W. Worthing, W. L. Davies, Fred Hapgood; John Rees, J. D. Williams, F. Butler, E. Morgans, D. J. Davies, D. Morgans, J. Pearce, F. Suff, Arthur Williams, and Tom Davies, who did their work well. Mr. C. A. House judged, and got through his task in a most satisfactory manner.

The Critique.

NOR. YELL. (4): 2, Lewis, grand even col., lovely qual., well carried wings and tail, nicely shown; 3, Ewart Davies, not so warm in col., but beautifully feathered, stands well across the perch; 4, Hitchings; W.C., Greaves and Richards (a bun). BUFF (7): 1, sp, Lewis, splendid deep chest, rare col. and meal, beautifully feathered; 2, vhc, H. S. Davies, more stylish, lovely qual. and col., but crosses his wings at times; 3, Price, not quite so rich in col., capital feather, very showy, nice wings; 4, G. T. Jones, grand shape and col. HEN (6): 1, Hitchings, sweet little yell., lovely silky feather, sound level col., grand wings, tail, useful sort; 3, G. T. Jones, stout, shapely, nicely feathered buff variegs., not so smart; 4, Price, grand shapely yell; vhc, c, Watkin. YORKS. YELL. (10): 1, Russell, long, slim, neat bodied, close and silky in feather, rare legs, and knows how to use them; 2, hc, Watkins, sweet neck tkd., grand style, lovely wings and tail, full of qual.; 3, Owen, very long, stylish grizzle cap, nice wings and tail, not quite so slim; 4, Cook, nice shapely body, well feathered; vhc, East; c, Mack. BUFF (8): 1, Wotton, sleek in feather, neat head and shoulders, capital wings and tail, nicely staged; 2, Russell, not so long, but all there in style and shape, lovely feather; 3, Mock, shapely, stylish variegs., not quite so silky; 4, Cook, stylish and well feathered; vhc, Owen; hc, East; c, Dan Evans. HEN (8): 1, Russell, long, finely drawn variegs. buff, handicapped by her markings, but a Yorkie right through for type and feather; 2, Greeves and Richards, sweet little buff, sleek and slim, grand colour, rare style; 3, Cook, long, slim, well drawn yell., good wings, not tightened up yet; 4, c, Owen, heavily variegs. yell., not quite so silky in feather; vhc, T. J. Williams; hc, Mock. BORD. YELL. (4): 2, sp., best in show other than Nor., Jenkins, sweet, shapely hen, grand head and neck, lovely wings and tail, feathered like wax; 4th, lovely style and feather, not so slim; vhc, Beard; hc, Bowen. BUFF (5): 2, 3, Jenkins, typical exhibits, winner has it in slimness and swagger, grandly staged; 4, Price, very nice variegs., not quite so close in feather, good style; vhc, Bowen; hc Beard. LOCAL NOV. (5): 1, Poll, very shapely nicely feathered variegs. yell. C.B.; 3, Miss Gilbertson, nice stylish neck tkd. buff Yorks.; 4, E. J. Morgan, buff, not so smart; vhc, J. T. Price; hc, Clarke; c, D. J. Morgan. MULES (7): 1, 2, H. S. Davies, grand qual. Siskin-Can., very lightly marked, lovely condition; 2nd, large, good coloured, close feathered Greenf.-Siskin; 3, W. Lewis, lovely feathered, rich coloured variegs. buff Goldie; 4, no name, good sized, shapely, variegs. buff Goldie; vhc, Lloyd James; hc, Gape; c, Clarke. GOLDF. (7): 1, Wm. Lewis, lovely shape and size of blaze, nice body col., very steady, not ready; 2, 3, Morgan Thomas, more finished, but not so large in blaze, capital shape and style, nice wings and tail; 3rd, capital col. and feather, when ready may be the better of the two, but wants steadying; 4, vhc, Grey, neat blaze, nice bars, not so rich in chestnut; hc, Clarke. LINNET (5): 2, sp, best Brit., vhc, W. Davies, fine bold bird, lovely col., grandly mkd., nice pinions, tail, very steady; 3, Nicholas, capital col. and feather, not quite so sharply mkd. on chest, grand style and feather; 4, no name, fine big, good shaped bird, nice col. and marks, needs steadying; hc, member's sp., Clarke. SISKIN, ETC. (5): 2, no name, nice rich coloured Twite, beautifully mkd., very fine feather, stands well; 3, 4, Lucas Bros., large, shapely, well mkd. Mealy Redpoll, and a grand little Siskin, very rich col., and neatly mkd.; vhc, no name; hc, Lloyd James. A.O.V. (2): This class is given in catalogue as "cancelled," but two birds were staged, and judged: 3, no name, rich coloured, well mkd. Chaffinch, plenty of size, nice feather; 4, fine, big, well mkd. Bramble, not up in col., nice feather. SELL., 12s. 6d. (6): 2, c, G. T. Jones; 3, 4, Ewart Davies; vhc, W. E. Price; hc, Bowen.

PLYMOUTH'S SECOND LARGEST SHOW.

The Entry in the Open Classes an Easy Record.

Exhibitors Appreciate the Seven Money Prizes Per Class—Great Entry and Keen Fights for "Cage Birds" Diplomas and Specials.

The 40th annual show of the Western Counties O.S., Plymouth, was held in the Corn Exchange on Oct. 14th and 15th. The hall is one of the best in England, and the birds make a pretty spectacle as they are likely arranged on the society's own staging around the hall which is circular in shape. There is a most excellent light, and, as the weather was very bright, perfect conditions existed both for judging and for the numerous visitors who attended. Plymouth has always had a reputation second to none, both for quality and quantity, and this year's show was no exception to the rule. The show had an entry of 850, being the second largest in the history of the society, and the entry in the open classes easily constituted a record. In these an entry of 683 was obtained, being an average of 15 per class. The new prize scheme which the W.C.O.S. adopted, viz., seven money prizes in each class, no doubt attracted the increased support, as well it might, for we know of no other show giving such a liberal prize list for an 1s. 6d. entry fee as Plymouth.

Yorkshires headed the list with 135 in seven classes, an average of 20 per class, and some wonderful birds were in competition, notably Mr. R. L. Crisp's winning clear buff. If this bird had been competing for CAGE BIRDS coupon special he would have won, but, unfortunately, his owner omitted to nominate him, preferring a bird entered in another class. The coupon special went to the 2nd prize marked buff, owned by Mr. Dugmore. Throughout the Yorkshire section the judge, Mr. Battye, paid particular attention to quality, all the winners being tight and in the pink of condition. Mr. Stonelake's second prize in clear yellows, although a bit pale in colour, was greatly admired, and was claimed at catalogue price of £5.

Always First; and Always Will Be.

The Norwich always have been, and we think always will be, the feature of the show at Plymouth, so many well known and enthusiastic fanciers live in the Three Towns and district, and this year 186 faced the judge, Mr. Robson, who found it very difficult to spot the winners in the classes, which averaged 19 entries. Here again a second prize winner captured CAGE BIRDS coupon prize, Mr. Collings' 2nd in clear yellows, this also taking the 10s. for best champion coupon bird in the show. But for being a shade long, this specimen would be difficult to beat anywhere. Considerable comment was aroused owing to Messrs. Gill and Pethick's cap-marked yellow hen being cardless; did the judge doubt its sex? She certainly has a wonderful colour, but her owners assured us that she was the mother of several birds last season. Mr. E. Allsopp's winning non-flighted buff hen we greatly admired; seldom is a bird exhibited so excelling in true Norwich properties. The novice coupon prize was won by a buff hen belonging to Mr. R. Phillips (Marazion), which has wonderful body properties but fails a shade in head.

Crests numbered 87 in 10 classes, not so many as might have been expected, but some uncertainty as to the C.C.C. patronage may have accounted for this. Mr. F. G. Bale, of Barnstaple, exhibited a grand team, prominent among which was a 1913 variegated Crest hen which took special for best Crest, and also CAGE BIRDS diploma. She will certainly make a name for herself. The best class in the section was the novice Crest class, Miss Onslow winning 1st and 2nd, the leader also taking the novice coupon diploma.

Something Good in the Cinnamon Line.

Cinnamons were a great advance on any previous show of the W.C.O.S., there being 24 in two classes. The winning yellow, owned by Mr. Pope, of Plymouth, also won the A.O.V. coupon diploma, and pressed the cash special winner very hard, being considered by many to be the finest yellow shown in the West for several years. Border Fancies were a new variety down West, and under the patronage of the newly-formed S.B.C.C. the entries numbered 97 in 6 classes, an average of 16, which was very gratifying to the Society. Mr. G. H. Pratt's wonderful clear yellow was the champion of the section, a gem, to be sure, his list of honours including silver spoon for best Border and CAGE BIRDS coupon diploma for best champion Border. In the novices, Mr. Gingell's yellow wins the novice diploma.

Mules and Hybrids had 32 in two classes, the Bullfinch Hybrid class being cancelled. Mr. F. Collins's team, so well known in the West, was to the front again, his winning Light Hybrid, a beautiful four-pointed Goldie-Can., being awarded the coupon Hybrid diploma. British numbered 59 in 5 classes, and considering the limited classification, this must be reckoned a good entry. Winners of coupon diplomas were Messrs. Stephens and Gaved's well-known Chough in the Soft-billed competition, and Mr. E. Stevens's Bramble in the Hardbills.

A great deal of interest was evinced in the new competition instituted by CAGE BIRDS, and 82 birds were nominated for the different diplomas, competition, especially in the Canary classes, being very keen.

The work in connection with the show was, as usual, most ably carried out by the committee, Messrs. C. Garland, F. G. Snell, W. W. Smale, E. Lott, G. Pridham, C. Large, F. Wills, J. Bavage, W. Spilman, A. B. Brown, J. E. Rowe, G. N. Davey, and J. Ryder, assisted by other willing members. Mr. T. Pope again undertook the secretarial duties, having as his helpers Mr. C. E. Reed (an admirable assistant sec.), Miss W. A. Dyer, Mr. R. W. Pope, and Mr. E. S. Lugg. Messrs. Hutchings, Yates and Lee attended to the wants of the birds in a most thorough manner.

Among the visitors present we noticed Messrs. Lashbrook (Sidmouth), Boundy (Teath), Innes (Paignton), Rowe (St. Austell), Pascoe (Truro), and many other well-known Devonshire and Cornish fanciers, who make Plymouth show their general holiday.

Mr. H. W. Pattye judged Yorks., Borders, Mules and Brit., and Mr. J. Robson the remainder.

The Yorkshires and Norwich.

BROMLEY.

Bromley and W. Kent F.A. held its annual show Oct. 15, at the Drill Hall, Bromley. A fine building, but none too large for the exhibits. Our section was unfortunately somewhat down compared with other years, although many of the exhibits were first class in point of merit, particularly the Yorks, among which were to be found some real beauties. A few typical Borders were also on view, but exhibitors of the "wee gems" were no doubt saving their best for the club show next week. British were not numerous, but good, and all staged in fine fettle. The few members' classes were well filled. The cup winner proved to be Mr. Foxen's clear yell. Yorks., a bird of lovely type, colour and finish, the runner up being Mr. Steel's Norwich, which pressed it hard. The show was ably managed by Mr. A. T. Bellinger, who is a hard worker, and had everything well in hand. He was ably assisted by Mr. Foxen, and a good committee, consisting of Messrs. Stephens, Ford, Barber, and Poindestre. Special winners: Messrs. Borman, Presland, Jones, Green, Foxen, Baker, Fairman, Hayden, Kay, Offord, Francis, Juby, Williams, Steel, Ford and Dell. Mr. J. R. Robson judged.

The Critique.

MORPETH.

First Coupon Show in Northumberland —Keen Competition—Winner of Championship a Gem.

Morpeth C.B.S. annual show was held on Oct. 11, and, taken all over, the society was rewarded with a very good entry, although a slight increase was recorded on last year. Many breeders present were complaining of the slow moulting season among their stock, which probably accounted for the shortness. In the Norwich some good ones were out. The classes all over were good, some grand birds being among the winners. The CAGE BIRDS championship for best coupon bird in show was secured by a clear buff cock exceedingly well staged by Mr. Snowdon, a gem all over, rare size, splendid shape, and lovely short feather. The unlighted classes were hot, especially the hens, many birds out of the money being lit to get a prize in any ordinary competition. Cinnamons were a shade small in numbers, but of good type and quality. Yorks. were a good collection, and hard to separate. Mr. Crawhall accounting for sp. with one of his gems. Mules were good, the leader being a gem of a clear, well staged. Mr. Cowgill judged these classes, and comments on his awards were very few.

Borders were strong classes, and competition was very keen, some real gems being amongst the winners, outstanding specimens being the winning yell. hen and uneven buff hen, both staged in rare order; the 2nd prize yell cock, staged by Mr. J. Graham, won C.B. diploma. British were good all over, the Linnet class being strongly contested. We unfortunately heard a few remarks on the colour of some of them, but they were down in the prize list. The winning Goldie was in grand bloom for the time of the year. Not a single exhibit among the British was entered for C.B. Competition. What were the exhibitors thinking about, letting valuable prizes go begging? Mr. J. W. Brnee judged these classes, and his awards were well received. Mr. Cowling, the very hardworking and worthy sec., as usual, had everything in apple-pie order, and the staging beautifully arranged. He was ably assisted by an enthusiastic committee. The show was well patronised, and we hope to hear of a financial success.

WINDHILL.

A good entry and excellent management; Changes in the winners from last week.

The Windhill, Shipley, and Dis. C.B.S. held its annual exhibition Oct. 11, in the Carnegie Library Hall, Windhill. 420 birds were staged in 30 classes. Condition of the birds generally has improved a lot since last week at Great Horton, and changes amongst the winners resulted. Novices still roll up and fill their classes, except Norwich, which seem to be getting worse. It looks, in fact, as if one man is going to have it all to himself. The show was exceedingly well managed by the officials; the hard work was done in a very quiet and businesslike manner. The able and obliging show manager was Mr. Matt Broadley, and he was splendidly assisted by the stewards, Messrs. Bryant, Loug, Hall, Waltou, and Mason. The "gate-men" were Messrs. Harney, Booth, and Sutcliffe. Amongst the visitors was Mr. Dewhurst, the well-known British bird exhibitor of London. Mr. J. Robson judged.

ALL ENDS WELL AT LEEDS.

Exhibits Held Up on Account of Strike, but Superb Management Triumphs.

Magnificent Entry for "Cage Birds" Coupon Scheme.

Leeds C.B.S. held its 23rd annual open exhibition October 10 and 11. The Salem Lecture Hall, in which the function took place, is a most suitable rendezvous, roomy, void of draughts, well lighted, and in close proximity to the centre of the city. The entry numbered 575, in 10 classes. Birds generally one hears are "backward at coming forward," the majority not being properly through the moult.

Good Supporters and Officials.

The Society is supported by the Lord Mayor of Leeds (Mr. A. W. Bain), vicar of Leeds (Rev. Dr. Bickersteth), Alderman C. F. Tetley, R. F. Fox, Esq., Coun. N. G. Morrison, and Malcolm J. Kitchen, Esq. The President is Coun. N. G. Morrison, a most generous financial helper. The Committee of Management consists of well-known and well-tried fanciers, ably led by two such stalwarts as Mr. H. J. Maynard (chairman), and Mr. T. Baldwinson (vice-chair). The men who put their shoulders to the wheel are Messrs. C. E. Hall, J. Owen, W. Johnson, W. Britow, F. Farrar, J. Sykes, W. H. Norton, A. G. Rhodes, J. Chambers, H. Chew, E. Middleton, and E. Hattersley. Mr. E. Norton, treasurer, claims the entire confidence of the society; the right man in the right place. Mr. W. A. Wilson, the s.c., is one of the most indefatigable of workers, a pleasure to meet a genuine trier, and a capital controller. Mr. J. P. Moir makes a good right-hand man, assisting in the secretarial duties in no mean fashion. Stewards who gave their assistance willingly and efficiently were Messrs. Maynard, Longley, McMillan, Reed, jun., and E. Hattersley.

The Troublesome Strike.

On the eve of the show the officials were somewhat in a dilemma as to how the exhibits were to be conveyed from the stations to the show room. The streets of Leeds were all in an uproar, on account of the carters' strike. The Railway Companies would not take the responsibility of delivering. The police authorities were approached, and an escort granted, providing the Society could find men to fetch the birds on hand carts, but no one would venture nerve had vanished after the mounted police had made their baton charge a short time previous. During the evening (Thursday), a meeting was held, and at the request of the Lord Mayor, a truce was declared, and the difficulty was overcome, every entry being safely housed. Amongst the many visitors to the show, we saw and chatted with Messrs. J. Bailey, J. Thomas, L. Dykes, Dr. M. A. Wilson, "Pa" Mundell, A. Jarvis (late sec. Stocksbridge Soc.), and others.

Norwich made a most magnificent display, and were certainly the feature of the show. Admittedly many specimens were not fully dressed, being in "pen," especially about head and neck, yet one was surprised to find so many that looked so fit. Toppers were put down by Messrs. S. Cook, J. Thomas, J. E. Davies, Harland, Heap, and Mason. When such notable stables are represented, none can wonder at "eye-openers" being on view. Truly a glorious collection of "short and thick 'uns." In the novice section were more than one quite worthy of competing amongst the champions, and really possessing great merit. Magnificent specimens were those belonging to Messrs. J. Wilson, J. W. Ingham, A. Robinson, J. Smith, and J. Wilford.

Where were the "long and slim 'uns"?

Yorkshires, the birds of "grace and beauty," did not turn up as one expected. This district being the hot bed of the "long and slim 'une," our expectations were damped at such a meagre attendance. Maybe, Windhill Show, held on the Saturday, and being little removed from Leeds, claimed many that would no doubt have made their presence felt, had not the clashing took place. Although not numerous, a few real gems faced the music, Messrs. L. Dykes, Simeson, Pyman, and A. Radley taking the largest plums with charmers. Amongst the novice classes one could locate birds capable of doing well in the "upper circle," Messrs. Graham, Beckwith, Smith, and Hunt staging beauties.

The British and Mule section held some "cream," Messrs. Martin and Archer having some of their "fliers" on view. Mr. R. D. Parlett won well with his noted yellow Greenie-Canary, looking as well as ever. Mr. J. Davies and Dr. M. A. Wilson also put down fine teams in capital order. Foreign gave tone to the carnival, and were greatly admired. G. Fletcher (Sheffield), S. Beaty (Cheshire), and J. Chadwick (Bridlington) supporting with grand exhibits.

"Cage Birds" Championship Competition.

Without doubt, this very enterprising feature has gripped the Fancy to an unprecedented extent. The great entry obtained at this fixture, and the many strenuous battles that were fought to decide who should become possessors of the valuable cash specials and diplomas of honour, amply prove the popularity of this innovation. The scheme, by the remarks we heard at the show, satisfies everybody to the fullest extent, and it has taken on immensely. Great was the delight of Messrs. Martin and Archer, the Mule experts, when they heard of their success at the "first fence," with their noted Chaffinch-Greenfinch Hybrid. The novice cash spl. winner was Mr. J. Wilford, with a magnificent marked Buff Norwich, truly a gem all over, and the best youngster we have seen up to date. Take care of him, Mr. W., he will take some "knocking." Diplomas of honour were accounted for by the following: Yorks, Dr. W. Craig, Sheffield, with a slashing cheek-mkd. yell. cock, Mr. C. E. Hall, an eye-opener of a mkd. buff cock, claiming the diploma for Nor. Mr. L. Fallding put down a Waxwing in lovely bloom, that "pocketed" the Softbill honour. Yorks novice diploma, Mr. E. Toulson, Barnsley, a cl. yell. unflig. cock, full of true characteristics, and well worthy of the honour.

Sandiford's for hottest fed went to Mr. J. P. Moir, of Leeds, with a yell. Nor. cock, full of fire. Open points specials went to: Yorks., 1, Dykes; 2, Simeson. Nor.: 1, Thomas; 2, Cook. A.O.V.: 1, Barker. Sell.: 1, Shaw; 2, Quarmby. Brit.: 1, Dr. Wilson; 2, Davies and Martin and Archer (tie). For.: 1, Beaty; 2, Simpson. Nov. Yorks.: 1, Chew; 2, Hutchinson. Nov. Nor.: 1, Robinson; 2, Smith. The judges were Messrs. H. W. Battye and J. H. Roe, the former taking the even numbers.

The Open Sections.

YELL. YORKS. (11): 1, Simeson, tkd. eye and neck, straight as a pencil, fine length, beautifully clothed, lovely back, flights and tail, clever legs, greatly admired; 2, Dr. Craig, mkd. left cheek, more col., smooth as wax, lengthy, capital back and wing carr., pressed strenuously; 3, Dykes, cap mkd., superbly feathered, rare length, fine back and flights, when taking notes was down somewhat; 4, Simeson, lightly var., slim and upstanding, neat and narrow, full of true character, not quite the length; vhc, McDade; hc, Wilkinson Bros.; c, Chew. BUFF (11): 1, Simeson, wonderfully lengthy cl., tight as a Java, delightful back, perfectly carried flights, closely folded tail, well on leg, gem; 2, Bailey, mkd. eyes and neck, sinking feather, grand shape and length, best of legs, not quite steady, should improve; 3, Wilkinson Bros., mkd. neck, superior col., stands well, smooth as glass, not of the biggest, but of the best; 4, Chew, mkd. right wing and head, A1 qual., neatly frosted over capital col., straight up, lengthy, bit thick waisted; vhc, Dykes; hc, Radley; c, Jepson. YELL. HEN (8): 1, Dykes, mkd. left wing and eyes, superbly gowned, rich in col., delightful symmetry, nice length, quite a charmer; 2, Hall, sweetly moulded cl., grand stand and length, capital back and wing carr., well on leg, slighty behind in qual., yet very bonny damsel; 3, Jepheon, cl., rather pale col., yet A1 feather, neat and narrow, position one admires, shows for all she is worth; 4, Norton, cl., abundance of col., nice qual., good back and flights, neat tail, not quite ready, bit slack around throat; vhc, Wilkinson Bros.; hc, Beaumont; c, Dr. W. Craig. BUFF (12): 1, Pyman, mkd. wings and head, smooth as polished marble, slashing position, rare length, best of backs, lovely wing carr., wins; 2, Beaumont, cl., straight as a rush, magnificent feather, richly frosted, capital length, but raw about cheeks and eyes, will be a stormer shortly, grand exhibit; 3, Norton, lovely clothed cl., not a feather misplaced, A1 col., good length, lacks a little in position, yet a fine specimen, and worth her place; 4, Parkes, cl., capital feather, full of true character, shows well, clever legs, not big, but extremely choice; vhc, Simeson; hc, Dr. W. Craig; c, Hall. YELL UNFLIG. (6): 1, Dykes, beautifully wedge-shaped cl., superb qual. and col., delightful position, not overdone with length, otherwise a gem, and should do some winning; 2, Bailey, cl., more length, equal in pos., A1 feather, clever legs, not quite so neat in expression of head, still in pen; 3, Helliwell, very lengthy cl., slim and upstanding, nice back, good wings and tail, again not quite ready, but most promising; 4, Chew, extremely smart and stylish cl., smooth and of good col., stands well, had this have gone up one, no one need have grumbled; vhc, Gledhill; hc, Fowler. GILLINGHAM.

Gillingham F.A. held its annual show Oct. 9 and 10 in the Skating Rink. Our section was nicely staged in the roomy hall and as usual attracted many of the visitors. Unfortunately entries were down compared to previous years owing no doubt to clashing with the first London show, although we understand that many entries had to be returned owing to being sent in after the closing date. Cancelling of classes that were lacking sufficient entries further reduced the numbers. Nor. and Yorks. classes contained many birds of merit, special for best bird going to Mr. Wickham's grizzle capped buff, a bird of wonderful quality which also won CAGE BIRDS cash special and diploma for best Norwich. Mr. C. R. Bullen, of Bromley, won cash special and diploma for Yerks. In this competition there would have been about three times the number of competitors if the entries had not been returned. Mr. Hyde makes a capital sec., helpful and obliging. He was greatly assisted by Messrs. Wickham and Lancaster. In the absence of Mr. G. F. Khohler, M.P., the show was opened by the popular Mayor, G. Swain, Esq., who is also President of the Society. Mr. J. Robson judged.

NOR. (16): 1, spl., hc, Wickham, grand grizzle capped buff, wonderful qual. of feather, good type, nice shaped head, capital wings and tail, bonny bird; 2, Silk, typical yell., short and stunt, rare width of skull, good sound col., nice qual. of feather; 3, J. Silk, yell., shade higher on leg, but nice bodied bird, with neat full head, grand qual.; 4, Hobbs and Ruck, smart and typical, good sound rich col., neat head and wings, beaten size; vhc, Roberts; c, Smith. HEN: 1, Pitcher, lovely cl. buff, very typical, with plenty of subs., neat full head, good neck, nicely braced wing, A1 col. and qual.; 2, Wickham, shade stouter, bit fuller in head, nice short wings and tail, lovely qual., beaten in col. only; 3, Kew, smart yell., grand size and style, rare head and neck, good wings, stands well; 4, J. Silk, thick-set green, rare size, neat head and neck, low on leg; vhc, C. Silk; hc, Smith. UNFLIG. (18): 1, vhc, Pilcher, hot col., cl. buff, fine subs. and type, good style, beautifully mealed, nice head, well rounded front and back, A1 qual.; 2, 4, Wickham, smart yell., very typical, right across the perch, good short wings and tail, sound col., 4th smart buff, fails a bit in subs., but good full head, capital entrance, A1 qual.; 3, Hobbs and Ruck, hardly the size of winners, but very typical and full of qual.; hc, Covington; c, Acland. YORKS., HENS (9): 1, 4, Rayner, very smart upstanding buff, nice length, neat head, good shoulders and back, best of wings and neat tail, wins, 4th very smart buff, capital position, full of swank, a beauty for finish, beaten size; 2, Harvey, var., good size, very smart and jaunty, well up on leg, good head and well braced wings, sound qual.; 3, Bullen, cl. yell., shade heavier but a bony bird, grand position and style, nice clean rim, good back; vhc, Hinkley; hc, Johnson; c, Bullen. UNFLIGH. (12): 1, c, Austen, yell., grand position, very typical, good head and back, nice shoulder, smooth front, sound col., wins; 2, 3, Lockett, smart slim buff, nicely drawn, good head, capital shoulders and back, well braced wings, a good exhibit, 3rd hardly so good in shoulder but nicely cut away and lovely qual. of feather; 4, Covington, wing tkd. yell., smart but wee bit snaky, well up on leg, A1 qual.; vhc, Rayner; hc, Johnson.

A GOOD DISPLAY AT LOCHGELLY.

THE YORKSHIRE CANARY GOING AHEAD IN SCOTLAND.

The fourth annual show of the enterprising Lochgelly C.B.S. was held in the Drill Hall, on Oct. 11. The entry was a splendid one, over 800 birds being forward, but was back fully 100 on last year. Nevertheless, the show must be looked on as a great success, considering the bad breeding season most Scotch breeders have had, and that there were signs that the moult is scarcely over yet; this fact must have told against the entry, as many fanciers we met in the show had the complaint of birds not being ready to show. The management is a body of very capable fanciers, all of whom were working hard to make the show a success. Headed by the genial President, Mr. Thos. Wildridge, Vice-pres., Mr. M. Smith, Treas., Mr. T. Peel, Assistant Sec., Mr. Duff, a grand working committee, together with the stewards, Messrs. Sneddon, Logie, Anderson, McLeod, Melville, Strachan, Stewart, Muir, Marshall, Adamson, Smith, Henderson, McCue, Dinsire, Raith, and A. Wildridge, did a great deal of hard work in connection with the success of the show, while the secretary, Mr. R. Muir, who is a young fancier, and practically a novice in the work of carrying on a show, deserves a special word of commendation for the efficient way in which he carried out all his arrangements, and for his unfailing courtesy to all with whom he came in contact. There was a grand attendance, the hall being thronged all afternoon, and everything passed off pleasantly. The outstanding feature of the show was the Norwich, which averaged about 13 per class. Borders were a capital lot, averaging about 10 per class, some very good birds being shown, and the quality all over for an early show being splendid. The B.F.C.C. medal and Kelso Cup were won by Mr. W. Halliday with a very sweet wee yellow hen. Yorks. were very good all over, and seem to be catching on in Scotland, the average for 9 classes being about 12 per class, and some grand birds were present, notably Mr. Heggie's team, which will take some beating; but the outstanding bird was a grand young clear buff cock shown by Mr. Reilly, which won Clark Cup for best young Yorks.

Admirers of the "Bird o' Circle."

Scotch Fancies came up fairly well, and some birds of exceptional merit turned up, outstanding amongst them being the winning clear buff cock, staged by Mr. Stewart, Glasgow, who captured the rose bowl for the best Fancy. It was pleasing to see so many admirers of the bird of circle during the day; it was almost impossible to get past this part of the hall in the afternoon, so crowded was it. Is there to be a waking up in the Scots Fancy section? It is sadly needing it. Mr. Fulton was down to judge, but cried off at the last moment, Mr. J. F. Dewar taking his place. Crests and Crestbreds turned up poorly, many of the birds not being ready yet, and the bad breeding season has told its tale on the entries. The outstanding bird in the section was Mr. Whitton's Crest hen, who won the cup, a bird of good merit, and well worthy of her win. Mr. W. Paul judged and gave every satisfaction in his judging.

Norwich Plainheads showed up well, but the majority of the birds are not ready yet, being full of pipes and lacking finish. Quality was not up to previous years. Mr. Harris won the cup for best bird in show with his buff cock. In the young classes there were many promising ones. Mr. Martin's buff cock is one of the birds of promise. There was comment on some of the awards in this section, but the judge's task was not easy. Mules, British and Foreign were a grand lot, some splendid birds being forward, and the entry being very good, 227 birds being entered. The judges were: Scots Fancy, Mr. J. F. Dewar; Borders, Mr. Hy. Bennet; Yorks., Mr. R. B. Gibb; Crest and Crestbred, Mr. W. Paul; Norwich, Mr. A. G. Cameron; Mules, Brit. and For., Mr. R. Bald.

The Mystic Skeleton.—Latest mystifying conjuring trick; anyone can do it, no skill required. A jointed figure of a skeleton, 11in. in height, will dance to music, lie down, and perform various gyrations and movements, while the operator may be at any distance from it. May be examined by the spectators, and when handed back the operator simply puts it on a chair or table, when it seemingly becomes endowed with life, and begins to move at the command of the operator, who may be in any part of the room. It is similar to the wonderful skeleton used by Prof. Pepper for public exhibitions, parlour and social gatherings, schools, etc. Never fails to create a sensation, last for years. Price 7d., three for 1/1, with full directions. Send for one to-day, and astonish your friends or the public. Large number of testimonials received. —Mr. H. C., near Truro, writes: "The Mystic Skeletons" are very satisfactory, and cause great amusement." It is posted free, from—F. Young, 5, Misterton, Somerset. (922)

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. Name and address to be reckoned. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

IMPORTANT NOTE. Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines, 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6, according to size.

ADVERTISEMENTS UNACCOMPANIED BY CORRECT REMITTANCE WILL NOT BE INSERTED.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS

Owing to the number of announcements received we cannot guarantee to repeat advertisements unless the previous Issue, Page, and Column are stated by the advertiser.

Advt. Manager. "Cage Birds"

ALWAYS USE OUR

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

NOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fractiou of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which me must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returued within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

NOTICE TO BIRD PURCHASERS.

It is advisable that all newly-purchased birds, especially foreign birds, be kept isolated from established stock for a week or ten days, until by their condition they establish the fact that they are thoroughly healthy.

JAPANESE BIRDLIME

Since I first placed this lime on the market many imitations have sprung up, but no other man sells the same kind of lime as myself. It is made to stand all weathers, guaranteed to hold in any fog or rain, and leaves the feathers of the birds clean; price, ¼lb., 6d.; ½lb., 10d.; 1lb., 1/6; large sample, 3d., all post free; packed in lever-topped airtight tins and full weight without tins. I have no agents, so if you would avoid imitations, send orders direct to W. Gore, Gooch-st., Birmingham. (961)

BIRDLIME! TRAP CAGES!

¼lb. sample, 7d.; ½lb., 1/-; 1lb. 1/8; post free; dealers write for terms; double trap cages, 1/6; bird lime, best in the world, real home-made, not foreign rubbish; guaranteed not to run in the sun; two tons sold last year. Thousands of testimonials; established 1879; send for catalogue: Sandiford, Bird Specialist, Preston, Lancs.; also 89, Sclater-st., Shoreditch, London.

ANOTHER RECORD

During last season I sold nearly 800 pairs of clap-nets; all were sent on approval on the distinct understanding that if they were in the slightest degree unsatisfactory I would immediately refund the whole of the purchasers' money. Despite this fact, not one pair were returned, nor was one single complaint received, but on the other hand, I received (and published) more testimonials than all other advertisers put together. This fact alone should prove to you who is the right man to supply really serviceable catching appliances. Clap-nets made from superfine thread netting, ¾-inch mesh, 3 yards long, 4/- pair; 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. All guaranteed 5½ feet deep and 4 feet fly. These clap-nets consist of two nets to the pair, and each net is guaranteed exact measurement as above. Price includes all pegs, poles, and lines, ready for immediate use, and are guaranteed the only nets on the market that are properly armed or reinforced all round. Loose netting, as used in above nets, made specially for bird catching, 7 feet deep, ¾-inch mesh, 3d. yard; ditto, 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12 feet deep, 5d. yard; all post free. "IT WILL BE OF GREAT SERVICE TO ME."

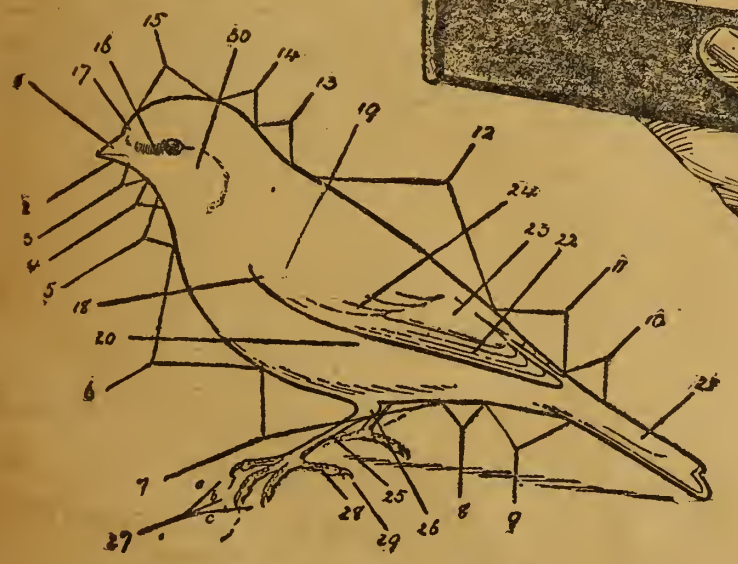
Dear Sir,— Macleod, Alberta, CANADA.

Book received in good condition. I think it is a first-class work, not only for amateurs and beginner, but I am sure that even breeders of long standing will find it of great benefit at all times. I am sure it will be of great service to me. Thanking you for your kind attention,

G. HUTTON.



"I AM SO DELIGHTED WITH IT."

Dear Sir,— 54, Woodbury Park Road, Tunbridge Wells.

I am pleased to say that your wonderful book, "Our Canaries," arrived quite safe on Saturday. It is just beautiful and could not be better. I am so delighted with it. Every spare minute I get I can't help picking it up. I keep a few Canaries as pets at present. I have nine, and shall find your book most useful.

Please accept my many thanks, and wishing you and your splendid volume every success.

M. BASS.

SCIENTIFIC CANARY-REARING.

Do you want to have the most up-to-date information regarding Canaries? All about the different varieties? How to rear them successfully for sale or exhibition? What to do when they are ailing? An artistic 20-page Brochure has been specially prepared for CAGE BIRDS readers, regarding these matters and other details of great interest to fanciers. It is a gift to you, and you are entitled to it free of charge.

In this booklet will be explained an easy method by which, for the small payment of 1s., you can be the immediate possessor of a magnificent volume entitled "Our Canaries." It weighs 5lbs., and contains 133 illustrations and 33 coloured plates. The balance is payable at the rate of about 1d. a day for a few months. This slight cost is not, of course, an expenditure at all, because the facts you will be put in possession of when you have read this wonderful manual on Canaries will pay for its cost many times over.

Cut round this Free "Brochure" Ticket dotted lines. Fill in your name, address and occupation, put it inside a halfpenny stamped envelope and post it to-day.

OVER 5,000 BIRD

lovers can testify to the value of our bird medicines. They are used by most leading fanciers, and are supplied to the London Zoological Society. No fancier should be without these medicines. They are perfectly safe, and can be fully relied upon. Keep a bottle by you; there are hundreds of birds lost annually for want of proper treatment at the right time. We guarantee to return every penny paid if our medicines fail to give you satisfaction. Ditchfield Tonic Drops are a guaranteed cure for soft moult, not singing, going light, dulness, feather plucking, diarrhoea, and inflammation of the bowels; in 7d., 1/1 and 2/- bottles. For bronchitis, wheezing, loss of voice and hoarseness, get Ditchfield's special Lung Tonic, also in 7d., 1/1 and 2/- bottles. This is absolutely the grandest medicine ever introduced for chest and lung affections in cage birds. To advertise our medicines we will send a 7d. bottle of each of the above medicines for 1/-, or two 1/1 bottles for 1/9. All medicines post paid per return. All bottles broken in transit replaced. Also two valuable seed recipes free. See last week's advert.: Frank Ditchfield, Bird Specialist, Oldham. (952)

ARE YOU LOOKING

for birds of tip top quality at rock bottom price? Birds that are thoroughly healthy, well on hard seed, and really worth keeping in a cage? If so, just give me one small trial order, and I venture to think that no matter how hard you are to please, the result will be entirely satisfactory to you. In the unlikely event of the birds not realising your every expectation, you cannot lose one penny, as I send all birds on approval at my risk, and unless perfectly satisfactory, they have only to be returned, and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. I am the originator of approval system in connection with bird birds, and during whole 22 years of my business career, have never traded on any other terms. I now have an enormous stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, all netted birds, in pink of health and feather, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 4/6, six 8/-, twelve 15/-; specially selected larger cock Goldfinches, to moult for show, muling or singing, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 15/-; few clean-moulted exhibition specimens, in superb condition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, every bird clean moulted, with nut brown backs, and rose-red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; large picked birds, guaranteed in song for muling, or contest singing, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; handsome lot cock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; picked yellows, for muling, 1/- each; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock or hen Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; magnificent lot clean moulted healthy Siskins, over 300 in stock, all thoroughly on hard seed, and in superb condition; cocks, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; specially picked exhibition specimens 3/-, 4/- and 5/- each; hens, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/6; splendid lot of plump, healthy, cock Larks, every bird warranted a cock, not half hens or skeletons, 8d each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked, steady young cocks for singing, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/- each. Special travelling cages, 3d. per 3 birds extra. Please note, although my advertisements are extensively copied, I have no connection whatever with any other man in the trade, and I claim to have more Worcestershire birds through my hands than all other advertisers together. No birds are sent out until feeding thoroughly well on the usual hard seed mixture, and sex is guaranteed in every instance. If you cannot sex birds yourself, it would please me for you to have my birds examined by a competent judge, so that you would know you are having what you pay for, as what is more annoying to a man, after he has been keeping a bird for months, waiting for it to sing, to find it turns out a hen. I have 22 years' reputation in the bird trade, and that reputation is behind every bird sent out.

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL LINNET KING
SPLENDID YELLOW COCK SISKINS

2/-, 3/-; extra large birds, with splendid cap and perfect bib, extra well laced, sure prize-winners, 4/6; these can win under any judge, as they are perfect. Extra large cock Bullfinches, 2/- and 3/-, real deck-sweepers; sure prize-winners, can win, 4/6. A Bullfinch I sold got first prize at Morley Show last year. Real English Peartree cock Goldfinches, the largest in England, 2/-, 3/-; and real prize-winners, 4/6. Extra large cock Linnets, for bench. My A1 specials can beat the world for steadiness, size, colour, and markings. These birds have won all over England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. They are noted for size and colour, 2/6, 3/6; and two that can win anywhere, 5/- each. Very large cock Twites, sure prize-winners for the bench, 3/-. These are good birds. Extra large yellow cock Greenfinches, like paint, 1/6; one, a real champion, can win, 2/-; he is a topper. Splendid cock Chaffinches, with splendid heads and grand wing bars, 1/6; real prize winners, 2/6. Splendid Redpolls, with grand cap and bib, well laced, sure winners; splendid cock Yellowhammers, the finest I have seen this year, splendid specimens for the bench, can win, 2/6 each; pairs, for aviaries, 1/6; Linnets from the same place as the champion Linnet of the world, they are singing grand and can run like Germans, 1/-; and extra good birds, 1/6. Now, I want all Linnet fanciers to try these birds, as they have won all over England, as they have splendid voices. Linnets, taught by the champion Linnet of the world, with new cage and my book of secrets, 3/6, 4/6, and 5/-. The above birds will sing indoors or out, and they are right for catching with. Try one of Harry's champions. Beautiful cock Larks, singing daylight and gaslight, a treat to hear, 1/6 and 2/-; hand-reared cock Larks, linger tame, will sing anywhere 3/-; and one with quality notes, a real contest singer, cannot be beaten, 4/6. I have the finest strain of quality Canary singing in England. Now, those who want a first-class contest bird, a sure winner, send to me; I know what is wanted; 7/6, 10/6; and the real champion, 15/-. When you hang one of these birds up, you will hear them say: By Ge dark, havn't it got a voice? and it's made more changes than any bird we have heard. So send to me and I will train you one to perfection. They are singing as soon as you put them on the rail. Now, boys, try one; everybody welcome to see and hear what they are buying. All secretaries of clubs write to me for list. Plenty in stock, no waiting. Only honest dealing done with me. The are all good birds, 100 cocks. Order early. Harry Allen, Bird Champion, City Aviaries, 50, Briggate-st., Leeds. (963)

E. W. ALLSOP

(late Hopkins and Allsopp, Swindon), having had a grand breeding season, both in number and youngsters of exceptional merit, now offers surplus pairs and single birds at reasonable prices. Special bargains are two buff hens, nest sisters to unflighted buff hen, "Welsh Queen," 1st Plymouth, over yellows, and reported "one of the best buffs out for years"; both excel in type, size and feather of wonderful quality, also nice round bold heads, and only fail to sister in being trifle free in feather. Fanciers having a medium size, close feathered yellow cock, without a worthy partner for next season, should secure one of these; price 50/- each. Matched pairs from 40/-; singles from 20/-. All approval, cash or deposit; inspection invited, bar Sunday, which I spend in looking at them myself; write now: 40, Beda-road, Canton, Cardiff. (948) has a fine lot of Norwich now ready, in grand condition. Single birds from 7/6 to 40/-; pairs, 15/- to 80/-. My birds have been winning for many years in some of the best shows in England, including Horticultural Hall and Crystal Palace, and have won several Championships. Prices of show birds on application. Every bird on approval, and if not satisfied money returned in full.—6, Banner Street, St. Luke's, London, E.C.

EXTRAORDINARY SUCCESSES.

Norwich sold direct from my rooms won at Longton, Leek, Exeter, Clapham, Hanley, Gillingham, Clay Cross, etc., etc., in open competition. Kindly note, every winner for sale at a reasonable figure. Grand show bird from 20/- upwards. Stock Birds from 20/- per pair. I have faith in what I send you. I know what is required to win. All birds sent on approval before payment. State requirements, to the Greatest Norwich Specialist:

JUDGE SILK, Whitstable.

SORT YOU WANT

Buff and yellow cocks, massive birds, some can win, 10/- to 40/-, pairs 15/- upwards, bred from my winners at leading shows; approval: Rev. Nunne, Harrington, Cumberland. (951)

Champion Exhibition Norwich

Having had a most successful breeding season, I can now offer one of the best selections of high-class Norwich Plainheads in the Fancy, for stock or exhibition, plenty of size and substance, grand colour, rare type and quality, feathered like silk, including some real toppers fit to win in keen competition. Yellow and Buff cocks from 10/6 to £6 each: Yellow and Buff hens, from 5/6 to £4 each; judiciously matched pairs from 12/6 to £10 a pair: this is a rare opportunity for fanciers to improve their stock, especially if size is required. Many winners have been supplied by me, including Palace and other leading exhibitions; hundreds of unsolicited testimonials received from the leading breeds and exhibitors in the Fancy; and for size, type, and quality I defy competition; state your requirements fully and about price you wish to pay, and I will guarantee to give you full satisfaction; all cold room bred; approval, cash or deposit: Warminger, 28, Guernsey-rd., Norwich. (959)

Pure Norwich

Have a few grand Norwich, young and year old, direct from our noted winning strain, also other noted strains, cocks or hens, Yellows or Buffs, from 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-, 12/- each; a few likely show specimens from 15/- to 20/-; any on approval; supplied more winners than anyone in England; for proof, write Editor, who has seen the originals; scores of them; breeder 20 years: Sandiford, Canary Breeder and Judge, Preston, Lancs.

YOU'VE NEVER KNOWN

the real merit of a Roller's song unless you have heard a Weber's Leipzig Roller, as imported by me. Instead of having one or two long drawn-out railway-whistle rolls, same as the ordinary Roller, their song consists of a splendid variety of musical changes entirely free from harshness and monotony. I have on hand a very large stock of cocks picked from first round of young, all are in free song, day and gaslight, with hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, gong and flute notes, and jug-jug of Nightingale, etc., price 6/6 and 7/6 each; hens, guaranteed same strain, 1/9 each, 3/- couple. I also have a splendid lot of perfectly trained Bandmasters in perfect song; these birds have exceptionally soft mellow notes, and excel in the deep bass and hollow tours; price, 10/6 and 12/6 each. For those who like a loud, noisy singer, I have a grand lot of Hartz cocks, all guaranteed in loud, free, vigorous song, just the thing for public bar or coffee house, where plenty of loud, noisy song is required; price 5/- each; seven for 29/9; singing box cages, 1/6 each; special Roller singing-cabinets, with loose fronts and folding doors, 2/6 and 4/- each; special travelling cages 3d. All birds are safely and warmly packed with food and water for 48-hour journey, and sent on full week's trial at my risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash, or same is deposited with Editor, and unless bird gives fullest satisfaction and realises your every expectation, the whole of the money is promptly returned. Please note following few unsolicited testimonials: "Jarrow, Oct. 9. Sir,—Received bird all right. He's a beauty, and if he turns out as good as he looks I shall be more than satisfied. Yours, Fred Bell." "Holly Bush, Maxwell Road, Bournemouth. Oct. 10th. Sir.—Birds arrived in splendid condition. I am delighted with them and shall remember you when ordering again. Yours, J. Stead." "7, Church Street, Gowerton, Oct. 10th. Sir,—Please send price list. I was in Gowerton Station on 8th, and there was a Canary in a cage sent from you to Mr. Thomas, of Wannarllwydd. He was singing beautiful, even shut up in the dark. I couldn't see him, but knew it was a Roller.—Yours, W. Lloyd." "188 Rectory Road, Gateshead, Oct. 10th. Sir,—Bird arrived safe on 7th inst., and gives every satisfaction. Yours, C. Rust." "12, Brockwell Street, Quebec, Co. Durham, Oct. 11th. Sir,—Bird arrived in good health, and I am highly satisfied with him. Thanking you for honest dealing. Yours, G. Johnson." All birds are stamped on wing, "Hans Weber, Leipzig," and I am only importer of this strain so send your orders to the fountain head if you would ensure getting a genuine Leipzig Roller. (961)

JARROW, HEBBURN, C.B.S.

Meeting, Oct. 16, in Victoria Hotel, Mr. Thompson in the chair. There was a good turn-out of members. Five new members—Messrs. W. Smith, W. Howden, J. Wilkinson, J. Baxter, and E. Harrison—elected. Mr. W. L. Smith gave a very interesting lecture on the Management of Canaries, but owing to shortness of time he consented to finish it at our next meeting. We hold next show the third week in January, 1914. Hearty invitation is given to all fanciers to come and join us.—W. Ayers, Sec.

LIVERPOOL B.B.A.

Monthly meeting held Oldham Hall, Oct. 9, Mr. J. Abbott in chair. One new member was elected and two were nominated to show as partners. This night was down for washing exhibition, but no birds turning up, Mr. J. Thornton was not able to give same. He gave us his views on washing and drying. Decided to hold special meeting Nov. 19, Oldham Hall, for washing competition by Messrs. J. W. Metcalfe, J. Lloyd, and G. Green. Afterwards novice washing competition; prizes will be given for same. Washers are requested to bring their own birds, etc.—J. Lloyd, Assist. Sec.

SOUTH COUNTY DUBLIN C.B.A.

Monthly meeting held Court House, Town Hall, Oct. 20. Mr. Dwyer occupied the chair, and Mr. Sholedice contributed a very interesting paper entitled "How to prepare our birds for show." Every sentence of this article was keenly followed. With regard to the washing process, the lecturer demonstrated very clearly the way this should be carried out. After the lecture a number of questions were asked, and were very efficiently disposed of. Schedule for annual show, Nov. 26 and 27. Decided to give 56 classes, including an "extra stock" class and "locals." The idea of the former is that members can enter their surplus stock at the small sum of sixpence per bird, which they are at liberty to dispose of during the show at their own price. With regard to local classes, decided that only those who have never won three first prizes will be eligible to compete, the other local exhibitors having to show in the open section. A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Sholedice for his kind services, and this terminated the meeting amidst great applause.—D. Smyth, Hon. Sec.

WEST OF FIFE C.B. LEAGUE.

At Lochgelly show, under the patronage of the above League, the respective societies have scored the following points:—Lochgelly, 158; Cowdenbeath, 80; Kelty, 48; Dunfermline, 38. Mr. Wm. Grewar (Lochgelly) won the points spl with 31 points.—Jas. Cordery, Sec.

BRADFORD WEST C.B.A.

Members' show at headquarters, "Shoulder of Mutton," Girlington, Oct. 29. It is hoped there will be a good entry. Judge, Mr. J. Bailey. All birds to be staged by 10 a.m. Entry fee, 6d. per cage. Entries to be made in sealed envelope night prior to show up to 9.30 p.m.—A. Cooper, Sec.

CLYDEBANK C.B.C.

Meeting held at St. Kilbowie-rd., Oct. 16. The members appointed to settle about uprights for annual show reported that they had settled with Messrs. Logie and Bowman. Mr. K. McMair was elected a member. Agreed to hold a special meeting Oct. 24 to settle prize money and allocate specials. Meeting closed with a vote of thanks to chairman.—Wm. Kane, Sec.

FORRES AND NORTHERN O.A.

Monthly meeting held Mechanics' Institute,, Mr. K. McLean chair. There was a grand turnout of members; one new one, Jas. McKenzie, was enrolled. A table show of Borders was held, with good entry, and some grand birds. Mr. K. McLean judged, and gave every satisfaction. BORD. CK.: 1, Campbell; 2, McLean; 3, McKenzie. HEN: 1, Campbell; 2, McLean; 3, McKenzie. Next meeting, Oct. 27.—Wm. Cumming, Sec.

COWDENBEATH C.B.S.

Meeting held Raith Arms, Mr. J. C. Murray in chair. List of specials was read, which met with approval. Decided to get estimates from Dick and Pennan for 27 dinners for judges, etc., also that the joiner get 5s., as usual, as he was of great service in the erecting of stands last year. The usual refreshment for those in attendance on night before show was also granted. Decided that each steward get a list of the train times for his section. Harry Baxter and Thomas Cowan at the door, as usual; also that we try to get Thomas Menzies as checker. Vote of thanks to chairman brought meeting to a close.—J. W. Holmes, Sec.

NORTH WEST GLASGOW C.BC.

Committee meetiug held Oct. 20. Class 43a (A.O.V. Canary, not classified) was omitted from schedule; members should make entries accordingly. Agreed that entry fee be 3d. per cage. Judges are:—Nor., A. Sloan; Yorks and Bords., C. Martin; Brit. and For., J. L. Burnett; Scotch Fancies, J. Anderson and G. Blackstock. Mr. Findlay intimated gift of £3 3s. cup for best young bird in hall, which was accepted with enthusiasm. Several other items in connection with show Nov. 8 were discussed, and the Sec. reported that the tickets were selling well. It is hoped that the members will be liberal with their entries, and so make our first show a success.—Wm. Loan, Sec.

SOUTH BIRMINGHAM O.S.

Meetiug held Oct. 8, Mr. J. Burke chair, before a moderate attendance. Agenda was chiefly connected with the final arrangements for the young stock show; the room being booked every Saturday up to Nov. 25, and as the majority of members prefer Saturday to Wednesday, as we can have daylight, and the birds on stage in good time, we shall try to have a room close to the present hotel, but members will be advised in time. Mr. Roe kindly consented to judge. Chairman proposed that a present of three pounds be made to the Sec. as an appreciation of his valuable work. Sec. thanked all, remarking that it was a very pleasant surprise, and said he was as keen as ever on the progress of the South Birmingham O.S., and as long as the members honoured him with the position of secretary, although a very trying position, and at times a very unthankful one, he would do his very best for all, and he still had hopes of seeing a membership of 100 by the members' show. —J. Sheppard, Sec.

LONDON C.B.A.

Meeting at the El Vino, 3, Piccadilly, Oct. 14. Mr. R. L. Crisp in the chair. Important matters in connection with annual show were dealt with, also large amount of business arising out of patronage of specialist clubs. Awards of merit were presented by the chairman to Messrs. Cook, Dewhurst, and Stevens. Messrs. Otford and Clark were not present to receive theirs. Mr. F. J. Evans (Hindhead) was nominated for membership. Not having sufficient competitors for the washing competition, Mr. Watcham and Mr. Dewhurst gave an exhibition on washing Canaries, describing fully their methods, etc. After the washiug exhibition, Mr. Easterling described his method of washing birds, and a most interesting discussion followed, in which Messrs. Allen Silver, Crisp, Penton, Cook, Stevens, and Boxall ably assisted. A vote of thanks to Messrs. Watcham and Dewhurst, also to the chairman closed the meeting. At a committee meeting held after, Mr. Evans was elected a member. At the next meeting Mr. R. L. Crisp will open a discussion on "Are Canaries Losing Stamina?" Due notice will be announced in the Fancy Press.—F. Knight, Press Corres.

NATIONAL BRITISH BIRD & M.C.

Committee meeting held at headquarters, the "Feathers," Gt. Chapel Street, Westminster, Sept. 25. Present: Messrs. J. Robson (chairman), J. Dewhurst, T. R. Trower, W. A. Shepherd, G. E. Weston, A. Silver, O. Puck, E. Shearman, E. Stephens, A. C. Askew, C. T. Maxwell, and Hon. Sec. Letter read from Mr. P. Walsh, Sheffield, offering gold medal for competition at Sheffield show. Carried that the medal be open to all, and that the following wording he printed in Sheffield schedule: "A gold medal, presented by the N.B.B. and M.C., by the kindness of Mr. P. Walsh, Sheffield, for most points in Hybrid and British section, open to all, but if won by a non-member of the N.B.B. and M. Club, winner must become a member before he can receive it." Medals already allotted to Sheffield show altered to: silver 2nd most points, bronze 3rd most points. Through the kindness of three members, the following additional medals have been allotted to the club show: Silver, presented by Mr. Puck, for best cage-moulted insectivorous bird smaller than a Wheatear (Dartford Warbler excluded), competitors are requested to state on entry form the length of time the bird has been caged; two silver medals, presented by Mr. T. R. Trower, in seedeaters and Insectivorous classes respectively, for most points gained by a member who has not previously won a medal; silver, presented by Mr. Weston, for best bird in the Hybrid, Seedeaters, and insectivorous classes. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the donors. Mr. Weston stated that the cost of reproducing the club's diploma would be about £4 for the die and 50 copies. Decided that the funds of the club would not meet the outlay at present, and the matter will be brought before the annual general meeting. Mr. Puck kindly offered to give a demonstration of his methods of preparing food for insectivorous birds. The chairman thanked Mr. Puck for his offer, and said he hoped other members would take part in the demonstration, and so make the meeting as interesting as possible. Cost of the club medals was gone into, and several members promised to submit medals to various makers for their estimates. Mr. G. Fletcher, Sheffield, and Mr. W. Fairhurst, Longsight, Manchester, were elected members. A vote of thanks to chair concluded the meeting.—J. P. Carr, Hon. Sec.

BURSLEM C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 9th, Mr. H. Hassal chair, to draw up schedule for annual show, allot specials for same, and to make new members. The last part of the agenda being the pleasantest, the chairman took it first, Mr. Wood, Lawton, Mr. R. Ratcliffe, and Mr. Dale, Shelton, being duly nominated and accepted as members. Decided to have six open classes at our show: Nor. unlighted yell., ditto buff, Yorkshire, yellow, ditto buff, Goldfinch or Bullfinch, Linnet, Siskin, Redpoll, or Twite. Mr. A. C. Brotherhood, Newport, will judge.—L. James,

METROPOLITAN C.B.A.

Monthly meeting held Kelvedon Hall, Walham Green, Oct. 16, Mr. Plank in chair. Schedule of annual show was passed, and specials (a long list) allotted. The special design of prize card was submitted, and stewards were elected. Secretary stated staging would be erected and birds received on evening previous to show from 8 p.m. till 10 p.m. Advertisements to be placed in Fancy Press and local papers. Letters were read from Messrs. Trower, Rudd, Hyde, and "Pearson's Weekly" offering specials. The Rev. A. H. Soames was elected a member. Members, sell as many tickets as possible, also make as big an entry as you can. Yearly subscription should be paid at once.—F. Moore, Hon. Sec.

BURNLEY O.S.

Meeting held Oct. 15, at Star Inn, Church Street. There was a good turn-up of members, Mr. Barwise in chair. Mr. T. Edwards presented gold medal to Mr. T. Lingard, the winner of the challenge cup at the first feather show, June 29. Proposed that we have several open classes for Nor., Yorks, and Brit. at our Cup Show, held Dec. 20. Decided at next meeting what number of open classes there will be. Mr. H. Rawson, 54, Red Lion Street, was appointed treasurer in place of Mr. J. Lingard. We have enrolled several new members this last week. Next meeting, Oct. 30. Chief business, arranging schedules, engaging judge, also arranging where show will be held.—G. Whittaker, Sec.

WESTGATE HOUSE CLUB & INST.

Sucessful decorated cage competition.

A decorated cage competition was held at Westgate House Club, Dartford, Oct. 8, for the children of members. Great interest was shown in the competition, and long before the doors opened a crowd of people were waiting for admission. The various exhibits were placed round the room, and it was evident to all who saw them that ingenuity is a quality highly developed in the families of Westgate House members. Some of the prettiest exhibits were an aeroplane with the cage containing the tiny songster forming the body of the plane; two good representations of the club house, a pretty little villa named "Redpoll Villa," a fort, a cage with a snow-laden branch of a tree over it bearing some stuffed birds, a motor-bus, and one or two lighted with electric light, which made them very attractive. Mr. A. Johnson distributed the prizes, and Messrs. C. and E. Youens judged the decorated cages. During the evening a concert was given by the following artists: Mr. T. Rust, jun., Mr. W. Rust, Mr. W. Crook, and Mr. H. Steel. Mrs. C. Armstrong presided at the piano. An added attraction was refreshment given gratuitously to the children, which was, of course, appreciated fully. Messrs. G. Peck, and T. Rust, sen., are to be congratulated on the huge success of the undertaking, and on their endeavour to encourage the children in the love and care for pet birds. The first twelve winners of boys and girls were:— Boys: 1 Saunders, 2 Relf, 3 Lee, 4 Williams, 5 Wilders, 6 West, 7 Relf, 8, Nesbitt, 9 Aldous, 10 Mayell, 11 Stevens, 12 Herbert (62 prizes). Girls: 1 F. Fletcher, 2 F. Tucker, 3 E. Smith, 4 W. Higgs, 5 E. Alders, 6 A. Newmans, 7 D. Lee, 8 E. Steel, 9 K. Petrson, 10 G. Wilders, 11 V. Bidwell, 12 N. Mayell (41 prizes).

CITY AND SUBURBAN A.C.B.

Meeting held Oct. 13, Church Institute, Paddington-st., Mr. F. Knight chair, Mr. V. Wynn, hon. sec., and 30 members present. Letter read from Mr. R. P. Harper and nominations for membership were received from Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Morgan. The Hon. Sec. presented statement of account which was passed as correct. Schedule for coming annual show was gone through, and with alterations to Foreign bird classes accepted. Mr. A. H. Curtis had arranged to give a washing exhibition, but unfortunately owing to sudden illness was prevented from attending; Mr. F. J. Martin, at a few hours' notice, kindly took his place, and gave members a very interesting lecture. Mr. Martin stated that though washing was a necessity he preferred to do without it as long as possible. Directly birds are through the moult spray three or four times a week; before washing be sure that birds are in tip top condition as otherwise all labour is lost and they stand no chance in competition. He believed in making work as light as possible and used only two bowls of water, to soften latter he boiled it beforehand and let it stand till cold. Sunlight or curd soap were satisfactory, but before using he reduced it to a liquid state as it lathers so much better. It was best to wash a bird a week before showing unless it was feathery, then the quicker it was shown after washing the better. Mr. Martin then washed a bird, using a toothbrush for flights, tail, and face, and a shaving brush for the body; after thoroughly rinsing the soap out he dried with a soft cloth and placed in drying cage. Mr. Martin was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks for his very interesting lecture and demonstration. Result of judging competition in Norwich Plainheads: 1, Mr. G. Bryant, 33 points; 2, Mr. N. C. Ellis, 31; 3, Mr. F. Thynne, 30. Mr. C. H. Withea took silver medal for best exhibit in wild seed competition. Vote of thanks to chairman closed the meeting.—Fred Thynne, Assist. Hon. Sec.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

DYSART.

The ninth annual show of the Dysart C.B.S. was held in the Masonic Hall, Dysart, Oct. 18. Considering the number of shows held on the same date, the entry of about 380 must be considered satisfactory. The number was slightly down on last year. Crest and C.B. classes were cancelled for want of entries, and Scotch Fanciers only averaged three per class; it behoves the fanciers in these varieties to give societies who cater for them more support, or the inevitable will happen, and the classes either be cut down or left out altogether. Borders were a fairly good show, averaging about ten per class, and some of the little 'uns were well worth looking at, notably, Mr. H. Bennet's medal-winning yellow hen, which was an object lesson to young fanciers, also Mr. Hutcheson's team of beauties, which won for him the Harris cup for most points. We understand the cup becomes his own property, he having won it twice previously, Norwich were a fair show, averaging about seven per class, and some good ones were forward, and very creditable for second teams, as several of the exhibitors had their first string on show at the City of Glasgow. British were fair, about seven per class, and the show as a whole was a credit to exhibitors, nearly every bird being shown in the pink of cleanliness. The executive are a rare band of workers, such as one meets with at most Fife shows, and vied with one another in making the show a success. President Mr. Walker was assisted by a large committee, comprising Messrs. Davidson, Bisset, Harris, Spence, McGregor, Traill, Duncan, Hutchison, Watson, Walker, Russell, Grubb, Kerr, sen., McCrae, J. O. Harris, Kidd, Gilmour, Christie Cockburn, and the genial sec. and treas., Mr. Jas. Logan, who was the ruling spirit when he arrived at the show, after an unavoidable detention. In his absence assist. sec., Mr. W. Russell, took charge, and deserves a special word of commendation for his courtesy and attention to all. The judges were: Scotch Fancy, Mr. Kerr, Dysart; Borders, Mr. Walker, Lesmahagow; Crests and Plainheads, Mr. Holmes, Edinburgh; Mules, Hybrids, and British, Mr. J. H. Adam, Glasgow, and their awards were generally well received.

GLASGOW'S GREAT ENTRY OF OVER 1,500 BIRDS.

Record Norwich Classes: Our Coupon Scheme an Immense Success.

The sixteenth annual show of the City of Glasgow O.A. was held Oct. 17 and 18, in the usual rendezvous, the Drill Hall, Stirling Road, Glasgow. Many fanciers from all parts meet here annually to open the season of battle, to deepen and renew old friendships and form new ones. Despite the fact that generally speaking this most popular show would benefit if held a fortnight later to enable some of the later bred birds to be finished moulting, yet it is many times and oft the place where the budding exhibitor makes his debut. We cannot recollect coming across a more willing and energetic body of funciers anywhere than is represented in the management of this show. From the President down to the humblest worker everyone did his duty to the utmost, in fact, it seemed a pleasure to each to be able to lend a helping hand, and toil and care were richly in evidence in every part of the hall. Mr. David Black is president, Mr. Frank Taylor vice-president, Mr. John Young secretary for Scots and Belgians, while Mr. R. Heggie steers the wheel for all other varieties. With such a quartette at the head of affairs failure would be almost impossible. Committee: Messrs. Aitkenhead, Bullions, Buchanan, Jardine, McIlwain, McClure, McMillan, McLaughlan Robertson, Stewart junr., Thomson Vernall, Hutchinson, Erskine, Craig, Sloan, McLay, Houston, Smart, Stewart, Fulton, Boyd, Jackson, Bowman. Auditors: Messrs. Fleming and Thom complete this indefatigable band of workers.

The City's "Best Ever."

The 18 classes provided for Norwich brought an entry of close on 400 birds, an average of 22 per class, a record for the city, and must have gratified the management of this popular and well-conducted exhibition. The classification might, with advantage, be extended in this section, especially in the non-fed classes; at one time there were four classes, why drop the other two? The unlighted classes also might be worthy of consideration for next year. Some of the classes were particularly strong and a right good lot they were, type and quality predominating all along the line. The variegated buff cock belonging to Mr. Robert Martin, a grand bird, won S.N.P.C. medal for best cock, for best Plainhead, sp. for best in classes, and also CAGE BIRDS Diploma best in section; Mr. Anthony Maxwell's yellow variegated winning medal for best hen also sp. best in classes.

Crests and Crestbreds were about the same average as usual, 11 per class, and quality was a leading feature. In this section the judges found the best bird in the hall, winner also of CAGE BIRDS champion 10s. sp, as well as sp for best in class, for its plucky owner Mr. John McLay, an almost green Crestbred cock, a champion without a doubt. Messrs. A. Chalmers and J. Winter judged Norwich, and Mr. G. Dobson Crests and Crestbred, and their decisions were well received.

Old Favourites Do Well Again.

The Scotch Fancy and Belgian sections formed quite a feature of the show; the classes, with one or two exceptions, being quite up to last year, which was considered almost a record. There were twenty-one classes, yell. pied and buffs being the strongest, the quality throughout was of the highest standard and the best for many years, exhibits being sent from all parts of England, Scotland, and Ireland. The Belgian section was under the patronage of the U.K.B.C.A., and the competition was so exceptionally keen in several of the classes that the referee's decision was often appealed to. The judges for this section were: Messrs. Allardice, A. M. Baird, W. Thornton, D. Caldwell, A. Clark, and T. Todd, and their decisions gave general satisfaction. CAGE BIRDS Diploma was won by Mr. G. T. Campbell, of Dalmuir. This was a very popular win and we congratulate him on his success. Mr. Dalgleish's old champion, 1st and sp. in the Yellow cock class, a noted winner, was in the opinion of many old fanciers considered the best bird in the hall, if not the best staged for many years, and still looking as well as ever. For the best young Scotch Fancy or Belgian in hall, the handsome silver Pattinson cup, was won again by the present holder, Mr. J. D. Brown, with a buff pied hen which took also Mr. Thomas Thomson's two-guinea sp for best Scotch Fancy bird in the hall, old or young. Mr. J. Dalgleish's buff cock, a young bird of exceptional merit was runner-up for the cup. In the Belgian section sp for best young bird was won by Bailie Wm. Robertson.

It is pleasing to note a very substantial increase in the Mule, British, and Foreign bird sections of the show, as well as to see the undoubtedly tip-top quality of the birds brought forward. CAGE BIRDS championship competition has fairly caught on and drew crowds round the judges whilst they were adjudicating, Mr. McLay's Crest ultimately being given the place of honour. Mr. Heggie's Clear Greenfinch Mule deservedly led the way in the Mule classes. This is a real good big bird, and should have a bright future in store. The winning Linnet was also an outstanding bird, and we hear it has changed into other hands. The Redpoll-Bullfinch Hybrid the first we have seen bred from the Mealy Redpoll, was a very interesting exhibit, and does credit to his owner.

Everybody's Feeling Just Bonny.

Entries totalled 1,500, a slight increase on last year's muster and those responsible have good reason to feel elated at the success and general excellence of the exhibition. Quality generally was up to the usual standard and an improvement was noticeable in the Crest and Yorkshire sections, the latter are improving by leaps and bounds, and the date, we fancy, is not far distant when our friends on the south of the Border will have to look to their laurels if they mean to keep in the run at Scottish fixtures. New life also sprung up in another direction. CAGE BIRDS cash sps and diplomas were in great demand throughout all the sections, and the innovation was hailed with unbounded appreciation, and its advent was voted an immense success. The gate money on Friday was above the average of first day's drawings and it was Saturday that gave its usual good account of itself. Sales were up, the yellow unflighted Norwich cock, 1st in its class was claimed by a fancier in the north at the catalogue price of £10; we wish the purchaser every success. The judges who are all well known and respected fanciers were duly supported with a good entry, and taking the awards all over their opinons were well received. Messrs. Allardice, Baird, Thornton, Caldwell, Clark, and Todd adjudicated on the Scots and Belgians, while Messrs. Chalmers and Winter took the Norwich. Crests and Crestbreds were put through their drills by Mr. G. Dobson. Dr. Syson judged Yorkshires and A.O.V. Canary. Borders were disposed of by Messrs. Craig and Walker, and the Mules British and Foreign had the attention of Messrs McQuiston and Raine.

TORQUAY.

This year the Torquay F. and F.A. extended the classification for its annual show, which was held in the Bath Saloons, on Oct. 16. Torquay has acquired a name for most businesslike management, and its show in all sections has shown most gratifying advance. Mr. A. Walker, the hon. sec., is a most indefatigable worker, and as courteous as he is energetic. He is supported by a grand set of committeemen, and thus everything in connection with the show works smoothly and well. For several years cage bird fanciers in the neighbouring districts have urged the executive to open the cage bird classification and not restrict it to members, as has been the custom. Yielding to those requests, they put on thirteen open classes. We know not if the number had anything to do with it or not, but it proved an unlucky venture, only three classes standing. The Torquay fanciers feel very strongly about the abstention of the Paignton fanciers. Mr. C. A. House judged the open classes, and Nor., Yorks, and Brit. in members; Mr. J. B. Dyer taking the remainder.

SWANSEA F.S.

The first annual show of the Swansea and Dist. F.S. was held in Market, October 15th, an admirable place for a show. Having a glass roof the light in the day time was everything to be desired, while at night it was brilliantly lit with electric light. The entry in our section was not as large as might have been wished, due no doubt to the show being held rather too early; still, what was lacking in quantity was made up in quality, some very fine exhibits being staged. Stewards Messrs. W. Martin and J. Hocking were assiduous in their attention to the wants of the exhibits, and everything passed off without the slightest hitch. The members are indeed fortunate in having as their president Mr. W. G. Camden, a gentleman who spared no expense to make the show the finest held locally. We understand that he guaranteed the difference between entry fees and prize money, and also engaged a band to discourse selections of music during the afternoon and evening, and we are pleased to note that he was rewarded by seeing this society have a bumper gate. A few more fanciers like him in Wales would be welcomed. The sec., Mr. E. Dendle, carried out his duties in a very efficient manner. Special for best in show was won by Mrs. Longden with a Red-naped Lorikeet, a really charming exhibit; that for best Brit. by Mr. W. J. Bancroft with a very nice Bramble; members' specials for best, second best, and third best by Mr. J. Hocking with a team of Borders, real wee gems. Mr. S. J. Nicholas judged.

LEINSTER O.S.

Meeting held Oct. 20, Mr. J. J. Cloke in the chair. Mr. Hawkins having notified his inability to exhibit at forthcoming show on Oct. 25 and 26, on account of the very sad loss he has sustained by the death of his good wife, the chairman moved the following resolution, the council standing:—"That this meeting, realising the very deep loss which our worthy vice-president has sustained by the death of his beloved and devoted wife, begs to express its heartfelt and profound sympathy with him in his very great loss." Correspondence in reference to the show was dealt with. Unanimously decided to alter Class 52 for foreign birds from its present reading to "Any Other Foreign Bird," so as to meet the requirements of some intending exhibitors. The hon. sec. was instructed to notify any exhibitor desirous of securing early return of birds that everything will be done to meet their requirements.—C. Holley, Hon. Sec.

Our foreign bird class, 52, should read: "Any other variety of foreign bird," writes Mr. C. Holley, hon. sec. Leinster O.S.

At Lochgelly show prize-money has all been paid, with the exception of a few specials yet to come in, writes Mr. R. Muir, the sec.

In the Yellow Bunting class at Clapham show, Mr. Askew was not first (as given in catalogue), but Mr. S. Jones, junr., of Llanelly.

Prize money won at Bromley show (members excepted) has been paid out, writes A. T. Bellinger, sec.; anyone overlooked, please write.

All prize money at Harrogate show has been paid out, writes Mr. G. H. Barnwell, and all birds from a distance were in railway company's hands by 6.30.

We hear that Mr. R. E. Griffith (Carnarvon) judges at Harlech show, and is hoping to be well supported with entries from members of the N.W.C.B.S.

OBITUARY.

With much regret, writes Mr. J. Locke (Brislington, Bristol), I inform you of the sad loss Mr. J. Wilshire has sustained in the death of his dear wife on Oct. 10. Our very deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. Wilshire. Mrs. Wilshire was one of the good, old-fashioned sort, just right for all branches of the Fancy. May God comfort Mr. Wilshire in his great trouble.

It it with deep regret, writes Mr. E. Thomas (sec. Cardiff C.B.S., that I have to inform you that Mr. W. Chedgey has lost his mother. I am sure he has the deepest sympathy of all the members of our society; our sympathy is extended also to Mr. Chedgey, senior, and his family.

All prize-money at Llandilo show has been paid, writes Mr. H. S. Davies, the sec., and we thank exhibitors for their support, and hope they will remember us next year.

I received an order, accompanied by 9d. stamps, for some privet berries, but the writer omitted both name and address. Will sender forward this?—Mrs. Teat (Ancaster Heath).

At the Craghead and Dis. C.B.S. meeting held Oct. 18, a schedule of 20 classes was drawn up for annual show, and it was left in secretary's hands to find a date for the show in December.

Blaydon Society has decided to increase the Yorkshire classes by two, and the Borders by four more classes, writes Mr. G. Havver, the sec. We are engaging a judge specially for the Borders.

Littleborough C.B.S. has fixed the 40th members' back-end show for Nov. 29, writes Mr. H. Woodhead, Hon. Sec. The show will be held in the Parish Church School. Mr. R. Schofield, Heywood, will judge.

I have bought "Nutshell" booklet No. 26, and find there is some splendid advice in it. I can honestly say that those keeping softbills without this Nutshell are likely to make their pets' health suffer.—E. Matthews (Lower Ince).

In your splendid report of Plymouth show you say in Border hen, class 1, 2, G. H. Pratt, leader yell., another wonderful pair from the Teignmouth aviaries. It should have been Exmouth, as it is a brother of mine at Teignmouth.—G. H. Pratt.

The North Wales C.B.S. have elected Mr. A. Hirst (Accrington) to judge open show held Boxing Day (Dec. 26). Fanciers in North Wales who wish to join the society should write Mr. R. E. Griffith, hon. sec. (5, Balaclava Rd., Carnarvon).

The committee of the Sheffield C.B.S. wish to thank all who helped by sending exhibits to their open show, writes Mr. J. Woolhouse; also all members and friends who gave their time and energy. Winning numbers of gift birds, 531, 995, 459, 574, 595, 86, 1004.

Entries are exceedingly short, writes Mr. A. H. Calcutt, hon. sec., Oxford F.S. (Kidlington, Oxon), and should be sent at once. Special No. 32 should read, "bred by and property of the exhibitor." Extra open special, 2s. 6d. for best commended bird in show.

Newark C.B.S. is holding its annual members' show Nov. 22 at the new headquarters, the Friendly Societies Club Rooms, Newark, writes Mr. W. Lidgett, the hon. sec. Mr. W. Brotherton, Rotherham, will judge.

Will fanciers of North Wales, writes Mr. Owen Thomas, 9, Station Rd., Bethesda, please note that we are holding Ogwen F. and F. show on Jan. 24, open to North Wales. I have taken up the duties of secretary this year.

The Aintree and Dis. F.S. annual members' show will be held Dec. 3, when Mr. L. S. Hamilton (Bootle) has kindly consented to judge, writes Mr. J. A. Anderson, the sec. It has been arranged to allow non-members to exhibit in the members' classes, prize-money on the sliding scale; entry fee, members 6d., non-members 9d. It is hoped there will be a general revival of "birdy men." Schedules may be had from me at 58, Long Lane, Aintree.

The October issue of "British Birds" Messrs. Witherby, 326, High Holborn, is mainly taken up by an educative and thoroughly interesting article by Mr. H. F. Witherby on "The Sequence of Plumages of the Rook." The article is illustrated by reproductions of photographs and photomicrographs, which throw much light on the disputed point as to whether the Rook gets its bare face through abrasion of the feathers or by a moult. The rest of the number is taken up by the usual notes, which contain much useful information.

Change of Judge at Manchester.

Mr. Vardy is unable to judge, owing to illness, and we have engaged Mr. A. Hirst to take his place, writes Mr. H. Boothman, sec. Manchester show.

Entries Extended.

Llandrindodd Wells to Oct. 25 postmark; Paignton (Torbay O.S.), to Oct. 27; Matlock to Oct. 27; Leicester Hand-in-Hand to first post Oct. 28; Leamington to first post Oct. 27.

Schedules Sent Out.

Schedules of the following shows have been sent out; anyone overlooked should write the respective secretaries: Kelty and Blairadam (A. Dickson, 37, Adam's Terrace, Kelty); Sheffield O.S. (E. C. Job, Wincobank, Sheffield).

Changes of Address.

We are asked to notify the following changes of address: Mr. C. P. Arthur, from Market Place to "Hillcrest," Melksham; Mr. T. Parker, from S. Shields to 32, Coronation Street, Wallsend; Mr. A. Harris from Lochgelly to 10, Union Street, Kirkcaldy.

Bodmin's Notable Specials.

At Bodmin show, Nov. 12, a challenge silver cup, value five guineas (to be won outright) will be given for most points in open cage-bird section, and a handsome brass thirty-day clock under glass shade (value 25s.) for most entries in open C.B. section, besides a large number of specials and full prize-money in every class guaranteed. Cage-birds are staged by themselves in Agar Hall (an ideal place), and show is well-known for its capable management. The judge is Mr. S. Tickell (Bodmin).

What Others Say!

And what YOU will say if you advertise next week.

"I find CAGE BIRDS the best advertising medium extant and wish your paper every success."—H. TEAT (Ancaster Heath).

"In the early part of this year I had a fair-sized advertisement of my Norwich Plainheads in CAGE BIRDS for one issue only, and this brought me the astonishing number of over 160 replies."—R. ANDERTON (Ashton-under Lyne), Member of the N.P. Club Council, etc.

"I should like to say I have had an enormous quantity of replies to my advertisement and am sorry I cannot see my way to reply to some who did not enclose stamps. I may also state I have no intention of going out of the Fancy, only reducing the birds to save trouble in removing."—R. G. METCALFE (Manchester).

"Please thank all who replied to my advt. which appeared solely in CAGE BIRDS of October 6th. I have sold the birds to a lady in the south of England. To all who enclosed a stamp I have replied by post. Letters came from as far as Aberdeen and down to the south coast of England, which speaks for itself."—E. GIBBONS (Stafford).

"I have had no less than 11 applications for the pair of Yorkshire Canaries and new breeding cage I advertised in last week's CAGE BIRDS. I wish CAGE BIRDS every success, for it has been the means of my selling several other birds through the one advertisement."—J. JEFFERIES (Bristol).

"In reply to my advt. I had letters from all parts of England, Scotland and Wales, and sold out the whole of my birds and cages through one small advt. It proves what a paper CAGE BIRDS is, and also the demand for Borders this year. Most of my stock have gone to Wales, and I hope their new owners will meet with success. I thank all fanciers who wrote me. I could not possibly answer all by letters."—T. MOORE (Clapham Junction).

There will be nearly 300 Norwich and Yorks and 400 foreign birds on view at the Richmond C.B.S. show, Oct. 25, in St. John's Hall, Richmond, writes Mr. W. Nichol, the hon. sec.

A Lady's "Good Bag."

A Lady in Tenby, Mrs. Smith (Rebleen House) has bred sixteen Norwich Canaries with one hen this season, writes Mr. Ewart Davies.

An Attraction at Portsmouth.

An attraction of Portsmouth show were a pair of Weavers and cage, with a nest built of fine tow. The nest was globular, rather long, with the entrance hole at the bottom, and suspended from a twig. Mr. H. Young (Portsmouth) sent them, not for competition.

Blaenavon's First Venture.

An open show is, we hear, to be held at Blaenavon on Nov. 20, and will be advertised in CAGE BIRDS in due course. Fanciers around South Wales are asked to well patronise this first attempt; the officials intend to do their utmost to give every satisfaction to all exhibitors.

YORKSHIRE UNION OF C.B.S.

Official Report upon the Halifax Show Disqualification Case.

Mr. H. W. Walsh, president, presided over a meeting of delegates at Halifax show on Oct. 18, to deal with the disqualification of Messrs. Ogden Bros.' yellow-marked hen, by Mr. C. A. House (judge), for alleged trimming of the eye-marks. Mr. House, on the invitation of the president, was asked to show the Council why he had disqualified the bird. He proceeded to do so, and after examining the bird stated that it was not the bird he had put out on the Friday, as that had a large bare patch over the eye, where the alleged trimming had taken place, and this bird had not. The Council then asked each of the stewards and officials who had seen the bird in Mr. House's hands on the Friday before the Council separately, and each declared that they saw the bare patch alluded to, but on examining the bird on the Saturday no such distinction could be found. One of these witnesses declared that the bird brought before the Council differed from the one disqualified in that it had not a dark feather in the flights with a white tip, which he had plainly seen on the Friday when the bird was disqualified. Some members of the Council pointed out a dark feather possessing a white tip but this he declared was not what he had seen on the Friday. The Council sought all the evidence which could possibly be brought before them, and after considering all the evidence given before them, they passed the following resolutions, after Mr. L. Ogden had stated faithfully that the bird in question was the one brought by them to the show on the Thursday night, and that the same had never been handled by a single person prior to its arriving at the show: (1) "The Council decided that from the evidence in respect to the exhibit No. 3 in Class 12, as given before the Council, they could not uphold the disqualification; (2) That Messrs. Ogden Bros. be exonerated from all blame of showing a bird for any fraudulent purposes at Halifax Show and (3) That the Halifax Show Committee be also exonerated from all blame." It is to be hoped by the passing of the above resolution that this will be the last heard of this unpleasant incident. The Council sat over two hours before all the witnesses and evidence in connection with the case had been disposed of.—H. Hill, Sec.

Extraordinary Disqualification Incident at Halifax Show.

Yorkshire Union Council Exonerate Exhibitors Concerned.

THE JUDGE AND SHOW OFFICIALS ALLEGE CHANGE OF BIRD.

There occurred at the show of the Halifax Ornithological Society on Friday last what, in consequence of the subsequent developments, may be described as one of the most sensational disqualifications the Cage-bird Fancy has ever known. From what we have been able to gather, it appears that in judging Class 12, "Evenly, Unevenly, or Heavily Variegated Hen," the judge, Mr. House, came across a bird whose appearance did not seem to him in accordance with the show regulations. He carefully examined it, and having convinced himself that his original view was correct, he proceeded to show the bird to his fellow judge, Mr. J. Trengrove, of Rishton, and to the members of the Halifax Committee who were assisting in the work of the show. This done, he replaced the bird in its cage, marked his judging slip with the word "disq.," and handed it to the secretary, Mr. Harry Clegg.

Later in the day, the judging having been finished, Mr. House wrote out a certificate of disqualification, in accordance with the rules of the Yorkshire Union, and this Mr. Clegg dispatched, with a covering letter, to Mr. H. Hill, the Union secretary.

A Point Unprovided For.

Mr. Clegg, at the time of the disqualification, asked if the bird should not be removed. Mr. House said the old rules provided for a disqualified bird being sent to the Union secretary, but he did not know how the present rules read in connection with such matters. Mr. Clegg referred to the Yorkshire Union Year Book, but nothing could be found as to the necessary procedure in such circumstances, except that the bird should be detained. This was interpreted that the bird was not to leave the show, and it was therefore left on the bench. In the light of subsequent events, Mr. Clegg's question becomes exceedingly pertinent.

Having received the certificate of disqualification, Mr. Hill proceeded to make arrangements for the calling together of the Yorkshire Union Council. This meeting took place in one of the rooms attached to the building in which the show was held, the Friendly and Trades' Hall. Five o'clock on Saturday was the time, and there was a good turn up of Councillors. The meeting having been opened, it was decided to invite Mr. House to come before the Council and state why he disqualified the bird in question.

On his entering the room, Mr. H. W. Walsh, the President of the Union, who was in the chair, addressing him said:—

"You disqualified this bird yesterday (the bird was on the table). Will you explain to us why you did it?"

Puzzled Judge Makes Serious Statement.

Mr. House caught the bird and proceeded to examine it. Replacing it in the cage, he hesitated for a moment in a puzzled manner, and then made the following statement:—

"Gentlemen: It is a serious thing for a judge to disqualify a bird, but I am about to do a more serious thing. It is a serious, and a bold, statement to make, but this is not the bird that I disqualified yesterday. The bird has been changed. I make this statement, fully realising how serious and important it is, and how great the consequences may be."

Something like consternation was depicted on the faces of the assembled Councillors at this startling statement, and several at once said, "This alters matters, the case is more serious still, and assumes another aspect altogether."

Mr. Walsh asked Mr. House if he was certain, and he replied "Yes, the bird has been changed. This is not the bird I disqualified."

A Councillor: "Can there have been a mistake in the number?"

Mr. House: "No. This is the correct number—Class 12, No. 3."

Mr. Harry Clegg, the secretary of the show, was then sent for.

Mr. Walsh: You saw Mr. House examine this bird yesterday; we want you to see him examine it now, and tell us what you think about it?

Mr. Clegg: I can do that easily enough.

Mr. House then caught the bird, and when he replaced it in the cage,

Mr. Clegg said, "Well, yesterday there was a large bare patch over the eye. I cannot see it now."

Mr. H. H. Towers (who had entered the room): The feathers cannot have grown since yesterday.

A Councillor: That's the point. Mr. House says the bird has been changed.

Mr. Towers: That's nonsense. It's quite impossible for the bird to have been changed. That's the bird right enough.

Mr. House: Mr. Chairman: As Mr. Towers was not in the room when I first examined the bird; it would, perhaps, be wise if I repeated what I have said.

Permission having been given, Mr. House repeated his previous statement.

Mr. Towers: It cannot be. That's the bird. May I ask what position the bird would have held had it not been disqualified?

The Alleged Differences Explained.

Mr. House: The bird was 2nd in the class. I never handle birds until I have placed them; it spoils a bird's chance, and it is not fair to handle birds—Yorkshires especially. The bird attracted my attention by its beautifully-finished marking. Those of the Council who remember the nice pear-like markings we used to see in the old even-marked days, will know what I mean when I say the eye markings were nicely finished. The bird I disqualified yesterday had those markings, one side being particularly good in its finish of the point behind the eye. The bird I disqualified was marked on one side in front of the eye, up to the beak; on the other side the marking did not extend in that manner. This bird has no marking in front of its eyes, therefore I say it is not the bird.

A Councillor: Had the eye marking been clipped?

Mr. House: I would not like to say it had been clipped. One side had certainly been plucked. The other looked as though the black marking in front of the eye had been tweezered, the points of the feather shortened to make it look neater and darker, and over one eye there was a large bare patch, from which the feathers had been removed to allow the top feather to fall down to give the eye the pear-like shape, which I have mentioned.

A Councillor: Is it possible a mistake has been made in the number? Cannot we have all the other birds here to see if the bird Mr. House disqualified is in another cage?

Mr. House: It will not be in another cage. They would not change the bird into someone else's cage.

It was decided to have all the class brought in. All the birds being on the table, Mr. House was asked to look and see if he could find the bird. After handling all the cages, he said, "The bird is not here, gentlemen."

Views of the Stewards, etc.

The Chairman: Who else saw the bird?

A Councillor: Did Mr. Ross see it?

Mr. House: I don't know the names of the officials, but Mr. Trengove, my fellow judge, saw it, and the members of the Committee who were acting as stewards.

Mr. Clegg: Mr. Ross saw it.

Mr. Ross was then sent for. On his arrival, Mr. House again examined the bird as before.

Mr. Ross: Yesterday there was a big bare patch over the eye. There is no bare patch there now.

A Councillor: Is that the same bird?

Mr. Ross: I would not like to say it was not. It is certainly like it.

The Chairman: Mr. House says this is not the bird, and that the bird he disqualified has been changed.

Mr. Ross, looking more closely at the bird, said "I never thought about the bird being changed. The bird Mr. House disqualified had a large bare patch over one eye. I saw it plainly, but I cannot see it now. From what I remember, the bird had more marking than this; it was marked higher up on the wing."

Turning to Mr. House: "There was a mark up on the shoulder, wasn't there?"

Mr. House: Yes, I believe so.

Mr. Towers: Mr. House says the bird has been changed. Do you think it has? Do you think it possible?

Mr. Ross: I cannot say; I have not been in the show all the time. I should not have thought it possible; but I know that I saw the bare place yesterday, and it's not there now.

Mr. Ross then sketched on a piece of paper in front of the President the shape of the bare patch which he had described.

Mr. Towers: You say the bare patch is not there, and you don't think the bird has been changed?

Mr. Ross: I cannot say.

Mr. Towers: Would you say it was impossible for the bird to have been changed?

A Councillor: It is not more impossible for the bird to have been changed than for the feathers to have grown in a night.

Mr. Clegg: It is strange, but when Mr. House disqualified the bird, I raised the point as to whether it ought not to be removed, but the rules only said it had to be detained. I wish now it had been taken away, although I cannot understand how it has been changed.

Mr. J. Robertshaw was then sent for. The same procedure was resorted to, and Mr. Robertshaw said, "Turn the feather up again, Mr. House." This was done. Mr. Robertshaw then said, "There was a bare patch over the eye yesterday, but it is not there now. I don't understand it."

The Question of Identity.

The Chairman: Mr. House says it is not the same bird. What do you think?

Mr. Robertshaw: Well, I don't know about that. But what I saw I will swear to, and that was that there was a big bare place over one eye; it's not there now, and there does not appear to be so much marking on the bird.

Mr. D. A. Macpherson was next sent for, and the same procedure gone through. Mr. Macpherson said, "There was a bare patch on head over the eye yesterday. I cannot see it now."

The Chairman: Mr. House says it is not the same bird.—Looking at the bird again, Mr. Macpherson said, "It's not the same bird. The bird disqualified had more marking, and it had a tip of white upon one of its marked wing feathers. This bird has not got that white spot on tip. I should say it is not the same bird."

Messrs. Ogden Bros. were then sent for. Mr. Luther Ogden only appeared.

The Chairman: Isn't your brother here?—Mr. Ogden: No.—The Chairman: Then we must take you as Ogden Bros. Mr. House says this is not the bird he disqualified, and that the bird has been changed.

Mr. Ogden: I know nothing about that. I have not changed it.

A Councillor: Did you know before you came to the show that this bird had been disqualified?

Mr. Ogden: The wife was here, and she telephoned me that one of our birds had been disqualified.

A Councillor: She did not tell you which bird?

Mr. Ogden: No, she did not, and she did not say what the disqualification was for.

Mr. House: It would only be fair, Mr. Chairman, that I should tell Mr. Ogden what I have already told the Council. The Chairman having assented, Mr. House then described what took place in the show at the time of disqualification, gave a description of the bird which he disqualified, and the differences between the bird and the one before the Council.

Mr. H. H. Towers: You have no knowledge of this bird being trimmed?

Mr. Ogden: No. The bird was not handled before being sent to the show; it was run out of the flight into the show cage and not touched.

A Councillor: Is it a bird of your own breeding, or is it one you have bought?

Mr. Ogden: It is one we had last season. It is the one that we meant sending to the National show at Bradford last December, and then did not send because Jim Bailey said he had a champion Even-marked that was going to win that class. He did not send though; we kept this bird at home and missed our chance.

A Councillor: Is it one out of your room, or from your brother Thompson's room?

Mr. Ogden: It is from my own room.

A Councillor: Then how was it that you said in the show this afternoon that you had not had the bird in your possession?

Mr. Ogden: I have not said I have not had the bird in my possession. I did say that I had not handled it.

A Councillor: I took that to mean it was a fresh bird. I thought that you would have handled one of your own before sending it to the show.

A Councillor: Has this bird been washed?

Mr. Ogden: No. As I have said, it was run out of the flight into the show cage.

Changing Emphatically Denied.

Mr. Towers: You have not changed the bird?—Mr. Ogden: No.

Mr. Towers: This is the same bird that you sent to the show?

Mr. Ogden: Yes, it is our bird right enough.

The Chairman: I think that will do, unless there are any more witnesses.

Mr. House: There is my steward. I don't know his name—a short, stout man.

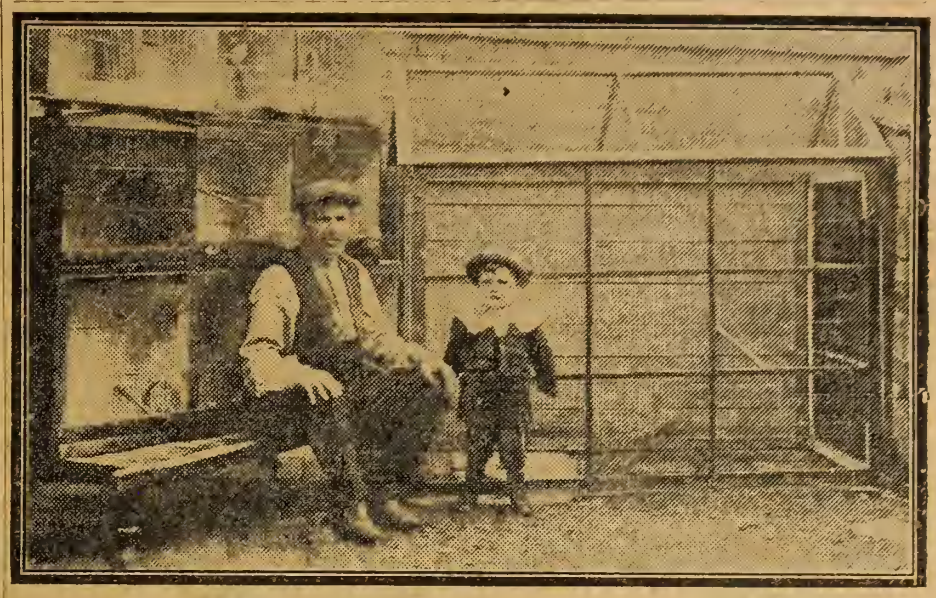
Mr. Clegg: Harry Hall.

Mr. Hall was sent for, but on being questioned by the Chairman, said he knew nothing about the matter.

The Chairman: If there are no more witnesses, or if the Council think they have heard enough, we can let these gentlemen go, and decide what we shall do.

Mr. R. Garnett: We have heard enough. I know what I think about it.

A Councillor: Yes, we have heard enough.



The witnesses then retired, and after considering the matter for three-quarters of an hour, the Council adopted the three following resolutions:—

(1) "That from the evidence in respect to the exhibit Class 12, No. 3, given before the Council, we cannot uphold the disqualification."

(2) "That Ogden Bros. be exonerated from all blame of showing a bird for fraudulent purposes."

(3) "That the Halifax Show Committee be exonerated from all blame."

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper, and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who desire letters of complaint written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Childrens' Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed to the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. only queries so sent will be answered. Post-cards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. Mules and Hybrids—H. Norman. British Birds—H. J. Fulljames. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S.. Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

RENEWING ENAMEL (Ignorant).—Certainly, it is quite safe to put fresh enamel on the insides of Canaries' cages when it becomes necessary on account of the former coat being worn off or discoloured. But you must, of course, remove the bird to another cage for a few days, whilst the job is done, and take care not to return it until the new coats of enamel have set and are perfectly dry. At this season a week from the time the last coat is applied is none too long to allow the cage to stand vacant to allow enamel to harden a little, and the smell to disappear.

PANTING HENS (Old Reader).—Squatting on the perch and panting violently as you say, is not sufficiently convincing data for one to say the birds have asthma. It may be merely the result of an overfed condition, which, considering your remark should consult St. John's "Canary Breeding for Beginners" (7d.); House's "Canary Manual" (1/2); Battye's "Yorkshire Canaries" (1/1½); House's "Norwich Canaries" (1/1); Weston's "Stock Book" (7d.); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping (1/1); Norman's "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); Ramsden's "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); "Seeds and Foods for Cage Birds" (1/2); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each) No. 5 "The Pet Canary," No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 10 "The Roller," No. 23 "The Border Canary," No. 24 "Green Canaries." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free, from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London E.C.

about colour-feeding, seems much more probable. If the birds are quite through the moult, and now off colour-food, put them in a flight cage, keep floor fairly free from husk, and strewn with clean gritty sand, and allow three moderate sized teaspoonfuls only of plain canary seed daily for the three birds. Twice a week, instead of giving plain canary, give one teaspoonful each of canary and summer rape and half a teaspoonful of millet, mixed together, and on these days give also a piece of bread and milk the size of a walnut, with six or eight drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it. Give a fairly liberal supply of fresh green food daily. Limit the diet strictly to this for a fortnight, and during the first week add 12 drops of syrup of buckthorn to the water every second day. In the next week substitute 20 drops of Chemical Food every second day. If the panting has not disappeared at the end of the fortnight, write again, and refer to this reply.

A GOOD SINGER (Undecided, Manchester).—The best and sweetest songster and the best-looking bird is a combination that does not exist. If you want the best in song you must, of necessity, yield much to appearance. You have been correctly informed as to a properly trained Roller being far ahead of any other variety for singing, but it is not correct to say it loses its song in a year or so. The question of preserving its song year after year is very much more one of management than of the breed of the bird. It is quite true that many Rollers deteriorate a good deal in the course of time, but so would any other breed if subjected to the treatment which is often meted out to the pet singer in the drawing-room window, or kitchen corner. As a matter of fact, the Roller is as hardy as any breed we possess, taking it as a whole, and given proper care and management will, as a rule, retain its song for many years, and show little depreciation in quality for some years, providing it is not kept in the company of common or untrained birds. Individuals, however, vary greatly in their readiness to acquire "bad notes" or show deterioration of quality generally. You will not get the best class of Roller for the sum you name, but should get a very nice singer of the type usually termed a trained St. Andreasburg Roller. Treat it generally as described in the Nutshell Booklet on the "Roller," which our Manager will send you post free for 2½d.

SWELLING ON NECK (W. Mayle).—Did not you see reply to "M. Cleary" last week about a similar matter? You make the same omissions concerning any attempt to describe the appearance, or precise position of the swelling, and it is most essential to have some knowledge on these points in all such cases if any useful advice is to be given. Querists generally should make a note of this. I should hardly expect a swelling the size you name to develop in a few days unless it was an air-sac, which, being on the neck, is not unlikely. Read reply last week, to which I have referred above, and if you are then still in doubt, write again, and describe the appearance of the substance as nearly as you can. For the present you may add ten drops of syrup of buckthorn to the drinking water for three consecutive days, and afterwards substitute six drops of tincture of gentian and four of dilute sulphuric acid daily for a few days.

SAWDUST OR SAND? (Will Pill).—It will be quite safe to use sawdust on the floor of your cage, as there is practically no risk of the birds picking it up and eating it. Keep a supply of gritty sand in a shallow vessel in one corner of the cage, and give such extras as maw, etc., in the egg-drawer. It will not really matter about giving dry seeds on the floor, as the birds will pick up these without eating any sawdust; but in any case, if placed in the egg-drawer, all such tit-bits are less liable to be soiled by droppings.

ROLLER-WHEEZING (Crest).—You should take particular notice whether there is any draught from the window on to the cages when the board is under the bottom sash. This may be the case if the birds hang high up or just above the middle and at the side of the window. If this is so, you must take the necessary steps to prevent it in future. Remove the birds further away from the window if necessary to maintain an equal temperature free from draught. Having done so, add a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it to the dietary every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days give 20 drops of the following mixture in the water: Two drachms each of glycerine and oxymel of squills, one drachm each of ipecacuanha wine and chlorodyne, and eight grains of iodide of potassium. Any chemist will mix this for you.

MAKES NO SOUND. (Novice).—There may not be anything seriously wrong with the bird. It is not unusual for cocks to cease singing during the breeding season. See reply to "Crest" in this issue, and treat your bird the same as therein advised. Also make up a paste with a teaspoonful of honey, ditto of cod liver oil emulsion, as much chlorate of potash as will cover a shilling, ditto of powdered grain of paradise. Place all on a hot plate and mix thoroughly into a soft paste, adding sufficient dry biscuit powder to make it about the consistency of butter. When cold, it will set a little harder, Cut a small cube and stick in wires as often as necessary.

HEATING BIRD-ROOM (Nimrod).—As the only question is what form of heating is best for your purpose, there are several adaptable to your needs from which you may choose. If gas is available, a small portable hot-water coil heated with a gas jet would be excellent, or a Clarke's Syphon Stove (see advert. in this issue) is one of the very best. Or a Bunsen burner on a slightly raised platform of bricks or iron, or small gas fire in stove, would be efficient and cleanly. If gas is not available, a small oil stove is about the only method of heating from inside open to you. I am assuming you cannot arrange to heat hot-water pipes with an outside boiler and furnace. In either of above methods have the stove or burner near or in the centre of the room, and get a tinsmith to make you a cover to go over it, and fit a pipe at the top leading to and joined with the end of the old stove-pipe in the corner, so as to collect and carry into the open air the fumes of combustion. The cover should be several inches larger each way than the stove, with ample ventilation around the bottom to feed flame with air, and should be of practically the same dimensions at the top as the bottom. A gramophone horn, as you suggest, would probably prove quite useless for this purpose. Your trouble with an ordinary coal-burning stove may have been due to the flue pipe being too narrow. The arrangement of your room is quite correct, but if you want to make any increase you should add staging along the west wall for tiers of cages. Make a double tier of roomy flights on the right-hand side of the window, and utilise the wall space on the left of the door as you enter for shelves, and a small cupboard, with top that will serve as a table, for the storage of seeds and sundry appliances.

MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by H. NORMAN.

MATING HAND-REARED LINNETS (Inniskilling).—There is no reason why you should not try your hand-reared Linnet another year for hybrid breeding. I would advise you to get a Goldfinch or Siskin cock (Goldfinch for preference) to mate with her. You mention the Bullfinch, but Bullfinch should consult Houlton's great work, "Cage-Bird Hybrids" (7/6); Norman's "British Bird Manual" Part 1 "Hardbills" (1/1), "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants" (1/2); "Secrets of Hybrid Breeding" (1/2); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping" (1/1); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each); No. 1 "Goldfinch," No. 2 "Linnet," No. 11 "Bullfinch," No. 13 "Chaffinch," No. 15 "Greenfinch," No. 22 "Siskin, Redpoll, and Twite," No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure Them," No. 9 "Disinfection of Cages, Birdrooms, etc.," No. 12 "How to Moult British Birds." hybrids are bred with the hen Bullfinch and cock Linnet. The cock Bullfinch cannot be relied upon to breed in captivity. Buy your Finch as soon as possible, get a young bird if you can of good size and colour, turn him in with the hen, and let them fly together all the winter. When the spring comes you must supply them with nesting materials, but you must not expect them to go to nest at once, as a rule hybrid pairs do not breed so early as ordinary wild birds or Canaries. If you are still inclined to try this fascinating part of our hobby, when the spring comes round you had better write again as there are several matters relating to the management of hybrid pairs that you may not be aware of.

BRITISH BIRDS.

Answered by H. J. FULLJAMES.

TOE TURNING UP (Hilda).—I am sorry I misunderstood your sketch. Catch the bird, and if you find that the toe is flexible, then, while someone else is holding the bird, tie the crooked toe to the one next it. Make two or three separate ties, with fine soft thread or silk, being careful to finish the knots underneath. Tie as securely as possible without impeding the circulation, and leave the two toes tied together for seven or eight weeks. Then remove the bonds, and see if the bird has recovered the use of the misplaced toe. If not, you must repeat and try again. I regret that you have had the trouble to write a second time.

BULLFINCH PLUCKING ITS BREAST FEATHERS (Perplexed).—The remedy depends upon the cause. Irritation of some sort is doubtless the origin of the habit, and this may be due to over-heating of the blood or to the attacks of some parasite. I think you had better make sure that there are no grey lice on the bird. If you hold it gently in your hand for a few minutes and these parasites are present, you will soon notice one or two of them crawling about your own hand. If you find this to be so, please write again. If the skin is too red in colour to be natural, dissolve in two tablespoonfuls of water as much sulphate of soda as will lie on a sixpence, and give this in place of the drinking water, repeating the dose twice a week for a fortnight, and afterwards once a week so long as the bowels do not become abnormally loose. Avoid hemp, niga, or other heating seeds, and give plenty of fresh green stuff, sweet apple, or as much fruit of any kind as the bird will eat. Put a little sulphur ointment on any bare places, not using sufficient to make a mess of the surrounding plumage, and a little flowers of sulphur may be sprinkled on whatever green food or fruit you give to the bird. If you will let me know further I will reply accordingly.

FRESH-CAUGHT GOLDFINCHES (H. H., W.).—You have probably been taking your young Goldfinches too early, but those caught after the end of September should get on to seed without much trouble. You must not, of course, expect them to thrive if placed at once on dry hard seed. They will have been feeding on freshly ripened wild seeds, and you should supply these in plenty to all newly-taken birds. Knapweed and thistle and dandelion heads form the best of all foods for freshly-caught Goldfinches, but almost any wild seeds will be eaten, and these should be supplied until the birds are gradually got on to the seeds which will ultimately form their ordinary fare. They will still require wild seeds in addition, and and if you get our Nutshell on the Goldfinch, 2½d. post free, you will find complete information as to their proper treatment.

INSECTIVOROUS BIRDS TOO FAT (Rex).—It is not often that I have to give an opinion that a reader is keeping his birds too well, but I really think you are overdoing the good things. No one believes more than I do in giving the best of food to birds in captivity, but it is possible for them to have too much of a good thing. For a little while add some plain powdered biscuit to the stock food you are giving, and give fewer mealworms. Make a solution of two ounces of sulphate of soda in a pint of water, and twice a week for a fortnight, and afterwards once a week, give a teaspoonful of this in the drinking water. The cream cheese, if given in excess, would also tend to produce the over-fatness and laziness of which you complain, and the quantity of this should be restricted, or left off altogether for a time. The "silver" sand you are using is probably of too dusty a nature, and I would recommend a good "bird sand" in place of this.

SEEDS FOR GREYPATE (A. Kneebone).—Cracked hempseed, teazel, thistle, and almost any wild seed you may be able to gather, especially thistle and dandelion heads, seeding groundsel, plantain, etc. Freshly gathered wild seeds are quite indispensable, for the birds will have been feeding on these, and a sudden change to dried seeds would be fatal. Valuable articles on wild seeds have recently appeared in CAGE BIRDS, and you should get "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants for Cage Birds," 1/1½ post free from our office. This contains a mine of information which no British bird-keeper should be without. (See also answer to H. H. W. this week.)

SHOW CAGE FOR CHOUGH (M. Fallding).—This should be large enough to enable the bird to show himself properly, but as little cumbersome as is consistent with this consideration. Of course, it must be in the "box" form, i.e., open only in front. Two thick perches, cut from a broomstick, should extend from back to front, and large vessels should be provided for food and water. A nice deepish blue or a holly green is a good colour for the inside, and it should be enamelled black on the outside. A reasonable size would be 3ft. long, 18in. high, and 15in. deep.

SHOW CAGES FOR LINNETS AND GOLDFINCHES (W. A. B.).—There is no arbitrary size, but when the National British Bird and M.C. devoted a considerable amount of attention to the matter it was decided to recommend for birds up to the size of a Twite a cage 11in. long, 9½ high, and 5 deep, bars of 16-gauge wire, ¾ mesh, bottom rail 1¾ inches, crossbar 1¾ inches above bottom rail. A cage of this sort would do either for a Linnet or Goldfinch, or, if you prefer one somewhat larger, then the second size would suit you, 12 x 10 x 5; other particulars as in smaller cage. The painting of the interior is quite a matter of taste. A nice holly green enamel would suit either bird, but many prefer various shades of blue. The bars should be painted the same colour as the interior.

A HEDGE SPARROW'S SONG (H. E. A.).—Certainly a Hedge Sparrow sings, and sings very nicely, too. Have you not heard in early spring during a walk along some suburban or country lane, a merry little song long before the ordinary occupants of the hedgerows would be in song? Next time you notice this look across the road to the top of the highest twig in the hedge, and there you will see Master Hedge Sparrow giving forth his song with evident pride at being one of the first choristers of spring.

REDSTART FOR EXHIBITION (Softbill).—If you mean the preparation which is necessary in light plumaged birds just before a show, then no such preparation is wanted in the case of a Redstart. If the bird is kept on proper food and in a scrupulously clean cage, as all birds should be, it will be ready for exhibition at any time after it has completed its moult, and no outside preparation will be needed. You will find full particulars as to its proper keeping in Nutshell No. 25, "The Smaller Insectivorous Birds," 2½d. post free from our Manager, or 2d. from your local newsagent or bird-shop keeper.

A BUDGET OF QUESTIONS (A. M.).—I am sorry that extreme pressure on our space this week entirely precludes my giving a proper answer to the many questions you send. I shall be glad to deal with them next week, and hope you will kindly excuse the unavoidable delay.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

VALUE OF HYBRIDS (Noggs).—I do not think the Silverbill and Bronze Mannikin cross has been reared in Great Britain before, though, given suitable breeding quarters, an odd Silverbill of either sex will mate itself with any other Mannikin or Grassfinch who will receive its attentions. Hitherto foreign hybrids have not had a high value, but if proper provision be made at respective bird shows, their value will soon increase. At the present time about 10s. each. An account of your success would be of interest to "C.B." readers.

DOWN QUILLS (R. M. A. Hess).—Possibly the cool and cold weather we have experienced has checked the moult a little, but I opine that matters will soon adjust themselves. Keep the bird in as warmish and regular temperature as your convenience permits. At the same time its quarters should be light and well ventilated, but you must carefully provide against draught. It will be wise to keep its bowels moving quite freely with an occasional dose (one teaspoonful in the drinking water) of Dinneford's Magnesia, but there must be no appearance of chronic diarrhœa. Continue your present diet, but slightly moisten the piece of toast with chilled water, and lightly dust with flowers of sulphur before giving to the bird. This may be given twice a day with advantage. An occasional Brazil nut or walnut (shelled or cracked) will also be wholesome, as also will be a small piece of lettuce when you happen to have it on the table. Half a teaspoonful of byno-phosphates in the drinking water every other day will also be a useful tonic. It should be sprayed weekly with tepid water if it does not bathe, but carefully guard against draught and consequent chill while plumage is wet.

BLUE-FRONTED AMAZON (W. Parker).—I take it you are feeding this bird according to Nutshell No. 17; if not, do so, with the addition of a little boiled maize daily; this only keeps fresh one day. Take a tablespoonful (not heaped), and boil till soft, drain off all water, lightly dust with flowers of sulphur, and when cool supply to the bird. If the bird will allow you to cleanse (bathe) the nostrils with the glyco-thymoline solution, so much the better, but continue its use. Give one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water, so long as there is no acute diarrhoea. Get from your chemist a box of honey and borax, and put a little in its mouth twice daily. Parrots usually take it freely from the end of a stick. Well cleanse the stick for such occasion. When not putting Magnesia in the water, put half a teaspoonful of byno-phosphates into the water regularly. Report progress in a few weeks. Keep in some warmish position, but it must also get plenty of fresh air without draught.

BUDGERIGARS AND GOULDIAN FINCHES (E. P. Barret).—The Budgies might breed at once, but birds usually take a few weeks or longer to settle down. Again, I do not advise your encouraging them to breed during the winter months; you may reasonably expect better results in the spring if they do not. The price of Gouldian Finches varies according to the size of respective consignments, say, 25s. to 35s. per pair, the Red-headed variety being the most costly. Aviary-bred birds are worth thirty to fifty per cent. more. It all depends on the nature of your aviary and your locality. If not too far north, and the situation is a dry one, and well sheltered, both Gouldians and Cordon Bleus can and do live and breed out of doors.

WHAT BIRD? AND ALARIO FINCHES (Old Reader).—The body sent was that of a Yellow-rumped Serin or Seedeater (Serinus angolensis). Re Alario Finches. The young males closely resemble the hen in nestling plumage, but it is probable that the young males may show a little more indication of the rufous-brown areas than the females, but I have not been able to put this supposition to the test yet. When adult, of course the rufous-brown areas and the black streak starting at the base of lower mandible and running down the centre of body, settle the question of sex at once.

RIBBON FINCH (Cutthroat).—I gather from your letter that this bird is kept in a cage, with probably only the regulation perches. If you fix a small twiggy branch to one of the perches, it will help matters; bathe the legs in as warm (hot) water as possible, so that it does not cause the bird any discomfort, and dry with a soft cloth, and paint with whisky or embrocation. Give it a couple of mealworms daily, and any spider or small beetle, earwig, etc., you can capture. A few nuts' eggs several times a week will also be of benefit, and a change of dietary also. Omit the hemp seed. Put half a teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the water every fourth day, and on intervening days a few drops of Chemical Food. It will be well to keep him fairly warm, but at the same time he must have air and light without draught.

WAXBILLS DYING (Andrews).—It is from the effects of overcrowding during importation, and also probably having access to unlimited water and sand, from which they are usually more or less debarred during importation, and in consequence take of it too greedily at first, to their own hurt. Waxbills are kept in many aviaries out of doors all the year round, but often they arrive in a somewhat enfeebled condition, and need careful nursing at first.

If you try any others put them in a cage by themselves at first, with a rush or coconut shell nest and a little hay, as sleeping quarters. Only scatter a very little sand at first on cage tray, and only give a little tepid water at first. Do not leave it in cage, but put it in at intervals, three times during the day will be ample, and for the first two days supply the water in a vessel too small for them to bathe in. If they are doing well on the second day, a shallow pan of chilled water may be given, but to be removed after they have quite damped themselves. Thus you can accustom them gradually to the use of that from which they have been denied for a time. Keep a millet spray in the cage, and give a mild laxative (fluid magnesia) in the water twice a week for the first month. Our Nutshell No. 20 would assist you greatly. It would be well to keep them in a cosy corner of your sitting-room for the first fortnight, but not away from light and air.

WHAT SPECIES? (D. McF.).—I am sorry, but I cannot be really definite even now. I believe your bird to be one of the larger Yellow Weavers, and in such case a seedeater, but the plumage of the species is so similar that apart from comparison with skins, naming is difficult. It may be a Gros-beak (seedeater) If the beak is very stout and stubby, but I take it to be a Weaver. Have you no local museum? With a sight of the bird and the aid of skins or set specimens, the Curator should be able to help you, or a very rough coloured sketch of the bird would enable me to do so.

RING-NECKED PARRAKEETS (Mixed).—(1) Yes, but known here mostly as Alexandrines. The one you refer to I take to be Palaeornis nepalensis. (2) Parrot and Parrakeet are terms somewhat promiscuously used, and a popular definition is not possible, but the bulk of the long-tails are among those called Parrakeets, and some short tails as well, but leaving tails out of the question it may be roughly said that the larger bodied birds are termed Parrots and the others Parrakeets. Lory and Lorikeet have practically the same significance. Re your bird, the main dietary should be seed mixture, ripe fruit, with grit, cuttlebone, and water. Extra to vary the dietary may be summed up as nuts, stale crusts, and biscuits. Do not give table scraps, tea, coffee, or milk sops, or any kind of animal food whatever. Keep the bowels moving freely by an occasional dose of Fluid Magnesia in the drinking water, also supply byno-phosphates and flowers of sulphur as directed in other Parrot replies in this issue.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Mr. W. Lear.—Roller Cock died as the result of a fit. The bird was in very robust condition, and contained an excess of fat, conducing to the disease.

Enteritis and its Causes (W. W. Despard).—The causes of enteritis may be primary and independent, or secondary, occurring in the course of other and usually specific disease. That affecting your birds appears to be primary, and may be due to the introduction of ptomaines or poison generated in the food, by the intaking of mineral or vegetable poison, and lastly, a mycotic germ arising from the eating of mouldy food, also the presence of parasites in the intestinal tract. The origin of your losses is, in my opinion, due to the contamination of some part of the food, and without analysis it is impossible to state whether this is of mineral or vegetable origin.

JOHNSTONE O.S.

Annual show held in the Town Hall, Oct. 18. Mr. John Sinclair, Paisley, judged, and his awards gave general satisfaction. Entries were considerably less than last year, being so near Paisley and Glasgow there should be no lack of supporters, and we trust that next year the management will have a more encouraging report to make. The show was well patronised by the general public and we hope the gate will prove a satisfactory one. Sec. Taylor had all arrangements complete to make the show a success, and he was assisted by a hardworking committee.

BEDFORD.

The 11th annual show of the Bedford C.B.S. was held in the Town Hall, Oct. 16th. The open classes were not so well patronised as last year, this was accounted for by the fact that several other shows were held on the same date. Quality, however, was A1, as also in the classes confined to Bedfordshire, which were well patronised. Saudiford's sp. was won by Mr. A. Keech, and Hyde's sp by Mr. A. W. Curling. Mr. John Robson judged, Mr. H. Markham acted as Judge's steward. Sec. Mr. L. Wiggins, assisted by a capital committee, had things well in hand, and all the cards were on the cages before dinner.

The Critique.

NOR. YELL. (10): 1, Rippon, very fine, well made lightly mkd., grand sweep of body, falls just a bit in head; 2, Goosey, good headed cl., rare sub., lovely condition; 3, Keech, very typical, nearly even mkd., lovely col. and qual., must have run winners very close; 4, Godfrey, another good cl., well proportioned, close up; vhc, c, Irons, hc, Williams and Moss; one bird was disqualified in this class for staining, its outer flights being of a very rich yellow throughout. BUFF (7): 1, Rippon, cl. in full bloom, excellent type and qual.; 2, Keech, mkd. bird, very short and compact, excellent qual.; 3, Jeyes, mkd. bird, nice size, falls a bit in neck; 4, hc, Curling, put down in capital style, a really well made bird, but hardly the subs. of winners; vhc, Irons; c, Williams and Moss. HEN (7): 1, Rippon, very pretty cl., perfect model, hardly at its best at present; 2, Keech, another good cl., excellent type and lovely quality; 3, Irons, rare big typical hen, hardly equal in qual. to winners; 4, Godfrey, excellent qual., on the small side; vhc, Williams and Moss; hc, c, Murrell. UNFLIG. YELL. (9): 1, 4, vhc, Irons, lovely one of the very best type, col., qual. A1; 2, Godfrey, tkd. mkd. on wing, nice qual., shade longer than winner; 3, Keech, rare big hen, nice qual., hardly so cobby as 1st; hc, c, Rippon. BUFF (9): 1, Rippon, cl. except grizzle neck, very typical and good col.; 2, Irons, excellent cl., full of bloom, correct type, beaten only in col.; 3, Jeyes, mkd. bird, rare body properties, fails to winners in qual.; 4, Goosey, nice stamp, on the small side; vhc, Keech; hc, Webb; c, Hunter. YORKS. (4): 1, 2, Mrs. Ballard, cl. buff, tight as a Java, and straight as a rule, 2nd evenly mkd. buff, full of bloom, very choice specimen, might very well have changed positions with first; 3, Gibbon, nice length and position, bit open in front; 4, Notley, cl. yell., rare lengthy bird, fails in neck. FOR. (8): 1, 2, 3, 4, vhc, hc, c, Timeaus, 1st charming pair of Pekin Robins, in brilliant plumage, 2nd Redfaced Gouldians, moulted to perfection; 3rd very smart Cinereous Waxbills, tight as wax, 4th charming Ruficauda, all put down in Mr. Timeaus's usual style.

Classes Open to Bedfordshire.

YELL. NOR. (13): 1, G. Notley, perfect model, not a monster but very typical, and moulted to perfection; 2, c, Osborn, tkd. on eye, shade bigger than winner, very typical, but beaten in bloom; 3, 4, Keech, fine big cl., rare body and nice qual., just a bit loose, 4th wonderful col., rich qual., nice size, a bit too long; vhc, hc, Millard. BUFF (15): 1, 3, Millard, tkd. on eye, typical bird throughout, 3rd very nice cl., good qual., bit paler in col.; 2, Osborn, tkd. on eye, and mkd. wing, very typical, excellent con.; 4, vhc, Smith, nice qual., good body, but broken tail or might have been higher; hc, Keech; c, Corrie. YELL. HEN (11): 1, Corrie, very fine cl., full bloom and correct type; 2, 3, Notley, nice cl., good type, just beaten in condition, 3rd excels in head and body, nice qual.; 4, Keech, smaller, good col. and qual.; vhc, Osborn; hc, c, Smith. BUFF (17): 1, Pedder (Luton), excellent cl., very short and cobby, bonny exhibit; 2, Keech, well made cl., in ex. condition, runs winner very close; 3, Corrie, lightly mkd., full of qual., just beaten in subs.; 4, c, Osborn, heavily mkd., rare subs.; vhc, Goodman; hc, Smith. NAT. COL. (10): 1, 3, Osborn, heavily mkd. buff, rare subs., 3rd mkd. yell., good col., fails in head; 2, Johnson, mkd. yell., good col., and nice type; 4, Wilmot, cl. buff, good qual.; vhc, Brewer; hc, Wiggins; c, Notley. SELL. (13): 1, Millard, fine large buff in good condition, cheap; 2, Pedder, another good buff, beaten in size; 3, Gentle, cap and wing mkd. yell., nice col.; 4, Osborn, small cl. yell.; vhc, Dimmock; hc, Curling; c, Notley. PAIRS (10): 1, Notley, big mkd. buff cock and slim yell. hen; 2, 4, Corrie, mkd. yell. cock and cl. buff hen, 4th mkd. yell. cock and lovely cap mkd. buff hen; 3, Hunter, both buffs, nice size, pale in col.; vhc, Smith; hc, Gentle; c, Millard. CREST OR C.B.: 1, 3, Bloomfield and Rese, Green Crest nicely formed, neat centre, 3rd been washing when we took our notes; 2, 4, vhc, Smith, nice formation of crest, but lacks length of feather. A.O.V. CAN. OR MULES (10): 1, Goodman, spotless White Canary, in rare trim; 2, Hunter, brilliant little Goldfinch-Redpoll, much admired, a very rare cross, congratulations to you Mr. H., a pity it had to meet the White Canary; 3, Armitage, Linnet-Greenfinch, another rather rare cross, rather sober looking beside the brilliant 2nd bird; 4, Wilmot, large buff Linnet Mule, in good trim; vhc, Mayo and Wright, lovely Goldfinch Mule; hc, Finedon; c, Notley, a very fine class. BRIT. SMALL (11): 1, Timeaus, very fine Bearded Tit, about the best we've ever seen, in faultless condition; 2, hc, Mayo and Wright, a charming Hedge Accentor, brought up by Canaries and colour fed, this was much admired, being in prime condition; 3, Cook, very nice cock Bullfinch; 4, vhc, Notley, excellent Reed Bunting; hc, Armitage; good class. NOV., CAN. (10): 1, Coley, wing mkd. yell., rare col., good body, trifle long in flights and tail; 2, 3, Fowkes, var, buff, nicely made, good head and excellent condition, 3rd cl. buff, good qual.; 4, L. Pedder, cl. buff, full of bloom, bit small; vhc, Wright; hc, Hudson; c, Armitage.

GUISBOROUGH PRIORY C.B.S.

Third table show held Wears Room, Oct. 18. Entry a splendid one; over 120 birds staged. Some grand ones in every section. The judge, Mr. T. Hill, had a very busy time, but gave every satisfaction.

CHAMP. CL. OR MKD. YELL. YORKS.: 1, 2, c, Barker; 3, Allison; vhc, hc, Cook. BUFF: 1, 2, 3, Barker; vhc, hc, Cook. UNFLIG.: 1, Barker; 2, 3, c, Hall; vhc, Cook; hc, Allison. New Society Proposed at Burnhope.

Sir,—It has been proposed to start a cage-bird society at Burnhope. Mr. John Dixon, Colliery Inn, has kindly offered a room for a meeting, Nov. 1. We have about 18 names for membership. Anyone wishing to join who cannot get to the meeting may send name and address to me.

Hints on Bird-catching.

Sir,—Would any of your readers give me a few hints on bird-catching suitable for an amateur, who would like to catch a few for amusement. My father has a grass field, over which a lot of birds fly, including Linnets, Chaffinches, Redpolls, and a few Goldfinches. Would they kindly say size of nets and colour, number of call birds and where to place them, and the best time to catch. Any information would be esteemed.

A Rung Thrush Shot at Bewdley

Sir,—I notice a letter in your issue of Oct. 4 headed "Marked (rung) Thrush Shot," in which Mr. J. Shilcock reports that a Thrush bearing one of my rings was shot at Bewdley, Worcestershire. I should be much obliged if your correspondent would kindly forward the ring to me, as the number given does not appear to be correct. I should also like to know the exact date on which the bird was shot.

The Problem of the Ticked Bird

Suggested Meeting at the Palace Show

Sir,—The question of the definition of a ticked bird has a great many times caused comment amongst fanciers in almost all parts of the country, and has recently been debated at two meetings of societies of which I am secretary, without any really satisfactory result. It has occurred to me that it would be a great help to the Fancy if this question was settled, and I would like to suggest that a meeting be arranged at which every specialist club be represented, and a proper definition be drawn up, this to be the standard right through the Fancy. I think the next Palace show would be a suitable place at which to hold a meeting, as most societies have some of their members paying a visit to the "Bird Fanciers' Derby." I should like to hear what others have to say on this important question.

The Staging of the Borders at Clapham Show.

Sir,—In reply to the choice remarks of Mr. J. Williams re the above, as show manager, I wish to flatly contradict his misleading and uncalled-for statements. In the first place the room referred to is the board room, and measures 30 feet by 16 feet, and we erected a double tier on the board-room table, which is 16 feet by 5 feet, for the Border Fancies alone, and they made a fine show all to themselves. The boxes referred to were only three, which contained some of the valuable consignment of foreign birds from Africa, which were sold and drew a number of people to that part of the show. The chairs were stood round for the convenience of ladies and gentlemen to rest and look at the birds. Where the "bunging away among old boxes and chairs" comes in, we fail to see. This room, we consider, is the premier place in the hall for light, etc., therefore we selected it for the Borders, and did not get one single complaint from any exhibitor. The judges, Messrs. Robson and Norman, remarked what a good place for them, therefore we feel sure this explanation will satisfy the members of the S.B.F.C., and they will not give much credit to the uncalled-for comments of Mr. Williams. Truth is a golden rule.

A. C. Askew.

Sir,—Having read Mr. Williams' letter re staging of Borders at Clapham show, I should like to say I was at the show on both days, and although I should have liked to have seen the "Wee Gems" placed on better staging, I cannot agree with Mr. W. about the "lumber room," as the room was very suitable for them. I think, in fact, that they were placed there upon the suggestion of our esteemed chairman, Mr. Norman, who, being a great lover of the "Bits of Box-wood," would not suggest anything like a lumber-room as good enough for them. I must say I found both of the show managers and the hon. secretary very obliging, and trying their best to please everybody (a very difficult task). The management of the show, I consider, was all one could wish it to be. Who would have expected to see such a show of Borders? I really did not. Fancy, one hundred and twenty two in six classes. Now that the show secretaries have realised the Borders are to be taken into account, we shall no doubt have a "front seat," near the front door, even at Clapham next year!

F. Moore, Hon. Sec., S.B.F.C.

The Crest Section at Cheltenham Show.

Sir,—We have just heard from the secretary of the Crested C.C. that the two three-guinea bowls are allotted to our show, Nov. 5 and 6. Will members and others please note that we have added the two classes necessary, which will read 1a, buff, clear body, any col. Crest; 3a, buff Crested-bred cock, green or foul green. The remainder of the classes stand as published in schedule.

A. S. Treasure, hon. sec.

Is it a New Mule?

Sir,—Mr. Arrowsmith's letter in Cage Birds interests me very much, as I have bred two mules this year from the South African Blackhead and a hen Canary. Is the "Blackhead" really of the Siskin tribe? Birds like mine are known to the sailors, who bring them home from the Cape as "Blackheads" or "Happy Jacks" on account of their cheerful little ways. My bird is nearly as small as a Redpoll, and posseses a similar beak. He has black on the top and sides of his head extending down his neck on both sides. His breast is a dingy white, and his wings are brown, edged with black. His tail is also brown edged with black. The Mules look like very small Linnet ones. He was a champion feeder, and helped the hen to bring up the young in great style. I shall be glad to know what variety of bird he really is.

The Late Receipt of Cage Labels from Longton.

Sir,—I see that Mr. Marsland did not get his class labels from Longton show secretary until 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 3. You have my sympathy, Mr. Marsland; I can quite believe it, as I and a friend got ours at 9.15 p.m. on Oct. 3, after the birds had gone at 7.5 p.m., and this after I had wired asking were we to send birds? The reply came "Yes, send on." Then another point of encouragement—one class was cancelled! But I could name others who have been treated in this way. If this is a sample of the extraordinary management, my advice to the gentleman in charge is, before another show season comes round, to remember that fanciers cannot afford to send birds up and down the country without having a run for their money. Is there any wonder that shows do not pay?

Night Hawk.

Sir,—I was treated even worse than Mr. Marsland. On Friday night, Oct. 3, not having my labels, I sent birds, also adding a note informing secretary. On their return I was surprised to find one had a cage slip in without even a number, but written across "wrong class." I wrote to secretary three times for explanation, without receiving any reply. This treatment is no encouragement to fanciers.

H. Rushton.

Sir,—I see Mr. Marsland complains of not receiving his cage labels in time from Longton show. This kind of thing is most annoying to exhibitors who have spent considerable time and money in getting their birds ready for show; but he is not the only complainant, as I entered two birds at the above show one week before time, and I had to forward the same to the sec. on the Friday night, numberless. Worse than this, however, I enclosed with my entries 4d. extra for catalogue, which is coming yet! But I suppose, to make up for this they sent me on with my Yorkshires somebody else's Norwich as a consoler, which I refused to accept from the railway company. I also know two other exhibitors who did not receive cage numbers; one sent his birds numberless, the other did not send at all, and after writing for the return of his entrance money, which was in the novice classes, he received a rather saucy letter insinuating it was as well he did not send them, as he was suspected of not being a novice. Now this man is honestly a novice; in fact a new one in the showing world, and a man possessed of the highest credentials, trying his level best to attain to a championship. Such treatment as this is a great set-back to the Fancy, and particularly to those honest novices who try to go straight. This is the kind of treatment which destroys the Fancy by causing short entries, cancelled classes, and all the other grievances pertaining to exhibiting.

J. Robinson.

Have our Show Yorkshires Deteriorated?

Do Present-day Judges Ignore the Standard?

Sir,—It is just four years ago since I had to retire from the Fancy, but thanks to Cage Birds and some of our local fanciers, whose rooms I visit occasionally, I have been able to keep in touch with you all. But what has brought me out of my shell is the letter from Mr. J. Wilcock in the current issue re the Exhibition Yorkie of to-day. Why on earth didn't Mr. Wilcock voice his feelings when I first of all brought this matter forward in Cage Birds six years ago? That splendid fancier, Mr. R. L. Crisp, will remember what a wordy warfare we carried on for some weeks about the type of Yorkie which was—and still is—sweeping the prizes away at nearly all shows. But nothing came of it, and one well-known Yorkshire judge was heard to say, when questioned about the correspondence: "Oh, it's now't; there's no notice to be taken of it." I suppose it will be different now that the cry comes from Yorkshire. My interest in the Yorkie is just as keen to-day as ever it was, and I still maintain that as soon as the standard length 6¾ inches, is passed, the whole character of the Yorkie is altered. The feather is rarely fine and close-fitting, the chest is often pronounced Norwich type, and the head is usually much larger and showing the Lancashire breed very badly; the beak also, in most cases, is too long and thick. Place this bird alongside a typical show specimen 6¾ inches long, and note the great difference. Some of our friends will say, "Yes, that is all very well, but a good big 'un will always beat a good little 'un." Then I say that should not be so, because why have a standard at all unless you breed to that standard? All birds over 6¾ inches should, in my opinion, be put into stock classes, and I am sure there is plenty of room at all our shows for two or more such classes. Cardiff C.B.S. was the first to give separate classes for yellow and buff unflighted cocks and unflighted hens. I had to guarantee those classes, which were a great success, with over 23 entries per class, and they have never been dropped since. I am just as confident in regard to stock classes, providing the stock birds are kept out of the exhibition classes. The 7¼ and 7½ inches gentleman is, I admit, very valuable in the breeding room, but to put him in the exhibition classes is like putting a nigger in a beauty competition. You admire him because he is big, and—well, that's all. Couldn't you, Mr. Editor, make a proviso in your excellent competition that all champion and diploma birds in Yorkshire classes shall not be over the standard length? By doing so, I feel that you would be doing much to help the future of the gentlemen of the Canary world.

E. J. Banks.

[We are afraid it does not come within our province, but is rather a matter the specialist clubs should settle 'twixt exhibitors and judges.—Editor.]

Are Judges Becoming Unnecessary?

Sir,—I was very interested in the letter on Yorkshire by Mr. J. Wilcock, as it seems to me that a bird of the correct length has very little chance of winning. I wonder how much over the standard length the champion class winners at Clapham show measured? Why should a bird that is a quarter of an inch too long be placed before a better one a quarter of an inch under the standard? How many exhibitors, or judges either, ever measure a bird in order to get a correct idea of the proper length? If length is all that is required, why not pay a carpenter 1s. an hour to come with his pocket-rule, and so save expensive judges' fees?

H. T. Gibb.

The Southern Norwich P.C. Cup Classification.

Sir,—Without wishing to question Mr. Matthes' authority with regard to his decision that the non-flighted Norwich hen class at Plymouth show should not count for points in the S.N.P.C. competition, may I venture to express an opinion that it is not the way to encourage the variety to curtail the classification. I quite agree that shows having patronage ought to give the classification as decided by the Club, but think that extra classes should be allowed if shows are willing to put them on. If a show is willing to put classification as follows, viz., clear or invisible tick yellow, ditto buff, marked or variegated yellow, ditto buff, and then to give non-flight classes with the same classification in addition to the required two hen classes, would the S.N.P.C. rule out all but eight classes? If so, I must again say that it will not encourage the variety. I feel sure that when Mr. Spillman proposed the present classification, he did not wish to stop any show from giving extended facilities, and seeing that only four nominated birds count, I cannot see what difference it could make to counting for points.

The Foreign Bird Exhibitors' League.

A Misconstruction and an Error Rectified

Sir,—Owing to the fact that I have recently met several people who are under the misapprehension that the extensive classification provided by us at the L.C.B.A. (Horticultural Hall) show, Nov. 27, 28, and 29, is confined to our own members, I take the present opportunity of pointing out that it is not so. The classes and prize-money of £0s. and 32s., etc., are open to all; only the special prizes given by us are confined to members of the League. In this month's "Bird Notes" the show is stated to be taking place at the Royal Agricultural Hall; evidently a printer's error. It should be Horticultural Hall, Vincent Square, Westminster. Members and friends will be glad to know that the following specials have been provided for them: Silver cup for best pair Waxbills and silver medal for second best, given by Mr. J. Andrews. Silver medal for best Common Tanager, and ditto for best foreign hybrid, given by Mr. Trower. Medal for most points in Ring-necked and Allied Parrakeets, and ditto for most points in Ribbon Saffron and Zebra Finch class, given by Mr. Collingbourne. 10s. 6d. for best exhibit (not necessarily a pair) in Diamond Finches, given by Mr. Herbert Strong. 5s. for best exhibit (not necessarily a pair) in Gouldians, given by Mrs. Thynne. Optional present, 1 guinea, most points in Common Mannikins, and ditto for Common Waxbills, given by Mr. Allen Silver. 10s. most points in foreign Doves, given by Miss Rosie Alderson. Guinea for most points in certain classes of small insectivorous and fruit-eating birds, and ditto for most points in certain classes of similar large birds, given by Mrs. Warren Vernon. The League's Diploma to members exhibiting for the first time a foreign bird (cock, hen, or pair) or hybrid foreign bird. Anyone joining the League before Nov. 18 will be eligible to compete for these prizes.

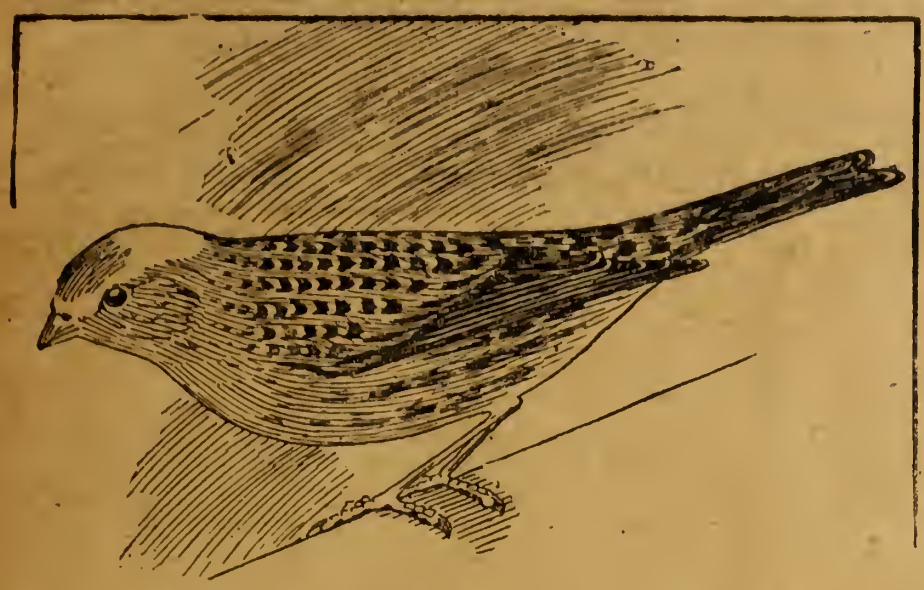
Swansea Exhibitors and Pontardawe Show.



Sir,—I notice in your report of Pontardawe show, the reporter complains that the Swansea fanciers boycotted the show and did not exhibit in the British classes. If it had not been for the Swansea exhibitors, however, no classes at all would have stood at Pontardawe. I entered two exhibits, but the class of one was cancelled, and with the other, a Linnet, I was awarded 3rd. Mr. J. E. Jeffreys is the exhibitor whose birds are marked "no name" in your report; he made six entries. I think your reporter should at least have been sure before he made the remarks in question. Our best birds were at Clapham show, and this alone is the reason why the Swansea boys did not exhibit. By mentioning this, sir, you will greatly oblige the writer and all Swansea fanciers, as it is hard enough to keep petty spleen out of the Fancy down this way, as it is, and your reporter's remarks only add fuel to the fire.

S. J. Nicholas.

How to Make Shows Attractive.

Sir,—I quite agree with "One of the Millionaires" with regard to the, shall we say, ungenerous features of Wimbledon show schedule. Why the committee laid stress on them as "attractions" beats me entirely. But don't let us overlook the fact that some of the other London shows are equally ungenerous towards exhibitors. Take Clapham as an instance. They only offer 21s. prize-money per class for 2s. entry fee, and give 2s. 6d. extra when 20 or more exhibits are in any one class; that is, pay out 23s. 6d. when they receive 40s. Isn't this generous? Yet Clapham always gets a record entry, and, so far as excellence of management is concerned, they deserve it. Surely, however, we exhibitors deserve more liberal treatment, and surely it is time we saw that we got it, and not such paltry returns. How is it we can get 25s. for 1s. 6d. at Plymouth, and 36s. for 2s. at Glasgow? Then look at Leamington show, with a 2s. fee for 17s. 6d. prize-money. It seems to me that some committees must be crazy. How can they expect to run successful shows under such "attractive" conditions? It is shows that keep abreast of the times and deal fairly with exhibitors that will succeed now exhibitors are properly awake to their rights.

A Half-Crown Fine for "Disgraceful Cruelty."

Notes by the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE.

In sending the report of the Decorated Cage Competition, which appears on another page, Mr. G. H. Peck asks me to convey his hearty thanks to the members of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE who so kindly helped with the specials which I have already acknowledged in these notes and also to the Swanley and Huxtable C.B.S. for its support. I am glad to hear that the competition was so successful and the exhibition so well attended that it was found necessary to extend the show to a second day.

What Mr. Stavely Hill, M.P., sitting as magistrate at Cannock Court on Oct. 13, described as a disgraceful case of cruelty, is reported under our "In the Courts" heading in this issue. No one could do other than agree that catchers who employ brace birds in such an ignorant and revolting manner that they are dying when found, or in a condition which entails them being put out of their misery, deserve all that they get as punishment, and fines of 10s., 5s., and 2s. 6d. do not at all adequately meet such cases.

In giving his decision, Mr. Hill allowed himself to say that he "hoped the day was not far distant when the Government would introduce a Bill forbidding the capturing of any English birds whatever," and in expressing the sentiment, he disclosed a frame of mind which is common to a good many people who know nothing whatever about the subject against which they are declaiming. He inflicts fines amounting in all to 17s. 6d. upon three people who are convicted of gross cruelty, and takes the opportunity of denouncing bird-keeping in general. Mr. Hill is a Member of Parliament, and will, presumably, agree with the inclusion in the Plumage Bill of the clause to which I have more than once drawn attention. Straws like this show how the wind is blowing, and we must not lose the opportunity of impressing upon members of Parliament that if they do not see that the clause threatens the existence of a healthy hobby, to say nothing of threatening the devastation of the country-side by over-protected birds, they will be blind to the wishes of a considerable section of those who by their votes have helped them to the position they hold.

[The report of the case will appear next week.—Editor.]

Members of Parliament and the Plumage Bill.

I am pleased to be able to say that, as a result of the receipt by Members of Parliament from CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members and other readers of CAGE BIRDS of the petition published in our issue of Sept. 20, and to which I referred last week, several of these gentlemen have replied to the effect that they will oppose the inclusion in the Plumage Bill of the clause relating to British Wild Birds. I hope that no reader of our paper will neglect to take the very simple step of cutting out this petition and forwarding it to his member as suggested. No matter that he may himself be interested in Canaries only. It is his duty to help to prevent the inclusion of a clause which is directed against the hobby of bird-keeping, and the manner of doing so has been made ready to his hand.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE is an organisation of bird keepers and bird-lovers, banded together in mutual interest to promote good-fellowship and union, to inculcate the principles of humane cage bird keeping, and to protect the hobby against unjustifiable interference.

Leaflets setting forth the aims and objects of the LEAGUE will be forwarded, post free, to any reader upon application.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of CAGE BIRDS have written to say that they would like to join CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the LEAGUE, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is either to sign the coupon herewith, and send the same, together with sevenpence, or to get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the LEAGUE. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

THE BIRD LOVER'S PLEDGE.

I hereby promise to take every care of my feathered pets and to induce others to do the same

Have YOU Won Your Special Yet?

Now is the time to try: Your chance improves every day!

EXHIBITORS in our Coupon Competition seem to have had a good time at the shows of last week, judging by the reports supplied by our representatives, many interesting struggles for the diplomas and 10s. specials having taken place. There are plenty of opportunities for everyone to take part, and plenty of chances of prizes, too, for exhibitors should remember that no-one can win two diplomas in the same section, and that no-one can take two cash specials with the same bird (vide rule 7). Thus those who have already won stand out of the way and give others a chance.

THE NEXT COUPON SHOWS.

How Exhibitors May Enter.

All who intend entering Coupon birds at these shows must do so under these conditions:—CAGE BIRDS offers the following Championship Competition prizes:—

10s. cash for best champion coupon bird.
10s. cash for best novice coupon bird.

Diplomas of honour for the best champion and the best novice coupon birds in each of the following sections; or in as many of these sections as are included in the classification:—

(1) Yorkshire Canaries.
(2) Norwich.
(3) Crests & Crestbreds.
(4) Border Fancies.
(5) Scotch Fancies and Belgians.
(6) Greens.
(7) Lancs. and Lizards.
(8) Any Other Variety Canary.
(9) Mules & Hybrids.
(10) British, Hardbilled.
(11) British, Softbilled.
(12) Forcign.

All the exhibitor has to do is to stick one of CAGE BIRDS Coupons on his entry form and write "C.B." opposite each bird he wishes to compete; except if a novice, when he must write "C.B. Novice."

Coupons, price 6d. each, may be purchased from the offices of CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., or, if the time is short, enclose the necessary extra cash with your entry fees to the secretary of the show, and he will affix coupons opposite whichever birds you have marked on your entry form. Every coupon is numbered and a record of it kept at CAGE BIRDS offices.

NOTE CAREFULLY.—A coupon must be affixed to the entry form opposite every bird intended to compete in this Championship Competition. Any number of coupon birds may be entered by any exhibitor, either in one section or in several, as may be desired, so long as a coupon is used for each bird. For every coupon bird, of course, the usual entry fee must be paid to the show officials. Entries in CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition are accepted only on the understanding that the governing rules as published in CAGE BIRDS are to be absolutely final and legally binding.

Anyone in doubt upon any point concerning the scheme should write at once.—The Editor, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

A Brief Outline of the Scheme.

The main idea of CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition is to discover which are the Twelve Best Champion Birds and the Twelve best Novice Birds of the Season. The Competition is in progress at over 80 shows (see list appended), which cover every quarter of the United Kingdom.

TWO PRIZES OF 10S. EACH, one for novices and one for champion (under certain stipulations), at each accepted Coupon Show.

TWENTY-FOUR DIPLOMAS OF HONOUR, in addition, at each Coupon Show, 12 for Champion exhibitors, and 12 for Novice exhibitors, for the best Champion Coupon Bird and best Novice Coupon Bird in each of the 12 sections mentioned above.

The winner of any one of the foregoing diplomas will have the right to compete with not more than four birds, on payment to the Palace Show Authorities of the usual entry fee, in our final championship competition at the Crystal Palace Show of 1914.

FIRST PRIZE, £3;
SECOND PRIZE, £2;
THIRD PRIZE, £1.
FOURTH PRIZE, 10s.

The following cash prizes will also be offered for competition at the Crystal Palace Show:—£10 10s. for the best Coupon bird exhibited in the Champion classes in the above twelve sections; £10 10s. for the best Coupon bird shown by a novice other than the winner in the Champion Section. We shall also offer A TEN GUINEA CHALLENGE SHIELD, to be won three times in succession, for the best bird at the Crystal Palace Show entered in our Competition.

Some Important Points to Note.

1.—One coupon entitles one bird to compete at any one Diploma Show. Any number of coupon birds can be entered at the same show.

2.—No coupons sold after the last day of December, 1913, except to previous purchasers, who have the right of duplicating their order up to the end of the season.

3.—No bird with trimmed, painted or dyed plumage, will be eligible to compete, and all entries must be the bonafide property of the exhibitor.

4.—The birds entered may be of any age, and either rung or not rung.

5.—The Judge will be instructed to withhold a diploma should the merit of the competing birds in any particular section not justify its award.

6.—We reserve the right, in the event of there being less than 10 separate competitors altogether in our competition at any one Diploma Show to withhold the cash prizes thereat, the diplomas remaining on offer for as many birds as are eligible for them.

7.—No exhibitor may win more than one diploma in the season in any one section, and no exhibitor will be allowed to win more than two of the 10s. prizes offered at the Diploma Shows, each of which must be won with a different bird; but an exhibitor may (if able) win one diploma in each of the 12 sections.

8.—An exhibitor who has won a diploma need not necessarily enter the same bird for the final competition. By winning the diploma he has the right to nominate and enter not more than four birds in any one of the 12 sections for the final competition, and for each entry made for the final competition at the Crystal Palace a coupon will be necessary.

9.—No exhibitor in the final will be allowed to win more than two prizes with his four entries.

10.—In all cases of dispute arising out of this competition the Editor's decision will be absolutely final and legally binding in every respect, and only upon this understanding will entries be accepted.

11.—The Editor reserves the right to alter the conditions from time to time in whatever manner he thinks best in the interests of competitors themselves, and also of the competition.

WIMBLEDON.

The Wimbledon C.B.S. held its annual show Oct. 8 in the Queen's Hall. The building, although well adapted to the purpose, is somewhat crowded, especially during the evening, when the fanciers of London and suburbs gather to discuss the points of their various fancies. The society had the patronage of the S.Y.C.C., the S.N.C.C., and the recently formed S.B.C.C.; consequently all three varieties were well represented by some of the best birds in the South of England; but entries were unfortunately somewhat below last year, clashing with the L. and P.O.S. and Portsmouth no doubt affecting the numbers.

Norwich were a good level lot, very little separating some of the leaders. Mr. Houghton led in yellow cocks with a beauty; he also staged a good unflighted bird that was much admired. Mr. Rippon's Norwich winner again led in buffs, and he won in marked yellows with his well-known bird.

The Novice Section was only fairly well filled, the two best classes being the hen with 14 and the unflighted with 16. There was a nice entry in Borders, although the club's patronage is also given to Portsmouth. In buff cocks the Clapham winner could only get third, Mr. Madagan staging the winner. Mr. Pratt again did well, having a winner in two of the four classes. The novice classes filled well, some good ones getting at the top. The management of the show was again undertaken by Mr. H. Smith, who has the confidence of the Fancy. Everything was well managed and in perfect order. We heard that Mrs. Smith assisted him greatly in the heavy work incidental to a big show. Of the officials, the chairman, Mr. W. H. Stoakley, Messrs. Thynne, Dyke, Grilliths, Heath, Hobden, Newley, Owen, Whittam, and Mesdames Owen and Hobden did good service. The judges were Messrs. W. Mundell, Robson, and Frostick.

Yorkshires turned up in great force here, and made a record entry, 131 in the seven champion classes and 108 in the six novice classes. Mr. Crisp's bull won the diploma for best Yorks. in show, the same exhibitor also winning the special for best unflig. bird with his young variegated bull, a gem, which we liked very much. Mr. Pattrick won the diploma for best hen with his bull, a beauty, feathered like wax, good length and position. In the novice section some fine birds were benched, and as the season goes on many of the birds that are not quite through the moult, and lack condition, will be heard of. Some of the Yorkshire exhibitors need to be very careful in the future, or they will be having trouble. We heard that the judge left a few birds out of the cards; for what?

The straightforward pronunence given on the front page of the schedule to the very general rule prevailing throughout the exhibition world of paying half prize-money in classes containing less than eight entries, a system which is in vogue even at the Great National show, led to adverse criticism on the eve of the closing of entries and probably had a detrimental effect on the numbers of exhibits in the British and Foreign classes, a great pity, as the management at Wimbledon is second to none in the Kingdom and the capable executive deserved better support. Quality was everything to be desired. Mr. Francis put down a strong team and accounted for a good number of prizes. Mr. Oliver's well-known Rawlinch had many admirers. Insectivorous were a nice lot, Mr. Evans Dartford Warbler scoring another 1st. Hybrids were a "hot" lot, with Mr. Lamb, and Messrs. Martin and Archer's well-known teams competing, and contained many of the finest specimens on the show bench to-day. Foreigners were equally choice, Miss Lydia Clare showing some exquisite gems.

Mr. Robson's Classes.

GOLDF. (9): 1, Simmonds, beautiful qual., nice blaze, but not yet at its best; 2, Bignall, fine blaze, rich browns, not quite the bloom of leader; 3, Francis, good face, hardly the depth of col.; vhc, hc, Snuth; c, Drowley, junr. BULLF. (6): 1, 2, Bignall, beauties, real typical Britishers, grand condition, rich col.; 3, Harris, bigger bird, but not quite the col., or high condition; vhc, Rayner, very nice hen; hc, Drowley junr.; c, Cashen. SISKIN, ETC. (8): 1, Sexton, Siskin, nat. col., the Clapham winner, very fine order; 2, Drowley junr., large, well marked Mealy Redpolt; 3, Offord, nice Lesser Redpoll, well shown; vhc, hc, Francis; c, Roast. LINNET (7): 1, Francis, rich nutty brown col., well mkd., nicely shown; 2, 3, Smith, shows well, nice size, but not so well filled in on breast; 3, Offord, excellent col., trifle smaller; vhc, Drowley, bit unsteady; hc, Pain. GREENF. (6): 1, 3, Francis, well selected, in the pink, latter nice but wants training to show cage; 2, Harris, well-known winner, but off condition to-day; vhc, Roast; hc, Britton; c, Cashen. CHAFF., ETC. (6): 1, 2, Francis, Bramble and Chaffinch, two very choice birds, rather easy wins; 3, Drowley junr., Bramble; vhc, Smith. A.O.S. (5): 1, Oliver, Hawtinch, a topper, very rich col., steady, well shown; 2, Harris, Corn Bunting, grand size, rich col., full of markings, but unsteady; 3, Bignall, nice c.m. Snow Bunting; vhc, hc, Francis. HEN (5): 1, 3, Francis, very large Corn Bunting, much improved since last year, and a nice Bramble, good col.; 2, Askew, bonny Siskin, rich markings; vhc, Ford, Corn Bunting, well-known winner, but not up to last season's form; hc, McNaughton, Linnet. THRUSH, ETC. (3): 1, 3, Dell, lustrous Starling and well-marked Thrush; 2, Lomer, Blackbird, nice condition, small. A.O.S. (6): 1, 3, hc, Evans, fine trio, the famous Dartford Warbler, perfect Wood Wren, and a nice Blackcap; 2, Lomer, Nightingale, Clapham winner, four years old, a good 'un; vhc, Francis, beautiful Wheatear, in full spring plumage; c, Swain, good Nightingale. PIED ALBINO, ETC. 5): Martin and Archer, the noted lutino Yellowhammer, in great form, a rare and beautiful exhibit; 2, 3, Wade, lightly marked White Linnet, and pied White Blackbird, very pure in col.; vhc, and novice sp, Dyke, White Blackbird, will improve; hc, Lamb, pretty Cinnamon Redpoll. LIGHT HYB. (5): 1, hc, Lamb, very fine Goldfinch-Canary, even eye marks, very lightly marked on rump and tail, a topping exhibit; 2, 3, Martin and Archer, well-known Greenfinch-Canary, "Nonpareil," fine size and col., and condition, Goldfinch-Canary, uneven mkd., excellent bird; vhc, Archer, Greenfinch-Canary. DK. GOLDF. OR LINNET-CAN. (6): 1, 3, Lamb a couple of rich coloured Jonque Goldf. Mules, difficult to separate, rare size, perfect condition; 2, vhc, Martin and Archer, good Linnet-Can., well put down, and the well-known Goldfinch-Can., "The Guardsman," unfortunately not looking over well, decidedly "soft" to-day; hc, Pain; c, Askew. A.O.V. EXCEPT BULLF. (5): 1, Oliver, Siskin-Can., well defined cap and markings; 2, vhc, Goodall, Redpoll-Can., fine size and col., and Siskin-Can.; 3, Shipton, Redpoll-Can., fails in col., well shown; hc, Ford. BULLF. HYB. (3) Generally a small, but always beautiful class: 1, 2, Lamb, charming Redpoll-Bullie, and fine coloured Goldie-Bullie; 3, Archer, Goldie, good, but not quite so rich. A.O.V. BETWEEN TWO BRIT. (12) A remarkable class, containing for the first time on record two Greenfinch-Chaffinches, the original "sensation of the season" having to take second place to the newcomer: 1, Lamb, Greenfinch-Chaffinch, Clapham winner, everything one could wish for in this cross, excelling in col. and markings, showing parentage distinctly, magnificent condition, shines like silk 2, Martin and Archer, same cross, lovely bird, staged to perfection, but well beaten in bloom and col., needing a rest, perhaps; 3, c, Mascall, two grand Bramble-Chaffinches, probably best of their kind ever shown; vhc, Ford, Goldfinch-Linnet; hc, Shipton, fine Redpoll-Greenfinch, beautifully staged. HEN HYB. (8) This is getting quite a popular class: 1, Lamb, almost cl. Goldfinch-Can.; 2, hc, Nichols, nice Goldie-Bullie, and variegs. Goldfinch-Canary; 3, c, Ramsden, Goldfinch-Canary, even mkd. wings, and Goldfinch-Bullie; vhc, Ford, the reputed Redpoll-Can., late Andrews we think. PARROTS (2): 1, 2, Miss Clare, pairs Hooded Parrakeets and Blue Budgerigars, in most perfect order, quite fit to win at any show in any company, Miss Clare also exhibited in this class, not for competition, a fine pair of Stanleys. A.O.S. (9): 1, sp, 2, Miss Clare the finest pair of Violet-eared Waxbills seen this season, and a delightful pair of Indian White-eyes, both topping exhibits; 3, Mrs. Thynne, well-known Maroon Tanager; vhc, Offord, good pair Cordon Bleus; hc, Countess Von Hahn, really nice pair Californian Quails; c, Miss Philcox, Java Sparrows.

Members' Classes.

There was a capital entry in the members' section, Norwich, Yorks, and Borders being well represented. Mr. Saunders, of Sutton, led in Yell. Norwich, and also in the unflighted class, with a grand ticked buff; he also staged most of the leaders in the Border Section. Mr. G. W. Saunders won cups for best Norwich unflighted, and best unflighted with his ticked buff.

YORKSHIRE C. & C.B.S. OF IRELAND.

Annual show held in the Central Hall, Westmorland Street, Dublin, Oct. 22 and 23. The hall is an ideal one for the purpose, as it is void of draughts, well lighted, and is close to the centre of the city. The committee consisted of some of the best working members, led by chairman, Mr. J. Dowling, and the men who left nothing undone under his directions were Messrs. McGee, Callaghan, Fleming, Mahon, Furley, Sholedice, and Mr. Keating from Dundalk, as also we were glad to see Brother Ryan. Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Lattimore, the painstaking hon. sec., who worked like a nigger and had everything running smoothly. The day was very bright and fine, and the birds looked at their best. Entries were below last year, but this was on account of the country members, who did not wish to send birds to the capital during its unhappy condition with strikes. This was very unfortunate for the show both as regards entries and visitors. At the same time, the success surpassed the expectations of the committee under the circumstances.

Yorks were the principal feature of the show. Novice classes were very well filled, with a splendid lot of real good ones. Norwich, although a little improvement as to entries on former years, were not well filled classes, but some very good birds were exhibited. Mules and Hybrids were real good, and the British bird classes were nicely filled. Mr. J. Bailey (Bradford) judged all except Brit., which were taken by Mr. G. Wilson (Frizington), and their awards gave great satisfaction.

ABERTILLERY.

First open show held Oct. 22, at Cwm Assembly Rooms, an ideal place, free from draught, and well lighted at night. The birds looked remarkably comfortable, and the stewards left no stone unturned to minister to the wants of their charges. Dr. McCormack, in a very neat speech, declared the show open, and mentioned the great pleasure it gave him to see the valuable members' cup as a memorial to the late Dr. McInerney. It is one of the finest trophies we have seen, and we understand is worth £14 14s.. We were very pleased to see such a great entry at the first venture, over 800 birds being entered. CAGE BIRDS coupon scheme was again a great success. Championship prize and diploma went to Mr. Ball with his lightly variegated Goldie Mule, novice championship and diploma to Mrs. E. Price with a well-known Welsh winning cl. buff Norwich. Diploma best Nor., Mr. D. H. Tedstone; best Yorks., Mr. Pritchard; Brit., Mr. Harry. Everything went without the slightest hitch, and great credit is due to the officials, Messrs. Hillman, J. Parfitt, Mortimer, Cleaves, Pritchard, A. Parfitt, Bowyer, H. Parfitt, Richards, Pearce, Thomas, Moule, Meredith, Russell, Hammond, Durham, Thomas and Morgan, who all worked assiduously to attain this end. The Secretary, Mr. Geo. Broome, carried out his duties in a very business-like manner, and the Society is well served by this official. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

PORTSMOUTH.

Portsmouth C.B.S. is to be congratulated upon another very successful show. The Long's Memorial Hall was again used, and is about perfection, and there was a nice gathering of visitors. Entries were nearly a hundred in advance of last year, which must be very gratifying to the officials, as they were unfortunately clashing with two prominent London shows. The society has now the confidence of the exhibiting public, and should still further advance. The show was opened by Miss Dye, who was accompanied by the pres., Councillor C. Dye, and the lady was presented with a bird and cage as a souvenir. The management was in the capable hands of Messrs. Hall and Jolmer, two gentlemen who thoroughly understand their duties, and are keenly alive to every item likely to make a success of their venture. The chairman, Mr. R. O. Tout, lent valuable assistance, and everyone on the committee of management did valuable work; these were Messrs. Saunders, Lean, Hoskinson, Parkes, Lockhart, King, Matthews, Walker, Olding, White, Browne, and Bickel. Mr. Norman judged Brit., For., and some members' classes, and Mr. Robson the remainder. CAGE BIRDS coupon competition had an entry of fifty-seven, and competition was keen. Diploma winners were:—Cham. Nor., Mr. C. W. Silk, junr.; Yorks., Mr. J. Hayter; Bord., Messrs. Burton Bros.; Hyb., Mr. Howick; Brit. Hardbill, Mr. W. Francis; Softbill, Mr. R. C. Tout; For., Miss Bousfield. Novice Nor., Mr. D. Walker; Yorks., Mr. D. Walker; Bord., Mr. R. W. Claydon; Hyb., Mr. W. Oakley; For., Mr. F. W. Littledale. As is usual at Portsmouth, the members made an imposing array with their birds, and in their classes one could find some of quite equal merit to birds in the open.

OXFORD C.B.S.

Annual show held in the old Masonic Hall, Oct. 16, a very good room for a bird show, having good light. Entries numbered 242 in 26 standing classes. The four British bird classes and the Crest and C.B. having to be cancelled for want of support. The arrangements were admirably carried out by a committee consisting of Messrs. W. B. George, C. Castle, A. Dennis, J. Gough, A. Lewin, W. H. Simms, A. Tomb, F. Wilson, H. E. Wood, and T. W. Wren. Mr. C. Holliday makes a very able hon. secretary, and has a good assistant in Mr. A. F. Filield, corresponding sec., with J. A. Lees as treas. Mr J. H. Roe, Birmingham, judged. Quality of the birds was exceedingly good in most classes; gold medal for best in show was won by Mr. E. J. Lamb with his noted Bullfinch-Canary Mule, shown in tip-top condition. The white Canary, a very rare and pretty specimen, though much admired by the public, got only vhc. The attendance was fairly good, and the society was well supported with subscriptions and special prizes. Mr. W. F. Cross is pres.; Viscount Valentia, C.B., M.P., Major Henderson, M.P., and other influential vice presidents.

LLANDILO F.S.

Show held at Drill Hall, Oct. 16. Owing to clashing with Swansea, entries in our section did not come up to expectations; still we are pleased to note that the show was a great success financially, due in a great measure to the untiring efforts of the sec., Mr. H. S. Davies, and hardworking committee. Mr. A. D. Hughes judged.

NOR. BUFF (5): 1, res, Price, cl. buff, good type and qual., grand size, well put down; 2, 3, Davies, brace of typical youngsters, plenty of size, col. and qual.; vhc, Muscott. YORKS. MULE, ETC. (4): 1, spl, best in show, 2, Davies, Siskin Greenie leading, good size, shape, and col., shown to perfection, wins, 2nd almost cl. Twite-Can., good size, col., and cond.; 3, Lloyd James, tkd. buff Goldie, in perfect feather, loses size; res, Jones. FOR. (5): 1, 3, res, Bafton, Red-napped Lorikeet, good col. and qual., staged well, and Eclectus Parrot, hardly hoisted enough yet; 2, Davies, Pennant Parrakeet, good rich deep col., not quite ready, will want some beating later on. SELL.: 1, 3, H. S. Davies; 2, Griffiths; res, hc, Price; vhc, Ewart Davies; c, Strange.

Halifax Holds Largest Yorkshire Union Show To-Date.

Good Workers: "Coarse and Heavy" Champion Birds: A Truly Sensational Happening.

556! This was the total entry at the show of the Halifax A.S., held in the Friendly and Trades Hall on Oct. 17 and 18. The entry, although not so good as last year, is yet the largest secured by a Yorkshire Union show this season. The quality generally was not up to the average, the majority of the birds not having lined down and tightened up. In this respect the novice classes were superior to the champions. In the latter many of the exhibits were, as Mr. Wilcock so truly said last week, too coarse and heavy. So numerous were the big ones in many classes that they made the medium birds look comparatively undersized and plain in appearance. In two respects, however, the latter had it—quality of feather and style. Of the champions, the unflighted classes and the hens were the best. In the former was found the winner of CAGE BIRDS Coupon Competition, a long slim racy yellow shown by Mr. J. E. Priestley. This bird has plenty of length, but not a vestige of coarseness, and had a remarkable sequence of victories, taking the C.B. Championship, Hyde's, Sandiford's, and Hudson's specials. It just missed the special for the best member's bird. This honour fell to Mr. S. S. Rigg's winner in adult yellows, another grand stylish bird this, with any amount of quality. Ramsden's special went to Mr. L. Dykes' unflighted bird, which stood at the top in the yellow class. In the novices the winner of C.B. Competition was Mr. Mann's yellow green. The four classes of the show which excelled all others in the display of high average merit and keenness of competition were those for novice hens and unflighted birds.

In the green marked buff hens was a bird which created quite a sensation, and which will cause the Halifax Show of 1913 to be remembered for many a year. We refer to the bird of Messrs. Ogden Bros., which was disqualified. The disqualification came before a meeting of the Yorkshire Union on the Saturday, and a report of the proceedings, with the Council's finding, will be found elsewhere.

Norwich had, for a Yorkshire show, a big classification and a most expert judge, yet the response of exhibitors was but moderate. The quality generally was good, but we thought some of the exhibits were a bit on the coarse side. CAGE BIRDS Coupon Open Competition was won by Mr. T. H. Mason's smart unflighted buff Norwich, and the novice competition by Mr. H. Ford's lovely little buff hen. British, with the Yorkshire B.B. and M.C. patronage, failed badly, three out of the five classes failing to fill.

The management was excellent. Halifax, like all the West Riding shows, is blessed with a good lot of workers, and amongst those whom we specially noted were Messrs. Ross, Macpherson, Priestley, Hall, Lee, and Robertshaw. Messrs. Clegg and Burdekin, the secretaries, had everything in their department in apple-pie order, and the fixture went through with a swing and a flourish which tells of much patient endeavour and good organisation.

Mr. C. A. House's Classes.

"CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S. HOLDS A SPLENDIDLY-MANAGED SHOW.

A Grand Display of Quality Birds: Better all-round Support Deserved.

The 34th annual exhibition of the Sheffield C.B.S. was held on October 18 in the Montgomery Hall, being of good light, spacious, and absolutely free from draughts, and situated in the heart of the City, the hall commends itself as being a most suitable building, for a function of this description. The schedule issued was a capital one, classification and prize money excellent, 22s. per class, with 26s. per class in the foreign, with a host of specials. Entries numbered 350, in the 33 classes that stood, Mules and several British classes unfortunately having to be cancelled.

A Remarkable Selling Class Episode.

The outstanding varieties for quality were the Crests and Crest-breds. Certainly not of great numbers, but of stupendous merit, not a single poor specimen being on view. Mr. W. Radley and Son staged a magnificent team of toppers, and were closely pressed by the representatives of Messrs. G. Dodd, J. Memmott, E. Barker, R. Holmes, and J. Evans. The Norwich Plainhead and Yorks champions were good, but might have been better. Still, the winning mealy, yell. cock owned by W. N. Turner, and the yell. hen staged successfully by J. G. Cowley, of the "chubby species," and the clear yell Yorkie cock and mealy, yell. cock put down by Dr. W. Craig, were a quartette of "eye openers. The novices responded nobly, gems being shown by Messrs. H. Sharpe, N. Pryor, W. H. Webster, and G. Hunt (Yorks), and Messrs. Howe and Senior, A. Keeling, W. Watson, and T. Green (Nor.). British captivated, the Nightingale (G. Fletcher), Hawfinch (G. D. Parlett), and Waxwing (L. Falding) being a trio of superb exhibits. Messrs. Chadwick, with a lovely Whydah, along with the forms shown by Messrs. G. Fletcher, S. Beaty, and R. E. Simpson, made a capital display of foreigners. Senior classes contained many bargains, the winner in the 12/6, benched by Mr. T. Simpson, found hosts of friends, and fetched 37/6, truly a very smart buff Yorkie.

The Thoroughly Capable Crew.

The Hon. President is Mr. H. Barber; Hon. vice-presidents are Messrs. J. C. Barnes, P. Walsh, and H. Jinks, a quartette of well-known and generous supporters to the society. Mr. F. Jones, the President, is far from being a figurehead only, he is absolutely one of the most arduous workers we have met for many a long day, always doing the right thing at the right time, untiring in his many efforts, and as true as steel to the "C.B.S." He is well backed up by a couple of vice-pres. in Messrs. T. Hemming and J. Thorpe, who complete a trio of officials that have the welfare of the society at heart to the fullest degree. The committee consist of fanciers, some of 20 years' experience in "Canarydom," knowing to a nicety the requirements essential to the correct working of an open venture. The following lent valuable aid, enthusiastically and practically, and kept the ball rolling in the proper groove: Messrs. Champion, Furniss, Kelley, Walsh, Bailey, Memmott, Bingham, Cowley, C. W. Hobson, Drabble, Tow, Tomlinson, and Curley. Hon. Treas., Mr. W. Oxley, who has held the office for a great number of years, is one of the "true types," and greatly esteemed by all. Mr. A. Hobson, the energetic and indefatigable Sec., proved himself to be an ideal controller. His right-hand man is Mr. J. Woolhouse. Those who know "J. W." know a fancier. We must not forget the praiseworthy work executed by the juveniles, Masters Jones and Hobson; both appear to be following in "father's footsteps." Stewards, who appeared to revel in the work, were Messrs. Curley, Bailey, C. W. Hobson, Bingham, Fowler, and Farnell. Staging was very neat, and every bird could be located at a glance.

Created Quite a Stir.

The diplomas and cash specials of CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme created quite a stir in the "cutlery capital." The popular verdict was, that it certainly gave an extra fillip of excitement to competition. The champion coupon and diploma hero was a gem of a buff, marked wings, dark crest, staged delightfully, and owned by Messrs. W. Radley and Son. The novice coupon bird was a magnificent yell. Yorkie (G. Hunt), marked wings and eyes, truly a marvellous creature, also capturing diploma. The diplomas of honour were won as follows: Champ. Yorks., C. Tomlinson: Norwich champion, W. N. Turner; novice diploma, W. Watson; Brit., G. Fletcher; foreign., J. Chadwick.

Messrs. Memmott and Bailey tied for Mr. Thorpe's special for most entries, and Messrs. Hutchinson and Prior tied for the cash spls. presented by Mr. J. C. Barnes for most points in novice Yorks. Most points novice Norwich was won by Mr. J. Smith. Yorks., most points, A. Radley; 2, Dr. W. Craig. Nor., J. G. Cowley; 2, J. Smith. Crest, W. Radley and Son; Brit., L. Falldiug; 2, P. Walsh. For., S. Beaty; 2, G. Fletcher. Judging commenced in good time, prize cards were affixed as each class was adjudicated upon, and the show was opened by 1 p.m., everything going as smooth as "marriage bells." One of the best one-day shows it has been our privilege to visit. Judges were: Mr. J. C. Barnes, Norwich P.H., Crests and C.B., and British; and H. W. Battye, Yorkshires, mules, foreign, and selling. The show-room during the evening was packed with visitors, and at 8 the room was cleared and the repacking of birds admirably executed, those from a distance being got off to reach their destination same night. Method was in evidence, and no hitch whatever occurred, that we heard of. Mr. J. Memmott displayed fine tact as dispatch clerk, and deserves many kind things being spoken of him. He worked like a Trojan.

Mr. Battye's Classes.

YELL. YORKS. (8): 1, Dr. W. Craig, cl., beautiful qual. and col., delightful position, good length, showing plenty of daylight; 2, Moss, mkd. wing, smooth as wax, lengthy, straight as a rush, clever legs, beaten slightly in texture of feather; 3, Norton, mkd. neck, wonderful length, neat expression of head, good back, flights and tail, hardly the position; 4, vhc, Simeson, mkd. eyes, A1 stand, capital feather; hc, Hymas; c, Butler. BURTON-ON-TRENT SOCIETY'S RECORD ENTRY.

Seventh annual show held in the Market Hall, Oct. 18. This was a change of venue from former years, and a splendid place it is. It is splendidly lighted from the roof, while at night it is equally as good; in fact, we never remember attending a show better lighted than this. The air being a bit "nippy" in the early morning, the birds appeared to feel it somewhat, which made judging a little difficult at the commencement, but later on, when the temperature had risen a little, nothing could have been better. The height at which the exhibits were staged was admirable; by the way, some societies are guilty of too low staging. The entry, although not quite up to last year's total which was a record for the society was a grand one, totalling close upon 400.

Norwich, as could only be expected at Burton, where so many of them are bred, were naturally the feature of the show. This section alone was worth going many miles to see. Quality was of the highest order throughout. Of the many good ones, perhaps (and we say it with some amount of caution) the clear Buff of Mr. W. Whetstone takes pride of place; a bird that fairly fills your eye for size, type and quality. It won the CAGE BIRDS Diploma for best Norwich, also the 10s. cash spl, thus repeating its Hanley performance, which, by the way, is not a bad one either, amassing two cash spls in three days. (This is contrary to Rule 7, however, which clearly states that two cash specials cannot be won with the same bird; in this case it goes to the runner-up.—Editor, CAGE BIRDS.) Yorks were provided with three classes, which were well filled with some excellent specimens. Cinnamons had five classes under the patronage of the Cinnamon Canary Club, but the response was very poor indeed—only 27 entries! Where, oh, where are the Cinnamons gone? Mules and Hybrids contained some charming examples of the various crosses, though the nine British classes were only moderately filled, which was quite unexpected, as this section usually fills well at this fixture. Mr. Brotherhood's famous Bramble notched another first on his already long list.

The novices were provided with three Norwich classes, which were supported to the extent of 13 per class, and a grand lot they were. The winning yellow of Mr. R. Parker was claimed at catalogue price, £1.

CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme had an excellent entry of over 50, which clearly shows the great interest which is taken by exhibitors in this popular innovation. The following were the awards of diplomas and cash specials:—Champion Section—Norwich diploma and 10s, spl, Mr. W. Whetstone; Yorks, Mr. Beaumont; Scotch, Mr. March; Hardbill, Mr. J. M. Williams; Softbill, Mr. J. Wood; For., Mr. J. W. Saywell. Novice—Nor. diploma and 10s cash spl, Mr. J. Fitchett. Winners of other specials were: Sandiford's, Mr. J. Cassell; best bird (member), Mr. W Elliott; best novice bird (member), Mr. A. Ford.

The management of the show was indeed excellent; a better set of fanciers one never need wish to meet, men that have the Fancy at heart, and enter into the work of a show body and soul. The arrangements were in every way admirable, and the exhibits were splendidly attended to. The committee consisted of Messrs. England, Ford, Lee, Kirkland, Springall, Elliott, Smith, Crouch, Mason, Freer, Oldham, Fitchett, Emery and Ames. At the head of this happy family as secretary is Mr. A. Wood, quiet, obliging, and unassuming, but thoroughly understanding his work, leaving nothing to chance. So long as he holds the reins, we feel sure all will be well. Mr. J. Robson judged.

EAST LOTHIAN
(Haddington).

This young society held the third annual fixture on Oct. 18th. The entries exceeded last year's total by 50, which was very gratifying considering the shows held on same day. The most noticeable was in the Nor. and Brit. classes, which came up remarkably well. Mr. John Dalgleish, of Leith, had a grand team of Scots Fancies forward, securing six 1sts out of the nine classes. Mr. James Gordon won cup for best youngster with the bird placed third in its class. Borders had 30 classes provided but did not get the support deserved. The best (medal winner) was the cl. buff cock belonging to Mr. C. Lloyd, which was staged to perfection. The Crests did not draw a big entry, that veteran Mr. Jas. Burns securing most of the honours. The Norwich medal for best went to a cl. yellow hen belonging to Mr. Alex. Moffat, a very popular win. The British classes under the Patronage of the S.B.B. and M.C. brought together a capital entry, and contained some real gems, the winning Goldfinch being a beauty. The society are blessed with a grand set of officials from the president downward. Their secretary, Mr. J. Fairgrieve worked like a hero, and did everything to make the show a success. The judges officiating were: Scotch and Brit., Mr. A. Livingstone (Paisley); Border and Nor., Mr. Golan Hislop (Stirling). The winner of the Hall Blyth cup for most points was Mr. C. Barrie, he also securing the teapot for most points in Bord. and Nor. sections. The day being fine the show was visited by a large number of fanciers from the surrounding districts.

Another Triumph for Tyneside.

GREAT SHOW AT NEWCASTLE.

Northern fanciers again had their annual treat on Oct. 17 and 18, the occasion being the holding of the great Newcastle show, and once again we have to chronicle a huge success—from a spectacular point of view, certainly, and from what we gathered from the officials, financially also. The famous Cambridge Hall, an historical building in the eyes of cage bird fanciers, was again the venue. It would be invidious to again extol the splendid features of this hall; its holding capacity, loftiness, freedom from draughts, and the ease with which visitors can get about, are well known to the great army of birdy enthusiasts who congregate here year after year.

A Splendid Lot of Workers.

The show was again under the charge of the popular sec., Mr. J. W. Reed, and his great capabilities as a secretary were splendidly exemplified by the absolute smoothness with which the whole of the arrangements of the show were carried out. Last year, after noting Mr. Reed's first attempt at the secretarial work, we commented on the fact that Newcastle was somehow or other always very fortunate in its choice of first-class secretaries, and his work at the present show has simply endorsed the high opinion we held of him, for all his work was got through with that promptness and accuracy which can only be obtained by a thorough knowledge of the work, and, what is more a willingness to do it. His genial manner, courtesy, and great willingness to oblige everyone make him popular with everybody, and we again say that we hope the society may retain his services for many years to come. Mr. J. Craig, too, the hon. assist. sec., is another grand worker, and rendered great help in the clerical work. The society is very rich in local support, and the popular president, A. J. Haggie, Esq., J.P., does everything in his power to further the good work of the society, and is held in the highest esteem by the whole of the members. The list of vice-presidents is a very lengthy one, all good supporters, while Mrs. W. F. Henderson, Mrs. A. H. J. Cochrane, and Miss M. B. Ellis do their best as patrons of the society. The working officials are a very strong body, at the head of whom is that keen and enthusiastic fancier, Mr. T. C. Crawhall, a past sec. of the club, and a credit to the society in whatever position he holds. There is no doubt as to the grand work Mr. Crawhall does on behalf of the Newcastle society, and he thoroughly deserves his great popularity, and the high esteem in which he is held by all who come in contact with him. He is well supported by the vice-chairman, Mr. M. C. Potts, and Messrs. J. E. Atkinson, and R. Toupling, as auditors, with the following committee: Messrs. R. Tindale, W. Mackenzie, J. Mackenzie, A. C. Young, J Maddison, W. Curry, F. Wyndham, R. W. Smith, R. Hope, J. Irving, H. Wellsbury, J. G. Greason, A. Holden, F. W. Laidlow, G. G. Petterson, C. Farrer, W. Coxon, S. C. Dix, A. Hermiston, and T. Smith.

A Great Entry, Well Staged.

The arrangements for the show were in the hands of Mr. W. Curry, another past sec., now sec. of the Gateshead C.B.S. He undertook the duties of show manager, and it goes without saying that in his hands all the arrangements were absolutely perfect, and carried out without the slightest hitch. One scarcely ever sees friend Billy without that cheerful smile which he seems to take about with him all over, and his courteous manner and great willingness to oblige everybody make him a favourite with all. We would like to also specially mention Messrs. F. F. Laidlow, C. Farrer, J. Craig, and E. Colton, as deserving of special thanks, for services rendered.

The staging was again a treat, leaving nothing to be desired, and in the hands of Mr. Curry everything possible was done to suit the convenience of visitors. A splendid schedule was again put out, and brought forth the great entry of nearly 1,500 birds. This is a slight decrease from the record entry of last year, but the average per class was much about the same, so that the society is to be congratulated upon maintaining its reputation as "the greatest show in the north."

CAGE BIRDS Coupon Competition was in vogue at this show, and much interest was evidenced as to the winners of the various diplomas. We think it wise action on the part of the Newcastle Executive to take up the coupon competition, for besides the greater zest it gives to exhibitors to try and win the diplomas, and incidentally pave the way to a chance of a big prize at the great finale at the Palace, it keeps the shows concerned in the scheme well before the eyes of fanciers. A society by taking up CAGE BIRDS Coupon Competition has nothing to lose and everything to gain. The coupon exhibitors at the show under notice numbered 62—46 champions and 16 novices. We are of opinion, too, that this could have been much increased, as several exhibitors told us they did not enter owing to not seeing the rules in the schedule, and being in doubt whether they could send in for it. It was evident from what we heard that the scheme is very popular, and as fanciers visit the shows and get a better idea of the good results that accrue to them by participating in the competition, there is no doubt that entries will increase to a great extent at future northern shows. The diploma winners here were:—Best champion, Messrs. Martin and Archer, with their celebrated Greenfinch-Chaffinch hybrid; best novice, J. McGuire, with a dark Greenie Mule; while section diplomas were won by F. W. Laidlow, chamn. Nor.; nov. Nor., J. Stephenson; champ. Crest, H. Mills; nov. Crest, J. Gillespie; champ. Yorks., E. E. Pynan; nov. Yorks., W. Thurston; champ. Scots., Thompson Bros.; champ. Bord., W. Tallantyre; champ. Lizard, W. P. Barnes; Mule of Hyb., Martin and Archer; nov. Mules, J. McGuire; champ. Brit., T. Almond; For., G. G. Petterson.

Quality Quite Up to Previous Years.

Throughout the show quality was quite up to the standard of previous years, and type was strongly in evidence, although we noticed some birds in each section that require another week or two before being thoroughly fit. But taking them all through the exhibits were a very level lot, and a treat to look upon.

Norwich were exceptionally fine, especially the older birds, and many grand birds of lovely type and quality, and teeming with colour, were staged. The unflighted classes we did not think quite up to the standard of previous years, although this section suffered much through many of the birds not being tightened up yet. This section averaged nearly 17 per class in 11 classes, while the novice classes brought forward 40 cocks and 14 hens in the two classes. Crests and Crestbreds totalled 34 in 4 classes, and some very nice birds were staged, although we missed the large number of monster Crests usually seen at Newcastle show.

Yorks. totalled 88 in 8 classes, and some really magnificent specimens were staged, the winners being all true to type, and we congratulate Mr. R. Tindale, who made his debut as a judge, upon the skill with which he selected the winners, his selections appearing to meet with the approval of all. Nov. Yorks. numbered 63 in three classes, and here again the majority of the exhibits were true to type, and taking the section all through it speaks well for the grand work that is being done for this variety by the Northern Yorks. C.C. Cinnamons were only poor five in the one class. Lizards totalled 17 in two classes—a slight increase on last year, and some lovely specimens were staged by W. P. Barnes, J. Hyslop, W. Reid, and E. Ollerenshaw.

Small, But Well in Evidence.

Border Fancies were the feature of the show, all the classes being very keenly contested, and some real good ones were out. The winner of the B.F.C. medal was a splendid all-round Buff hen, well put down by Mr. A. Gilchrist. It was hotly pursued by a grand yell. cock, well staged by Mr. Nicholson. Mr. A. Day won novice medal with a good yell. foul hen, very sweetly staged. The most noticeable sections were the Greens and Cinnamons, such an army being seldom seen. Mr. J. Johnston had one of his almost invincible teams forward, and accounted for a large share of the spoils, although in many cases he was very closely followed. Cinnamons were good, and the type throughout these classes has greatly improved. Mr. W. C. Duncan judged B. cock and hen, Uneven Yell., Yell. Greens, and Yell. Cinnamoue. Mr. J. W. Bruce the remainder Scotch Fancies were a choice lot, and here the bowl winner was found in a magnificent buff hen, well put down by Mr. Chapman. It was really a topper, and well deserved its place. Messrs. Duncan and Bruce judged these classes conjointly, and their awards were well received. Mules were a good collection, all the gems being forward, and clear Mules being quite plentiful. Sp was secured by Messrs. Martin and Archer's well-known Greenie-Chaffie, shown to-day in grand trim. Dark Mules were great, some sweet crosses being staged, and all in grand order. British and Foreigners were a grand array, some gems being staged, especially amongst the softbills. Mr. W. C. Young's Purple Sunbird was greatly admired, and no wonder, as it was splendidly staged among carnation blooms, and was in extra good order. The Linnets were a choice lot, while the hen class, although not large, was very interesting. One feature of this section was that all the exhibits in the variety classes and foreigners were labelled with their names—the work of Mr. Voutt, we heard, and great credit is due to this gentleman. Mr. J. Maddison judged these rarities, and his awards were hard to find fault with. The stewards on all the sections worked like Trojans, which the judges greatly appreciated.

The show was opened by Mrs. Irwin, in the presence of a good company, presided over by the president, A. J. Haggie, Esq., J.P. After the usual introductory remarks, Mrs. Irwin said: "Ladies and gentlemen,—I do not intend to waste your valuable time by making a long speech, but I do desire to cordially thank you for the honour you have so kindly conferred upon me in asking me to open your show. All birds, and Canaries in particular, have always been a great source of pleasure to me, and I keenly look forward to seeing the great collection of such splendid specimens which are exhibited here each year. I wish you every success, financially and otherwise, and without detaining you any longer I now declare the show open." Mrs. Irwin was then presented with a Canary and cage, and suitably responded.

An Innovation that Failed.

An innovation, so far as Newcastle show was concerned, was the introduction of printed leaflets inserted in the catalogue in place of the usual printed awards in the margin. It appears that at the last two or three shows exhibitors have complained of there being no catalognes until late in the evening of the first day, and as it was impossible to get the catalogues with awards printed any earlier, it was decided to have slips printed to meet the requirements of the exhibitors. However, the change was not a success, and we have the authority of the management for stating that in future the awards will be printed in the catalogues as before.

The special prizewinners were:—Challenge bowl, best young bird, Mr. T. Chapman, with a very nice buff Scots Fancy; "Kate Haggie" challenge cup, Mr. W. H. Butler, with a beautiful yell. Norwich hen; Hindhaugh's members' special, £1 1s., most points, Mr. T. C. Crawhall; most points in open classes, Mr. T. Chapman; most entries, Mr. T. Chapman; most points novice classes, Mr. J. W. Reed; gold medal, presented by Miss Ellis, McQuiston and Paterson; medal by "P.H.." won by McQniston and Paterson; best Scots Fancy, T. Chapman; 2nd best, T. Chapman; best Bord., A. Gilchrist; best Green or Cinn. Border, J. Johnston; best nov. Bord., T. Smith; best foreign, T. W. Christer; Border. F.C. medals: best Bord. A. Gilchrist, best nov. Bord. A. Hay.

A change was made in the judges owing to the inability of Mr. W. Vardy to be present, Mr. Harland, of Hull, taking his classes. Thus the judges were: Messrs. G. Harland, T. C. Crawhall, R. Tindale, J. W. Bruce, W. C. Duncan, and J. Maddison, and they all appeared to give complete satisfaction.

ANOTHER SUCCESS AT NORWICH

A Bird-Show and Bird-Mart combined: Great Performance of a Norwich Plainhead Exhibitor: Many Coupon Candidates in the Field.

The Norwich Alliance All England Cage Bird Association held another very successful show in the Corn Hall on Oct. 16 and 17. In the Canary City the Norwich variety naturally takes the premier position. The classification is so nicely arranged that it allows breeders and exhibitors a wide scope in which to enter their birds, and the consequence is there is always a grand entry, and many birds change hands at all prices. One breeder we met had about a dozen claimed, and had bought others in for his own stock purposes. The show, therefore, is not only a good exhibition of show birds, but a good market and exchange for the many breeders in the City of the popular Norwich bird.

Taking the exhibits generally, we found type and head qualities well to the fore, and these two points found especial favour with the judges, excepting in a few cases where size and condition could not be disregarded. Needless to say, many of the exhibits were far from fit, and could well have done with another week or so at home. The moult has been a late one in the Eastern Counties, and as the show was a trifle earlier than usual, this alone would account for the numbers being somewhat down, but the eight hundred odd birds, nearly all Norwich, made an imposing array, and lovers of the chubby ones could have their fill of handling their particular fancy.

An Exhibitor's Remarkable Success.

The judges do not have it all their own way in Norwich; the men of the city have been born and bred among the birds, and discuss every award keenly. For instance, in the case of Mr. Rippon's two lovely buffs standing first and second, many were the discussions regarding these birds; what one lost the other gained, we think the winner won, and the majority of visitors thought so too, but so close were they that as someone said, "It would be impossible to get one between them."

Mr. Rippon sent down a wonderful team, and had quite a field day, for with sixteen exhibits he secured eight firsts, five seconds, a third, a fourth, and one vhc—a truly remarkable record, especially as he was competing at the home of the Norwich Canary. Of the local exhibitors, Messrs. Howard and Son staged some good ones, their winning yellow cock being much admired. It is a bird of real type, and good headpiece, an occasional tipping of the wings spoiling his contour; otherwise he is a real good one. Mr. J. Smith's charming variegs. hen stood down to Mr. Rippon's, but seeing that the marked bird was non-fed, it was a great performance; she is about as near perfection as it is possible to get one; even without the colour she well secured many awards. In the amateur section, Messrs. Keymer Bros., of Gorleston, did not show such sensational birds as last year, but their exhibits were as usual noted for type, and a quality of feather that is hard to keep upon birds of any size. Mr. Duffield, of Norwich, was well to the front, winning in yell. cocks with a beauty, and having other birds in the money. It is a long time since we saw such a fine array of Crests and Crestbreds at Norwich, and no doubt the recently formed specialist Norwich Crest and C.B.S. has had something to do with the collection.

The Society Doing a Good Work.

The society has a good sec. and committee, and is making great headway in encouraging breeders in the district. In the amateur section, Mr. Gilbert won with a lovely Crested cock, Mr. Gabriel in hens, and Mr. Mitchel in A.O.V. class. Classes for yellows never receive much support, but they always manage to get a few at Norwich, and good ones they were, too; we think Mr. Linder's C.B. was perhaps the sensation of the show. In shape, size, and skull, with immense dome, it was more like a buff than a yellow, and secured CAGE BIRDS special and diploma for best in the section. A couple of classes for Hybrids, and a few British and foreign birds made up quite an interesting collection.

CAGE BIRDS Coupon Competition brought forth quite a nice number of entrants. The cash special for best champion went to Mr. Woolard's Crest, a bird with wonderful frontal; amateur to Mr. Linder's yell. C.B., both these winning diplomas. Best champion Norwich, Mr. W. Bale's variegs. hen, a lovely exhibit, which fetched more than its catalogue price when sold at auction, the fortunate purchaser being Mr. Howe, of Wellingboro'. Special for best amateur went to Mr. Phillips' yell. hen, another good one. A.O.V. to Mr. A. E. Brooks, with a grand Dutch Frill. British Hardbill, Mr. Goodchild's Hawfinch. Foreign, Mr. C. Thorne, with his Parrakeet.

A Splendid Show, Well Run.

The president, Mr. F. J. Lambert, opened the show, and complimented the officials upon the good gathering. The attendance was excellent, the huge hall being crowded upon the evening of the first day; in fact, it should prove to be one of the most successful shows held in recent years. We were informed that the gate alone was nearly double that of last year, and in addition to this there were some capital sales, while the bidding at the auction was spirited, and good prices were obtained.

The Norwich men know how to run a Canary show, and this was no exception. In Mr. St. Quintin they have a worthy successor to previous good men. He was in the show at all hours, and had all matters connected with it in prime order. He was assisted in this department by Mr. Freeman. The chairman, Mr. Phillips, lent valuable aid, as did also the vice, Mr. Smith, and the treas., Mr. Biggin. Other helpers and officials were: Messrs. Howard, Parsons, Shearing, Martin, Baker, Bartram, Clarke, Cullington, Daynes, Edwards, Freestone, Gilbert Harvey, Haze, Mitchell, Payne, Roberts, Russell, Stark, Thompson, Wilson, King, and Ebbage. The birds were carefully attended to, which their capital condition at the end of the show testified. The judges were Mr. W. E. Greeves Crests and C.B., Mr. J. Stark Plainheads, Mr. Howe the remainder, their awards being very well received.

HARROGATE.

Some Good Things that were Missed.

The 10th annual open show of Harrogate C.B.S. was held Oct. 18 in Dancing Academy. The room is an ideal one, well lighted, free from draught, and allowing plenty of space for visitors. The exhibits were benched in line style, so that all could be seen without handling. CAGE BIRDS Coupon Competition was in evidence, and a rare number of the coupon birds were in the money. In the Champion Section Mr. A. Veitch won with an unlighted yell mkd. on neck and wing, a gem of a bird, straight as a dart. This exhibit won the cp for best unlig. bird shown by a member, Hyde's cp, also cp for best member's bird. We must congratulate Mr Veitch on having such a run of luck, and hope he will be as successful in the future. Mr. Hamlyn put down a fine team of birds, his yellow hen is a real topper, full of quality and type. Mr. H. won sp member's most points. Dr. M. A. Wilson put down a fine team of Mules and Britishers, winning the secretary's cup once more. If the doctor should be in luck's way next year, the cup will become his own property. Mr. Chittenden put down a fine Buff Norwich, which won him sp for best bird in show. Why not Coupon the bird, Mr. C.? Ten shillings thrown away for the sake of sixpence. Mr. Robinson won sp for best hen in the novice classes; again this bird was without the Coupon, or would have had a rare chance. Mr. Graham winning the CAGE BIRDS 10s. special with his Yellow, a bird well on leg and a blaze of colour. The hon. sec., Mr. G. H. Barnwell, had the birds staged and attended to in good time. He was backed up by some hard working stewards, comprising the following well-known fanciers:—Messrs. Hamlyn, Head, Walker, Duxbury, Gent, Cottom, Ireland, Fawcett, Fergusson, Robinson, Leahman, Brown, etc. Mr. Wm. Mundell, of Bradford, judged, and his awards were well received.

STRATFORD & E. LONDON F.S.

Young bird show held Workmen's Hall, Oct. 9. There was a capital entry, including some really fine Foreign specimens. Mr. Reed won special best in show and certificate with a rattling Green Glossy Starling, and Mr. A. J. Turner second best with a grand buff Norwich. The team competition was very interesting, and resulted as follows: 1, 2, Reed; 3, Hawkes. Mr. Maxley as usual filled the important post of show sec. in a courteous and practical manner. Quality all round was excellent, and the entry good. There was a very large attendance of visitors. Mr. G. Gardner judged.

BROUGHTY FERRY.

Splendid Turnout of Coupon Birds.

The ninth annual show of the Broughty Ferry C.B.S. was held Oct. 18 in the Good Templar's Hall, Gray Street. The hall is an ideal one for the purpose, being well lighted and ventilated, and also free of draughts. There were forward about 400 exhibits and while they did not reach last year's total the quality was maintained. CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme has caught on and truly "Everybody's doing it." The 10s. special for champions was won by R. Whitton, with a romping young Crest, while the novice prize went to J. L. Smith. The Scots Fancy cup was won by T. Thomson, and that for Crests went to R. Whitton. The judges were: Scots, Messrs. T. Merrilees, Broughty Ferry; and J. Thomson, Kirkcaldy. Crest and C.B., J. McGregor, Lochgelly. Plainheads, W. Hampton, Brechin. Brit., Mules, and Foreign, J. F. Dewar, Edinburgh. The sec., aided by a hard working committee had everything in excellent order. Mr. J. F. Langlands has only recently taken over the position vacated by Bob Whitton, who, however, was just as keen and watchful as ever. The judging seemed to give satisfaction.

HASTINGS AND ST. LEONARDS UNITED C.B.S.

There was a large attendance, with Mr. J. Slack chair, on October 8, at the Royal Oak Hotel, for the evening show and the lecture by the President, Rev. J. M. Paterson, postponed from Sept. 3. The exhibits created a record not attained for some years past. The two specials given were divided into four. Winners: Brit. and Mules, Rev. J. M. Paterson; Nor., H. Pennells; Yorks., H. Morris. Great excitement was caused when it became known that among Mr. Paterson's exhibits was a Hybrid which he bred between a Brazilian Siskin and a hen Roller, the first of its kind bred in the British Isles. Among the large number present were: Mrs. Crofts, Mrs. Stevens, and Messrs. A. E. Godden, Ellis, Veness, Cragg, Pennells, Douch, Morris, and H. Morris. Curtiss, Dann, Watford, and Miss Kirk-Bullock, Hon. Sec. Mr. J. Stevens judged. The lecture was greatly enjoyed and a very warm vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Paterson.

HANLEY.

The eighth annual show of the Hanley C.B.S. was held on Oct. 16, in the Temperance Hall—a room of nice size, which provided plenty of space, so that every bird could be viewed in a nice light. For some reason or other the Norwich classes were badly supported, yell. and buff hens both being cancelled. The remaining five classes only totalled thirty two entries. While the numbers were so poor, quality was undoubtedly very fine, some grand specimens of the chubby ones being staged. The winner in the yell. class shown by Mr. Victor Williams, is indeed very fine. He is of splendid size and type, with tremendous substance for a yell, and is considered by some judges as being one of the best yellows on the bench at the present time. The winning buff, Mr. Whetstone's, is a stunner, such size and shape, with remarkable quality of feather for a "big 'un," carrying a wealth of bloom. No wonder he captured CAGE BIRDS diploma for best Norwich, also the cash special. He thoroughly deserved both honours. Yorks. turned up a little better, mustering sixty one in the right classes, no great shakes, especially when it is taken into consideration that these classes are under the patronage of the M.C.Y.C.C. The diploma in this section fell to the lot of Mr. Gibbons' unflighted yell., a bird of great length, standing on a grand pair of legs. A.O.V. Canary and the three classes for Mules were all cancelled. Five classes were scheduled for British, the blue pencil being put through the Goldfinch and the softbill classes. The three standing classes contained some very choice exhibits, especially the Linnets.

Amongst the Diploma Winners.

The diploma for Hardbills went to Mr. J. Davies, with a gem of a Siskin. Foreign birds, six entries, were an interesting collection of small seedeaters, all shown by Miss Blagg in exquisite condition. C.B. diploma went to a charming red Avadavat. Open novices turned up in much stronger force than the champions, the four classes averaging slightly over eleven per class, and containing some very good birds. Mr. Parker accounted for "C.B." cash special and diploma, with a fine uneven mkd. yell., a most useful bird. Yorks. averaged thirteen per class, and these, like the champion section, had the patronage of the M.C.Y.C.C. "C.B." diploma in this section went to Mr. Walker's buff—a fine upstanding bird of good shape and qual. The members' classes were nicely filled with some very useful exhibits.

CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme brought together a very nice collection. The following were the winners of the 10s. cash special and diplomas in the champion section:—Cash spl. and diploma for best Nor., Mr. W. Whetstone; Yorks. diploma, Mr. J. Gibbons; British Hardbill, Mr. J. Davies; Foreign, Miss J. M. Bragg. Novice: Cash spl. and diploma best Nor., Mr. R. Parker; Yorks., Mr. J. Walker. Other special winners were: Spl. for runner-up to coupon winner in open Yorks., Mr. P. Lane; best Brit. Hardbill, Mr. J. Pitchford; members' unflig. buff Nor. and ditto yell. Nor., Mr. J. Dunn; members' unflig. Yell. Yorks., Mr. G. Lawton; also best members' Yorks., best members' Nor., Mr. S. Wild; Sandiford's, Mr. J. Dunn; Hyde's, Mr. S. Piggott. The exhibits received every attention in the hands of a capable set of stewards, while at the head of affairs as hon sec., is Mr. C. J. Robinson, an excellent man for the post, very methodical and ever at his post. Mr. A. Hirst judged, and his awards were well received.

BURNLEY.

The Norwich P.C's. Club Show; Discussion caused by Member not Liking the Standard Show-cage.

That old established fixture, the annual show of the Burnley and District Cage Bird Society was held for the 27th time in the Pulledge Assembly Rooms, Oct. 17-18, in weather which was ideal, or as near ideal as we could wish in the midst of smoky East Lancashire. The room was a good one, airy, yet free from draughts, and well lighted. The birds were staged the length of the room, and as there were windows on each side, every bird faced the light. The Norwich Plainhead Club held its club show in conjunction with this fixture, and, as was expected, some tip-top specimens were put down. We missed a few old faces—perhaps they are not cleaned up yet—but there were new ones to fill their places. The judge, Mr. J. H. Roe, must have had a hard day's work sorting them out. Some there were which stood away from the others in their respective classes, while in other classes the winners must have been difficult to find, and must have caused him some anxiety. Birds of outstanding merit were the well-known clear buff belonging to Mr. J. E. Davies, and the same exhibitor's variegated yellow; a clear yellow of Mr. Wrigley's; Mr. W. Vardy's variegated buff cock, and Mr. L. Granger's two yellow hens. The entries in the champion classes averaged just over 12. One of the natural colour classes had to be cancelled, which will be a factor to be considered at the general meeting to be held at Manchester Show, when, we understand, there will be a notice of motion that the natural colour classes be deleted from the N.P.C.'s classification. Considerable discussion arose amongst the N.P.C. members from the fact that one well-known and influential member had not complied with the rule with regard to the colour and size of show cage, a rule which the N.P.C. is very strict about.

The amateur Norwich classes were well filled, some of the exhibits being worthy of doing battle with the upper ten. Birds of outstanding merit were those of Mr. Edmundson, a yell. unflighted, and Mr. Vardy's two hens. The classes averaged nearly 21 per class. Mr. J. Edmondson won special gold medal for best in amateur section, while gold medal for champion section was won by Mr. Davies's well-known clear buff.

Where were the British and Foreign Birds?

Yorks. were few in number in the champion classes, but of good quality. Some of the leading Yorkshire fanciers sent down teams, and some good ones were staged. Many were yet not fined down, and will probably change places later on with those above them. A very taking exhibit was a yellow hen staged by Mr. Schofield. She was a beauty. One of those medium-sized ones that would gladden the heart of even Mr. Willcock. Others who staged good teams were Messrs. Potts, Wilkinson Bros., Parkes, and others. The novice Yorkies were better filled, and the quality of some of them gave one the impression that they were owned by novices who knew their way about. Messrs. King, Wharton, Pomfret, and Burke staged some good ones. Mr. H. W. Battye adjudicated, and seemed to spot the winner every time.

What is to do with the British and Foreign Fancy in Lancashire? It is evident the new amalgamation hasn't taken on yet, or why were the classes all cancelled?

The officials were a hard-working lot. That astute fancier, Mr. Jude Hayhurst, was at the helm, and he seemed to have the ability of a Captain Kettle in keeping his crew at their highest pressure. He combines the duties of chairman with that of amateur auctioneer, and, as he himself would have it, he doesn't make a "reight bad 'un." Mr. G. Watson is the keeper of the privy purse, while the duties of secretary and show manager were undertaken by Mr. G. Wharton. He is a very efficient and painstaking official, everything being in its right place at the right time. We hope they came out on the right side of the exchequer. They were some 90 entries down from last year, which perhaps may be in part accounted for when it is considered this wasn't a "C.B." Coupon Show. The entries numbered 421.

Mr. Roe's Classes.

REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS

Owing to the number of announcements received we cannot guarantee to repeat advertisements unless the previous issue, Page, and Column are stated by the advertiser.

Advt. Manager. "Cage Birds".

ALWAYS USE OUR DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which me must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expirration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

NOTICE TO BIRD PURCHASERS.

It is advisable that all newly-purchased birds, especially foreign birds, be kept isolated from established stock for a week or ten days, until by their condition they establish the fact that they are thoroughly healthy.

SCIENTIFIC CANARY-REARING.

Do you want to have the most up-to-date information regarding Canaries? All about the different varieties? How to rear them successfully for sale or exhibition? What to do when they are ailing? An artistic 20-page Brochure has been specially prepared for CAGE BIRDS readers, regarding these matters and other details of great interest to fanciers. It is a gift to you, and you are entitled to it free of charge.

In this booklet will be explained an easy method by which, for the small payment of 1s., you can be the immediate possessor of a magnificent volume entitled "Our Canaries." It weighs 5lbs., and contains 133 illustrations and 33 coloured plates. The balance is payable at the rate of about 1d. a day for a few months. This slight cost is not, of course, an expenditure at all, because the facts you will be put in possession of when you have read this wonderful manual on Canaries will pay for its cost many times over.

"IT WILL BE OF GREAT SERVICE TO ME."

Dear Sir,— Macleod, Alberta, CANADA.

Book received in good condition. I think it is a first-class work, not only for amateurs and beginner, but I am sure that even breeders of long standing will find it of great benefit at all times. I am sure it will be of great service to me. Thanking you for your kind attention,

G. HUTTON.

"I AM SO DELIGHTED WITH IT."

Dear Sir,— 54, Woodbury Park Road, Tunbridge Wells.

I am pleased to say that your wonderful book, "Our Canaries," arrived quite safe on Saturday. It is just beautiful and could not be better. I am so delighted with it. Every spare minute I get I can't help picking it up. I keep a few Canaries as pets at present. I have nine, and shall find your book most useful.

Please accept my many thanks, and wishing you and your splendid volume every success.

ANOTHER RECORD

During last season I sold nearly 800 pairs of clap-nets; all were sent on approval on the distinct understanding that if they were in the slightest degree unsatisfactory I would immediately refund the whole of the purchasers' money. Despite this fact, not one pair were returned, nor was one single complaint received, but on the other hand, I received (and published) more testimonials than all other advertisers put together. This fact alone should prove to you who is the right man to supply really serviceable catching appliances. Clap-nets made from superfine thread netting, ¾ inch mesh, 3 yards long, 4/ pair; 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/; 7 yards, 8/; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. All guaranteed 5½ feet deep and 4 feet fly. These clap-nets consist of two nets to the pair, and each net is guaranteed exact measurement as above. Price includes all pegs, poles, and lines, ready for immediate use, and are guaranteed the only nets on the market that are properly armed or reinforced all round. Loose netting, as used in above nets, made specially for bird catching, 7 feet deep, ¾ inch mesh, 3d. yard; ditto, 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12 feet deep, 5d. yard; all post free. Extra stout netting, ¾ inch mesh, 10 feet deep, 5d. yard; Sparrow nets, fitted on 10 feet bamboo poles, 6/6; ditto, on 14 feet poles, 5/6 each, self-acting spring net traps, latest and best, 24 inches by 18, 1/2 each; ditto, 18 inches by 14, 10d each, post free; single trap cages, 6d. each, 5/ dozen; double traps, 1/ each, 9/ dozen; treble traps, 1/3 each, 12/- dozen; all these have separate compartment for call bird; self-acting and self-setting trap cages (reg. No. 2392), guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each; call cages, all wire, soldered tops, and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen; real Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, 60 yards long, 1/4 each, post free; genuine Japanese bird lime, guaranteed strongest lime made, stands all weathers and holds birds in the rain, ½ lb. 6d., ¾-lb. 10d., 1-lb. 1/6; large sample, 3d.; all post free; catchers' store cages, stave poles, drinkers, and thousands of other articles always in stock; send stamp for full copyright list, which also tells you how to buy netting for making your own nets. Please note: I am the actual maker of all nets, and thoroughly understand what is required for successful catching. I supply every professional catcher in the kingdom, and as these men depend upon their nets for their living, they must have the very best articles going.

WANTED A TRIAL

We are confident our medicines will give you satisfaction. We guarantee to return every penny paid if they fail to do as we advertise. Ditchfield's medicines have been used for over five years by most leading fancies, and are supplied to the London Zoological Society. We have hundreds of testimonials, testifying to the value of our bird medicines. Mr. Clark, of Port Bannatyne, writes: "Have used most medicines advertised, but have never had anything to equal yours, and have been a breeder for 30 years." J. Duncan, West Brae, writes: "Have used your special Lung Tonic, also your Tonic Drops, for over two years, and they have never failed to cure." A. Sammons, Southend-on-Sea: "You have got a genuine remedy which no fancier should be without." Major B. Horsbrough: "Your medicine is magnificent stuff." Our medicines are perfectly safe, and can be fully relied upon. All medicines are sent per return of post; any bottles broken in transit replaced. Ditchfield's Tonic Drops are a Guaranteed cure for soft moult, not singing, going light, dulness, feather plucking, diarrhœa, and inflammation of the bowels. In 7d., 1/1, and 2/- bottles. For bronchitis, wheezing, loss of voice, and hoarseness, get Ditchfield's Special Lung Tonic, also in 7d., 1/1, and 2/- bottles. The grandest chest and lung tonic ever introduced for cage birds. To advertise our medicines we will send a 7d. bottle of each of the above medicines for 1/-, or two 1/1 bottles for 1/9. For cases of constitutional weakness and debility get Ditchfield's famous Revivo. There is nothing to equal it for giving new life and vigour to the bird. As a pick-me-up for birds before and after showing this tonic is absolutely unequalled. Sold in 7d. and 1/1 bottles. All medicines post paid per return. Two valuable seed recipes how to feed Linnets and Rollers for song, given free to all purchasers of our medicines: Frank Ditchfield, Bird Specialist, Oldham. (979)

AFTER having such a successful run with my Britishers, I find I can spare two teams for sale; all can win in keenest competition; comprised of the following—Linnets, Redpolls and Mules. I have won 12 firsts, 7 seconds, 6 thirds already this season. I have also 5 grand Siskin-Canary Mules for sale, all bred from the diploma winner of Hanley show this last week. All these birds are in the best of health; no reasonable offer refused; letters only answered: J. Davies, 6, Prospect-place, Longton. (983)

FRED ALLEN'S GEMS AGAIN!
SIBERIAN BULLFINCHES & YELLOW SISKINS

"Sir,—Please send me another Siskin, the last one got 1st at Chopwell, 2nd Leeds, 2nd Newcastle, etc., see reports in CAGE BIRDS. I have had good offers for him. Wishing you success.—Mr. Carr, Blyth-st., Chopwell." Gentleman, I stand out alone for exhibition British. Everyone is delighted with my birds, over £5 was deposited with Editor for Siskins this last week, and not one returned. I am patronised by all the leading exhibitors. Look! Real giant yellow cock Siskins, perfect bibs and caps, well laced, teeming with quality, every bit as good as Mr. Carr's, 4/6, 5/6 each; order early, please, and save disappointment; also a grand lot of yellows, can win in good competition, 3/-, 4/- each, and a large lot in full song, 2/- each; Siberian hen Bullfinches, stormers, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6 each; cocks, magnificent giants, 4/6 each; Norwich type cock Linnet, one of the best living, can win under any judge, 2/6, and a nice lot of giants, well pencilled, deep rich colour, real gems, ready to win, only 2/- each; Redpoll, a gem, can win, 2/-; Chaffinch, a stormer, 2/-; Peartree cock Goldfinches, with deep, square-cut blaze, beautiful tanning, 3/6, 4/6 each, and a lot in full song, 2/6 each. Lock, cock Linnet, learnt under my undefeated champion of the world (cup winner), cannot be beaten for quality, 2/- and 2/6 each, and a grand bird, winner of over 100 firsts, 15/-. I have the strain for quality. Fierce singing Linnets, learnt under my Sheffield champion, sing day or gas light, only 1/6, 2/- each, and a few promising good ones, at 1/- each; cock Thrush, beautiful notes, 3/6; Ubal gold medal Rollers, the best in the world, 7/6, and 8/6 each, can beat any schoolmaster at double the money. I have the largest and best stock of birds in the North of England; inspection invited. I give 7 days' approval for cash or deposit, only honest dealing done with me, over 1,000 birds to pick from, and 200 Siskins. Write, with confidence, to Fred Allen, British Bird Champion, 156, Porter-st. Aviaries, Hull (981)

ARE YOU LOOKING

for birds of tip-top quality at rock bottom price? Birds that are thoroughly healthy, well on hard seed, and really worth keeping in a cage? If so, just give me one small trial order, and I venture to think that no matter how hard you are to please, the result will be entirely satisfactory to you. In the unlikely event of the birds not realising your every expectation, you cannot lose one penny, as I send all birds on approval at my risk, and unless perfectly satisfactory, they have only to be returned, and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. I am the originator of approval system in connection with field birds, and during whole 22 years of my business career, have never traded on any other terms. I now have an enormous stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, all netted birds, in pink of health and feather, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/-; specially selected larger cock Goldfinches, to moult for show, muling or singing, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 16/-; few clean-moulted exhibition specimens, in superb condition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, every bird clean moulted, with nut brown backs, and rose-red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; large picked birds, guaranteed in song for muling, or contest singing, 1/ each, three 2/6, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; handsome lot rock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; picked yellows, for muling, 1/- each; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock or hen Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; exhibition specimens, 2/6 each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; magnificent lot clean moulted healthy Siskins, over 300 in stock, all thoroughly on hard seed, and in superb condition; cocks, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; specially picked exhibition specimens 3/-, 4/- and 5/- each; hens, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/6; splendid lot of plump, healthy, cock Larks, every bird warranted a cock, not half hens or skeletons, 8d each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked, steady young cocks for singing, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/- each. Special travelling cages, 3d. per 3 birds extra. Please note, although my advertisements are extensively copied, I have no connection whatever with any other man in the trade, and I claim to have more Worcestershire birds through my hands than all other advertisers together. No birds are sent out until feeding thoroughly well on the usual hard seed mixture, and sex is guaranteed in every instance. If you cannot sex birds yourself, it would please me for you to have my birds examined by a competent judge, so that you would know you are having what you pay for, as what is more annoying to a man, after he has been keeping a bird for months, waiting for it to sing, to find it turns out a hen. I have 22 years' reputation in the bird trade, and that reputation is behind every bird sent out.

W. GORE, 131, GOOCH ST., BIRMINGHAM

GENUINE SIBERIANS

The largest Siberian Bullfinches, Goldfinches, and Siskins ever imported to England; all picked birds and all ready for the show bench. Gentlemen, beware of imitations advertised as Siberians. They are not to be compared to the genuine Siberians. Send for one elsewhere and send for one of mine; deposit with Editor; keep the genuine and return the imitation; all birds sent at once on hearing from Editor. Massive Siberian Bullfinches, cocks or hens, feathered like wax, 10/6; five hens, aviary moulted, real giants, can win anywhere, 12/6 each; finger tame. Also a few extraordinarily large cock Goldfinches, real stormers, 6/6 each; one a monster, with good square cut blaze, can win anywhere, 10/6, and eleven extra large yellow cock Siskins, every one having good broad cap, nice bib, well laced at thighs, bound to win over the little waxers offered by other dealers, 7/6 each. If you would beat your competitors, send for one of these and five very large cock Linnets, plenty of white, well pencilled, sure winners, 3/6 each, and one of the largest and best cock Linnet Mules ever bred, only 10/6; also a grand cock Crested Cardinal, in show condition, 10/6; all on approval, cash or deposit: John Day, The Aviaries, Porter-st., Hull. (973)

THE most up-to-date manual on this popular breed is "Norwich Canaries: How to Breed, Manage, and Exhibit," by C. A. House. It contains a beautiful coloured plate, and many black and white illustrations. In it will be found fullest hints and instructions on all the various points which go to make up a champion Norwich. It deals in a most practical manner with all the various stages of the life of a Norwich from the egg to the show bench, explains fully how to pair up the stock birds, how to feed the young, the art of colour feeding, and the way to wash and prepare birds for show. Do not be without it, post free 1/1½, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

E. W. ALLSOPP

You did like my "special bargain" last week. Telegrams, letters, postcards galore; but alas! only the two sisters to go round. I regret so much disappointment, but there's the facts. I have another special this week. I may have an extra special for next week, but have not yet decided. If I have not, then this is the last special I can offer you, as my surplus stock is selling, as it has never done before. 'Tis a cock, a 1913 clear buff, medium size, lovely type and very neatly feathered with that beautiful character of feather which for all breeding purposes may be regarded as yellow. In short, he is just "IT" for double bulling. If any breeder has a medium size buff hen, with plenty of colour, but feather wee bit hairy or bursh, otherwise neatly carried, and nice, full, clean head, and is wondering what to pair her with for 1914, don't waste time wondering any longer. The first 50/- to reach me secures him. The Editor informs me a portrayal of "Welsh Queen" is appearing on front page next week, and he is giving me the chance to talk about her, and Plainheads generally. Don't miss CAGE BIRDS next week. It's one of those nice opportunities, and, what's more, I am grabbing it. Shall have a free talk about what I know of double bulling, too. Mind, not what I think. Don't miss opportunities, nor miss CAGE BIRDS next week. My entire stock is now only 14 cocks, 16 hens, out of which I am reserving 6 cocks and 8 hens for my 1914 season. Matched stock pairs, from 40/-; single stock birds, from 20/-; approval, cash or deposit, and inspection invited, except Sundays. Wire, or write now: 40, Bedn-rd., Canton, Cardiff. (981)

Pure Norwich

Have a few grand Norwich, young and year old, direct from our noted winning strain, also other noted strains, cocks or hens, Yellows or Buffs, from 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-, 12/- each; a few likely show specimens from 15/- to 30/-; any on approval; supplied more winners than anyone in England; for proof, write Editor, who has seen the originals; scores of them; breeder 20 years: Sandiford, Canary Breeder and Judge, Preston, Lancs.

AM I LATE?

Have you been waiting to see my prices? Well, here am I. Better late than never, and better songsters late. It is to give you satisfaction that I have been attending. My long experience as breeder and importer enables me to give you the right birds at the right time of the year; do not be misled with common half-bred rubbish—there is no need. I have good, reliable, well bred birds to suit all pockets. My German trained St. Andreasberg Rollers are second to none; high quality of birds without any fancy prices. Cock birds, trained day and gaslight songsters, with water-bubble runs, soft roulades, harp, bell, gong, flute, piccolo, bass, and double rolls, etc., etc., 6/9, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each according to quality of song. Genuine St. Andreasberg hens 2/6, 3/- each. The cheapest songsters in England are my Hartz cocks, they are loud free singers, birds that sing by day and gaslight, making plenty of noise. The real working-man's friend, cocks 4/9, 5/3, 5/9, 6/3 each; matched breeding pairs, cock and hen, for breeding songsters, 6/9, 7/6, 8/6. Owing to the great demand for my singing Canaries, I only stock St. Andreasberg, Seifert, Hartz, Rollers. Thus keeping all birds with their pure delightful song. All birds sent on seven day's approval at my sole risk. Cash or deposit. Neat travelling cages 3d. each. The old firm, with 18 years' reputation behind it: E. I. Storey, Roller Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

YOU'VE NEVER KNOWN

the real merit of a Roller's song unless you have heard a Weber's Leipzig Roller, as imported by me. Instead of having one or two long drawn-out railway-whistle rolls, same as the ordinary Roller, their song consists of a splendid variety of musical changes entirely free from harshness and monotony. I have on hand a very large stock of cocks picked from first round of young, all are in free song, day and gaslight, with bellow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, gong and flute notes, and jug-jug of Nightingale, etc., price 6/6 and 7/6 each; hens, guaranteed same strain, 1/9 each, 3/- couple. I also have a splendid lot of perfectly trained Bandmasters in perfect song; these birds have exceptionally soft mellow notes, and excel in the deep bass and hollow tours; price, 10/6 and 12/6 each. For those who like a loud, noisy singer, I have a grand lot of Hartz cocks, all guaranteed in loud, free, vigorous song, just the thing for public bar or coffee house, where plenty of loud, noisy song is required; price 5/- each; seven for 29/9; singing box cages, 1/6 each; special Roller singing-cabinets, with loose fronts and folding doors, 2/6 and 4/- each; special travelling cages 3d. All birds are safely and warmly packed with food and water for 48-hour journey, and sent on full week's trial at my risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash, or if same is deposited with Editor, and unless bird gives fullest satisfaction and realises your every expectation, the whole of the money is promptly returned. Please note following few unsolicited testimonials: "Jarrow, Oct. 9. Sir,—Received bird all right. He's a beauty, and if he turns out as good as he looks I shall be more than satisfied. Yours, Fred Bell." "Holly Bush, Maxwell Road, Bournemouth. Oct. 10th. Sir,—Birds arrived in splendid condition. I am delighted with them and shall remember you when ordering again. Yours, J. Stead." "7, Church Street, Gowerton, Oct. 10th. Sir,—Please send price list. I was in Gowerton Station on 8th, and there was a Canary in a cage sent from you to Mr. Thomas, of Waunarllwydd. He was singing beautiful, even shut up in the dark. I couldn't see him, but knew it was a Roller.—Yours, W. Lloyd." "188 Rectory Road, Gateshead, Oct. 10th. Sir,—Bird arrived safe on 7th inst., and gives every satisfaction. Yours, C. Rust." "12, Brockwell Street, Quebec, Co. Durham, Oct. 11th. Sir,—Bird arrived in good health, and I am highly satisfied with him. Thanking you for honest dealing. Yours, G. Johnson." All birds are stamped on wing, "Hans Weber, Leipzig," and I am only importer of this strain, so send your orders to the fountain head if you would ensure getting a genuine Leipzig Roller. (961)

Replete with useful hints: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

THOUGH they can often be purchased for the modest half-crown, Pekin Nightingales are very beautiful in plumage, have a fine song, and make ideal cage or aviary birds. Some very helpful information on this variety will be found in "Nutshell No. 19," the author of which is Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S. Get it at once. 2½d. post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. 2d. from our agents (list published frequently).

BUDGERIGARS and Cockatiels are among the most popular foreign birds, and C. P. Arthur has had a lifetime's experience with them. His book, "Budgerigars and Cockatiels," will show you how to keep them, feed them for health, how to breed them, and how to teach them to talk. The price of this valuable handbook is only 6½d., post free, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

THERE is no more lovely seed-eater than the popular Gouldian Finch, which, however, is very difficult to establish. This trouble can be overcome, and the variety kept successfully. But you must follow the hints given in "Nutshell No. 14," from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C., post free for 2½d. From agents (see list frequently published), 2d.

PROVINCIAL ROLLER C.C.

Monthly meeting, Oct. 25. Mr. George Warcing (Bury) presided over a good muster of members. Patronage was granted to the L.C.B.A. and to Wakefield Roller Club. Specials were arranged for members' show, Nov. 29.—A. Percival, Hon. Sec.

CITY OF BRADFORD O.S.

Meeting held Flying Dutchman Hotel, Leeds Road, Oct. 25. Only a small number present. Mr. J. Roe chair. Tickets of admission for annual open show being ready, several members took a good number. Members who are desirous of selling tickets should apply to sec. as early as possible.—P. N. Jenkinson, assist. sec.

ROMFORD F.A.

Our grand annual exhibition is to be held Nov. 27. We are anxious to encourage cage bird fanciers in this district. Membership is open to any lady or gentleman resident in Essex. The C.B. section of this progressive society has of late considerably improved, but we require keener competition. Membership fee, 2s. 6d.—Chas. Ives, Hon. Sec., "Westwood," Upper Mawneys Road, Romford.

UDDINGSTON C.B.S.

Meeting held in Reading Rooms on Oct. 22, and well attended. Two new members joined. Mr. N. P. Campbell gave a very clever exhibition by washing seven birds, and the novices present profited by his remarks. Agreed to give two prizes at our forthcoming show of £2 and £1 to the society whose members gain the most points. Mr. M. Craig will give a lecture on "British Birds," Nov. 5.—J. Cosgrove, Hon. Sec.

GLASGOW AND DISTRICT C.B.A.

Committee met Oct. 21, Nelson Temp. Hotel, Mr. J. F. Park presiding over a good attendance. Sec. reported additional patronage received from Crest Club and S.B.B. and M. Club. Guarantee fund to the amount of £12 was collected, and should instil confidence in the Fancy to become members of the association. Business in connection with show was dealt with. Decided to send out schedules on Nov. 6, from Nelson Temp. Hotel.—W. Hutchison, Sec.

CARDIFF C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 6, at Maskell's Hotel. Mr. Whetton presided over a rather small attendance. Members please attend next meeting, Nov. 6, the final meeting before show, also let me again remind members that subs. are due. The financial success of the show is in the members' hands, so please push the tickets. A special will be given to the member selling most tickets. Messrs. Merrit, Hopson, and Phillips are acting as night stewards. Messrs. H. C. Smith, E. J. Davies, A. Maggs, and A. Ball have volunteered to be responsible for the checking of all exhibits at the show; D. Raymond, J. Hopson, J. Pearce, S. Wiseman, J. Dugmore, E. James will also assist in staging and packing.—E. Thomas, Sec.

MIDLAND COUNTIES YORKS. C.C.

I wish to remind members that Nottingham, November 14 and 15, is the next show for Champion Section, and Stoke-on-Trent, November 13, for Novice Section, which two ventures I appeal to them to heartily support. Unpaid subscriptions are much overdue, and members would save me a lot of unnecessary correspondence by kindly remitting at once. After the next shows I will publish the half-time results of champion and novice competitions. I take this opportunity of drawing the particular attention of secretaries of shows receiving our patronage to Rule 11, respecting the payment of full prize money in classes of eight entries, also remind them that seven cards must be given.—W. Wells, Hon. Sec.

KENT COUNTY C.B.A.

The Rev. H. A. Soames, Mrs. Soames, and Mrs. Aitken have generously presented a solid silver challenge cup to be competed for by members for adult Borders. This year it will only be competed for at Dover (Nov. 5 and 6) and Canterbury (Dec. 10 and 11). Other years the committee are to be allowed to nominate the three shows. The donors hope by this means to increase the exhibition of this branch of the Fancy in Kent. The following are the conditions under which the cup is given: 1. For adult Borders, most points with two birds at not more than three shows. 2. Any number of birds may be shown, the two highest to count. 3. Birds need not be nominated, but must all be marked K.C.C.B.A. 4. Cannot be held with the Association's young bird cup. A member winning both may choose which to hold. 5. Birds need not be bred by exhibitor.—H. Wood, hon. sec.

COWDENBEATH C.B.S.

Lecture and table show, held Oct. 9, in Raith Arms, Mr. A. Simpson, vice-pres., chair. Mr. W. Ping, Auchtertool, gave us some of his bird-keeping experiences and experiments. He wished it to be understood that his object was mainly to produce a good songster, rather than a costly exhibition specimen, although he had no doubt the breeding of such was a paying concern, if properly attended to. In the exhibition specimens he had been much struck with the difference of type since he first showed away back in 1886-7. He handed round some old model cards, and all were struck by the change. He thought that show committees might do something to promote the breeding of a good cross between two exhibition birds of different breeds. He had with him several birds bred in this fashion which were keenly inspected by the members. The lecturer invited discussion on this. Living as he did in the country, he had many opportunities of studying British birds, and he gave many amusing and instructive instances of hours so spent; he had proved that a Skylark could be reared by a Canary, that a Blackbird in captivity could rear young Blackbirds, and Thrushes, and he had reared Chaffinches under Sparrows and Canaries. He had with him his tame Jackdaw, which gave a practical proof of much time and patience spent in its tuition. The lecturer fairly brought down the house with his jocular reminiscences of the society's ramble, held during the summer, picking off the members' peculiarities in an able manner. He expressed good wishes for a record show on Nov. 15th, and said he was always willing to do his best to help on the Fancy, and the Cowdenbeath Society in particular. The discussion which followed was taken part in by a goodly number. In the table show of Border Fancy cocks, there were 10 entries. Mr. Joseph Sneddon, Crossgates, judged. 1, medal, 3rd, and 5th, King; 2, Playfair, 4, 6, Stewart; 7, Smith. After judging, Mr. Sneddon explained his reasons for the placing of the first three birds for the benefit of the novices present. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Messrs. Ping and Sneddon. Stewards for the open show were appointed as follows: Scotch Fancy, J. Patterson, and J. Sneddon; Bord., J. Fotheringham and W. Peacock; Yorks., A. Cunningham and J. Anderson; Crests, G. Sinclair and P. Hamill; Nor., P. Langan, H. Patterson, and W. Robb; Brit., A. Robertson, A. Harvey, J. Smith, A. W. Ping. Next meeting and table show of Yorks. cocks in Arcade Temperance Hotel, Nov. 5, Mr. R. Reid judge.—J. W. Holms, Sec.

CRAGHEAD (Workman Club) C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 19 in Club Rooms, Mr. J. Elliott in the chair. We had a good turnout of fanciers, and got through our business in good style. Schedule was drawn up for show, Jan. 17; 39 classes in all. Judge, cage birds, Mr. W. Reid (Sunderland).—Alf. Dawson, Sec.

IRVINE AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Committee met Oct. 21, and made excellent arrangements for annual open show on Nov. 29. The classification affords remarkably fair opportunities for all entrants. There are to be classes for Nor., Yorks, Bords., Crests, C.B., Scotch Fancy, and Brit. and For. Three popular judges:—Mr. A. Cant (Nor.), Mr. F. Findlay (Bords.), and Mr. A. W. Watson (Brit. and For.).—H. M. Ferguson, Sec.

WALLSEND MID-TYNE C.B.A.

Meeting held Station Hotel, Oct. 22, Mr. J. Heslop in chair, before a splendid attendance. All show business was completed. We have plenty of specials and 3 challenge cups and medals. Members who have not a schedule, please send for one. Entries close Nov. 5. Members, rally around and make our show a success. I think admission tickets are selling well. Judges, Mr. Barnes (Grantham) and Mr. Maddison.—Geo. Greenwell, Sec.

VALE OF LEVEN C.B.C.

Meeting held Village Schoolroom, Alexandria, Oct. 21, President Donaldson in the chair. Congratulations were bestowed on this young club's first outing at the City of Glasgow show, fifteen members having exhibited 39 birds, and returning with a fair share of the spoils. Next outing, after own show, is the Glasgow and District, when they hope to do even better. Classes for annual show having been gone into, admission tickets and collecting sheets handed out, a friendly discussion on show matters took place. Regret was expressed at the loss of such a popular member as Mr. A. Nicholson, who is going to Cardiff. Two special meetings in above hall, Nov. 4 and 16.—A. H. McLean, sec.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

NMeeting headquarters, Oct. 25, Mr. Farrer presiding over a good attendance. Decided that markers visit members' rooms for purpose of marking birds of the last rounds, and so complete their lists. Decided to have staging all round hall for open show, in addition to centre staging we possess. Our chairman again came forward and promised to make same, also three judging tables, if the club would purchase the timber. His kind offer was promptly accepted. Owing to additional classes having been put on this year, it was thought necessary to have another judge, and Mr. J. Johnston (Wallsend), of Green Border fame, is to act in that capacity. The judges for show are now: Mr. Cowgill (Canaries, except Borders); Mr. G. Wilson (Brit., Mule and For.), and Mr. J. Johnston (Borders, etc.).—J. Peacock, sec.

SOUTHERN BORDER F.C.

Meeting held at Guildhall, Wandsworth Road, S.W., Oct. 23. Mr. G. Burton chair, and small number present. Letters read from Mr. D. Jenkins in reference to guaranteeing a hen class, and it was decided that it was too late to do anything in the matter this year. Sec. to thank Mr. Jenkins for his sporting offer. Letter read from Mr. A. J. Pratt submitting sample and price for spoons. Decided to have spoons as per sample, same will have sketch of Border Fancy and wording on handle. Prices for cup also submitted; decided to leave the matter till next meeting. Sec. to arrange for an assortment to be sent to choose from. It is hoped some of the provincial members will by then have sent in their donations to the cup fund, which now amounts to £3 3s.; there is still £2 2s. required. Rev. H. A. Soames (Bromley), W. P. Hewett (Red Hill), R. W. Judd (Ilford) were elected members. Several members' subs. are still unpaid. Sec. will be pleased to receive same as early as possible.—F. Moore, Hon. Sec.

EDINBURGH AND DIST. C.B.S.

Monthly meeting, held 31st Oct., in Cairns Memorial Hall, President, Mr. A. W. Watson, in the chair; a good turnout of members present. We accepted the printing quotation from Mr. Aitken for 100 schedules and 150 catalogues. The President gave account of interview he had with Sec. of S.B.B. and M.C., re patronage. Failing the club granting same, the medals were guaranteed by Mr. Allan and Mr. Watson, this meeting with a round of applause from the members. After some discussion it was agreed to add a class for old Mules and Hybrids (any variety) at our annual show, entry fee 6d. Special committee was appointed to buy and allocate the prizes for annual show. Other items of business in relation to show were left in the hands of secretary. Result of table show:—NOVICES, NOR. YELL. CK. or HEN: 1, 2, Brown. BUFF: 1, Staines; 2, Adam; 3, 4, Brown. BORD. YELL.: 1, 2, Brown. BUFF: 3, 2, Brown; 3, 4, 5, Hay. SCOTS.: 1, 2, 3, Brown. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. John Holmes for placing the awards brought a very good meeting to a close. Secretary has secured a cup for the best British bird at annual show, also medal for winner, through the generosity of Mr. Wm. Ogilvie.—J. C. Charlton, sec.

EALING AND HANWELL F.S.

Evening show held St. John's Hall, W. Ealing, Oct. 15. Judge, Mr. Rorke. YORKS: 1, sp, Taylor and Wright; 2, 3, Crocket; res, vhc, hc, c, Monger. UNFLIG.: 1, 2, Crocket; 3, Bollin; res, vhc, hc, c, Taylor and Wright. MULES: 1, Bollin.

DARVEL C.B.C.

Meeting held Oct. 21; Mr. N. Hopkins occupied the chair. The attendance continues to be good, and we were further encouraged by seeing a few more new faces. New members: Messrs. T. Nisbet and R. Ralston (Newmilns), A. Frew (Galston), W. Taylor and C. Murdoch (Darvel). Mr. Johnston was elected to judge club show, 15th Nov. Intimation given that we could not get Y.M.C.A. Hall for club show. After discussion it was deemed advisable to fall back on Lesser Town Hall, most central and suitable for our purpose. As in all likelihood we should be having the support of some Scotch Fancy breeders, it was agreed to add three classes for this variety. Mr. Wm. McNair kindly offered his services to arrange staging, and several other arrangements were left in the hands of sec. Next meeting Nov. 12, when entries for club show will be received. It is expected all exhibitors will endeavour to have their entries forward on this date. New members will be given a hearty welcome. Come along and join our progressive society.—J. Robertson, junr., sec.

In the Courts.

More Cruelty to Decoy Birds Punished.

"It is a disgraceful case of cruelty," remarked Mr. H. S. Staveley-Hill, M.P., at Cannock Court, on Oct. 13, when three miners, W. H. Bird, W. Beech, and W. Hodson, were charged with cruelty to a bird at Chadsmoor on September 26th.

According to the evidence of Police-constable Lee, the defendants had a number of poles and nets, and also a "brace" arrangement, attached to which were a couple of live decoy birds. A piece of string, about 50 yards long, was fastened to the brace, and this string was pulled and the live birds knocked up and down to entice birds into the nets. At the time of witness's appearance on the scene one of the decoys was dying, and the other bird had to be put out of its misery.

In fining Bird 10s. and costs, Beech 5s. and costs, and Hodson 2s. 6d. and costs, Mr. Staveley-Hill said that, speaking for himself, he hoped the day was not far distant when the Government would introduce a Bill forbidding the capturing of any English birds whatsoever. The capturing of birds in any conditions led to cruelty, but when such a barbarous system was introduced as had been used in this case it was a disgrace to the persons who called themselves men. "If I have anything to do with it again," added Mr. Staveley-Hill, "I shall send you to prison if you come here any more on such a charge."

In reply to the Bench, Police-constable Lee said the method of catching birds adopted by the defendants was not common in the Cannock district. He thought it had just been introduced from the Black Country. The Bench ordered all the poles, nets, and other tackle to be destroyed.

"ABSOLUTE PERJURY."

A Disagreement at Anfield and the Sequel.

At the Liverpool County Court on Oct. 28, before his Honour Judge Shand, Richard B. Wright, of 15, Worcester Drive, Clubmoor, described as an artist, sued Malcolm E. Wilson, of 201, Breck Road, Everton, boot shop manager, to recover £2 8s. 6d., being the alleged purchase price of five prize Canaries and a carrying cage.—Mr. Quilliam appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Maxwell for the defendant.

The defendant was chairman of the Anfield, Everton and District Cage Bird Society, and the plaintiff until recently had been the secretary of that society. A counterclaim had been entered by the defendant against the plaintiff demanding the return of some silver cups and medals, of which, it was alleged, the plaintiff had obtained possession as secretary of the society, and which he had refused to give up.

Plaintiff said that in the first week of February defendant came to his house and bought one show bird for £1, three show birds at 5s. each, and one show bird for 10s., and a carrying cage for 3s. 6d. He took them away with him. Plaintiff's wife and two sons were present. Defendant said he would pay in a fortnight, but had never paid a halfpenny, notwithstanding a number of applications. Plaintiff added that defendant had subsequently won prizes with the birds.

In cross-examination, plaintiff admitted that he had recently been dismissed from the post of secretary of the Anfield, Everton, and District C.B.S. He denied that this was a "faked claim" because of his having been dismissed from the society.

The two sons of the plaintiff corroborated.

The defendant gave a complete denial of the story. He said he bought three birds, the first being a cock, for which he paid 7s. 6d. on the spot; and about a week afterwards he bought two other birds for 10s. and 5s. respectively, for which he again paid cash. The plaintiff brought the two latter birds to defendant's house in a small carrying cage, and it was arranged that he should call for the cage at his convenience, but he never did call. After the purchase of the birds there was a stormy meeting of the society at witness's shop, at which witness admitted he called plaintiff a "—— cur," and said that prizes were not given to the members for which he had received money.—Cross-examined, defendant denied that he had changed the three birds originally bought for the five now claimed for.

His Honour, in giving judgment, said: This, although a small matter, is certainly a serious one. It is perfectly obvious one side or the other has been committing the most absolute perjury, and after hearing the evidence I have very little doubt which side is doing it. My judgment is for the defendant.

On the application of Mr. Maxwell, his Honour allowed costs and counsel's fee. He excluded the counterclaim on the ground that it pertained to dealings of the society, whereas this action was between individuals.—"Liverpool Echo."

ROUND THE SHOWS.

LEINSTER O.S. (Dublin).

First annual show, held October 28 and 29. We congratulate the committee on their first venture, and record them our sincere wishes for their future success. The society have accumulated funds to enable them to present 3 solid silver cups, and to offer prize-money on full classes of 3 birds, of £1 per class. They have also been very fortunate in getting the generous offer from their presidents, Mr Hawkins and Mr. Morgan, of silver cups. As in all Leinster shows, Yorks. were the principal feature, but yet owing to the strike in Dublin, exhibitors were very chary of sending their birds. The hall is an ideal one for the purpose. Mr. Holly, the able hon. sec., who knows his duties well, had everything in shipshape order. Chairman Mr. Cloke, helped by a hard-working committee, Messrs. Clarke, Birst, McKenzie, O'Byrne, Sheridan, Beegan, Fry and O'Driscoll, did everything for the exhibitors and visitors, and all exhibits were well looked after.

Yorks. were a fine lot, but most of them were not properly finished, but yet there were some gems exhibited. Entries in Norwich were not up to expectations. Considering that there were 6 classes, with a solid silver cup, this was undoubtedly due to the Ulster O.S. holding their show so soon after. Scotch Fancies were not many, but the cream of the section was to be seen on the bench. Mules and Hybrids were indeed a very choice selection, and some of the very best birds were exhibited. Britishers were very well represented. We heard some discontent with regard to the points for the cup. On making enquiries from the committee, we were informed that why the words in schedule, "who have never won a British bird cup outright," were added, was solely to bring out novices, who were very backward in showing their birds, when so many champions were in the field. Foreign birds were extra good. Mr. Battye (Huddersfield) judged, and his awards were received with satisfaction.

PAIGNTON.

Paignton and Torbay O.S. held their seventh open show on Oct. 29, at the Badmilton Hall, Paignton. This hall is admirably adapted for a bird show, and capable of holding quite twice the quantity of birds than the committee were able to stage this year; in fact, it would be difficult to find a better hall anywhere. The entry this year is rather less, accounted for by Taunton and Hayle holding shows on the same day. This should be remedied another year. Paignton have kept to their usual date. Surely something could be done to avoid shows in the same district clashing. The quality throughout was really good. Norwich came up well, and in this section the competition for CAGE BIRDS Coupon specials was very keen, W. Redwood winning the diploma with a variegated buff of wonderful substance, which has a winning career in front of him. Yorks. numbered only 26 in 6 classes, the Coupon spl. being won by Mr. Buckingham's clear bull; this bird also winning the 10s. spl. for best Coupon bird in show. It is a wonderful Yorks., being stylish and of really splendid feather. Crests and C.B. were few (7 in two classes), and the whole of the winners belonged to local fanciers. In the Mule section the feature was the number of Canary Bullies on view, there being five of this cross in the two classes. Some comment was passed on the fact that two were in the variegated class, but these had light feathers both in tail or wings. Mrs. Askham won the diploma with her exhibit. British were on the whole poor for Paignton, but Foreign, though few in numbers, were extra good in quality. Mr. Wade's Crimson Wing taking the diploma. This bird was greatly admired. The members' classes contained many real toppers, the Norwich especially being a grand lot, whilst the winning Goldfinch was easily the best of its kind in the show. Some of the exhibitors missed a glorious opportunity to win CAGE BIRDS 10s. novice special, which had not a single competitor. Novice birds were good, but their owners are over-modest. The arrangements were carried out in the usual perfect fashion always associated with Paignton. Messrs. Jeffery and Son did everything needful for the welfare of birds and visitors, and were ably seconded by a committee of true fanciers, of whom none worked harder than the Chairman, Mr. A. H. Innes, the Vice-Chairman, Mr. H. Daw, and Messrs. Badcott, Hodge, and Wyatt. The President of the Society, H. Whitley, Esq., lent some remarkable chrysanthemums and palms for decoration of the hall, and generally took great interest in the society. Mr. Easterling judged open classes, and Mr. T. Pope members', and the awards gave general satisfaction.

LLANDRINDOD WELLS.

Annual show held at the Albert Hall, Oct 29. The building is an ideal place for a show, free from draughts and well lighted. The exhibits were not large in number through so many shows being held in the district within two or three days, but some fine exhibits, both Norwich and Borders, were staged. Mr. Madagan put down some rare good Borders, securing special for best bird in show. Mr. J. B. Houghton judged.

Thanks for the good report of our late show, writes J. W. Reed, Sec., Newcastle C.B.S.

We hear that Mr. J. Walsh (Blackburn) has been engaged to judge Winsford show, held Nov. 26.

I am engaged to judge Llandudno O.S. Show, November 8, writes Mr. J. O. Williams (Bangor).

Many thanks for your splendid report in last issue, writes Mr. H. Smith, hon. sec. Wimbledon C.B.S.

The prize-money for Bishop Auckland show, write the secs., Messrs. Elliott and Nattrass, is 8s., 4s., 2s., and not as printed in schedule.

Our annual show is fixed for December 2 and 3, writes Mr. P. Stonestreet, Sec. Tonbridge and Dis. F.A.

The winner in novice Yorks. unflighted class at Hanley show is Spibey, not Walker (a mistake in catalogue).

We are asked to notify that Mr. A. L. Hawkins has removed from Grove Green Rd. to 26, Pretoria Rd., Leytonstone.

We intend holding our fifteenth annual show on Dec. 5 and 6, writes Mr. W. J. Douglas, hon. sec. Whitehaven C.B.S.

I was delighted to see my Crestbred so perfectly portrayed in your paper. I am sure it does credit to your artist.—T. Gilbert (Coventry).

Mr. F. Easterling will judge Redhill show on Nov. 19; four challenge cups and rose-bowl for competition, writes Mr. A. W. Bacon, sec.

Watford C.B.S. only holds a members' show this year; I have, however, had several applications for schedules, writes Mr. W. Rackley, hon. sec.

Fanciers wend your way to-day to Liverpool's 'Record Show at St. Martin's Hall, Scotland-road. The cream of the country have entered.—(Advt.)

Members of the Doncaster and Dis. C.B.S. are requested to attend meeting November 12, as Mr. G. Thornhill has promised to give a washing exhibition.

I claim 18 points for the cup and shield competition of the Idle C.B.S., writes Mr. James Hodgson (Idle), in his report Mr. Hilton has made a mistake.

Mr. W. Curry, sec. Gateshead C.B.S. and Northern B.M. and F.B.C., writes that after Nov. 1 his address will be 6, Roxburgh Place, Heaton, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

In the report of the Hybrid section at Newcastle show the novice CAGE BIRDS diploma was credited to Carr; this should have been McGuire (the 4th prize bird).

Mr. Armstrong (Halifax) has promised to judge Smallbridge and District C.B.S. show, held St. John's Schoolroom, on Nov. 22nd, writes Mr. J. T. Cheetham, the sec.

We are having a series of table shows during the next few months, and will gladly welcome new members and anyone interested —J. A. Walker, sec., Loughborough C.B.S.

Clipping the ivy on the wall of the Deanery of St. Albans the gardener found a Thrush's nest containing five eggs, on which the bird had just been sitting.—"Daily Mail" (Oct. 23).

I have moved from Sutton to Thursley Hall, Farnham Lane, Haslemere, Surrey, writes Mr. G. W. Saunders, and shall be pleased to see any fancier who cares to call on me.

Fanciers should note the reports on Mr. Rippon's Norwich Canaries at Norwich Show. All Mr. Rippon's Canaries have been colour-fed solely on Ramsden's Pure Peppers.—Advt.

The annual show of the New Cross C.B.S., Nov. 6, is for members, write Burton Bros., hon. secs.; we have had numerous applications for schedules from fanciers who are not members.

Entries have already exceeded last year's total, writes Mr. P. W. Jeffries, hon. sec. N. London C.B.A., and the prospects for a good show are exceedingly bright. We expect about 400 entries.

A whisper heard at Rotherham show last week was that for the 1914 exhibition the Masonic Hall would be the venue. No doubt a very fine show will be in evidence at this, the best of all rooms in Rotherham.

The Codnor Park and Eastwood C.B.S. have engaged Mr. E. Fox (Long Eaton) to judge their 4th open show on November 29, writes Messrs. Smith and Lees (Lynn Croft, Eastwood, Notts). Schedules are now ready.

Mr. J. Spencer (Ardwick) and Mr. E. Dooley have kindly consented to judge Openshaw, Gorton, and District C.B.S. Table Show on Nov. 8, and I hope members will give good entries for these gentlemen, writes Mr. F. Washbourne, hon. sec.

Very many thanks for the sketch in CAGE BIRDS of my hen, writes Mr. H. E. Phillips, Norwich. It does credit to Mr. Norman. I have had the bird claimed by a well known judge this week. She will be heard a lot of in the future, I feel sure.

South Birmingham O.S. young stock show is held to-day (Nov. 1), at the new headquarters, the Marlboro' Hotel, Anderson-rd. (see advert.),. A good entry, we hear, is assured. The members hope fanciers will go round, as admission is free.

At Abertillery Show a printer's error gives the winner of championship special and diploma as a light Goldfinch-mule. This should have read Greenfinch-mule. I was delighted to win with it at my first attempt, writes Mr. A. Ball (Cardiff).

A printer's error has occurred in your schedule re entry fee. In one part it appears as one shilling; but this should read one shilling and sixpence per entry, writes Mr. Geo. Marlin, secretary, Hamilton (C.O.) O.S. Will intending exhibitors please note?

All birds were dispatched from Bradford East Show (except in two cases) before 7.30. On behalf of the committee I tender thanks to all the exhibitors and visitors for their support and patronage. We have hopes that the show will prove a financial success.—H. Hill, sec.

We hear from Mr. Cosgrove, hon. sec. Uddington C.B.S., that at the open show of the society, held Nov. 22, specials of £2 and £1 will be given to the society whose members gain most points. Mr. M. Craig will lecture on British birds at the meeting held Nov. 5.

Dulwich and Peckham show extend entries (average two birds per class) till last post Saturday. Enter from schedule review last issue. Some rare bargains will be on sale from a well-known fancier.—L. J. Richardson (show manager), 91, Union Rd., Rotherhithe. —(Advt.)

At the great Sheffield O.S. Show, November 7 and 8, Mr. J. C. Barnes, the well-known local expert, has had the honour of adjudicating the Crest and C.-B. section put upon him. Now, Crest men, he hopes you will provide him with a strenuous morning's work.

Entries closed on the 23rd inst., writes Mr. W. G. Elsmore, hon. sec. Taunton O.S., and we had then 40 entries, less than one per class. To-day, 28th, we have 435. We are letting every class stand—some with two entries. Thanks to S.Y.C.C. members, we shall have a show.

Schedules for the Old Shildon show have been sent out to all known fanciers, writes Mr. J. H. Elwell, 35, Church St., Shildon. If anyone, who may have been overlooked, will drop me a post-card, it shall have my immediate attention, as we are doing everything possible to suit all fanciers.

At Southend Show we have extended entries until last post Saturday (November 1), as we do not average four birds in a class, and we have £50 specials begging for competitors, write Messrs. Deer and Cundy (22, Rayleigh Avenue, Westcliff). We hope exhibitors will rally round us.

The Sheffield O.S., writes Mr. Job, have made arrangements with two of their prominent officials, Mr. G. Fletcher and Mr. J. Woodall, to act as all night stewards. Every train will be met at both stations on arrival, up to 5 a.m., so that these birds will have settled down before judging.

Owing to lateness of delivery of printing matter, our entry list will be kept open until morning post on Tuesday, Nov. 4, instead of Nov. 1, as in schedule, write Messrs. Woodhead and Pyman, hon. secs. Hartlepools C.B.S., West House, W. Hartlepool. We have sent out 1,500 schedules; anyone not having received one, please write at once.

The Pentrebach F.S. has engaged Mr. J. R. Houghton (Gloucester) to judge the 4th open show on November 27. Our stewards are well-known cage bird exhibitors, and every care and attention will be given to all exhibits. The show will be held under the patronage of the Welsh C.B.C. I appeal to all fanciers to give us their kind support.—A. E. Brown, sec.

Please make it known, writes Mr. G. Havver, sec. Blaydon C.B.S., 1, Theresa St., Blaydon-on-Tyne, that we have engaged as extra judge for our forthcoming show Mr. A. Gilchrist, Coldstream, who will judge the Border Fancy classes. I have sent out between seven and eight hundred schedules; if any fancier would like one, please let me know.

CAN YOU SPOT HIS TWO FAULTS?

Five Shillings Cash (or Books) for the Correct Reply.

Our artist tells us that this drawing depicts a Norwich Canary possessing two more or less serious blemishes from the exhibition point of view, and he wonders whether readers can identify the particular show points in which the bird is lacking? We shall be pleased to give 5s. cash (or our bird books to value, as may be preferred) to the reader who correctly names the two blemishes. Look the drawing over carefully then send us your opinion as to which are the bad points indicated by our artist. Your effort will cost you only a postcard, and your postcard may win you five shillings.

RULES.—Answer on the back of a postcard and write your name and address clearly underneath. Address your postcard to the Editor, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., and post it to reach us not later than first post Thursday, Nov. 6th. Only one effort is allowed each competitor. In the event of more than one accurate answer being received, the winner will be drawn for by an independent person.

An error has crept into Swansea Show rules and regulations printed in schedule, writes Mr. S. H. George, the sec. Rule 4 should read, after the word entered, "and not sent. Full prize money paid in all classes of 8 and over, and less than 8 half prize money will be paid."

The management of Cowdenbeath and Dis. F. and F.S. have made arrangements with the railway company to dispatch all English exhibits on Saturday night, November 8, so as to reach home on Sunday, November 9, writes Mr. Robt. Smith, the secretary; and I hope exhibitors will send their entries along. I will extend entries till Monday, last post.

Smart Work at Halifax.

All prize money won at Halifax show, held Oct. 17 and 18, was despatched by Oct. 20. We accidentally omitted to mention this in our last issue.

Noted Crest-bred Sold.

During our visit to Coventry show, we heard on very good authority that the noted Crestbred, 1st at Clapham and also winner of CAGE BIRDS diploma and cash special, the property of Mr. T. Gilbert, has left the "Town of Many Spires," the figure paid being a stiff one.

Entries Extended.

Cowdenbeath to Nov. 3, last post, R. Smith, jun., 43, Foulford Place; Southend to Nov. 1 last post, Deer and Cundy, 22, Rayleigh Av., Westcliff; Dover to Nov. 3, Abbot and Austen, 13, Eric Rd.; Cheltenham to Nov. 3, A. S. Treasure, Idahoe, Oakland Av.; Dulwich and Peckham to last post Nov. 1, L. J. Richardson, 91, Union Rd., Rotherhithe.

Rotherham's New Trophy.

Now that one of the members' cups of the Rotherham Society has been won outright, who is the fancier contemplating filling the vacancy with another trophy? Maybe the gift will very shortly be offered for competition amongst the members; once won to become the absolute property of the winner, we hear.

Corrections in Show Reports.

In Wimbledon report 2, 3 and c. Nov. Buff Bord. should read Simmonds, not Summers; Burton show 1st Meal should read 1st Neal; at Handley, J. R. Spiby won 1st in unflighted nov., not T. Walker, as in catalogue; Coventry Godiva, 3rd in nov. unflighted Yks. was A. Groom, not Green, as in catalogue; in Llandilo report 1st Yks. was won by T. M. Phillips, not Williams, as reported; in the seed-eating For. class at Portsmouth, Miss Bousfield won 1st, not Littledale, as in catalogue; at Hanley, G. Lawton was 4th in yell. hens, not Lane; at Halifax, in cl., etc., Buff Nor., Pickup and Son won 4th, not Greaves and Richards.

Liverpool's Splendid Entry.

We have 1,050 entries at Liverpool show, every section well filled, average 16 per class, write Messrs. Metcalfe and Deacon, secs.

Sheffield's £100 Deposit.

We learn that the Sheffield O.S. have deposited £100 with their bankers (to the prize fund account), as a guarantee of the full prize money paid in each class.

A Sad Accident at Annfield.

Fanciers in general, and especially members of the Annfield Plain F.F. and C.B.S., will be sorry to learn that our treasurer, Mr. George Hankey, is lying in a precarious condition owing to an accident at his work at Louisa Pit, writes Mr. M. Archer, the sec.

Prize Money Paid.

We hear that prize-money has been paid in respect of the following shows. Anyone overlooked should apply to the various secretaries: Newcastle, Bradford East, Abertillery, Ilkeston, L. and P.O.S., Burton-on-Trent, Longton, Rotherham, Coventry Godiva, Portsmouth (except members), Wimbledon open (members at next meeting, Nov. 3).

Australia's Amusing Piping Crow:

This article is No. 41 of the new series entitled "Through a Birdroom Window," being personal birdy experiences Related by that eminent aviculturist the Rev. C. D. FARRAR.

DETERMINATION is one of the qualities which the truly great man shares with the pig; though, in the case of the pig, it is generally described as obstinacy; but the man has this superiority over the pig. The pig, being determined to go his own way, has no better idea than to tug desperately against the rope that is around his leg. He tugs unnecessarily up to the very last moment, but in the end he is beaten, because his master, having at his command stout sticks and other instruments of persuasion, is stronger than he. Man, unlike the pig, when he finds a rope around his ankle that will not break, and a cruelly compelling whip which cuts consumedly, stops tugging, and goes about to outwit the adversary. Pretending to yield to the rope, he gets his own way. This is a little parable.

Some years ago I received strict orders from the "powers that be" that I was not, on any account, to buy any more birds. I knew better than to openly disobey such an injunction, but still I was determined to circumvent the authorities, if possible. I accordingly hit on the ingenious plan of getting a friend to buy me some birds and give them to me as a present. I argued that I must be allowed to accept them, as it would not be right to throw such kindness in anyone's face.

A New Use for Politeness.

Everybody likes being credited with the possession of tact. This is curious, because hardly anybody likes being called a liar, and yet tact is simply a delicate form of lying; so, of course, is politeness, and nobody considers it wrong to aim at being polite. I thought that in the present case I had shown tact of no mean order, for when I read out of a letter one morning that I had been offered a present of some birds, no sort of objection was raised to my accepting them; whereas, had I so much as hinted that I intended to buy some, as many reasons would have been offered, why I should not, and must not, do so, as there are days in the week. The birds offered were Piping Crows from Australia, and being at the time young and inexperienced, I at once cheerfully wrote and accepted them.

Like Artemus Ward, I did not particularly hanker after Crows, but, "quand on n'a pas ce qu'on aime, il faut aimer ce qu'on a." These carnivorous birds are a nuisance in many ways. In the first place, they are very strong and mischievous, and, therefore, they require a big and strong enclosure to keep them in. Ordinary wire netting is no good, as they take a devilish delight in unwinding it with their massive beaks; only fairly strong iron rods can puzzle them. They can even chisel through a good thick plank in time. Then, like all meat-eating birds, they are very smelly; no matter how clean one may keep them; and, lastly, they are exceedingly noisy. The way in which a pair of Piping Crows will greet the rising sun is really interesting for a morning or two, but after a time it gets monotonous and irritating to a degree.

The "happy family" depicted is that of Mr. E. Taylor. He erected the aviary himself, and has it stocked with Yorkshire Canaries. He has hopes of a good season outdoors next year.

When, one morning, there arrived a big hamper from the station, and the laconic message, "Some birds," I foresaw what actors call, "a short scene," especially as I had no change in my pocket. To my surprise, nothing was said, and I hastily carried the basket into the shed. I had prepared a good strong enclosure, with iron rods, in place of wire netting, so I felt that my friends would be fairly safe, and unable, under any ordinary circumstances, to escape.

When I opened the lid of the basket in the enclosure they sidled out, much as, I am sure, Dickens's "Grip" would have done. They were a most disreputable looking pair, and I was not surprised that my friend had been anxious to part with them. I had only so far known the Piping Crow from descriptions in books. There I read, "Amongst those fanciers who affect cage pets the Piping Crow of Australia is a great favourite; his bold and strikingly marked plumage, jaunty self-assertion, and magnificent flute-like song, entitling him to a very prominent position in the rank of feathered songsters."

An Unimpressive First Appearance.

As I read these words, I kept saying to myself, "Piping Crows must one day find a place in my collection." To-day, they were before me, but how unlike the description to the reality. I beheld a pair of very dirty birds, of a thoroughly disreputable cast, with broken flights, and stumpy tails, and with no suspicion of jaunt about them, save a sharp and watchful eye. I must say that I was disappointed on my first view, but, then, I once knew a famous dandy and plunger of his day who used to derive the most intense gratification from the perusal of Miss Yonge's novels.

I concluded that after their long journey (they had come from the South of England), my friends would be hungry; and so, acting on the old Yorkshire saying, "it's a poor rider as starves his nag's belly," I set a heaped-up plate of scraps before them. The way those birds set to work was an eye-opener. In a few minutes nothing was left but the plate, and I believe that only its hardness prevented it from going too. They then hopped up on to the branch of an apple tree I had thoughtfully placed ready for them, and became more or less torpid for some hours.

Towards evening they woke up and became quite vociferous. I concluded they wanted supper, and were calling to me to be sharp about it. I accordingly hurried out with a well-piled plate of soaked dog biscuits, and this likewise swiftly disappeared.

Look out for the Bite.

I think that when the Crows reached me they must have been in their nest feathers, for although they were as dirty as sweeps, I saw that they had nothing about their plumage of the dazzling black and white of which the books told me. I concluded, therefore, that I should have to wait a year to see their full beauties and to gain a nest of little Pipers. By the difference in size I felt fairly sure that they were male and female, so that I felt no fears about a future brood. I believe, but I am open to correction, that in Australia these Crows only have two youngsters at a time, so that in all probability the pairs will be male and female. If ever you have occasion to catch these birds, be sure and put on a good thick pair of leather gloves, as they can bite most confoundedly.

A grass covering to their run is a failure, as no grass will be permitted to grow. Every single blade will be carefully and painfully eliminated. From personal experience I advise dry earth, frequently dug over, as it acts as a perfect deodorizer, while the digging up affords the birds endless amusement, and an occasional worm. If any mice are rash enough to enter the precincts of the crows' aviary they find a short shrift. In a moment they are sharply seized, banged on the ground, tossed up into the air, dexterously caught, and down the red gullet they go, and then Master Piper stands with his head on one side as if nothing had happened.

After a time my Crows got so tame that I thought I would give them their liberty in the orchard. I thought, for one thing, it would save me a lot of trouble, as, instead of my looking after them, they would fend for themselves, as we Yorkshire people say, and that there would be a greatly improved chance of a brood if they had the run of the drive and its tall trees.

The Neighbours' Chickens Disappear!

Accordingly, one morning, I opened the prison doors, and let them go forth. They took things very quietly, and merely moved into a neighbouring apple tree, whence, on the slightest alarm, they at once made for their old home; but, as time went on, they got bolder, and made further and further excursions abroad. In fact, in a few weeks, they would be away for hours, and only came back at feeding time.

From time to time I heard mysterious stories of the disappearance of little chickens, but I never connected the fact with my Piping Crows, and for this reason. I had lots of chickens of my own, but none ever disappeared. The cunning rascals evidently believed in the old proverb, "A shepherd must not skin his own sheep." Occasionally I would find fragments of what had been chicken about, but still it never struck me that the Piping Crows might know about it. I put it down to marauding cats, of which there are any number in my garden. One day, however, one of my friends was caught, not red-handed, but red-beaked, daintily extracting a chicken's brain. There was no possible defence. The verdict was guilty, and I received an intimation that I must keep my friends caged up, or they would have to take the consequence; the consequence, I knew, meant the contents of a shot gun. So once again they found themselves in durance vile. They looked so dejected that I was forcibly reminded of the ruined gambler in a celebrated picture.

MAGPIE ANSWERS BARK OF A DOG.

This remarkable instance of a bird's intelligence may be seen at Kensington Gardens where a lady resident in the district has made friends with a Magpie. She visits the Gardens at about eleven o'clock with her collie. The latter is told to "bark for Joey," and the Magpie appears for its meals.

Being deprived of their liberty, the Crows showed their displeasure by proceeding to dig up all and sundry within their reach, and as their beaks are long and powerful they can do a considerable amount of execution.

Australian Crows are as quarrelsome as the natives of Sumatra in the pepper harvest. They will quarrel about everything and nothing, especially the ladies. Ladies, as Pepys once said, are extraordinary creatures; sometimes they are determined, at all risks, to have the last word, and, at others, nothing can offend them so much and arouse such indignation as to let them have it. This is true of female Crows, as of female other things. If three or four got together it would be a perfect Donnybrook Fair.

Two Gun-shots End the Story.

I had the Crows two seasons. After the chicken-slaying episode was, as I thought, forgotten, I once more liberated my friends, as it was February, and no well-regulated farmer was likely to have any chickens out. They behaved very well, and kept fairly close to the garden, and by the way they examined a tall elm I quite thought they meant to go to nest. They event went to the length of breaking off a few twigs near the top of the tree, as I have seen Rooks do in England, but still nothing happened. One afternoon the Crows did not come back at dinner time, but I did not think much about it, as I thought that very likely they had dined on their own kill. Still when evening fell and they had not arrived I began to feel uneasy. Then I remembered having heard a double-barrelled gun go off during the afternoon. Still I never thought of it in connection with the Crows.

It was only during the next summer that the mystery of their disappearance was made clear. I was up in the woods, and happened to pass the two poles where the keeper displays his trophies. There, among cats I had known and loved, I saw the remains of my poor friends, rapidly going bad, but there could be no mistake that it was they. I dropped a silent tear over their fate, and registered a vow that I would be even with that keeper some day, but, as Rudyard Kipling says, that is another tale. At any rate, all my hopes of breeding Piping Crows were ended. It reminded me of what Chalk said to Edward Tredgold. "You'll never see it," he said, in tones of conviction; "I'll bet you two to one in golden sovereigns that you'll sink into your honoured family vault with your justifiable curiosity still unsatisfied." I think I shall myself.

THE MASTER SINGER OF THE CANARY TRIBE

By J. TOMLINSON.

How to keep the Roller Canary in health, to breed for pleasure and profit, and train for exhibition.

A REMEDY of more recent adoption, yet by no means a new one, is to hold the bird's abdomen and vent over a narrow-topped jug containing hot water, and, in addition to this to soak a long camel hair brush in warmed olive oil and insert it into the vent, gently working it round, using care not to puncture the egg with the stem of the brush.

A safe way of inserting the oil is to use a small glass syringe, first covering the nipple with a piece of cycle valve tubing, allowing this to project about one-eighth of an inch, to prevent the glass from damaging the egg. Also give direct into the beak three drops of equal proportions of best whiskey, or brandy, and glycerine; water may be substituted for the glycerine, but the raw spirit should in no case be given.

To give all the youngsters an equal chance of hatching on the same day and, in consequence, an equal opportunity of being reared, each egg should be removed and a dummy substituted, until the morning when the fourth egg is laid.

If the hen has not made a suitable nest, one should now be made for her; it would have been useless to make one previously, as she would have destroyed it. At the time when she becomes broody she will accept it as a matter of course.

If it is desired to remove the cock, and he is not required immediately for another hen, take him not only out of the breeding room but out of the hearing of the sitting hen until he is required again in the breeding cage. Otherwise his song and shrill calls may have a disquieting effect on the sitting hens, or on others that may have youngsters; this is especially so where the young birds are about two or three weeks old.

The Food for the Sitting Hen.

From the time the hen begins to sit her diet can be either the mixed seed or only plain canary seed, right up to the time of hatching. The latter is usually given, because the use of a mixture of seeds about this time would cause a hen to lay on flesh and fat. A temporary suspension of the mixture at this time also causes the hen to take to it again with a relish when the young birds hatch.

THE BLUE-THROATED FLYCATCHER.

A rare and exquisitely coloured Indian bird, with many of the characteristics of our English Robin, but of much more beautiful plumage. Exhibited by Mr. C. T. Maxwell, Herne Hill.

After a week of incubation has elapsed the hen will have become thoroughly broody, the interior of the nest can then be dusted with insect powder; some hens may resent this being done previously. It will not be necessary to remove the eggs, or interfere with the construction of the nest. Insect powder can be purchased in small perforated tin canisters, or by the ounce. Bellows can also be purchased for spraying the powder; it should be stored in a very dry position, or it will become lumpy, causing it then to be very awkward to use either from the bellows or the canister.

When the Young Birds Should Appear.

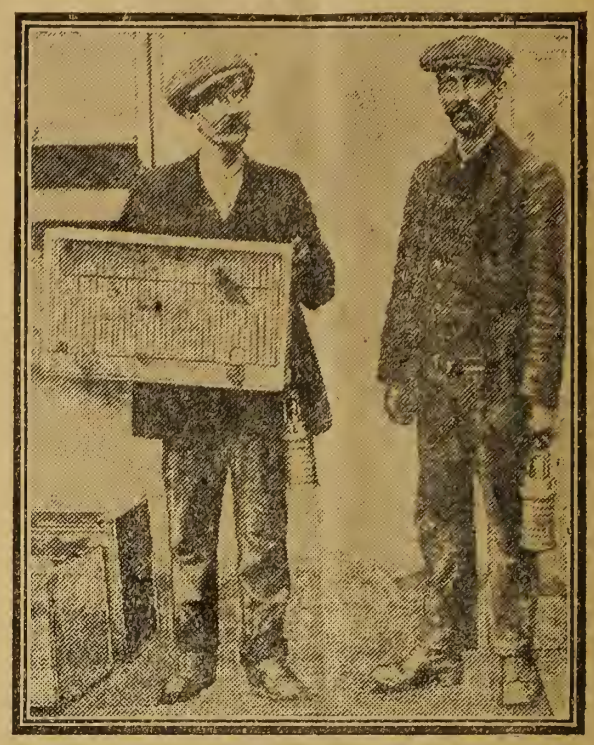
As a rule the young birds will hatch in thirteen or fourteen days from the date of replacing the eggs. Whether it will be the thirteenth or the fourteenth day will to a great extent depend upon the temperature prevailing. If warm sunny days prevail the incubation will be forwarded; the way the hen sits will also influence this. Some sit very closely, leaving the nest only for a few moments to obtain food and water. Two other causes may contribute to early hatching, the strength of the germ in the egg and the hen's bodily temperature. The heat will be greater in some hens than in others.

Where the temperature of the atmosphere falls during incubation a small teaspoonful of mixed seed may be given occasionally. This will tend to increase the hen's bodily heat, and counter-balance the lower temperature of the air.

If the hen does not sit very closely during the first few days there will be no need for any anxiety, as great liberties can be taken at this time with the eggs. Some hens are very erratic at first, and many instances could be given, but I think one will suffice. It occurred with an old hen that had previously discharged her duties satisfactorily; then, for no apparent reason, she sat closely for the first three days but only through one of the nights, leaving the eggs on the other two nights, yet all hatched on the fifteenth day.

Various Methods of Egg Testing.

Many of us are anxious to count the chicks before they are hatched; and after about nine days a fairly good opinion can be formed from the colour of the shells. Those containing young birds gradually become of a darker hue, while the clear or unfertile egg will retain its original cast, and will appear so very conspicuous against the rest of the clutch as to be quite apparent even to an inexperienced eye.



Another test is to take the egg lengthways between thumb and first finger, and hold it up to the light of a window. Still another test is to cut a small hole about the size of the egg in a piece of cardboard, place the egg before the hole, again using the thumb and the tip of the first finger, and hold it up to a lighted gas jet; this latter method will be useful where it is inconvenient to test them in the daylight. After about five days of incubation the unfertile eggs will be transparent, the yellow outline of the yolk being easily discernible, while the fertile egg will be muddy with just the narrow end of the egg showing a light colour. After about eight days the fertile egg will be quite dark.

It will be noticed that when incubation is drawing to a close the interior of some eggs will be black for only about three-quarters of the length, leaving the other portion quite transparent. In some instances where such eggs have failed to hatch I have found them on examination to contain a dead chick, fully formed, and, with the exception of absorbing the yolk, ready to hatch. Other eggs have contained dead youngsters in various stages of incubation; in both cases where proper sitting has taken place the only explanation is that the germ was a weak one.

If the shell be detached from an egg of this description, leaving the inner skin intact it is an interesting sight to see the chick, formed, yet undersized, floating in its little sea of slimy matter—probably the liquescent white of the egg.

A Use for Unfertile Eggs.

It is better to let one unfertile egg remain in the nest until the youngsters are about three days old. It will tend to keep them warm when the hen is off the nest, and also keep their heads up, for young birds invariably lie in a circle in the nest pan, with their heads towards the centre. After the third day, or it may be a little longer, if the youngsters are not very robust, the egg will be found to have been pushed outside the circle, and it can then be removed from the nest. Sometimes a hen will lay a small egg of a peculiar pale sea-green colour, or one of the same peculiar ground colour, and lightly spotted. Invariably these eggs are unfertile, yet it is perplexing why this should be so.

A photograph of miners with one of the Canaries used in rescue work at Senghenydd, on the occasion of the recent terrible colliery disaster. This particular bird, however, failed to give the customary warning, resulting in 20 men almost losing their lives. (See letter in Correspondence columns this week.)

Those hens that have previously been used to having a bath will appreciate one on the 12th or the 13th day of incubation, and while their attention is thus occupied, the opportunity should be taken of placing the eggs in lukewarm water for about thirty seconds. This, together with the moisture adhering to the hen's breast feathers, will have a tendency to soften the skin which envelopes the young bird inside its outer (shell) covering.

Redpolls: Their Management, Training and Exhibition.

J. Steel (Dalkeith) tells you all you can wish to know about these desirable pets.

BY means of limed twigs or esparto grass the amateur may easily accomplish the taking of Redpolls for himself. He should use the toughest lime procurable, as some of the stuff sold as such makes a sorry mess of a Redpoll, and is liable to bring discredit on its proper use. A decoy bird is a valuable ally, as there is no bird which more readily answers to the call of a decoy than this. The twigs should be set up on an adjacent or improvised bush. If the would-be catcher has not a decoy he may have recourse to other methods, the success of which depends greatly on where the birds are located, and on what they are feeding.

"Fishing" for Your Redpolls.

If on the alder or birch trees, and these are not too high, a fishing rod (improvised if necessary) having a limed twig attached may be employed to touch them down, but though I have seen large number of Redpolls and Siskins taken by this method, I find they require to be pretty hungry ere they tolerate a sufficiently near approach.

If they are located near a brook or drinking place the edge of same may be well bestrewed with esparto which should be set up in a manner preclusive of their getting at the water without coming in contact with the limed grass. This is a favourite method of mine, as carrying is reduced to a minimum.

If the birds are located on their favourite feed of nettles, hardheads or sow thistle, they may be approached quietly, and small sheaves of such plants, each of which is decorated with grass or twigs, should be set up as near as possible to where a flock is feeding, and if they have not been "sharped" a detour may be made and the flock gently driven on to the set. It is advisable to let the first caught lie for a few minutes, for I have known a whole flock to be taken when the call of a caught companion aroused their curiosity to know what was up with it, whereas a run to secure the first would have scared the remainder away.

I would also advise the amateur to ascertain whether Siskins have been located in his district, and, if so, to add a decoy of that species to his equipment. These are very similar to the Redpoll in their feeding habits, and likely to be found in conjunction. Being much more desirable and valuable than Redpolls their capture, which may be accomplished in a similar manner, is something more to boast of. Needless to say the professional acts on a more elaborate scale, and brings certain bird-craft into play which only experience can impart.

How to Treat Freshly-Caught Birds.

A newly caught Redpoll, though on the whole easy to induce to partake of dry seed, should be served with a supply of slightly soaked seeds for a few days, gradually diminishing the moisture, as a sudden change on to dry fare is very liable to bring about a derangement, which may cause the loss of a promising specimen. A few slightly damped or fresh gathered nettle heads, in addition to the usual supply of seeds, is an appreciated item, and care should be taken to remove all seed from cage bottom at intervals, or it may become sour and bring on that scouring which is so fatal to newly caught seedeaters.

My menu for Redpolls is, roughly, three parts canary to one each of German rape and teazle, varied with an occasional pinch of maw, inga, hemp (go slow on hemp) and in fact any of the seeds usually procurable in stores, and all the wild (fresh gathered) seeds which I know the species to be fond of—shepherd's purse, dandelion, plantain, nettle, sorrel, sow thistle, mouse-ear, etc.

The Northern or Arctic Redpoll figures as a distinct species from either of the above, and I have on two occasions had specimens brought to me which were in my opinion dissimilar from any Mealies ever I had examined. The fact that there were no instances recorded of the occurrence of Mealies that winter prompted me to request the catcher to visit the National Museum and compare his with the Arctic which has a place in the collection there. He did so, and had no hesitation in declaring that they tallied in every respect. If this were correct, which I regret I had not a chance of verifying, it would prove that we have three species, all of which are eligible to inclusion in the British list

THE BLACKBIRD: MALE AND FEMALE.

"The Merle, in his noontide bower, Makes woodland echoes ring." —Burns.

Our Coloured Plate: The Blackbird and His Mate.

A contribution specially written by that very successful exhibitor, Mr. A. J. A. Marley (Leyton), to accompany the beautiful plate by Mr. Rankin given with this issue.

Admirers of Mr. Rankin's charming painting of Blackbirds will welcome the appended notes from Mr. Marley, whose successes with this species on the show bench last season were little short of phenomenal. Amongst many other wins his birds stood 1st and 2nd at the Horticultural Hall show, and 1st and 3rd (divided by Mr. Bruce's noted Song Thrush, "Border Queen") at the Crystal Palace show. The method of treatment outlined is, therefore, one which has led to the achievement of the highest honours the exhibition world has to offer.—Editor.

IN the first place I should like to tender my warmest appreciation to your artist for his charming coloured plate; it undoubtedly does Mr. Rankin the greatest credit.

The Blackbird in its wild state is of a very shy and nervous disposition, and quickly marks the approach of intruders to its haunts, chiefly copses, hedgerows, thick shrubberies and woodlands. A very peculiar habit of the species is to warn all and sundry when disturbed by secreting itself or "lying low," until the enemy is past; then the Blackie will rise in alarm, with a screaming, nerve-shaking noise, and dart off to take cover in another thicket.

In a wild state the Blackbird's food chiefly consists of slugs, worms, caterpillars, beetles, woodlice, and similar items, and when the orchards are laden with ripe fruit he is the best of customers to the growers—strawberries, plums, cherries, gooseberries, currants, apples, and pears being favourite dishes. When he is a bit "pinched" for richer fruits, he is not at all reluctant to participate in a meal of elderberries, privet, and blackberries. With orchard and garden fruits he is oft-times a perfect nuisance, not because of what he eats, but owing to the enormous amount of damage he does; he is chiefly the cause of many supposed "windfalls," being very destructive and a great annoyance to fruit growers.

Her Ladyship is Unjustly Neglected.

The female Blackbird differs very much from the male, being a very dark brown on head, neck, and back; the breast, throat, abdominal regions, a light rust colour; the bill a yellowish brown, which becomes yellow when matured with years. Hen Blackies are seldom seen on the show bench, but I should imagine a real good one, put down in fine order, would come in for recognition under some of our judges.

Now, as to selecting a cock bird. In the first place I do not believe in nestlings. I find it far better to locate a youngster, kind and tractable of disposition, with all the properties I require, and meat him off and steady him down, rather than be bothered with hand-feeding three or four nests during the season, and then probably not obtaining one decent specimen.

A potential exhibition bird should possess great size, a large, wide, well-rounded head, and bold, wide chest, and be perfectly modelled in contour. He should have a rich orange-coloured bill, devoid of black marks or streaks, and orange-coloured eye ceres, and be finished off with a lustrous rich jet-black jacket, without the slightest tinge of rusty brown, particularly on the wings. He must be steady to a degree, and jaunty in carriage; above all, avoid any bird with a drooping tail, or which is deficient in claws. The latter are the first two points I look into. I prefer a Blackie that "cocks his rudder" like a Robin.

When I have purchased the bird I require, I place him in a large, box-pattern cage, about 3ft. long, 2ft. high, and 18ins. deep, in a very quiet and secluded spot, for quite a month. I give him an abundance of small blood-worms, caterpillars, earwigs, slugs, snails, and mealworms, mixing the lot up together in what is to be his staple food. This latter is composed of 1 part fine biscuit meal, 1 part chicken meal, ¼ part dried flies, ¼ part ants' eggs, ¼ part Brand's fine meat meal, ¼ lb. of grocer's currants, steamed and dried, (sun-dried preferred). The whole I mix together, and when required I moisten the daily portion with grated carrot (raw), or a nice floury potato or a little boiled rice.

I keep a sharp eye on my new purchase for a day or two, as many are very sullen and sulky. It is the same with the Bullfinch; I have had both species on "hunger strike" many times. Then it is essential to forcibly feed them. I catch them up and feed them frequently until they get over their "stage fright" and pick up for themselves, which is usually very soon. If they take on with their food at once I trouble them but little.

After the month is up, and I find the birds are fairly hard in condition, I cage them up in a little smaller cage, something that I can easily handle and carry about. The dimensions are 2ft. long, 18ins. high, and 15ins. deep, box pattern, with sliding door at front, 10ins. long, and 8ins. high; I hang a bath on this door so the bird can bathe ad. lib. I use sawdust for the bottom of this stock cage. Place the perches, about the thickness of a small broom handle, and planed down to oval shape, so the bird can have a perfect grip and jump, about 8ins. apart.

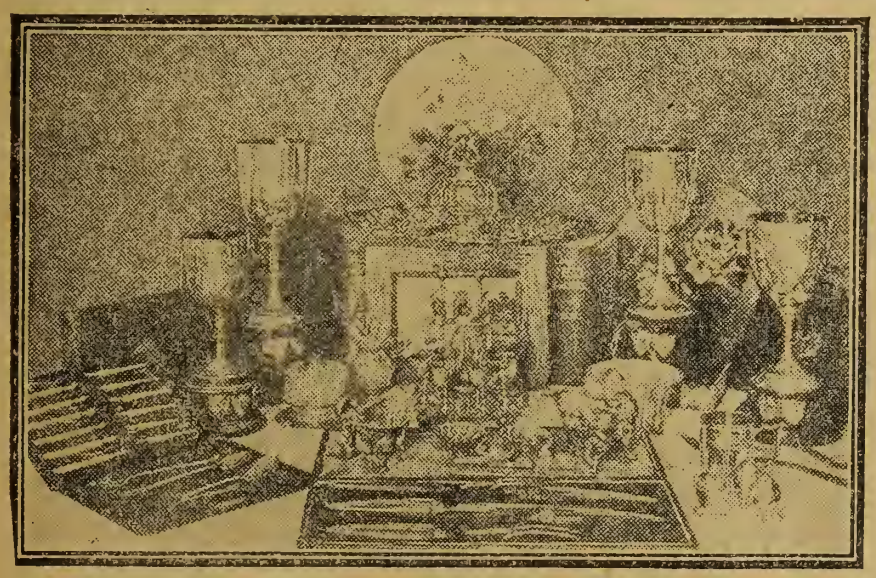
Gaining the Confidence of Your Bird.

The birds will now require handling frequently, that is, so they may gain confidence in you. This must be done with discretion and care. I make it a rule to hang them every morning outside the front of my bird house, and to take them in at night. I always drop a mealworm into the cage before handling it, and I have had Blackies take them from my fingers within three months. On the other hand some seem absolutely hopeless, and knock themselves against the cage front, ruining their appearance if not checked in time. The remedy is to cut up some strips of flannel that is not wanted in the house, about 6ins. longer than the front of the cage, and fold it to 1in. wide. Nail one end outside the top front of the cage; then run the remainder along the front, inside the cage, bringing the spare end outside and drawing it tight and nailing it to the opposite top end, care being taken to have the flannel below the punched bar, this being the spot where all the damage is done. After the top punched bar has been protected repeat with the middle bar, and you will find you will have very few Blackbirds with damaged faces.

When once I have the birds well-behaved, I trouble little with them; neither do I "fuss them about," such as washing them and drying them in front of the fire. When once my birds are clean moulted I never lay a hand on them. I leave the bath on morning and night, and in the summer months they have had their dip hours before myself, being very early risers.

I am happy to say that I have derived much pleasure from the keeping of Blackbirds; they make great pets as well as exhibition birds. It is to Mr. C. Prior I owe my thanks for having taken up these birds. I saw a magnificent specimen exhibited by him, which stood 1st at the Crystal Palace some four or five years' back, and I frankly confess I have never envied or coveted a man of his bird but on this occasion. I felt I could have taken him home straight away, and I went back to the bird in admiration at least a dozen times before I left the show. I was sorry to hear he went to a new owner, for he was not the same bird the next time I saw him.

I do not believe in colour-feeding the Blackbird right through the moult. At the finish of the moult, just when he is "quilly" in head feather, add a teaspoonful of sweet pepper to his food; at the same time take his water and bath away on alternate days, substituting a drinker full of water in which you have placed a piece of sulphate of iron the size of a pea. This enriches the blood, and also has a tendency to tighten him up in feather, beside helping to enrich the colour of bill and eye ceres.



Finally, when putting Mr. Blackie down on the show bench, see to it that he is perfectly steady, and also well staged. The show cage should be box pattern; dimensions 20ins. long, 18ins. high, 10ins. deep; perches oval in shape, and covered with green baize and bossed at the ends, the outside should be enamelled black, the whole of inside and front wires azure blue or turquois blue, either suits the bird immensely. No other colour to my way of thinking, approaches this for showing up a good bird.

In conclusion, I trust that, owing to the short notice I have received, anything I may have omitted will be overlooked; at any time, if readers of CAGE BIRDS are in difficulties with these birds, or any others for that matter, I shall be only too glad to be at their disposal if they care to question me.

THE OCCIPITAL BLUE PIE.

A bird of the Himalayas, which embraces in its plumage the most delightful shades of blue, the whole set off by black and white markings to the tail and secondary wing feathers, a velvety black throat and head, with a snow-white crown, and beautiful coral beak and feet. The bird is 24 inches long, of which the tail feathers measure 16 inches.

A BATTLE BETWEEN BIRDS

How a Wren Defeated Fifteen Sparrows.

In the porch of the house in which I lived, says a writer in the "Cork Free Press," for several years was a box in which a Wren had made her home, and to which she returned with her mate each spring. One spring a pair of Sparrows came to the place, found the box, were well pleased with it, and decided to set up housekeeping in it. They accordingly went to work to build a nest.

A few days later the Wren returned, and was much displeased to find her home occupied. There was much noise, but she evidently decided that force was useless that she must get possession by stratagem. She therefore kept still, and before long was rewarded for her moderation. The Sparrows both flew off. Very soon the Wren took possession, threw out the goods of the Sparrows hastily gathered twigs and sticks, and barricaded the entrance so that there was no way of getting in except by her leave. Her mate remained without.

When the Sparrows returned they found themselves barred out, and on attempting to enter were soon made to understand that they had a difficult and troublesome job on hand, for the Wren's bill was sharp, and she was only too willing to use it. After several vain attempts to dislodge her, the Sparrows departed, and did not appear again for five or six hours, when they came back, not two, as at first, but fifteen or more.

They immediately attacked the Wren, who had improved the opportunity afforded by the departure of the enemy in strengthening her position, and defied their combined forces. For two days did the Sparrows keep up the siege, when seeming to conclude that the position was too strong or too well defended, they gave up the contest and left the Wren in peaceable possession.

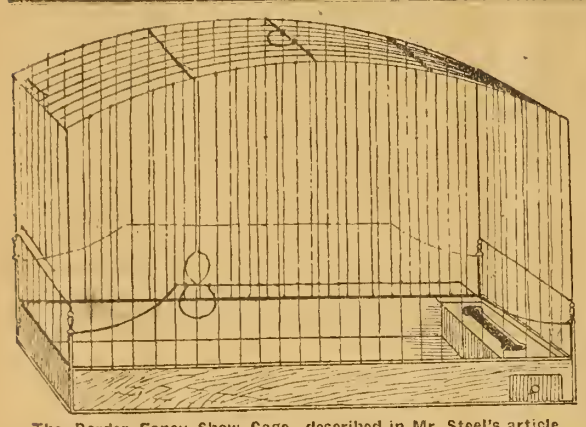
THE ESCAPADES OF JENNY.

BY ELSIE F. ALABONE.

An entertaining recital of the disasters and trials brought by a pet Budgerigar upon her fond mistress.

IF you, kind reader, remember anything about my tame Budgerigar, "Jimmie," whose little story appeared in Cage Birds last year, you will know that he was left solitary by the death of his companions. After saying to myself "No more birds," of course I was tempted to have just one more, a mate for "Jim." A nurse who was staying in the house at the time volunteered to get it, and to make particular enquiries concerning its health; and a nice, plump, healthy little bird it was that she brought me home. This Budgerigar was quite young, having still her striped forehead. I called her "Jenny," and a more composed, and, at the same time, mischievous young thing I never saw.

I thought to keep her in a cage for the first day; but as Jim flew down on it, and they at once "kissed" each other through the wires, I let her out; and she was speedily "at home" in the room. And what a life she led me! Jimmie had always been a most well-behaved bird, keeping mostly on the table and perches provided for him. His companion evidently thought him "slow," for she at once began to lead him into mischief. After taking a survey of her surroundings she decided that the paper must be stripped from the wall beside a certain picture, also from the ceiling around the electric lamp cord. No sooner thought than done, and Jim, following her lead, the pair of them soon made sure that my room should be adorned with paperless patches.



A Little Imp of Mischief.

One afternoon no Jenny was to be found; after searching for her for some time a weak cry from behind a large picture revealed the fact that she was imprisoned there; the picture was raised, and out she flew. But this did not cure her. Oh no! Her tricks became serious, for I found the wire of a hanging lamp nearly bitten through. I cured this habit of nibbling by tying string to the cord for her to play with. Another time I found her hanging to the curtain by one leg, upside down, and congratulated myself on being in time to rescue her from an early death—since seeing more of her, however, I think my fears were groundless! I tried to teach her to "kiss" me, as Jim did.

"I fear thy kisses, gentle maiden,
Thou needest not fear mine,"

I might well have said to her. However, she now no longer thinks it necessary to put her beak through my lip, and enjoys sitting on my finger and gently saluting me.

I believe that Budgerigars seldom bathe; but I have found a way of inducing them to do so. I had a green glass bowl of water on my bureau in which I was keeping some tadpoles for the interest of watching their development, and in it some watercress was floating. Jenny thought this must be looked into; so she perched on the edge of the bowl, and in a moment was in it, looking just like a tiny Duck. Jim cocked his head and watched her, then he, too, ventured in. Another time I happened to be holding a wet lettuce in my hand, and Jim flew down on it, and "rubbed" himself in it with great glee. Putting two and two together I came to the conclusion that a bowl of water with lettuce leaves in it would suit these exacting birds; and so it does. I keep it supplied daily; and they frequently go in and have a fine splash, especially if I am holding the bowl. It is a very pretty sight. They do not seem to have much idea of preening their feathers afterwards, however, just letting themselves dry; so one needs to be careful of cold.

The Border Fancy Show Cage described in Mr. Steel's article.

A Curiosity in House-keeping Tactics.

I have said that Mrs. Budgie liked diving behind pictures. Last February she settled on a small one high up on the wall; and I am sure both she and Mr. Budgie meant to set up housekeeping in earnest, for she pecked away half the boarding and paper on the back of it, while he sat and warbled to her at the top! She ceased to feed herself, and scolded Mr. Budgie well if he did not supply her quickly with as much food as she wanted. So Jim ate for two, and, what I thought rather curious, took more than double his usual supply of cuttlefish-bone—I suppose, for her sake.

"I much sympathised with them; but I thought I really could not have eggs, which would probably be crushed, at the back of the picture! So I removed it and replaced it with a cocoa-nut husk. Alas! they would not look at this husk, or at another I provided. They became depressed; Jim fell into a moult, and they gave up the attempt at domestic life. Nevertheless, as is the case with most troubles, it was got over, and they are once again boisterously healthy and jolly; so much so, indeed, that I cannot stay in my room to write this. Surely I am a long-suffering being!

Are Birds Really Affectionate?

I do not know if birds entertain real affection for people; but they certainly have perfect confidence in some. Jim and Jenny run round my shoulders, pull my hair, "kiss" me, and warble their little song whilst on my hand; they will also go to sleep on my finger. They have good memories, too, for I had to leave them once for twelve weeks, and I was told before my return that they had lost all their pretty ways and had become quite wild. I came back disappointed, but prepared to begin taming them over again. I had nothing of the sort to do. They were a little shy the first few hours, then the same confiding old couple as ever.

One of Mrs. Budgie's latest, though not the least of her performances, was the digging of a hole high up in the wall. She had just worked through the plaster when I found it out, and had it filled up. If she had got between the two walls, I do not like to think what the consequences would have been. But I think nothing she has done quite equals her last escapade, which nearly ended in my losing both of my birds.

A Rum Pair, but Indispensable.

I had just bought them a new cage, and knowing how clever Jenny is in undoing the catches, I tied up the door with tape. When I was ready to have them out next morning, behold! an empty cage, the window of the room wide open at the top and bottom, no wire screen, and the two birds swinging on the cord of the electric lamp in front of it. Such moments are, to say the least, thrilling! But I am thankful to say the window was safely shut without disturbing them, and all ended well. The little imps—on the initiative of Jenny, no doubt—had moved the catches, untied the tape, and let themselves out.

Perhaps if they had the cares of a family on their shoulders, their spirits would be more subdued. I have lately seen Mrs. Budgie on one of my bookshelves reviewing d'Aubigne's "History of the Reformation" with biting criticism, Mr. Budgie solemly looking on the while. This seems as though they have further thoughts of housekeeping. Well! They are a pair; still, as I couldn't possibly part with them, it is of no use to grumble.

A TYPICAL BRITISH GOLDFINCH.

This bird won 1st prize at Clapham Show, for Mr. C. T. Maxwell, and its owner was at once offered £4 for it.

EVENING AMUSEMENT FOR BORDER FANCIERS.

How a Show Cage may be Well and Cheaply Made.

By J. STEEL (Dalkeith).

NOW that the long evenings are with us the recruit to the ever-increasing army of fanciers who make the "Wee Gem" their first love, may like to try his hand at making the show cages wherein he will submit his "first fruits" to the inspection of an often much-to-be-pitied judge. The fact that most members' shows are run on a system which allows him to enter as many birds as he chooses with little fee (beyond the annual sub.), combined with the comparative prolificacy of this type of bird, makes the demand for these cages a large one. I have on many occasions known good specimens which had perforce to remain at home, as to stage them would have involved a heavy expenditure on cages, which would only have been required for one occasion yearly. I have, therefore, to explain a method whereby the amateur may make his own cages with the minimum of trouble, and without giving the missus cause for removing the family and Parrot to the seclusion of the cellar during the operation. I fear the recording angel must heave a sigh and reach for his pen when he sees the average amateur make his first essay at cage-making, which, too often, terminates with the consignment of wood in general, and wires in particular, to the "demnition bow-wows."

Strange Things about Border Show Cages.

Let us first consider the desirable features of a Border cage, as, unfortunately, there is no standard size nor shape, yet, strangely enough, the law as to colour (all black) is strictly adhered to. I will make our model of a size proportionate to the type of bird; many are much too large. Any extreme divergence from the ordinary shape is inadvisable. Lightness is a desirable feaature, and rigidity of paramount importance. The difficulty of keeping every wire uniform and tight will be overcome by using a device which makes the slightest error practically impossible, as the wires are, by its use, directed absolutely accurately, and held rigid till secured. Before dealing with this a few words as to tools and materials are necessary.

Many fanciers have, perforce, to confine their operations to the kitchen table, and so are liable to raise the ire of their good lady at the outset. A detachable bench becomes imperative, as planing cannot be dispensed with entirely, even though the wood is procured in a dressed state, and this is advisable, as the amateur kitchen carpenter will find that shavings have a way of attaching themselves to everyone, including cats, and making an awful litter. To make a detachable bench get a piece of three-quarter or one-inch board, letting same be exactly half an inch longer than the table to which it has to be fitted, and nine or ten inches wide. On the underside of this securely fix a strip of old carpet, or felt, with tacks; two pieces of wood, similarly lined, securely fixed to each end with strong screws, will keep it in position, and provide us with a saw end. My one has a long vice attached, which I thought would be useful for holding wood while planing edges, but I find very few occasions for its use.

The tools: A good sharp hand plane, a fine tenon saw, tack hammer, square, foot rule, a few fine brad-awls, a coarse file, soldering iron, and two pairs of pliers, the first being combined flat-nosed and cutting, and the other pair round-nosed for making loops. A block of hard wood about 6 inches by 3½, well squared, will be found useful when fitting up. A supply of fine sandpaper, a piece of absolutely true punched bar, ⅝in. gauge, and 12¾ inches long (21 holes) will be found useful, both as a guide when marking off, and for constructing the mould device I have referred to, and which I will describe later.

Something the Beginners Should Sacrifice.

Materials: The wood for bottoms may be clean white pine, not more than 1-10th of an inch in thickness, but sides and ends should be of either yellow pine, canary-wood, poplar, or similar light wood, which will stand boring without splitting—particularly the posts, as each has four holes, exclusive of the end for insertion of standard, and is thus subjected to a severe strain; a piece of well-seasoned willow or pine should be reserved for these. I have found those beaded strips of wood used for covering electric wires in houses to be unequalled for rails, and the beading adds greatly to the appearance of the cage; but those I have had were too thin (⅛ inch) to make their use advisable in a first attempt, and the amateur would be wise to use a slightly thicker wood, even at the sacrifice of that desirable lightness which he may aspire to when more adept.

Wire should be straight, tinned, and of 17 gauge. A supply of thin wrapping wire (tinned also) similar to that used by florists, is necessary. This may be procured from most ironmongers, and is very cheap. The nails should be what are known as fine square-cut brads, and if finely tapered and having small heads are much less liable to cause splitting than any other.

NOTES FROM THE WEST COUNTRY.

By TAMAR-SIDE.

The event in Western birdy circles during October was, of course, the W.C.O.S. (Plymouth) show. The financial side of the show, I hear, works out as well as usual, the gate and tickets amounting to something near £25; if Plymouth could only guarantee a gate of £50, my word, the show would be something to talk about, for then a bigger classification would be submitted to exhibitors. The "seven prizes per class" scheme was highly praised, and one result is that out of 170 exhibitors 150 received prize money, an increase of nearly 50 per cent. on previous years.

What has happened to the Devon and Cornwall Yorkshires? It's a long time since they were so conspicuous by their absence in the charmed circle of prize winners as they were at Plymouth this year, Mr. Lashbrook being the one exception. Buck up, Western men; you surely won't take this lying down!

I overheard several local Yorkshire fanciers discussing the number of feathers required to make a perfect Yorkshire's tail, and whether three feathers missing would constitute a lawful objection to a certain winning bird. But accidents will happen; and there the matter ended.
